It will be Ortleib against Montross Saturday at Crescent Oval, and that means there will be something doing.

Coffey, the former Fordham College student, is playing a fine game for the Boston Nationals at short. It is seldom he does not get a hit in every game.

Manager Stallings of the Highlanders, has been trying to get "Rube" Waddell, the eccentric twirler, offering as high as $10,000 for him. The St. Louis management cannot see its way clear to let its chief boxman go.

The Highlanders have been playing in unusual hard luck, but Stallings has promised to give New York a team to be proud of, and the fans believe in him.

It begins to look as though "Willie" Keeler's playing days are over. The one-time star of the baseball firmament is suffering from an injury to his foot and there is slight hope for entire recovery. Keeler is a wealthy man, however, and will not suffer.

Somerville is off the baseball map this year. Not a representative team in the burg.

A number of local fans are planning to accompany the Y. M. C. A. team to East Millstone tomorrow.

Notwithstanding the fact that "Jack" Martin is not playing the infield, Emery is putting up his usual fine game for the Plainfield team at third. He is a wonder as a fielder and generally hits the ball.

Captain Brit. Martin, the veteran of the Plainfield team, continues to play fast ball. His stick work is a factor in winning games.

The New Brunswick team will again be seen in Plainfield within a short time. "Dave" Driscoll's boys are popular here and will always be welcome.

GOLF.

As to actual happenings the championship of the Western Golf Association at the Homewood Club, near Chicago, is the most important in golf this week. There is, too, to be a three day affair beginning today at the Ekwanok Country Club, while today the special one day tournament of the East Jersey Golf League will be held at the Glen Ridge Golf Club. The East Jersey tournament is open to the members of the South Orange Field, Forest Hill Field, Suburban, New Brunswick, Colonia and Glen Ridge clubs. The handicap is a three in one affair—one prize for thirty-six holes and one for each eighteen holes. Coincident with the play is a team match of four a side and also a prize for the best nine hole score on any of the four rounds.

Young Evans, for a long while the dominating power in schoolboy golf about Chicago, is now very prominent in the regular tournaments. H. Chandler Egan, the grandest golfer ever developed in the United States, also is now on his mettle. If the Chicago group of clubs is to furnish a winner in the amateur championship at Wheaton the one thing to do is to develop a player to hold W. J. Travis. B. P. Merriman, who won the Connecticut championship for the second time last Saturday, is to play at Wheaton and he will beat more than will beat him.

The victory of J. H. Taylor in the British open championship and that James Braid was second has done a lot to banish the idea that a man over 40 couldn't play good golf. In this country we have for long recognized that fact and four of the most esteemed professionals have passed to the hitherto side of that mile post—George Starth, Aleck Finlay, Tom Anderson and Tom Gourley. Gourley is quite unapproachable on the Forest Hill course and on Saturday he cut down the record from 75 to 70.

The Newark Evening News editorially refers to Mayor Charles J. Fisk as the head of the Harvey Fisk & Sons banking house.

When Mrs. Emily E. Williamson passed to her reward, Union county and the State at large lost its foremost woman. Her days were devoted to the uplift and succor of the unfortunate and helpless for despite her immense wealth she chose to humbly follow in the footsteps of the Master. She was the friend of the friendless. In all its history New Jersey has never produced a nobler woman.

Guiding the policy of a giant newspaper by cable is not always satisfactory, especially to the readers who are forced to witness a one-sided fight between the owner and a disgruntled advertiser, in which the former makes unjust use of "the power of the press" to berate a man for reducing his paper's gross receipts by some $40,000 a year. Talk about cross-roads "journalism," the Herald has it beat a mile.

As an experiment, a train was run through the Hudson tunnel, which will be opened formally on Monday, in exactly five and a half minutes, the distance being from the Erie station in Jersey City to the Hudson Terminal building at Fulton and Church streets, New York. Beginning August 2, the regular schedule of six minutes will be begun, and when it is the grand army of commuters, who prefer to live in New Jersey rather than exist in New York, will be multiplied materially.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST ENDEAVORERS' ELECTION

Encouraging reports from the various committees and the election of officers, comprised the chief business of the annual meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church last night. The report of the treasurer showed money paid out for the following purposes: State and County Christian Endeavor work, Italian Mission, Miss Sara Curry's fresh air work, Young People's Denominational Board for tracts and missions, Seventh-Day Baptist Missionary Society toward the erection of a chapel in Shanghai, China.

Miss Ida L. Spicer, who has been in charge of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society work for the past twelve years, resigned, and Frank Langworthy is now the superintendent.

The senior society has been for two years paying tuition and expenses of a young woman in Salem College and hopes to continue this until she finishes her college course and becomes self-supporting.

These officers were elected for the year:

President, Raymond C. Burdick; vice-president, Miss Mildred Greene; recording secretary, Miss Nettie Stillman; corresponding secretary, Miss C. Isabel Randolph; treasurer, Roland Davis; junior superintendent, Frank Langworthy; auditor, Charles F. Neagle and Miss Eva Rogers.

Chairman lookout committee, Miss Ida L. Spicer; prayer-meeting, Charles F. Neagle; social, Miss Eva Rogers; flower, Miss Isabel Randolph; music, Miss Helen Rogers; missionary, Nathan Wardner; temperance and good literature, Roy Titsworth; representative in County Union, Mrs. Frank Langworthy; representative in Plainfield Local Union, Mrs. R. C. Burdick; press committee, Miss Ethel Titsworth.

NO CITIZEN SOLDIERS AT TUNNEL DAY EVENT.

Jersey City, July 15.—Some persons here were stirred up yesterday by the refusal of the Fourth Regiment, National Guard of New Jersey, and the Signal Corps attached to the regiment to take part in the Hudson river tunnel day program. The regiment and the signal corps were asked to sen da detail of men to escort Vice-President Sherman and Governor Fort from the tunnel entrance in Exchange place, this city, to the city hall. The regiment was also to act as an escort for the other guests. Both the regiment and the signal corps have sent word to the tunnnel committee that it will be impossible to escort the party.

The incident has aroused the tunnel day committee to wrath, and they have sent out an urgent call for a strong detail of regulars from Governor's Island. The regulars will be here.

It is said in defense of the regiment that most of its men are under salary, that they will shortly go to Sea Girt and drop their labors for a week and that to ask for an additional day off would be rubbing it in on the employers.

The committee, however, cannot see why at least thirty of the regiment and signal corps cannot act as an escort. They point out that in the local companies of the regiment at least this number of men could be excused from work.

"What will the visitors think of this city?" asked one of the members of the tunnel day committee yesterday. "Here will be a detachment of regulars and none of our militia. It will look as though the city is woefully deficient in civic pride."

DR. SCHENCK'S SONS WIN RUTGERS SCHOLARSHIPS.

Harold Schenck and Cornelius Frelinghuysen Schenck, sons of Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of West Front street, have received word that they were successful in taking the competitive examination entitling them to free scholarships at Rutgers College. Union county is entitled to three scholarships, of which the Schenck boys get two. They will enter Rutgers College in September. They were informed that each missed but one point. The examination was held at Elizabeth June 4 and 5.

Both Harold and Cornelius Schenck were graduated from the Plainfield High School this year with honors and the high average attained in the competitive examinations speaks well for the young men. Harold Schenck will prepare for the ministry, while his brother will become a civil engineer.

THE FORUM.

Editor, The Daily Press:

At the Charter Day open air meeting, a speaker said that John W. Murray, Sr., drew the City charter. Is that correct? My impression is that Nathan Harper copied the charter largely from that of Burlington, N. J. FACTS.

(Your impression is correct.—Editor).

Mr. Hardingham will speak at the Plainfield Rescue Mission meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the W. C. T. U. hall.

BONN MERLETT FINED; MAY SEEK DIVORCE

Bonn Merlett, of Dunellen, was fined three dollars by Borough Recorder Campbell yesterday on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, and thereby hangs a tale. In addition to the original complaint his wife preferred a charge of assault against him, which, however, she refused to press when Merlett came before the recorder in the morning.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Merlett again appeared before Recorder Campbell asking for a warrant for her husband's arrest on the charge she had refused to prosecute in the morning. She did not get the warrant.

Merlett claims that he was justified in his actions, as when he returned to his home Tuesday night he says he found his wife entertaining two male companions and this naturally stirred up his feelings to the extent of wanting to eject them. His wife objected, hence the row. She called in Marshal Sliney and had her husband locked up.

According to neighbors, the couple have not lived in the strictest harmony for some time, owing, it is said, to the woman's predilection for the society of other men.

Merlett is a mason and is considered to be one of the best hereabouts and has a pretty home for which he is an ample provider. He is about fifty-five, while his wife is but thirty. He said yesterday that he was going to seek a legal separation and failing in that threatens to take French leave as he is tired of his wife's alleged misconduct.

Mrs. Merlett was not at home when a reporter for The Daily Press called at the house yesterday so her version of the trouble could not be obtained. The sympathies of the majority of those seen, however, seem to be with the husband.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

George Primrose and his all star minstrel company will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night. This engagement will emphasize the fact that negro minstrelsy is not dead, as this form of entertainment is entirely an American feature which has gradually drifted away from the ideas of its originators. One of the surest signs of its popularity is that every writer of comic opera and musical comedy introduces negro songs, melodies and dances in all their works, and invariably their biggest hits have been made with these numbers. There was a time when the public would stand for a so-called minstrel show to appear in Louis XIV. costumes, powdered wigs, and painted faces, which was rather charming to look upon, because it was new and in some degree true to the troubadour style of the Orient, but this style having lost its novelty, is no longer charming, and furthermore, theatregoers now want American minstrelsy that is true to negro life of plantation days and truly a feature of our own country. Knowing that the public wants this style of entertainment, Mr. Primrose was the first to furnish this joyful form of amusement, but with modern embellishments of a kind that enhances the effect. The gaudily bedecked costumes and bunco minstrelsy has seen its day. In its place has come the merry darkey fun, intermingled with up-to-date songs and humor, with a star program of novelty vaudeville acts, with fifty people participating in the big fun and song festival.

HUSBAND FAINTS AT DIVORCE CASE HEARING.

Jersey City, July 15.—Just as Vice-Chancellor Garrison came into room No. 1 of Chancery chambers yesterday to hear testimony in the suit of Edward F. Grady, of 9 East Hamilton place, this city, for divorce from his wife, Anna Grady, of 57 Lexington avenue, this city, Mr. Grady, sitting beside his counsel, Clarence Kelsey, threw up his hands and slid back in his chair in a faint.

Ten minutes later, when the husband took the stand, he told a story of domestic woe. He asserted that his wife repeatedly demanded that he sign separation papers. He refused, but she wore out his resisting power by repeated demands, withholding of meals, tears, threats and, he said, demonstrations with a carving knife.

On one occasion, the husband said, when he had refused to sign the papers, his wife took off her wedding ring and threw it into the fire. The following Sunday, he said, his wife slashed his overcoat with a carving knife, and then told him that she would kill him unless he signed. On January 7, 1900, he signed, as she directed.

NETHERWOOD'S HOME'S SERVICE LAST NIGHT.

Captain Arthur Hopkins, of the Salvation Army, spoke to the 300 children at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home at the vesper service held in the open air auditorium last night. He was accompanied by a delegation of the Salvation Army workers, and the children took part in the singing of gospel hymns. Hugh Fawcett also made an address to the children, his topic being "Faith."

Tonight the service will be in charge of Rev. Mr. Hamilton, of Elizabeth, who will be accompanied to this city by members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the mission church of which he is the pastor.

CLAIMS SHE SAW CASH PAID, WHICH THEY DENY.

Paterson, July 15.—Vice-Chancellor Stevenson Tuesday devoted the morning and afternoon sessions of the court to the hearing of testimony in the suit to have a mortgage foreclosed, which was brought by Mrs. Bertha DeLazier against John Schaff and wife, William Page, as trustee for Ruth Page, Jennie Page, Eugene F. and Mary Guerra, Kate and John Saxton and Luella L. Palmer.

It appears that on September 27, 1906, Mr. and Mrs. Schaff gave a bond and mortgage to Mrs. DeLazier covering 180-182 Oak street. The claim that part of the money was retained to complete a house on East Thirty-third street, which they had just bought from Jacob A. Young. That building, it is claimed, was not finished, and Mrs. DeLazier claims she turned the money over to Mr. Young, the former owner, and that it was part of the purchase price of that property. It is the Guerras, who claim they loaned the money to the Schaffs through Mr. Page, but the Schaffs claim they never received the same.

Mrs. Alice Ritchie, of Philadelphia, who says she was in Page's office at the time the money was turned over to the Schaffs, testified Tuesday afternoon that she happened to be in Page's office on private business when she saw the Schaffs there, and saw them sign the mortgage. Page, she claims, counted out the money to them. She did not know then what the transaction was about, but has since ascertained.

RECAPTURE TWO FROM RAHWAY REFORMATORY.

Rahway, July 15.—Brief indeed was the liberty gained by James Lindner and Benjamin Bassville, inmates of the New Jersey Reformatory, here, who escaped Tuesday afternoon. They were captured near Elizabethport by reformatory guards within three hours after they made what looked like a successful "get away." Lindner is white, and Bassville a negro. Each is about twenty-three years old. They escaped while at work with eight other men in one of the fields within 200 yards of the buildings.

They were recaptured as they were making their way across the drawbridge of the Central Railroad Company.

In making their escape the men managed to get behind some shrubbery and so gained the road. Their absence was discovered a few minutes later. Lindner was serving a term of seven years in the reformatory, having been committed from Elizabeth for violating his parole.

PIN IN WOMAN'S EYE FROM SHAKING DRESSES.

Asbury Park, July 15.—Mrs. Wallace Kittel, a resident of Glendola, a small place near here, suffered the loss of her right eye as the result of a peculiar accident Tuesday.

While shaking out a skirt a pin contained in the garment flew into her eye and pierced the pupil. The woman pulled the pin out of her eye and from the organ the crystalline fluid immediately flowed.

The loss of the fluid has rendered the woman blind. Specialists consulted said that had Mrs. Kittel pressed her finger to the pin wound at once, some of the fluid would have been saved and total blindness of the eye would not have been the result.

Amusement.

The increase in the number of airships taking part in the "Battle in the Clouds" at Brighton Beach, makes the fight more interesting. None of the captains of battleships is more proud of his achievements than is the little man who comes forward in his flying fort and pours deadly electric shower on the doomed city of science. He chuckles with glee each time he hits a vital spot and pours out the lightning from his secure eyrie in the sky. The new dances are very popular dividing the honors of the entertainment with the man up the pole. Plans are now making for a series of special nights which will be very interesting. As usual Monday nights will be for the children when comics and funny fancies will prevail.

MOORISH CAMP SHELLED BY A SPANISH GUNBOAT.

Melilla, Morocco, July 15.—Spain has begun measures against the Moors for the recent murder of four Spanish workmen in Morocco. The Spanish gunboat Dona Maria De Molina yesterday bombarded the Moorish camps near here for several hours.

The heavy sea has for the present prevented the landing of troops.

MUST PAY FOR FUNERAL

the part of the estate.

Mr. Blatz declared that there was no dispute over the bill. He believed that inasmuch as the children had arranged for the funeral, and all had apparently agreed they should pay the bill. In charging the jury, Judge Newborn also called attention to the fact that the bill had not been disputed and apparently the charges were fair and reasonable. He said that it was the duty of the jury to decide which of the defendants was chargeable. The fact the the bill had been sent to the estate would not bar the complainant from recovering. He defined the question of contract from a legal standpoint and instructed the twelve men to determine who was responsible, and the case was then given to the jury, which was comprised of the following: Harry Northrop, W. H. Aspinwall, Edward Nelson, John Kitchen, C. W. Runyon, Noah W. Pike, Abram V. Nelson, Joseph Kingston, W. C. Cleaves, John Rafferty, Jr., Clifford Manning and Stephen H. Schleif.

CONTROL FRESH AIR HOME

by all Plainfielders who have labored for the success of the Home. Practically all of the city and borough churches, through the Christian Endeavor Societies and other organizations have contributed to the maintenance of the institution, through cash donations or in giving provisions, vegetables, fruits, etc.

In speaking of the matter last night, George E. Hall, who was president of the association, which had charge of the work at the Home, said that he was greatly surprised over the turn in affairs. Personally, he could not see what right Messrs. Rolston and Morgan have to the money left by Mr. Hewitt, considering the way in which it was bequeathed, but he added that he had decided to withdraw from the association and have nothing more to do with the work.

REGAN SHOOTS IN ANGER

sentence in Goldstein's case and fined Regan ten dollars.

It was the opinion of some of the disinterested listeners in the court room that Regan was lucky that a charge of attmepted felonious assault had not been preferred against him.

There has been bad feeling between the Regan and Goldstein families for some time, owing to the clashes between the children of the two families, and it is believed that the shooting is the outcome of past differences. Regan lives on the corner of Harrison and Cedar streets and Goldstein lives nearly opposite at 48 Cedar street. It is not believed that the result of this morning's court proceedings will tend to help bury the hatchet.

Proctor's New Bill.

There will be an entire new bill at Proctor's theatre today, including Harry Waiman, boy violinist and impersonator; Lester & Mildred, singing and dancing artists; The Mandys, novelty act, and Alva McGill, singing comedian. All have the stamp of approval and, together with the new life motion pictures will furnish a first-class entertainment for all.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF MRS. EMILY WILLIAMSON

Final tribute was paid to Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, probation officer of Union county, who died at her home in Elizabeth Tuesday morning by a large assemblage of State and county officials and prominent men from all parts of New Jersey, who gathered at Trinity Episcopal church, Elizabeth, at 2 o'clock this afternoon for the funeral. The service was in charge of Rev. John L. Atkinson, rector of the church, of which Mrs. Williamson was a member. The body was taken to Rose Hill for interment.

Out of respect for Mrs. Williamson, there was no session of the county court today, and resolutions of regret at her death have been drafted by the court officers as well as by the members of the New Jersey State Village and Epileptics, at Skillman, and various other charitable and benevolent institutions with which she was identified. There was a mass of floral tributes, and the flowers were distributed among the various Elizabeth hospitals and charitable institutions after the funeral service.

PROPERTY-OWNERS MAY APPLY FOR INJUNCTION

Several property owners along the proposed widening of Greenbrook road, are strenuously objecting to the inroads being made on their property on the south side of the road, claiming encroachment, and are talking of securing an injunction to prevent the continuation of operations peding a resurvey.

The matter is being discussed by the Somerset county Freeholders today, and it is expected that some decision may be reached.

The road builders, according to former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, Charles F. Debele and F. C. Jennings are encroaching upon land on the south side of the road, belonging to them, instead of making an even division, that is, taking an equal area from both north and south sides, as was originally intended, as per survey. This, they claim would take from them valuable land without compensation and is not in accordance with the plans of those who donated the land for the purpose.

It is certain that in the event of the matter not being settled satisfactorily by the Freeholders today, an injunction will be applied for, and the work of widening the road stopped until the matter can be threshed out in the courts.

JOHN LEAL STOPS RUNAWAY FROM THE VON OHL FARM.

Dashing to the street from the piazza of his home on Central avenue, John Leal, principal of Leal's School, seized the bridle of a runaway white pony belonging to Mrs. Percy Von Ohl as the animal which was attached to a light runabout, ran past this morning and clung on, stopping the fractious pony. Miss Von Ohl, who had been breaking the pony to harness, was pursuing the runaway on horseback.

The pony, which was being broken in at the Von Ohl farm, was being worked in a ring by Miss Von Ohl, who held the leader. The little animal gor fractious, and bolted free, galloping toward town along Central avenue. Near Mr. Leal's house it became entangled in one of the shafts which it broke. The pony was considerably cut up about the legs, and the runabout and harness were damaged. Miss Von Ohl led the little runaway back to the training ground.

DR. TOMPKINS FOR DENTAL EXAMINER.

Ocean Grove, July 15.—When the New Jersey dentists meet in Asbury Park in annual convention next week the name of Dr. George L. D. Tompkins, of Ocean Grove, formerly of Newark, where he was born, will be presented as a member of the State Board of Dental Examiners, to succeed Dr. Charles A. Meeker, of Newark. Dr. Meeker is secretary-treasurer of the board. He has held that position for sixteen years, and the feeling among many of the profession is that the time is ripe for a change.

Choice this time has fallen unsolicited upon Dr. Tompkins, one of the most popular dentists of the State and one of the best known men of the profession in New Jersey. He is a member of the State Dental Society, the Central Dental Association of Newark and the Monmouth County Dental Society.

There promises to be a lively fight over this election when the dentists gather. It is understood that Dr. Meeker desires re-election. Five members constitute the board. In thirty-six years there have been only twenty-five persons to sit in the board, one member retaining his seat for twenty-four years, and fourteen have served over five years. The dentists generally throughout the State favor the rule of rotation in office, and the chances are that hereafter one term will be all any member may expect.

BRYAN WRITES TO MR. TAFT.

Wants the People to Elect United States Senators.

Lincoln, Neb., July 15.—William J. Bryan Tuesday addressed a letter to President Taft asking him to allow the people to vote on popular election of Senators. Mr. Bryan said: "President Taft: Now that the States are going to vote on the ratification of the amendment specifically authorizing an income tax, why not give them a chance to vote on an amendment providing for the election of United States Senators by popular vote? In your speech of acceptance you said that you were personally inclined to favor such a change in the Constitution. Would this not be an opportune time to present the subject to Congress?

Two constitutional amendments, one authorizing income tax and the other providing for the popular election of Senators, would make your administration memorable, and I pledge you whatever assistance I can render in securing the ratification of these amendments.

"With great respect, I am, yours truly, WILLIAM J. BRYAN."

TURNS UP AFTER HIS FUNERAL.

Somebody Was Buried, but it Wasn't Mr. Hoover, of New Brunswick.

"Who are you in mourning for?" said James P. Hoover when he walked into his home, at No. 254 Neilson street, New Brunswick, Monday night, after an absence of six weeks.

Mrs. Hoover almost swooned, but managed to gasp: "Why, I buried you in Staten Island two weeks ago."

"Well, I've just landed a job at Westfield," said Hoover, "and I guess I'd better go back there to earn the funeral expenses." He started out yesterday to take the job.

Hoover, who was formerly a Pennsylvania Railroad fireman, disappeared on June 7. On June 26 a body which answered his description was found floating in Princess Bay, Staten Island. Chief of Police O'Connell, of New Brunswick, notified Mrs. Hoover, who positively identified the corpse as that of her husband.

DIG UP MASTODON'S TEETH.

Finds Molars Large as Hen's Eggs on Farm.

On the farm of Walter Antrim, in Springfield township, Burlington county, is the skeleton of a mastodon, which will be removed and mounted by the State Geological Society of New Jersey.

While searching the place for Indian arrow heads J. H. Kelsey, of Pemberton, who has law offices in Mount Holly, found a large tooth which had been thrown up by a man digging a post hole. Mr. Kelsey got a spade and unearthed twenty-one teeth as large as hen's eggs. He notified the geological society of his discovery and to that organization all rights have been reserved for its removal.

A similar skeleton was found near the same spot fifteen years ago by J. Coleman Saltar, a brother-in-law of Mr. Kelsey.

Helen Blythe Appeals Will.

Mrs. Helen B. Brien, of Asbury Park, whose stage name is Helen Blythe, has filed an appeal in the Monmouth County Orphan's Court to the will of her father, the late Colonel Henry James Bly, for thirty years owner of the Plaza Hotel, in Asbury Park, who died recently, leaving a will in which Mrs. Brien, the only surviving heir-at-law, was to receive the sum of $100 annually and such necessary clothing and comforts as the executors should decide she needed from time to time. The balance of the estate, amounting to about $30,000, was left to his partner in business, James Kelsey, of Asbury Park.

AN ORDINANCE

A Supplement to An Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance for the assessment of taxes for the year 1909," approved May 3, 1909.

Whereas, The Board of School Estimate of this school district, that is to say, the school district comprising the City of Plainfield, has fixed upon and determined the amount of money necessary to be appropriated for the use of the public schools in such district for the ensuing school year, exclusive of the amount apportioned to it by the County Superintendent of Schools, to wit, the sum of Sixty-two Thousand Dollars ($62,000), and has made two certificates for said amount signed by four, being a majority of all the members of said Board, one of which certificates has been delivered to the Board of Education of said School District, and the other to the Common Council of said City:

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled "An Act to establish a thorough and efficient system of free public schools, and to provide for the maintenance, support and management thereof," approved October 19, 1903, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, the sum of Sixty-two Thousand Dollars ($62,000)) be and the same is hereby appropriated for the purposes aforesaid as other appropriations are made by the Common Council, and that said amount shall be assessed, levied and collected for the year nineteen hundred and nine in the same manner as moneys appropriated for other purposes in this City are required to be assessed, levied and collected.

"Shoulder!"

"Which shoulder is sprung."

"Oh, of course! The right shoulder, and it is sprung pretty badly, too, Cousin Lance says. How very stupid of me to ride over here for a freight wreck!"

McCloud felt humiliated at having nothing better worth while to offer. "It was a very bad one," he ventured.

"But not of the kind I can be of any help at, I fear."

McCloud smiled. "We are certainly short of help."

Dicksie brought her horse's head around. She felt again of the girth as she replied: "Not such as I can supply, I'm afraid." And with the words she stepped away, as if preparing to mount.

McCloud intervened. "I hope you won't go away without resting your horse. The sun is so hot. Mayn't I offer you some sort of refreshment?"

Dicksie Dunning thought not.

"The sun is very warm," persisted McCloud.

Dicksie smoothed her gauntlet in the assured manner natural to her. "I am pretty well used to it."

But McCloud held on. "Several cars of fruit were destroyed in the wreck. I can offer you any quantity of grapes—crates of them are spoiling over there—and pears."

"Thank you, I am just from luncheon."

"And I have cooled water in the car. I hope you won't refuse that, so far out in the desert."

Dicksie laughed a little. "Do you call this far? I don't; and I don't call this desert by any means. Thank you ever so much for the water, but I'm not in the least thirsty."

"It was kind of you even to think of extending help. I wish you would let me send some fruit over to your ranch. It is only spoiling here."

Dicksie stroked the neck of her horse. "It is about 18 miles to the ranch house."

"I don't call that far."

"Oh, it isn't," she returned, hastily, professing not to notice the look that went with the words, "except for perishable things!" Then, as if acknowledging her disadvantage, she added, swinging her bridle rein around: "I am under obligations for the offer, just the same."

"At least, won't you let your horse drink?" McCloud threw the force of an appeal into his words, and Dicksie stopped her preparations and appeared to waver.

"Jim is pretty thirsty, I suppose. Have you plenty of water?"

"A tender full. Had I better lead him down while you wait up on the hill in the shade?"

"Can't I ride him down?"

"It would be pretty rough riding."

"Oh, Jim goes anywhere," she said, with her attractive indifference to situations. "If you don't mind helping me mount."

"With pleasure."

She stood waiting for his hand and McCloud stood, not knowing just what to do. She glanced at him expectantly. The sun grew intensely hot.

"You will have to show me how," he stammered at last.

"Don't you know?"

He mentally cursed the technical education that left him helpless at such a moment, but it was useless to pretend. "Frankly, I don't."

"Just give me your hand. Oh, not in that way! But never mind, I'll walk," she suggested, catching up her skirt.

"The rocks will cut your boots all to pieces. Suppose you tell me what to do this once," he said, assuming some confidence. "I'll never forget."

"Why, if you will just give me your hand for my foot, I can manage, you know."

He did not know, but she lifted her skirt graciously, and her crushed boot rested easily for a moment in his hand. She rose in the air above him before he could well comprehend. He felt the quick spring from his supporting hand, and it was an instant of exhilaration. Then she balanced herself with a flushed laugh in the saddle, and he guided her ahead among the loose rocks, the horse nosing at his elbow as they picked their way.

Crossing the track, they gained better ground. As they reached the switch and passed a box car, Jim shied, and Dicksie spoke sharply to him. McCloud turned.

In the shade of the car lay the tramp.

"That man lying there frightened him," explained Dicksie. "Oh," she exclaimed, suddenly, "he has been hurt!" She turned away her head. "Is that the man who was in the wreck?"

"Yes."

"Do something for him. He must be suffering terribly."

"The men gave him some water awhile ago, and when we moved him into the shade we thought he was dead."

"He isn't dead yet!" Dicksie's face, still averted, had grown white. "I saw him move. Can't you do something for him?"

She reined up at a little distance. McCloud bent over the man a moment and spoke to him. When he rose he called to the men on the track. "You are right," he said, rejoining Dicksie; "he is very much alive. His name is Wickwire; he is a cowboy."

"A cowboy!"

"A tramp cowboy."

"What can you do with him?"

"I'll have the men put him in the caboose and send him to Barnhardt's hospital at Medicine Bend when the engine comes back. He may live yet. If he does, he can thank you for it."

CHAPTER IV.

George McCloud.

McCloud was an exception to every tradition that goes to make up a mountain railroad man. He was from New England, with a mild voice and a hand that roughened very slowly. McCloud was a classmate of Morris Blood's at the Boston "Tech," and the acquaintance begun there continued after the two left school, with a scattering fire of letters between the mountains and New England, as few and as far between as men's letters usually scatter after an ardent school acquaintance.

There were just two boys in the McCloud family—John and George. One had always been intended for the church, the other for science. Somehow the boys got mixed in their cradles, and John got into the church. For George, who ought to have been a clergyman, nothing was left but a long engineering course for which, after he got it, he appeared to have no use. However, it seemed a little late to shift the life alignments. John had the pulpit and appeared disposed to keep it, and George was left, like a New England farm, to wonder what had become of himself.

PLAINFIELD TEAM TO BATTLE AGAINST OLD-TIME RIVALS.

The local baseball fans will be interested in the announcement that the Scotch Plains, the old rivals of the Plainfield Baseball Club, will be seen on Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon. This will be the first contest this season between the two teams, and it should attract a record breaking crowd. Just now the Plains and the local teams are going at top-speed and the battle will be a red-hot one to the finish.

Ortleib, the former Plains twirler, will be opposed by "Smiling Jimmie" Montross, who is better than ever, and all signs point to a pitchers' battle well worth seeing. The Plains aggregation will come to town with a big crowd of rooters, while the supporters of the local team will be out in full force. Both sides claim victory and are backing it up to the limit.

—Delicious Georgia peaches, Rockyford muskmelons, red and black raspberries, blackberries, huckleberries, apricots, plums, pineapples, currants, etc., are among the specialties at Neuman Brothers.

EZRA HAND'S WIDOW DIES IN HER 93rd YEAR.

Mrs. Mary F. Hand, widow of Ezra Hand, died yesterday at the home of her grandson, Walter H. Dorlon, of East Seventh street, in her ninety-third year. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late home.

Mrs. Hand was the second wife of Ezra Hand, who was a grandson of the late Hezekiah Hand. Hezekiah Hand became famous three-quarters of a century ago by reason of his numerous progeny, being the father of twenty-three children.

The family moved to Plainfield from Long Island some 200 years ago, and were always prominent in the early affairs of the town. Mrs. Hand's maiden name was Satout, and she come from a distinguished French family. She had no children and since her husband's death, about fifty years ago has made her home with other descendants of the family.

Miss Mabel VanDeventer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus VanDeventer, of Myrtle avenue, has gone to Washington, D. C., to visit friends.

ENDEAVOR MEETING IN NORTHFIELD, MASS

A general conference for Christian Endeavor workers will be held at East Northfield, Mass., from July 31 to August 15. It will be the twenty-seventh annual session. The affair promises this year to be even more successful than it has been in the past years.

The daily program of meeting will begin with a Bible class, conducted by the Rev. A. T. Pierson, D. D., at 9 o'clock. A large number of other srvices will be held. Among the principal speakers will be the Rev. J. H. Jowett, of Birmingham; the Rev. G. A. Johnston Ross, of Cambridge; the Rev. J. Stuart Holden, of London; the Rev. J. A. Hutton, of Glasgow; the Rev. Charles Brown, of London; the Rev. Frank Gunsaulus, of Chicago; the Rev. Canon Cody, of Toronto; the Rev. Len Broughton, of Atlanta; the Rev. Robert F. Y. Pierce, of New York city, and the Rev. John F. Carson, of Brooklyn. The music will be in charge of George C. Stebbins and Lewis S. Chafer.

One of the new features at the conference this year will be a daily minister's meeting, conducted by the Rev. G. A. Johnston Ross. These services are arranged in response to a wish, frequently expressed by many pastors attending the conference, for a meeting where ministerial problems may be discussed.

Many Christian Endeavor workers in this city and the surrounding towns have attended the conferences at Northfield in the past and it is expected that quite a few will go again this year.

IN JEALOUS RAGE CUTS GIRL NINETEEN TIMES.

Lambertville, July 15.—Michele Vicere, twenty-four years old, a laborer employed by the Lambertville Rubber Company in this city, went to Stockton, three miles above this city, Tuesday morning and was later returned to the jail charged with a murderous attack on Rose Deni, a domestic, eighteen years old, of whom he had been an unwelcome suitor.

Vicere carried a .38 caliber revolver and a razor as he waited for the young woman on the station platform in Stockton. As she was passing him, Vicere attacked her with the razor, inflicting nineteen wounds on her head and body. Her nose was nearly severed and the jugular vein was missed by a fraction of an inch. The asault was witnessed by several persons, who went to the young woman's rescue.

Vicere tried to escape into Pennsylvania, but John Wilson, employed at the railroad station, threw a hammer, striking the fugitive in the side and knocking him down. Several persons pounced upon Vicere and overpowered him. He was placed in the town jail and Sheriff Green notified. He was later taken to the county jail at Flemington by Deputy Sheriff Frank Barkley. Dr. Williams, of this city, dressed Miss Deni's wounds and says she will be disfigured for life. Vicere, it is said, studied for the ministry a few years ago.

STATEN ISLAND HUNT FOR NEWARK SOLDIER.

Stapleton, S. I., July 15.—Search is being continued throughout Staten Island by armed patrols and the ferries are being watched for Frank Noecker, a private of the Eighty-sixth Company, Coast Artillery, who escaped from the guardhouse at Fort Wadsworth some time during Monday night. It is thought, however, that he made his escape in a boat and landed on the Long Island shore.

Noecker was awaiting trial by court-marital for desertion. About two weeks ago he deserted, but was caught several days later at South Beach. After 6 o'clock Monday evening he asked permission to take a bath. Noecker then went to the bathroom, on the top of the two-story building, which forms a part of the guardhouse building, and it is supposed that he dropped from one of the windows to the ground.

The men who were on duty at the front gate Monday night and Tuesday are all positive that he did not get out that way, and there is a strong suspicion that friends were waiting for him in a boat off the beach, and that he escaped with their aid to Long Island.

Noecker is twenty-tight years old. His home is supposed to be in Newark, N. J.

Mrs. Howard Turrill and her two daughters left town last week to spend the rest of the summer with Mrs. Turrill's parents at Frederick, Md.

Chalmers-Detroit "30"—$1500

Chalmers-Detroit "Forty"—Price $2,750
Touring Car, Pony Tonneau, Roadster. Equipped for seven passengers at $75.00

The New Chalmers Cars for 1910

No Increase in Price

Note the pictures. Our "30" has a 115-inch wheel base—with 34-inch wheels. A longer, higher hood to accord with a roomier tonneau. Lines like the costliest cars on the market.

Yet not a penny of additional price. The car still sells for $1500. Let us tell you how we have done it.

1,000 More Cars

Last season's output of "30's" was 2,500 cars, yet we ran 800 cars short of our orders. We were obliged to refuse trade to the extent of $1,200,000.

This year we have built a new factory, and our 1910 output of "30's" will be 3,500 cars. Those 1,000 extra cars will be made without adding a dollar to our fixed expense.

They will also be made with last year's tools and machinery. We have almost no new expense there. For mechanically, the car is not altered at all. Experience has shown us no way to improve it.

Thus we effect immense savings. And all of these savings have gone into the car—to make it more sightly, more roomy, more like the costliest cars.

Nine Per Cent Profit

Our profit this season will be the same as last season—exactly nine per cent.

Our customers have created these savings by calling for more of our cars. And every penny we save will be spent in giving them more beautiful cars. That is our permanent policy.

Please note the result. Note what a large and showy car—note the exquisite lines. Just think that $1500 now buys this amazing car.

Lower Prices

We will fit this $1500 car with a Bosch magneto, a Prest-O-Lite gas tank, and two Atwood-Castle gas lamps—all for $100 extra. The regular price of these extras is $175.

We will furnish our "30" with a Lenox mohair top for $75 extra. The regular price is $125.

We shall give you all the advantage of our quantity buying. So this 1910 model, fully equipped, costs you $135 less than did our 1909 model, equally equipped.

A longer, higher hood, roomier tonneau, longer wheel base, larger wheels and daintier lines. Yet the cost equipped is considerably less than the model of 1909.

No Records Like These

One of the Chalmers-Detroit "30's" has been run 32,000 miles, and has just completed a path-finding trip from Denver to Mexico City. Never has any car, at any price, made an equal endurance record.

Owners have paid us for repairs on their 1909 cars exactly $2.44 per car. That is a world's record.

On June 18th, a "30" won the Indiana Light Car Race, the greatest contest of its kind ever held in America, doing 232.74 miles at an average speed of 51.5 miles per hour.

On an economy test, made by the New York Auto Dealers' Association, it ran 25.7 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Never has a car at any price proved so satisfactory. Never did a car show such low cost for upkeep.

That is why we make no radical mechanical changes. Experience has proved that the 1909 "30" is absolutely right mechanically.

The Larger "Forty"

Our "Forty" for 1910 has 36-inch wheels. The wheel base is 12[illegible] inches—ten inches longer than last year. The car seats seven, while last season's seated five.

Upholstered in hand-buffed leather. Fitted with Bosch magneto, gas lamps and gas tank free.

Yet the price remains $2,750.

We will equip this car with a $150 Newport mohair top for $125 extra. The two extra seats will cost you but $75.

So this larger car, with larger wheels, when fully equipped, costs considerably less than last year.

This is our "Forty's" fifth season. It is known far and wide as the best medium-priced car on the market. It has been purchased by scores of the best experts in America for their personal use.

This season, with its extra room, there is not a car at any price which can reasonably claim to excel it.

Made as touring car, roadster and pony tonneau.

See These New Cars

Every Chalmers-Detroit dealer now has photographs of these new models. Demonstrating cars will be ready this month. Deliveries to users begin August 1st.

See them before you buy.

The tide of automobile demand is turning to these medium-priced cars. Not alone because of their prices, but mainly because of their savings on upkeep. The day of extravagance is past.

Last season these cars had no real competition. The demand was a third greater than could be supplied. This season, no medium-priced car will be anywhere near in their class.

Get your order in early, for orders are filled in rotation. August delivery gives you five months' use before the car's year begins.

BALL IN SPINAL CORD KILLED MRS. J. B. RAUB.

County Physician McKenzie performed an autopsy Tuesday night on the body of Mrs. Jacob B. Raub, who died in the City Hospital at Newark Tuesday, from bullet wounds inflicted by Peter Demarco. The latter shot the woman and her niece, Mamie Raub, in their home at 222 South Tenth street, Saturday, because Mamie has spurned his attentions.

The autopsy showed that Mrs. Raub had been wounded three times, in the left arm, the right shoulder and the right hip. It was the latter bullet that caused her death. The ball had taken an upward course and shattered the spinal cord. It was thought that the bullet which entered her right shoulder had penetrated the lung, but the county physician found it had lodged in the back of the neck.

Dr. McKenzie said that Mrs. Raub probably fell to the floor in a faint after she was shot in the left arm, and it was while she was in that position that the other two shots were fired. That would account of the two bullets taking an upward course, he said.

FALLS FROM VIADUCT TO RESUME HIS PLAY.

Dover, July 15.—Evidently it requires more than a fall of forty feet and striking on railroad tracks to disable little Antonio Cortagio, of West Blackwell street. The lad, together with others, was playing about the Lackawanna viaduct yesterday afternoon and was walking on the concrete wall of the bridge when he lost his balance and fell to the Lackawanna tracks below, a distance of over forty feet.

He turned several somersaults in his downward course, but landed on his hands and feet directly across the tracks. His companions ran down around the viaduct to the tracks expecting to find their playmate badly injured or killed, only to see him jump up and shout:

"I'll bet none of youse kids can jump as high as that!"

So far as can be ascertained young Cortagio was not injured in the least by his fall, having not even suffered a scratch, and he resumed his play.

INJUNCTION DISMISSEL IN SUMMIT WATER FIGHT.

Summit, July 15.—Deciding that the parties in the suit of Helms and Hughes against the city of Summit broke about even, and threfore awarding no costs, Vice-Chancellor Emery Tuesday afternon signed a decree dismissing an injunction granted by Vice-Chancellor Howell two years ago. The suit was brought to restrain this city from flooding with surface water properties owned by the plaintiffs here.

Vice-Chancellor Howells' injunction ordered the city to keep the culvert closed on the property of the complainants. Vice Chancellor Emery Tuesday decided that while Helms and Hughes were justified in having the culvert closed two years ago, under the existing conditions it is evident that the causes of the flooding of the plaintiffs' land has been removed by the installing by this city of surface water sewers and drains. As the culvert has been maintained many years, Mr. Emery decreed that the city should be allowed to continue to hold the right to keep the culvert open.

PROPERTY OWNERS ASK COURT TO INVESTIGATE.

Bradley Beach, July 15.—Alleging the wrongful expenditure of public funds, a petition has been filed with Justice Voorhees, of the Supreme Court, by Paterson & Rhome, lawyers, representing thirty-five property owners in this resort. A summary investigation into the municipal affairs of the borough is asked, and the petition represents that in the belief of the petitioners moneys have been dispensed unlawfully and State statutes have been disregarded. A rule to show cause will be issued against the borough, it is thought, and an investigation follow.

Already the newly organized Board of Trade has scored a point, through their efforts Superintendent Rufus Blodgett, of the New York and Long Branch Railroad, has given his promise that this resort would have a new depot before next season. The present structure is about half as long as a freight car and about as wide, and very inadequate nd unsightly. It was reported at the meeting of the board last night that Founder James A. Bradley had been approached as regards a boardwalk for Bradley Beach, but his answer had not as yet been received.

CORPORATION TAX MAY BE UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

Washington, July 15.—The corporation tax is still in the hands of Department of Justice officials and reports indicate that more trouble than was expected is to be experienced in getting satisfactory language for its provisions. The trouble is that most of the experts to whom the draft has been submitted are reporting that as the draft stands practically all of the constitutional objections raised by the Supreme Court against the income tax will run with equal force against the corporation tax plan.

TELLS OF SILVER BAY

Miss Gertrude L. Hunter's Interesting Address at Hope Chapel.

COLLEGES ARE REPRESENTED.

The Speaker Criticizes Newspapers for Publishing Scandal—Her Address Considered a Helpful One.

Miss Gertrude L. Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hunter, of 836 West Fourth street, delivered an address at the weekly prayer meeting at Hope chapel last night, giving a highly interesting account of her recent attendance at a conference of the College Student Body at Silver Bay. Her story included impressions received from the numerous lectures delivered by noted divines of various denominations, among them Rev. Dr. McConnell, of De Pauw University, and a graphic description of the place itself.

In describinb Silver Bay, Miss Hunter likened it to Northfield in its influences for good and, said that there they receive instruction and inspiration which the students take away with them into the various places of their Christian activities.

Many of the subjects discussed are of a purely local character, but they affect or should affect every Christian church and community in the land.

At this conference, which was admirably conducted by women, there were forty different colleges and preparatory schools represented. The morning session was devoted to Bible and Mission study and the evenings to regular meetings, while the afternoons were largely given over to recreation. Dr. McConnell's lecture on Christian Fundamentals, was referred to by Miss Hunter, as one of the lectures best calculated to remove doubhts in the Christian life. It told of the line of approach one should pursue in discovering truths in religion, pointing out that faith is the first essential. "Put the best construction possible on the things you know and have at hand. You cannot prove the existence of God any further than He works out His presence in your own life."

Miss Hunter, quoting Dr. McConnell again said: "Criticism made on the Holy Scriptures is largely on the detail of the Bible and not on the main point, God. The Bible whatever else it is, is a steadier of men."

Miss Hunter also explained at length the meaning to humanity of the Cross. Referring to the self-made man she said the lack of a certain atmosphere, that of the college, is always apparent. There is always something lacking in the man, whose life has been void of those associations which put the finishing touch, or polish, on his life.

The newspapers came in for criticism because of their alleged attitude toward the people of the church. They are more prone in her opinion to dilate upon the wrong committed by one church member than to look up and publish the good done by the many.

Miss Hunter was the valedictorian of the class of 1906 of the Plainfield High School, and is now president of the Undergraduate Student Body of Barnard College, New York City, and represented that body at Silver Bay.

She was warmly congratulated for her address and thanked by the pastor, Rev. L. R. Howard.

Miss Hunter left these questions with her hearers as being pertinent and worth studious reflection: "Are your habits of prayer satisfactory enough for you to recommend them to someone else? If not are they good enough for you?" The same question to apply to the comprehension of the Bible and the personal relation to Christ.

FORT HITS CONGRESSMEN

They Have Violated Party's Pledges in Tariff Work.

GOVERNOR SOUNDS A WARNING.

Republican Party Must Keep Faith With People or Be Defeated, In an Address at Sea Girt.

Gov. Fort criticized the action of the Republican members of Congress yesterday in their enactment of a tariff bill as a "flat violation of the pledges of the party to the people." The Governor made the statement in the course of an address to his guests at luncheon at the first Governor's Day of the militia encampment of 1900 at Sea Girt.

The Governor said that National and State issues are now so vigorously contested as to almost threaten a division of parties. He quoted President Taft, when he said at Yale that the time has come when a party which does not keep its platform pledges is sure to be relegated to the position of "his Majesty's opposition." The Governor then continued:

"For four months the people have been witnessing an exhibition at Washington of a party trying to enact a tariff bill in flat violation of its pledges to the people. If the final result shall be a law of that kind the next election will see the tariff the chief issue. The action of ten of the great Senators of the Middle West—the very foremost Senators in Congress—in breaking away from the party and refusing to stand for the Senate bill of their party is unique in the political history of the country. It evidences the spirit of independence that is abroad, and foretells the doom of caucus action and dictatorship in matters of political policy."

The Governor went on to say that conditions are changing and the sense of individual responsbility on the part of the legislators is beginning to be more and more realized by the people every day. He said that he believed this was largely due to the action of the press, and said that "the earnest prayer of all who love their country is that the American editor may continue to maintain his high standard of independent political action, and to aid only in the promotion of good in government."

THIRST FOR BEER CAUSE OF ARREST OF TWO MEN.

Because Fred Dutmeiere, of West Third street, had a big thirst yesterday afternoon, and Michael Mottley, of Manning avenue, had money and refused to "shout" for the beers Dutmeiere knocked him down on Somerset street yesterday afternoon, and the two were arrested by Patrolmen Nolan and Saunders after a short chase.

At city court today, it developed that Dutmeire had understood that Mottley was going to buy the drinks yesterday afternoon. The Manning avenue man had shown himself "a good fellow" earlier in the day by getting "a couple of cans of beer" for his friends, who were six in number, but as the cans were small and Dutmeire was at the end of the line, he still had a thirst when he met Mottley later in the day.

Upon Mottley's refusal to buy, the other dealt him a heavy blow in the mouth and felled him. Seeing the police approaching, Dutmeiere moved off on the run, cutting through the race toward Watchung avenue. Saunders followed him, while Nolan ran after Mottley, who had picked himself up and run toward North Plainfield, and caught him just this side of the borough line. The two men, who are friends of a year's standing, were perfectly honest about the incident in court today, and Judge Runyon suspended sentence on their promise to keep out of further trouble.

Will Give High-Class Concert.

A high-class concert will be given at the Salvation Army tent, Monday night, July 19, by a selected orchestra under the leadership of Martin A. Korff. A program of eighteen or twenty selections is being prepared and about twenty musicians are expected to take part. The entire evening will be given to music. No admission fee will be charged. Rev. J. W. Musson, of the Temple Baptist church, speaks tonight.

Firemen to Take Vacations.

Lieutenant Gaub and Captain Terry, of the North Plainfield fire department will each take a ten-day vacation during the month of August. The department has been invited to participate in a parade to be held at Boonton on Labor Day.

HUGH M'IVER GETS BAIL

Chauffeur of "Joy Riders" Party Freed in $300 Bail for Hearing.

SOME WERE NOT DRUNK.

Hearing for the Party Before Judge Runyon Next Wednesday, When Photographs Will Be Shown.

Hugh McIver, the chauffeur, who was driving the party of automobile "joy riders" who so narrowly escaped death when the car turned turtle near Metuchen early Tuesday morning, was released under $300 bail by City Judge Runyon last night, after spending two days at the city police court. His bondsman was Luther Morris.

The first report of the accident, it now transpires, was incorrect so far as it referred to the condition of some of the joy riders at that time. George G. Mitchell was not intoxicated and so far as can be learned neither was Hugh McIver nor Walter Kettenring. Friends of Mitchell are much perturbed over the reports given out that he was hilariously drunk which was not the case according to reliable information received today.

McIver, together with George M. Macintyre, Walter Kettnring and George G. Mitchell, who were riding in the automobile with him from Perth Amboy to this city, when the accident happened, will be given a hearing before City Judge Runyon Wednesday morning at the city court. Bail was supplied for the other three after the arrest on Tuesday, when a warrant was issued for violation of the State automobile law in speeding, driving a car while in an intoxicated condition, and driving a car without the consent of the owner. F. L. C. Martin, the owner of the car, has announced that he will push the case for the extreme penalty under the law. J. B. R. Smith, of Trenton, State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, has the case in hand, and will be present at the hearing.

Kettenring was not connected with a certain joy riding accident about a year ago on East Front street as previously reported.

P. Frank Stone, the photographer, has taken four views of the wrecked automobile and the roadway where the accident occurred, in which Hugh McIver, George M. Macintyre, George Mitchell and Walter Kettenring, of this city, figured Tuesday night. The pictures will be used by the prosecution at the hearing.

Who Stole the Watermelon?

Chief Marshal George Weiss, Robert Trewin and Colonel W. J. Campbell, with their families, of North Plainfield, spent yesterday at Washington Rock, Chief Weiss and Mr. Thewin driving out behind the chief's new horse in the afternoon. Consternation reigned in the camp when it was discovered that the good watermelon had been pinched and a poor one substituted for it. It will go hard with the purloiner of the juicy fruit if he is caught.

WATCHING FOR BURGLARS

Police Round Up Three Vagrants as Suspicious Characters.

COPS ARE ON THE ALERT.

Prisoners Found on Streets Released by Judge Runyon After Careful Questioning.

Guarding against further burglaries by keeping a careful watch for suspicious-looking persons on the streets after night fall, the police rounded up three men found wandering the streets "after curfew" last night. In each case, it happened, the men were able to give a satisfactory account of themselves, and were freed after cross-questioning by City Judge Runyon at the sesion of court today.

Munion Brown, a colored man who recently come to this city from Virginia was arrested by Patrolman MacDonald in the West End late last night, and when searched was found to have a razor in his coat pocket. Brown said that he was trying to find his way back to his lodging place on South Second street. He said that the razor was in the pocket of the coat when it was loaned him by a fellow boarder. The coat lender will be in court tomorrow morning to substantiate the story.

Jacob Grossman, a Pennsylvania Dutchman, whose home is in Allentown, walked out to Plainfield from New York city yesterday looking for work. Patrolman Anderson saw him wandering around town late at night and took him to police headquarters. Grossman, who is but eighteen years old, told a straight story at his arraignment today and was let go free.

At about midnight, Patrolman Saffron found Thomas Devine, whose home is in Philadelphia, in an intoxicated condition at the North Avenue station. He was held on a charge of vagrancy and accused of panhandling. Sentence was suspended today by City Judge Runyon.

FIRE ALARM SYSTEM CHANGE CONTEMPLATED

The question of substituting two whistles or three bells for the fire alarm whistle at the electric light station on West Second street, is being discussed by the Councilmanic fire committee. Sometime ago, the Public Service Corporation informed the Common Council that it proposed to shut up the plant on West Second street and would be unable to continue to furnish steam for blowing the fire alarm whistle.

Then arose the question of making a change. It was thought to be a wise plan to place one whistle at the Pond Machine Tool Works and another at Scott's Press Works, the committee believing that this system would answer every purpose. Since then it has been suggested that three bells be purchased, locating one in the West End, one in the East End and the third at fire headquarters on East Second street. It is the opinion that the three bells can be installed and maintained for less money than the two whistles.

The system is only continued for the benefit of the call men in the department, there being no other way of summoning the men when there is a fire. At some future date when the call men are abolished and the department is put on a paid basis entirely, it will be possible to do away with the alarm system. As soon as another arrangement is made the whistle at the electric light station will be removed.

Local Realty Transaction.

W. H. Abbott has purchased from the Central Park Realty Company the block of vacant ground fronting on the west side of Hillside avenue, between Evergreen and Martine avenues. He contemplates improving the same soon. All the vacant lots between Watchung and Martine avenues have changed hands this summer and are now in the hands of parties who will improve the same. The consideration was $16,000. The Central Park Realty Company has also purchased the large dwelling at 1347 Watchung avenue, the consideration for which was $12,000. Both transactions were closed in the office of Judge Isaac P. Runyon yesterday.

Game Called Off.

The baseball game scheduled for tomorrow between the Monroe Avenue and Grace M. E. church teams, has been cancelled because of the death of the father of one of the players. The contest will be played later.

ST. SWITHIN'S WEATHER

Only a Drizzle Follows Day of Oppressive Weather.

INCREASE IN THE HUMIDITY.

There Is Nothing in the Legend About Saint's Day Says the Weather Man.

No beleaguered city ever welcomed the booming of the guns of a rescuing army with greater joy than Trenton felt last evening when the distant sound of thunder promised an end to the drought that has afflicted New Jersey so seriously during the past few weeks.

At the close of a day of fierce heat, when even a lively breeze brought only hot, suffocating breaths storm clouds began to pile up over the northwestern horizon. Many a Plainfield eye was turned speculatively in that direction and in every home and store and shop and factory and on every street the rain-hungry populace exchanged guessses as to the possibilities of a shower. Shortly after 8 o'clock there was a drizzle now and then for about two hours. It only served to increase the humidity.

There is nothing in the legend about rain, and St. Swithin's Day, which is July 15. Weather Observer Emery said so yesterday, thus destroying another illusion.

"This old talk about St Swithin's Day, rain, and forty consecutive days of rain comes up every year," said Emery. "Many people still believe in it, but the old superstition hasn't received any corroboration to speak of in thirty-nine years. True, there was rain on St. Swithin's Day in 1897, followed by a good deal more rain. But one year out of thirty-nine isn't much corroboration.

St. Swithin, however, lived in England some eleven centuries ago. The weather may have changed since then. Besides, there wasn't any historic American weather in the ninth century, when the good Bishop of Winchester lived.

The legened about him is that when he died he asked that he be buried outside of his church at Winchester, so that the people could tread upon his grave and the water drop from the eaves of his church upon it; and that a century later, after he had been cannonized, the removal of his body to a grave within the church, which was scheduled to take place on July 15, was postponed by forty days of rain.

The American weather gods could have had no interest in the removal of St. Swithin's body, and perhaps they have never got into the habit of following the precedents they set on July 15.

New York had only clouds yesterday, anyhow.

TOBOGGAN FOR FOWLER

Speaker Cannon to Depose Our Congressman for Important Post.

OPPOSED HIS OWN PARTY.

Fifth District Man's Pet Ideas Never Relished by His Fellow Republicans.

While Speaker Cannon has made no formal announcement it is known at Washington, according to the New York Sun, that it is his intention to name Representative Vreeland, of New York as chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency to succeed Representative Fowler, of this district. This is one of two important changes that will be made in chairmanships of House committees. Representative Cooper, of Wisconsin, will be succeeded as chairman of the Committee on Insular Affairs by Representative Olmstead, of Pennsylvania.

Fowler and Cooper have been insurgents against the Cannon organization in the House for many years. Cooper will be displaced from his chairmanship because of his activity in opposition to the adoption of the House rules at the beginning of the current session. Fowler was identified with the fight against the rules, but the Speaker's displeasure with him dates back further. Friends of Mr. Cannon declare that Mr. Fowler's disposition is such that it is impossible for him to agree with the majority on any important legislation that may come up for consideration before the Committee on Banking and Currency.

It is pointed out that in the fight for the passage of an emergency currency bill a year ago Mr. Fowler decided against the Republicans, and the real leadership fell to Representative Vreeland, who framed the bill that passed the House. It is the present expectation that the national monetary commission will make a report to Congress at the next session upon which will be based new legislation affecting the banking and currency system of the country. Chairman Fowler is held to be out of tune with his party on these subjects and for that reason Speaker Cannon has decided to place Mr. Vreeland at the head of the committee.

Electric Light for New Church.

The Public Service Corporation has consented to extend its feed wires through Leland avenue from South avenue to Front street, thus granting the petition of the Netherwood Reformed church, which desires to light the edifice by electricity.

INJURED ICEMAN IS DEAD

Frank Kirkman, the Victim, Succumbs to Tetanus at Muhlenberg Hospital.

ANTI-TOXIN TREATMENT VAIN.

Run Over by His Own Wagon Last Friday—He Was Not Taken to Hospital Until Tuesday.

Frank Kirkman, an ice wagon driver, who was injured last Friday by being run over by his own wagon, died in Muhlenberg Hospital this morning.

Kirkman was 44 years old and had lived in Plainfield for the last seven years, latterly at 340 McDowell street. He was born in Montreal, Canada, where he had two sisters. He leaves a widow and five children, three boys and two girls, the youngest two months old. The funeral, which will be private, will be held on Saturday and the remains will be sent to Montreal for interment.

Kirkman was employed by J. C. Watson and Co., ice dealers, of this city, and was well known throughout the city.

The accident which resulted in Kirkman's death was a peculiar one. At the moment he was alighting from his wagon, a wheel struck a protruding cobblestone causing the forepart of the wagon to lurch to one side, throwing him under the front wheels, which passed over the liwer part of his body.

The injured man was given treatment by Dr. A. K. Brennan, at his home and was removed to the hospital on Tuesday morning. At the time of the accident it was feared that Kirkman was injured internally, but it was found on Tuesday that tetanus had set in and the anti-toxin treatment was at once resorted to in an attempt to save his life. It was unavailing and Kirkman died at 5:30 this morning in great agony.

OTTO A. KNAUER SOLOIST FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

Clifford A. Braider, organist at the First Presbtyerian church, has secured a tenor of exceptional talent for the coming year. He is Otto A. Knauer, and he possesses a voice of unusual sweetness and range. He formerly resided in Philadelphia, where year ago he sang in the Old Epiphany church as a boy soloist. During the past two years he has been a pupil of William Pagdin, the tenor soloist at the West End Presbyterian church, New York.

Mr. Knauer sang at the local church last Sunday for the first and immediately after the service was engaged for the coming year. He will sing with the quartet until July 25, when the members will take a vacation until September 11. Miss Jeanette Grant, the soprano, will go to her home at Girard, Kansas, for the summer. Early in the fall Mr. Braider will arrange to give the "Vision of St. John," by J. Whitney Coombs, which will give Mr. Knauer ample opportunity to display his fine voice.

FERDINAND TITSWORTH IS PLAYGROUND DIRECTOR.

Ferdinand Titsworth, of West Fifth street, has just been notified that he has passed the physical examination with a 100 per cent. grade conducted by the Playgrounds Association of the Department of Education of New York. As a result of this Mr. Titsworth has secured a responsible position as director of a playground at Fifty-ninth street. There were several hundred young men who took the examinations, hence it is doubly creditable to Mr. Titsworth to have passed so well.

He is an all-around athlete, and while a student at Alfred University engaged in collegiate sports and track athletics. For the past year he has been teaching at the exclusive Irving school, on the Hudson. The playgrounds directorship continues for the remainder of the summer. Next year Mr. Titsworth will again teach.

Francis Herrmann, Jr.

Francis Herrmann, Jr., the eight-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Herrmann, of 314 East Second street, died last evening after a short illness. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock from the residence of his parents, Rev. Ora J. Shoop officiating. The interment will be in Evergreen cemetery.

Factories on Full Time.

The New Chalmers Cars for 1910

No Increase in Price

Note the pictures. Our "30" has a 115-inch wheel base—with 34-inch wheels. A longer, higher hood to accord with a roomier tonneau. Lines like the costliest cars on the market.

Yet not a penny of additional price. The car still sells for $1500. Let us tell you how we have done it.

1,000 More Cars

Last season's output of "30's" was 2,500 cars, yet we ran 800 cars short of our orders. We were obliged to refuse trade to the extent of $1,200,000.

This year we have built a new factory, and our 1910 output of "30's" will be 3,500 cars. Those 1,000 extra cars will be made without adding a dollar to our fixed expense.

They will also be made with last year's tools and machinery. We have almost no new expense there. For mechanically, the car is not altered at all. Experience has shown us no way to improve it.

Thus we effect immense savings. And all of these savings have gone into the car—to make it more sightly, more roomy, more like the costliest cars.

Nine Per Cent Profit

Our profit this season will be the same as last season—exactly nine per cent.

Our customers have created these savings by calling for more of our cars. And every penny we save will be spent in giving them more beautiful cars. That is our permanent policy.

Please note the result. Note what a large and showy car—note the exquisite lines. Just think that $1500 now buys this amazing car.

Lower Prices

We will fit this $1500 car with a Bosch magneto, a Prest-O-Lite gas tank, and two Atwood-Castle gas lamps—all for $100 extra. The regular price of these extras is $175.

We will furnish our "30" with a Lenox mohair top for $75 extra. The regular price is $125.

We shall give you all the advantage of our quantity buying. So this 1910 model, fully equipped, costs you $135 less than did our 1909 model, equally equipped.

A longer, higher hood, roomier tonneau, longer wheel base, larger wheels and daintier lines. Yet the cost equipped is considerably less than the model of 1909.

No Records Like These

One of the Chalmers-Detroit "30's" has been run 32,000 miles, and has just completed a path-finding trip from Denver to Mexico City. Never has any car, at any price, made an equal endurance record.

Owners have paid us for repairs on their 1909 cars exactly $2.44 per car. That is a world's record.

On June 18th, a "30" won the Indiana Light Car Race, the greatest contest of its kind ever held in America, doing 232.74 miles at an average speed of 51.5 miles per hour.

On an economy test, made by the New York Auto Dealers' Association, it ran 25.7 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Never has a car at any price proved so satisfactory. Never did a car show such low cost for upkeep.

That is why we make no radical mechanical changes. Experience has proved that the 1909 "30" is absolutely right mechanically.

The Larger "Forty"

Our "Forty" for 1910 has 36-inch wheels. The wheel base is 122 inches—ten inches longer than last year. The car seats seven, while last season's seated five.

Upholstered in hand-buffed leather. Fitted with Bosch magneto, gas lamps and gas tank free.

Yet the price remains $2,750.

We will equip this car with a $150 Newport mohair top for $125 extra. The two extra seats will cost you but $75.

So this larger car, with larger wheels, when fully equipped, costs considerably less than last year.

This is our "Forty's" fifth season. It is known far and wide as the best medium-priced car on the market. It has been purchased by scores of the best experts in America for their personal use.

This season, with its extra room, there is not a car at any price which can reasonably claim to excel it.

Made as touring car, roadster and pony tonneau.

See These New Cars

Every Chalmers-Detroit dealer now has photographs of these new models. Demonstrating cars will be ready this month. Deliveries to users begin August 1st.

See them before you buy.

The tide of automobile demand is turning to these medium-priced cars. Not alone because of their prices, but mainly because of their savings on upkeep. The day of extravagance is past.

Last season these cars had no real competition. The demand was a third greater than could be supplied. This season, no medium-priced car will be anywhere near in their class.

Get your order in early, for orders are filled in rotation. August delivery gives you five months' use before the car's year begins.

Colored Baptists in Convention.

The local colored Baptist churches are largely represented at a convention of the Middlesex Central Baptist Association which began at New Brunswick this morning. The meetings are being held in the Ebenezer Baptist church and will continue the rest of the week. Rev. E. W. Roberts, formerly of New Brunswick, is presiding at the sessions. Among the Plainfielders who will take part in the program are Mrs. M. A. Alexander, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, Mrs. Marie Robinson, Mrs. G. W. Bailey, Rev. L. L. Croom, Rev. M. A. Alexander, Rev. G. W. Bailey, S. A. Cardwell and Licentiate Walker.

No "White Way" Conference.

There will be no conference Monday night in the office of Mayor C. J. Fisk regarding the proposition to continue the illumination in the business section of the city. Mr. Fisk is now away and will not return until late Monday night. Besides, the city officials do not favor the proposition and do not consider that the taxpayers should be called upon to pay for this lighting. It was semi-officially stated today that the P. S. C. would not consider the question of maintaining the lights simply to be used one night a week.

Engineer's Funeral Tomorrow.

The body of George M. La Rue, of East Las Vegas, New Mexico, the engineer who was killed in a wreck Tuesday, was brought to this city this afternoon, and the funeral will be at the residence of his brother, James F. La Rue, of Westervelt avenue, tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Rev. A. E. Finn, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will officiate, and the interment will be at the Monumental cemetery, South River.

Thimble Club at the Shore.

About a dozen members of the Plainfield Thimble Club were entertained by Mrs. R. A. Meeker at her summer home, "Bungalow Park," Deal Lake, yesterday. The day was spent in a delightful manner boating, fishing, etc., and all thoroughly enjoyed the fine entertainment provided by their hostess. Mrs. Winfield Schomp, one of the party, will remain at the shore for a few days.

Scott's Running Overtime.

Owing to several big rush orders received at the Walter Scott Printing Machine Works, the plant is now being run overtime and a night gang has been put on indefinitely.

Building Boom at Kenilworth.

A building boom has reached the Borough of Kenilworth, where many new dwellings are replacing the old ones. Mobus Brothers, of this city, have signed a contract for the removal of thirteen old houses owned by James Arthur, in the portion of the borough known as New Orange Park, which is developing fast. Ten new cottages have been built this season and more will be erected when the old ones are removed by the Plainfield "house wrecking" concern.

Sidney T. Smyth Injured.

Sidney T. Smyth, an employe of the Pond Machine Tool Company, was struck on the head by a piece of iron which fell from a moving crane yesterday afternoon and received an injury to his skull which required the taking of five stitches in the scalp. While the blow was a severe one it did not knock Smyth out. He was treated by Dr. Peter B. Creager, of Grand avenue, and sent to his home, 310 Monroe avenue. He will recover.

Excursionists Have a Fine Day.

About 900 excursionists, who journeyed to Asbury Park yesterday with the Sunday schools of the First Presbyterian, Congregational, Park Avenue Baptist and Dunellen Presbyterian churches, spent a delightful day at the shore. The sea bathing was fine and there was not an accident of any kind to mark the pleasures of the day. The excursionists left the Park last night at 6:30 o'clock, reaching home within two hours.

Mrs. James Clarkson, of East Fourth street, is still very ill at her home.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Mr. George Primrose and his mammoth minstrel organization will be seen here at the New Plainfield theatre on Wednesday night. The big company contains many well known comedians, singers and dancers, and is said to be scenically equipped better than ever before. Eight big acts of great merit will be seen, following the first part, including Happy Jack Gardener with a rattling budget of new stories and songs, Harvey, Henderson and Lewis with their original comedy musical act which is filled with melodious jingles and fun; George H. Primrosein his new dancing conception "Dancers Past and Present," wherein will be shown bits taken from the work of more than 20 famous minstrel men dating back from days of the popular Billy Emerson to dancers of the present time; "The Guess Who Girls," a comedy skit that will make you exceedingly happy for about ten minutes; Mosher, Hayes and Mosher, a sensational comedy bicycle act, making their first trip through the states after a long engagement in Berlin, Frankford, Vienna, Paris, London, and the Continent, the Church City Four, too well known to be commended upon here, the Ward Brothers, world's greatest youthful dancers, and three other novel features. The performance concluding with a charming one act Southern spectacle in four scenes, the first a wharf at New Orleans with the merry darkies loading the good ship "Robert E. Lee," which is due to sail that evening filled with kasses and cotton for the north, and incidentally carrying away two youthful darkies, who are making their first trip across the Mason and Dixon line, the next shows the "Robert E. Lee" in the distance on her way up the Mississippi. The third finds the old darkies and mammies and their return from the cotton field, and the fourth and last shows the two boys return to their old plantation home, saddened but wiser after their two months' stay in the north. The last is a beautiful southern picture depicting the merry darkey showing his happy manner and method celebrating the return home of those they love. There are several quaint negro songs interpolated through the piece and as well abundance of good wholesome comedy.

Whispering Smith

By Frank H. Spearman

Copyright, 1905, by Chas. Scribner's Sons.

It is, nevertheless, odd how matters come about. John McCloud, a prosperous young clergyman, stopped on a California trip at Medicine Bend to see brother George's classmate and something of a real western town. He saw nothing sensational—it was there, but he did not see it—but he found both hospitality and gentlemen, and, if surprised, was too well-bred to admit it. His one-day stop ran on to several days. In leaving, John McCloud, in a seventh heaven of enthusiasm over the high country, asked Morris Blood why he could not find something for George out there; and Blood, not even knowing the boy wanted to come, wrote for him, and asked Bucks to give him a job. Possibly, being over-solicitous, George was nervous when he talked to Bucks; possibly the impression left by his big, strong, bluff brother John made against the boy; at all events, Bucks, after he talked with George, shook his head. "I could make a first-class railroad man out of the preacher, Morris, but not out of the brother. Yes, I've talked with him. He can't do anything but figure elevations, and, by heaven, we can't feed our own engineers here now." So George found himself stranded in the mountains.

Morris Blood was cut up over it, but George McCloud took it quietly. "I'm no worse off here than I was back there, Morris." Blood, at that, plucked up courage to ask George to take a job in the Cold Springs mines, and George jumped at it. It was impossible to get a white man to live at Cold Springs after he could save money enough to get away, so George was welcomed as assistant superintendent at the Number Eight mine, with no salary to speak of and all the work.

One day, coming down "special" from Bear Dance, Gordon Smith, who bore the nickname Whispering Smith, rode with President Bucks in the privacy of his car. The day had been long, and the alkali lay light on the desert. The business in hand had been laid aside for a [illegible] when Smith, who did not smoke, [illegible] the story of something he had seen the day before at Cold Springs that pleased him.

The men in the Number Eight mine had determined to get rid of some Italians, and after a good deal of rowing had started in to catch one of them and hang him. They had chosen a time when McCloud, the assistant superintendent of the mine, was down with mountain fever. It was he who had put the Italians into the mine. He had already defended them from injury, and would be likely, it was known, to do so again if he were able. On this day a mob had been chasing the dagos, and had at length captured one. They were running him down the street to a telegraph pole when the assistant superintendent appeared in scant attire and stopped them. Taking advantage of the momentary confusion, he hustled their victim into the only place of refuge at hand, a billiard hall. The mob rushed the hall. In the farthest corner the unlucky Italian, bleeding like a bullock and insane with fright, knelt, clinging to McCloud's shaky knees. In trying to make the back door the two had been cut off, and the sick boss had got into a corner behind a pool table to make his stand. In his pocket he had a pistol, knowing that to use it meant death to him as well as to the wretch he was trying to save. Fifty men were yelling in the room. They had rope, hatchets, a sprinkling of guns, and whisky enough to burn the town, and in the corner behind a pool table stood the mining boss with mountain fever, the dago and a broken billiard cue.

Bucks took the cigar from his mouth, leaned forward in his chair, and stretched his heavy chin out of his neck as if the situation now promised a story. The leader, Smith continued, was the mine blacksmith, a strapping Welshman, from whom McCloud had taken the Italian in the street. The blacksmith had a revolver, and was crazy with liquor. McCloud singled him out in the crowd, pointed a finger at him, got the attention of the men, and lashed him across the table with his tongue until the blacksmith opened fire on him with his revolver, McCloud all the while shaking his finger at him and abusing him like a pickpocket. "The crowd couldn't believe its eyes," Gordon Smith concluded, "and McCloud was pushing for the blacksmith with his cue, when Kennedy and I squirmed through to the front and relieved the tension. McCloud wasn't hit."

"What is that mining man's name?" asked Bucks, reaching for a message clip.

"McCloud."

"First name?" continued Bucks, mechanically.

"George."

Bucks looked at his companion in surprise. Then he spoke, and a feeling of self-abasement was reflected in his words. "George McCloud," he echoed; "Did you say George? Why, I must know that man. I turned him down once for a job. He looked so peaceable I thought he was too soft for us." The president laid down his cigar with a gesture of disgust. "And yet there really are people along this line that think I'm clever. I haven't judgment enough to operate a trolley car. It's a shame to take the money they give me for running this system, Gordon. Hanged if I didn't think that fellow was too soft." He called the flagman over. "Tell Whitmyer we will stay at Cold Springs to-night."

BASEBALL.

The following baseball games have been scheduled for tomorrow in Plainfield and vicinity: Scotch Plains vs. Plainfield Baseball Club, at Crescent Oval; New Market F. C. vs. Climax A. C., of Berkeley Heights, at Berkeley Heights; St. Mary's A. C. vs. St. Joseph's A. C., at St. Mary's Oval; G. & T. V. C. Club vs. Raritan, Jr.; B. B. C., at Raritan; Plainfield B. B. C. vs. Rahway F. C., at Rahway; Monroe A. C. vs. Grace M. E. Club, at Clinton avenue; Plainfield A. C. vs. Scotch Plains C. T. at Scotch Plains; Y. M. C. A. vs. East Millstone at East Millstone; North Plainfield A. C. and South Plainfield A. C. have no games scheduled.

When Red Murray steals a base he bounces up on his feet like a jack in the box.

Now that Wagner and Collins have each made 100 hits, the question is which will make 150 first.

The Clevelands are the Athletics' toughest game. The Naps have won six of the seven contests between the two.

The Highlanders have divided innumerable double headers, dropped one or two, and some day they may win one.

The Cardinals hadn't won a game from the Phillies till they struck the Broad street grounds this trip, but they are making up for lost time.

If Fromme and Mathewson meet on the field of battle at the Polo Grounds this week, the indications are that there'll be a sharp pitchers' duel.

GOLF.

There will be play for the President's and Golf Club cups at the Park Golf Club tomorrow. There will be the usual social features at the clubhouse.

Steward George Anderson of the Park Club has planned to take a vacation during the latter part of July and August. He will return in September for the active fall season.

There will be general play on the course of the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow. During mid-summer the golf committe did not plan any number of special events as most of the members are away.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, the professional at the Plainfield Country Club, has recovered entirely from his recent illness and is driving them out in his old-time form.

There is to be a quick change from the amateur at Wheaton to the intercollegiate at Rye the next week. Of the East the best men in the college ranks seem to be H. H. Wilder, B. P. Merriman and Ralph Peters, Jr.

Members of the League of Connecticut Golf Clubs do not know as yet where they will hold their next championship, but the course of the Hartford Golf Club seems to be the favorite one. The Greenwich Country Club when the greens are piped will be equal in golfing grandeur to any in the East.

Plainfield vs. Plains.

The Plainfield Baseball Club will meet Scotch Plains at Crescent Oval tomorrow afternoon. There is a rumor that "Jimmie" Montross will not pitch for the Plains, but that an outside twirler will be engaged to put him over. Montross, it is said, will pitch for Whitehouse tomorrow. The Plainfield team will present its regular lineup as follows: Barnes, 1b; Seery, c; Brit. Martin, 2b; Emery, 3b; Washburn, ss; Ortlieb, p; Schott, lf; Boyd, cf; Nolan, rf.

—While enjoying a trip in their motor boat on the Salmon river, Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Sherman, of Woodland avenue, were caught in a heavy thunder shower. In order to get safely home it was necessary for Mr. Sherman to bail out water from the boat, while Miss Sara Sanderson steered. After navigating in this way for about an hour the drenched party reached their boat house back of their cottage at Selkirk Beach.

NOISELESS SUNDAY BALL

Fanwood Township Committee's Solution of Sabbath Day Play.

COP TO KEEP THEM QUIET.

Manager Frentz Says He Will Stop the Game if the Peace Is Disturbed.

Silent baseball will be the portion of those who attend the games at Scotch Plains on Sunday, if the plans of the annoyed people are carried out.

The question of Sunday ball was taken up by the Fanwood Township Committee at its meeting last night, complaint having been made by Mrs. Edward Jonhstone and others that the cheering and applause at the games, especially the game of Sunday, July 4, were annoying and broke the peace of the neighborhood.

Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, pastor of the Baptist church, also appeared in person, and made a protest on general principles. Manager Frentz, and others of the team were present as well as Township Counsel Walter Hetfield, Jr. The players admitted that on the date in question the crowd had been noisy, but claimed that since that date they had got control of the situation and the game was being conducted in an orderly manner.

Manager Frentz said that if he found that it was impossible to control the crowd he would gladly stop playing and lose the money that had been invested. He also offered to pay a special officer if the committee would appoint one.

It was decided to do this, and if the result is as satisfactory as Manager Frentz expects, there will be Sunday ball with a muffler on.

VILLAGE VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT FLOURISHING

The Middlesex Volunteer Fire Company met in regular session at South Plainfield, last night, with a good attendance. The firemen's badges were distributed. The hose committee reported the purchase of 1,000 feet of hose. The work of making couplings has delayed the shipment of hose. This will complete the equipment of the department, all accomplished within the last seventeen months.

The company has purchased and paid for the land and firehouse which is located thereon and all equipment, except the hose. The equipment includes scaling ladders, roof ladders, hose cart, pikes, axes, crowbars, water pails and hose. The last bill for the ladders was paid last night. The committee on subscriptions was urged to secure a sufficient sum to pay for the hose. The village now has ample fire protection. The receipts at the meeting were $2.

ITALIAN BRINGS A SUIT AGAINST FELLOW COUNTRYMAN

Suit has been begun in the District court by Donato Melone against Salvatore Isolto for $500 damages, alleged to have been sustained by false imprisonment on the charge of an atrocious crime. The case will be tried August 5.

Isolto caused Melone's arrest some months ago, and the man was tried at Elizabeth, but acquitted on the charge by a jury. He was a prisoner in the county jail for four months and five days, and seeks to recover the amount for loss of time and false imprisonment.

'BEER ARK' DISAGREEMENT

Jury Fails to Convict Mrs. Lena Hoerster of Illegal Selling.

RANEY GOT THE EVIDENCE.

Son and Father Lawyers on Opposing Sides—Jury Is Discharged After Being Out 18 Hours.

Closeted for eighteen hours, the jury in the case of Thomas Trainor, an employe of Mrs. Lena Hoerster, of North Plainfield, who is charged with selling liquor from the wagon in this city, reported this moring at 10 o'clock at the county court, Elizabeth, that they could not agree. The jurymen were discharged by Judge E. S. Atwater.

The action is one of the test cases where steps has been taken by Chief of Police Kiely to prevent the "beer ark" trade by borough liquor dealers who are alleged to violate the law by selling in this city from wagons when their license only allows them to carry on trade in Somerset county. The evidence for the case was secured by Detective Charles Raney, of Newark, and his wife, and Trainor was apprehended by Detective Sergeant Flynn and Roundsman Morris Higgins several weeks ago. Raney has obtained some notriety here.

A feature of the case, which was tried at Elizabeth yesterday, is that Assistant Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., who conducted the case for the State, was opposed by his father, Walter L. Hetfield, who had been retained as Trainor's attorney. The Raneys and the two police officers were called as witnesses, but the elder Mr. Hetfield in his summing up, charged the jury not to put too much confidence in the testimony of the police and detectives. His son, in summing up, alluded to this charge, and it is said carried the point successfully, to the amusement of those in the court-room.

The case with the jury hinged on the identity of Trainor. In court yesterday, he wore a patch over his eye, and it was proven that the man arrested wore no patch. Trainor's statement that he had worn the patch for a long time, having had his eye injured by the bursting of a soda-water bottle several years ago, led to the belief that he is "not the man." The case for the defense rested on the identity of the man, and it was declared Peter Trainor, his son, was the man wanted. Thos. Trainor is manager for Mrs. Hoerster, and not a driver, it is said.

BOY IS BADLY BURNED BY TOUCHING LIVE WIRE.

Leslie Mundy, the five-year-old son of Clarence Mundy, of Orchard place, was severely burned yesterday afternoon by touching an electric light wire from which the insulation had been scraped, while playing at Orchard place and New street.

The boy was playing with a hoop, and when it rolled into the gutter, at the corner, he put his left hand on the pole down which the wire runs to the conduit as he reached over to pick it up. His hand was painfully burned by the current.

The wire, which is insulated properly for most of its length, has had the insulation rubbed off by wagons in turning the corner, and the bare wire was exposed for several inches where young Mundy touched it. The boy was taken to a physician, where his burns were treated. His condition is not serious.

Dr. Harrison to Speak Here.

Dr. Harirson possesses unusual talent and is especially well fitted to undertake mission work in Arabia.

Entertained a House Party.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Pile, of Newark; Miss Florence Strass, of Elizabeth; Miss Florence Giles, of Cranford; Wheeling Gleuk, Ausin Felt and Charles Tice, of Westfield.

STRICKEN AT HIS POST

George La Rue Died Because He Would Not Leave His Duty.

WAS PTOMAINE POISON'S VICTIM

Passed Away Twelve Hours After Collapsing at Las Vegas—Funeral Services Held Here Today.

The mystery surrounding the death of George LaRue, who died in East Las Vegas, New Mexico, on July 9, was solved last night on the arrival of the body, accompanied by Fred Kammer, a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Mr. LaRue died from an attack of ptomaine poisoning while at the post of duty. He was bringing the Santa Fe eastbound limited through and was running on time, when at Glorieta he was seized with intense pains in his abdomen. He refused to abandon his engine at that point sticking to his post until he reached Las Vegas, where he collapsed. His death occurred twelve hours later.

After reaching his room Mr. LaRue continued to grow worse and a doctor was hastily summoned. The medical man remained almost constantly at the sick man's bedside and rendered heroic service in an endeavor to save his life. His death came as a shock as well to his many friends on the road as it did to his relatives in this part of the country.

George LaRue was a veteran engineer and counted one of the best in the service of the Santa Fe, and had been with that company upward of twenty years. He was a man popular with his fellow employees, but belonged to but one fraternal organization so far as is known, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. He was 51 years old.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist church in Las Vegas on Monday, July 11, and were conducted by Rev. H. Van Valkenburgh, pastor of the Methodist church in the absence of the regular Baptist minister. The funeral was attended by the local lodge of the B. L. E., six of whom acted as pall bearers.

A second funeral service was held this morning at the residence of James F. LaRue, a brother of the deceased, on Westervelt avenue, conducted by Rev. A. B Finn, pastor of the Park avenue Baptist church, and the interment was in the Monumental cemetery, South River.

Fred Kammer, who accompanied the body from Las Vegas, was Mr. LaRue's chum and confidant. They were inseparable companions and bore for each other that feeling of comaradarie which is too seldom found among men. According to Mr. Kammer, LaRue was loved by every man on the road on which so many years of his life were spent and they mourn him as a personal loss.

REALTY COMPANY AGENT FINED IN THE CITY COURT.

Patrick J. Martin, a caretaker employed by the Highland Park Realty Company, was arraigned before City Judge Runyon today on the complaint of John W. Whitesome, of Emerson avenue, who declared that yesterday afternoon Martin forceably ejected his wife and her cousin, Miss May Zolzer, from a vacant lot on East Front street near Emerson avenue. Mrs. Whitsome was in court and testified that Martin had insulted her and her friend as they were obeying his orders to get off the property, which they were crossing on their return home after a walk. Miss Zolzer told the court of Martin's roughness to Mrs. Whitesome, and declared that he seized a stick from her and grasped her roughly by the wrists after the couple had reached the sidewalk.

Martin told the court that he had been insulted and called names, and said that Mrs. Whitesome had threatened to strike him with the stick. His story was substantiated by a small boy, who said he saw the incident from the window of a house more than a block away. Judge Runyon fined Martin $15.

Edwards—Case.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lyman Case, of New York, formerly of this city, have sent out invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Clara Cary Case, to Arthur Cecil Edwards on Monday, August 9, at 1 o'clock, at the Old Red House, Paris Hill, Maine, the summer home of Mr. Case. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards will be at home after the first of October at Roumeli Hissar, Constantinople, Turkey.

Loss 10,000 Barrels of Oil.

During a severe thunder storm at Changewater, near Junction, Thursday afternoon, lightning struck one of the large tanks of the Tidewater Oil Company, causing a loss of about 10,000 barrels of oil.

COMPLAINT AGAINST CHIEF

Mayor Notified of Borough Chief Marshall's Conduct While on Duty.

REPORTER DEMANDS ACTION.

John Townsend in Sworn Statement Makes Serious Charge Against George Weiss.

John D. Townsend, a reporter for The Daily Press, has sent to Mayor Samuel Townsend, of North Plainfield a complaint, of which the following is a copy:

Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1909.

To the Honorable Samuel Townsend, Mayor of the Borough of North Plainfield.

Sir:—I desire to make formal complaint against George Weiss, the chief marshal of the borough of North Plainfield, for using vile and profane language and calling me vile and profane names publicly in the office of the Clerk of the borough, on Saturday morning, July 17, 1909.

The circumstances giving rise to chief's objectionable remarks were the publication of the following article in the Plainfield Daily Press in its issue of Friday, July 16, 1909:

"Who Stole the Watermelon?

"Chief Marshall Geo. Weiss, Robert Thewin and Colonel W. J. Campbell, with their families, of North Plainfield, spent yesterday at Washington Rock, Chief Weiss and Mrs. Trewin driving out behind the chief's new horse in the afternoon. Consternation reigned in the camp when it was discovered that the good watermelon had been pinched and a poor one susstituted for it. It will go hard with the purloiner of the juicy fruit if he is caught."

The information from which the said article was written was obtained from Chief Howard Woolston and others of the borough fire department. Chief Weiss would not listen to any explanation in the matter and ended by raising his hand to strike me. As he was in uniform at the time, I, as a law abiding citizen, respected the uniform and refrained from resenting his remarks as I otherwise might have been justified in doing.

I herewith inclose my complaint, duly sworn, and hold myself in readiness to appear at any time and substantiate it according to law.

Yours respectfully,
JOHN D. TOWNSEND.

State of New Jersey,
ss.
County of Union.

"Be it remembered, that on the seventeenth day of July, nineteen hundred and nine, John D. Townsend, of the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union, and State of New Jersey, of full age, being duly sworn according to law, on his oath complains and says that, George Weiss, Chief Marshal of the Borough of North Plainfield, in the County of Somerset and State of New Jersey, while wearing the uniform of Chief Marshal, of the said Borough, did, on Saturday, the seventeenth day of July, nineteen hundred and nine, in the said Borough, to wit, in the office of the clerk of the said Borough, utter many profane and vile words, oahts and curses, to wit: 'You are a ——— and a—, you are a ———,' and others, and did call deponent vile and profane names to wit: ———, etc., and did raise his hand to strike deponent, without any just cause or provocation on the part of the deponent.

JOHN D. TOWNSEND.

Subscribed and sworn to before me the seventeenth day of July, 1909.

WINFIELD S. ANGLEMAN.

Mr. Townsend was the subject of an alleged bitter tirade of invective at the hands of Chief Marshal Weiss, of North Plainfield who is alleged to have used the language usually attributable to the lower order of men, and without any sufficient cause. Chief Weiss, under cover of his uniform, it is alleged, used epithets that severely fractured the borough law, which as an officer he has sworn to uphold.

The scene of the alleged disgraceful outburst was the office of Borough Clerk Fred A. Martin, and was witnessed by Mr. Martin and marshal Lemuel Pope, of the borough police. The motive for the attack is reported to have been an article published in yesterday's Daily Press concerning the loss of a watermelon which the reporter was informed had been taken from a party of picnickers, of which Weiss was a member.

The story was printed in good faith on the say-so of Fire Chief Howard Woolston and Lieutenant Gaub and Captain Terry. As to the story it is considered there is absolutely nothing that anyone could possibly take offense at especially the man who thinks his dignity has

MISS SARAH A. HOPEWELL AND R. M. GUINN WED

Miss Sarah A. Hopewell and Raymond M. Guinn, both of this city, were married at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. VanCleef, of Richmond street. In the absence of the bride's pastor, Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, the ceremony was performed by Rev. Lewis Bond, of this city.

The bride was attractively gowned in white and carried white sweet peas. She was attended by Miss Ethel Young, of this city, who wore a gown of pink and carried pink sweet peas. The flower girl was the bride's sister, Miss Mary F. VanCleef, who wore a gown of blue and white and carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. Irving C. Lee, of Brooklyn, was the best man.

The home was elaborately decorated with flowers, the arrangement in the parlor and dining room being especially attractive. The wedding march was played by Miss Elizabeth Bartleau, of Richmond street. After the ceremony a reception was held during which the bride and groom received congratulations and a wedding luncheon was served.

Later in the afternoon the couple left in a shower of confetti for a ten days' trip through Massachusetts and Rhode Island. The bride received many handsome gifts, including an upright piano, a hundred-piece set of French china, a check from the parents of the groom, cut-glass and furniture. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl brooch and the bride presented the bridesmaid and pianist with solid gold handy pins. The groom gave his best man a gold stick pin.

Mr. and Mrs. Guinn are both well known in Plainfield, both having resided here for a number of years. Mr. Guinn is employed in the New York office of the Atlas Cement Company. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Guinn, of Newark, formerly of this city.

The National Transit Company, which is owned and controlled by the Standard Oil Company, only decided to sell after it found it impossible to run a pipe line through that section. Mr. Burnett has also sold to Mrs. Henry Kennedy of Watchung Crest, about eight and a half acres of land lying west of the Dugway Hill, and she proposes to erect a handsome dwelling thereon.

WEDDING OF MRS. BURR AND WILLIAM M. DUDLEY

Mrs. Emma Burr, of Green Ridge, Scranton, Pa., and William M. Dudley, also of Scranton, were married this afternoon in the Presbyterian church, Westfield, by the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. I. Steans. The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends. Afterward the couple left on an extended trip to California and before their return will visit the Alaska-Yukon Exposition.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dan S. Roberts, of this city. She married Charles Burr, a wealthy mine owner of Scranton, where she made her home. Mr. Burr died about five years ago, leaving his wife his estate. Mr. Dudley is also well-to-do. He is chief of the weather bureau at Scranton, a position he has held for the past twenty years. He is a highly respected citizen and both he and his wife have many friends in Scranton.

The couple decided to be married by Dr. Steans at Wsetfield, because he was the bride's pastor in Scranton from 1882 to 1891. Among those who witnessed the ceremony were several relatives and a few friends from this city.

Will Answer His Critics.

Rev. Charles Sumner Kemble, pastor of the Monroe Avenue church, has returned from Ocean Grove, where he attended the conference of Sunday-school workers, and incidentally incurred the displeasure of Baptist clergymen for his utterances in a sermon at the Ocean Grove auditorium last Sunday night. He will occupy his pulpit tomorrow and in the morning he will answer his critics in a sermon on "The Fatherhood of God." In the evening the topic for his discourse will be "The Value of a Good Story."

Dodge—Albright.

Miss Nora F. Albright, of Leesport, Pa., and W. Lloyd Dodge, a banker of Callicoon, N. Y., appeared at the Union county courthouse, Elizabeth, and obtained a marriage license yesterday. The couple are said to be friends or relatives of a Mrs. Minnie Merkel, of this city, but she cannot be located today.

HOBOES ATTACK YOUTH

Victim Murderously Assaulted by Gang at South Plainfield.

WAS STABBED IN THE HEAD.

After Young John Peterson Regained Consciousness He Obtained Help.

John Peterson, nineteen years old, of Perth Amboy, was the victim of a hold up yesterday morning in the yards of the Lehigh Valley R. R., at South Plainfield. Peterson had missed his train at Bound Brook and determined to walk to South Plainfield and take the branch train to his home from there.

He had got as far as the coaling station in the Lehigh Valley yard, when a gang of hoboes jumped from behind a box car, where they had been in hiding, and attacked him. Peterson was stabbed several times in the head and once in the throat, but none of the wounds are severe. He was struck on the head with a club and rendered unconscious and remained in that condition for some time.

When he regained consciousness he walked to the tower and reported the affair and had his wounds dressed by yard master Thomas Bohl. He was unable to give a description of his assailants. The motive for the assault is not known, as the man was not robbed. He was sent to his home later in the morning apparently fully recovered from the fright but sore.

These assaults are becoming so frequent that it is considered unsafe to go near the freight yards after nightfall. There were three hold-ups at this spot in one week last winter.

AGED FIRE BUG GIVEN 8 YRS. AT HARD LABOR

Judge Adrain Lyon in the Middlesex County Court, at New Brunswick, yesterday, sentenced Leonard Martine to eight years at hard labor in State Prison, three years for setting fire to the barn of W. E. VanCourt, at Oak Tree, causing the destruction of building and contents and five years for attempting to set fire to Mr. VanCourt's dwelling. In imposing sentence, Judge Lyon said that inasmuch as the prisoner is seventy-seven years old, he would probably not live to complete the time, but added had he been a younger man he would have made the sentence more severe.

Martine, who is a half-breed, was employed as a farm laborer by W. E. VanCourt, and because of trouble the latter had with him, he was discharged. Mr. VanCourt claimed that the man tried to make trouble between his wife and himself. Shortly afterward Mr. VanCourt's barn was destroyed by fire and it was discovered that an attempt was made to fire the house.

Martine, who in the meantime disappeared, was suspected. He was arrested in this city several months ago and on an indictment charging him with the crime, was brought to trial. This resulted in a disagreement. This was followed by a second trial, when conviction was secured. Martine was taken to Trenton today to begin serving time.

HOPE FOR LOWER RATES.

Express Decision of Commerce Commission Rejoices Elizabeth.

The Interstate Commerce Commission's sweeping decision against the express companies, made public at Washington Thursday, will go a long way, it is said, to relieve the exorbitant rates now obtaining in Elizabeth. The Elizabeth Board of Trade now has a suit to lower rates pending before the Railroad Commission of this State.

Judge Clark McK. Whittemore, chairman of the Board of Trade Committee on Express Rates, said yesterday that some of the charges in the Board of Trade suit are idenical with the offenses which the commission had found unlawful, including the methods of calculating the graduate charges, the double graduate for packages of more than seven pounds' weight and the difference in C. O. D. and prepaid rates.

County Fines For Year $1,422.

City Attorney James C. Connolly, of Elizabeth, turned over to the yesterday a check for $1,422.48 received for fines collected. The amount covers one year.

The pair jumped out of harm's way just before the train reached them and the determined stranger was cut to pieces.

His body was sent to a local morgue. The man was about fifty years old. He had a sandy mustache. The finding of two pieces of bacon in his pocket led the police to assume that he was a tired-out hobo.

LOOSE LAWS CAUSE OF DIVORCE, SAYS GIBBONS.

Baltimore, July 17.—Replying to former Supreme Court Justice Henry B. Brown, who told the members of the Maryland Bar Association at Old Point Comfort last week that much of the divorce evil was due to recklessness of clergymen, Cardinal Gibbons Wednesday rather ascribed the trouble to too lax laws, which render it easy to annul the matrimonial bond. The cardinal also objected to the reported reference by Justice Brown to the Saviour as an "idealist." After expressing his high esteem for the former justice, both as a citizen and a jurist, the cardinal said:

"In a recent convention of lawyers held at Old Point Comfort, Justice Brown, while referring to myself in kind and courteous language, has taken exception to my views on divorce and remarriage. He is reported to have referred to the Founder of the Christian religion as an "idealist," whose sentiments, while suitable to less favorable times and circumstances, are not adapted to this enlightened age.

"The learned jurist will permit me to say that the teachings of Christ have been the basis of all Christian legislation for nearly 2,000 years and continue to be the light and guide of hundreds of millions of souls. We are indebted to this Divine legislator for the Christian civilization that rules the destinies of Europe, North and South America, Australia and large portions of Asia and Africa.

"Neither Solon, nor Lycurgus, nor Justinian, nor Napoleon, nor any other framers of laws ever exerted a tithe of the influence which the gospel of Christ exercises on the human race. And there is no subject which He treats more fully and clearly than the question of marriage, which is the very foundation stone of our family and social life. In three of the gospels He proclaims the unity of a married couple only in the cause of adultery. I do not see why a law which has been enforced and cordially accepted in every age and country where Christianity dominates should be considered obsolete or impracticable on the United States.

"The multiplication of divorces is largely ascribed by some writers, not to our divorce laws, but to the eager and reckless manner in which ministers of God officiate at marriage services. I have no word of apology or excuse for the scandalous conduct of some clergymen in this respect. But are not those persons confounding cause with effect?

"Divorces are multiplied, not because ministers willingly assit at ill-assorted marriages, but because loose legislation on matrimony renders it easy for married parties to annul the marriage bond. If the civil law of all our States were as strict as they are in South Carolina and in Canada, the persons contemplating marriage would seriously and prayerfully reflect; they would study each other's disposition and temperament before engaging in a contract which would bind them for life. And certainly the peace and good order in the family life in South Carolina and Canada can be favorably compared with domestic conditions existing in those States where divorces can be easily obtained."

MANIAC THROWS BRICK AT CATHOLIC PRIEST.

But for the timely interference of Truant Officer Herman F. Weber, Jr., and Fred T. Hyde, of Passaic, it is very likely that Frank Popeck, a maniac, would have done considerable damage and probably seriously injured several persons Thursday afternoon at Passaic. When the pair downed him he was raving and inclined to kill everybody with whom he came in contact.

Shortly after noon, Popeck went to the rectory of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church in that city, and asked if he could see the priest. The Rev. Ignatius Szurowitz came to the door, and as he did so, Popeck hurled a brick at him, but the curate dodged it and made for the intruder, who ran into the street, where he encountered Weber and Hyde. He kicked the latter and knocked him down, but Weber dove and brought the lunatic to the ground.

Popeck was arrested and sentenced to a term in jail, during which time he will be examined as to his sanity. There is little doubt that he will be sent back to an asylum.

A month ago Popeck broke several windows in the church and was sent to jail, but about two weeks later was released as "entirely cured."

ASKS $500 FOR SUITCASE.

Elizabeth Woman Sues Railroad for Lost Baggage.

Suit for $500 damages for the loss of a suitcase, stolen from the baggage room of the Central Railroad station in Elizabeth, has been opened in the District Court in that city against the railroad by Mrs. Margaret Larned, of Elizabeth. The case is said to involve a point which has never been decided in the courts of this State.

The plaintiff maintains that the railroad, being a common carrier for the purpose of transporting passengers, baggage and freight, is responsible for things lost while in its care.

The Y. M. C. A. team will play the East Millstone team at the latter place this afternoon.

With Nolan, Boyd and Schott in the outfield, the Plainfield team has a trio hard to beat in this part of the State, either as fielders or batters.

It is rumored that the Plains team will pad up for today's game on the Oval. Too bad they cannot present their regular lineup.

The big league managers are searching the minor leagues with a fine tooth comb for available material with which to strengthen up. It is said that the Newark Eastern League club will lose several players before next season, including Wolverton, Krill and Sharpe.

Elizabeth has withdrawn from the Atlantic League and at present the organization is comprised of six clubs.

It is said that the Tri-State League is making money this season, and that it is the most successful in the history of the organization.

Washburn, who plays short stop for the Plainfield team, will certainly land in one of the leagues if he continues his present pace. He is fast in the infield and one of the most reliable stickers on the club.

Manager Dorflinger may schedule a game with New Brunswick a week from today. "Dave" Driscoll wanted to play Plainfield at New Brunswick today, but the Scotch Plains proposition came first.

GOLF.

Although the under dog in the wagering, George Sargent, the champion, made good and won his match against Herbert Strong Thursday at the Apawamis Club. The latter is the Apawamis professional and was supposed to be invincible on his home green. The title holder displayed an excellent game and beat Strong by 2 up and 1 to play.

Sargent topped a couple of drives in the morning, but whatever he lost by this fault was neutralized by Strong's poor putting. The 2 for Strong on the fifth hole is accounted for by Sargent knocking in his ball. On the home green in the morning Strong had seemingly a sure 4, but Sargent stimied him. Strong had to use a niblick for his fourth to pitch over the intervening ball and he missed the try, so that Sargent won the hole in 4 and was 1 up for the first eighteen holes.

In the afternoon Sargent, kept up his steady long game while Strong, who had no trouble to hold him to the putting greens, still persisted in taking three puts. The match was all square with five to go, and then they alternated in wins, due each time to a mistake on the long game except on the eighteenth, where Strong took three puts.

In the East Jersey League tournament Thursday at the Glen Ridge Golf Club Harry Allsopp won the chief trophy with 166, 22-144. H. D. Smith won out at match play in the afternoon, by 2 up and 1 to play, from Floyd Spencer, who had tied with him for the best gross in the morning. A. H. Gussman won with 85, 16-71, the best net prize for eighteen holes in the afternoon, and J. J. Radel won the prize for the best gross score at nine holes, which he made in 38.

FINE BONIFACE AND DAUGHTER FOR ASSAULT.

Freehold, July 17.—After retracting former pleas of not guilty and entering pleas of non vult to indictments charging them with assault and battery upon Mrs. Florence Beekman, in Red Bank in the early spring, Charles H. Dennis, proprietor of the West End Hotel in Red Bank, and his daughter, Mrs. Florence James, were each fined $75 and costs by Judge John E. Foster, Thursday, and further sentence was suspended.

Former Prosecutor Henry M. Nevius appeared for Mr. Dennis and Mrs. James, reciting the facts in the case in making a plea for leniency for his clients. He declared that Mrs. Beekman had alienated the affections of Mrs. James' husband; that she had written many letters to Mr. James, calling him her husband and referring to numerous clandestine meetings.

Mrs. James, he said, had warned Mrs. Beekman to keep away from her husband and when she refused to do so publicly chastised her. Mr. Dennis' part in the affair was in procuring the whip for his daughter and standing by when the whipping was taking place. Mr. Nevius said further that Mrs. Beekman had succeeded in breaking up the James home, Mr. James having deserted his wife, and that Mr. James and Mrs. Beekman, who is separated from her husband, still continue to hold clandestine meetings.

MR. TAYLOR SORRY HIS FENCE DOES NOT PLEASE.

Summit, July 17.—It was a case of "Much Ado About Nothing," according to Benjamin A. Taylor in speaking concerning the erection of the board fence ten feet high around his recently purchased property in the Beechwood Park section, to which several of his neighbors have voiced their objection. The Taylor property on which is being put up a new residence abuts the properties of William V. T. Samuels, Landreth Dudley and Mrs. Margaret Kelly, each of whom claimed that the fence completely shut off air from their homes, to say nothing of the destruction of a view they always had of the fashionable Beechwood Park section.

It was without knowledge, in the first place, that the barrier was to be so high, Mr. Taylor said, that he caused it to be erected at the suggestion of the contractor as a means of hiding from view the undeveloped and littered portion of the property where the builders are at work. Mr. Taylor expressed regret at the displeasure of his neighbors and declared that the fence was but a temporary structure, which he intended to eventually replace with a hedge.

WIFE ASSAILED WHERE HUSBAND WAS SLAIN.

Newton, July 17.—Within a hundred feet of the spot where her husband, a Jewish peddler, was found murdered, last January, near Montague Township, an attempt was made late Tuesday afternoon to hold up and rob Mrs. Jerome Cooperman, of Port Jervis.

The woman resisted, and the highwayman, who was riding a bicycle, remounted his wheel as she pursued him and rode rapidly toward this county. After it was all over Mrs. Cooperman fainted, and since has been suffering from severe nervous shock. Chief of Police W. F. Wilkins, of Port Jervis, N. Y., was notified of the attempted crime by Mrs. James Doe, who looking from a window, saw what took place. The officer hurried to the scene and traced the bicyclist several miles into Sussex county.

The track was lost when a road more frequently traveled was reached. Mrs. Cooperman has taken up the selling of small wares at nearby boarding houses to support her large family of children since her husband's tragic end.

SEA TURTLE CAUGHT WEIGHS 580 POUNDS.

Point Pleasant, July 17.—A turtle that about filled the wagon used in carting it from the beach to the railroad freight depot, was caught here in the William K. Blodgett fish pond. It weighed 580 pounds and was the largest caught along shore in a long time. It was shipped to the New York city markets.

suffered. The story is appended.

"Who Stole the Watermelon?"

"Chief Marshal George Weiss, Robert Trewin and Colonel W. J. Campbell, with their families, of North Plainfield, spent yesterday at Washington Rock, Chief Weiss and Mr. Trewin driving out behind the chief's new horse in the afternoon. Consternation reigned in the camp when it was discovered that the good watermelon had been pinched and a poor one substituted for it. It will go hard with the purloiner of the juicy fruit if he is caught."

HERE AND THERE.

Alexander Milne, H. A. Todd and A. I. Littell, who have been on an automobile tour to Boston, Mass., this week, returned home last night and report a most enjoyable trip. The autoists made the trip in Mr. Milne's Stearn's. Starting from this city last Saturday, the party drove to New York and thence to Boston by way of Bridgeport, New Haven, Springfield and Worcester. They made the trip a sight-seeing tour, and reached Boston Tuesday night. They had planned to go further, but a broken casting on the machine necessitated a delay at Boston and the Plainfielders spent the time sight-seeing in "The Hub" until the new part arrived. They started for home Thursday afternoon, coming back through the same cities, but by different roads.

BABE STRANGLES IN CRIB.

Got Between Mattress and Sidebar in Some Way.

Tracy A. Taft, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Taft, of 39 Willow place, Bayonne, met death yesterday morning by strangling in the crib. His body got between the mattress and iron bar that ran a few inches above. In some way his neck became caught between the two and he was strangled to death.

Five minutes after leaving the child in the crib Mrs. Taft returned to find it dead.

WILL NOT REMOVE CAMP

Messrs. Morgan and Rolston Say Bequest Will Be Used as Intended.

THEY WON'T SELL PROPERTY.

Site of Home Belongs to Vice-President of Little Missionary Nursery.

Alexander C. Morgan and Louis C. Rolston, officers of both the Little Missionary's Day Nursery, of New York, and the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, of this city, explain today their position in the local charity's controversy in a letter addressed to this paper. They take exception to the reports that they propose to control the expenditure of the $100,000 bequest to the local institution and declare that it will be used for the local institution. Their statement is an answer to a report of an interview with George E. Hall, formerly president and now vice-president of the Fresh Air Camp as published in this paper on Thursday.

Messrs. Morgan and Rolston's statement that the rumored purpose to remove the institution from this city is unfounded will be welcome news to the hundreds of Plainfielders interested in the success of the worthy cause. The letter follows:

"In your issue of July 15th, 1909, there appears on the first page thereof, an article headed, "Outsiders control of Fresh Air Home," in which it is stated that on the receipt of the bequest from the late Mr. Frederick C. Hewett 'plans will probably be completed for its (the Home's) removal (from Netherwood), inasmuch as Messrs. Relston and Morgan have assumed the entire charge of the work ignoring the Plainfielders entirely.'

"In answer to this assertion, we desire to say that this statement is untrue in every particular. In the first place, in regard to the bequest under the will of the late Mr. Hewitt to the Netherwood Home, it is distinctly understood between the trustees of the Little Missionary's Day Nursery and the executive committee of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home that the money received from this bequest, in order to carry out the wishes of the testator, is to be kept separate and apart from the bequest to the New York branch of the Little Missionary's Day Nursery, and the income derived therefrom to be devoted to the Netherwood Home. In order that the trust might be administered for the Netherwood Home, it was suggested in a letter from Mr. Rolston to Mr. Edward Harding, attorney for the Netherwood Fresh Air Home that three of the trustees of the Home become members of the Little Missionary's Day Nursery, and that they also become trustees thereof, and that they, together with three of the present trustees of the Little Missionary's Day Nursery form a committee to look after the fund and see that the income thereof be applied to the work at Netherwood exclusively.

"In answer to this suggestion, Mr. B. V. Hadley, secretary of the executive committee of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, in a letter to Mr. Rolston, replies: 'It is the sense of the various members of the executive committee that on account of their absence from New York and their interest in charitable work in Plainfield, it would not be practicable for any of them to serve on the board of trustees of the Little Missionary's Day Nursery.' It also states that the executive committee of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home is not desirous of pressing its views as to the necessity of incorporating the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, 'but wishes to do everything in its power to aid you in obtaining the bequest, feeling confident that you will devote it to the Netherwood work.' * * * 'The executive committee (of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home) is entirely willing that the bequest, if received, should be administered by the Little Missionary's Day Nursery. The executive committee will therefore dismiss this matter from its further consideration and leave it entirely with the Little Missionary's Day Nursery to take such steps as may be advised for the purpose of obtaining the bequest of $100,000' * * * "It is the desire of the executive committee (of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home) to co-operate with the Little Missionary's Day Nursery and to assist in the maintenance and care of the Netherwood work as in the past.'

"The article in your paper continues: 'That at a recent conference on the part of George E Hall and Miss Florence G. Hawkins, representing the local management, and Messrs. Rolston and Morgan, of New York, who have had general supervision of the Day Nursery work in New York, as well as that at the Home, the Plainfielders were given to understand that they could not have one penny of the sum left to the Home, but that Rolston and Morgan would take charge of the bequest and direct its expenditure and investment.' No such conference as the above ever took place, and that we ever caused it to be understood either verbally or in writing that the fund was to be used for any purpose other than for the support and maintenance of the Netherwood Home is absolutely false.

The trustees of the Little Missionary's Day Nursery have always most fully appreciated the aid extended and the sympathy shown to the Little Missionary's Day Nursery Fresh Air work at Netherwood, and have felt that the good accomplished by their combined efforts was indeed a charity which bore fruit of the faithful labors of all interested in the work.

"That Messrs. Rolston and Morgan have taken title to the land upon which stands the building built by David Hand as a memorial to his sons.' This property was conveyed by Mr. Hyde to the Little Missionary's Day Nursery. The title to this property is in the Little Missionary's Day Nursery, and was conveyed to it with the understanding that it should belong to the Little Missionary's Day Nursery so long as the property was used for nursery purposes, and in the event of its being used for any other purposes, it should revert to Mr. Hyde.

"That it is proposed to sell the property upon which the Home is built, there is no foundation whatever for this assertion. The property belongs to Mr. A. C. Morgan, vice-president of the Little Missionary's Day Nursery, who has placed it at the dispoal of the Nursery for their summer home. It is not his intention nor ever has been to dispose of the property, or to have it used for any purpose other than as a summer home.

We are at a loss to know what animus could have prompted any one to permit these statements to appear as facts. The trustees of the Little Missionary's Day Nursery wish to assure those who have lent their support to the Fresh Air work at Netherwood in the past that the trust imposed upon them by the will of the late Mr. Hewitt will be administered as intended by the testator, and that the fund, when received, and the income thereof devoted to the support and maintenance of the fresh air work at Netherwood, and for no other purpose. It was never the intention of the trustees to do otherwise.

"We have gone somewhat into detail in our reply to the above article, as we feel that the misrepresentations therein contained are not only absolutely untrue and a reflection on our integrity, but are apt to greatly injure the work of the Fresh Air Home if the assertions as contained in the article are not contradicted.

Mrs. Sarah A. Hendrickson, matron of the Children's Home, Westervelt avenue, has been granted a two weeks' vacation, which she will spend at The Chalfonte, Atlantic City.

MADE DOUGH TWO WAYS

Thieving Baker Pies Made Pies and Made Away With China, Too.

HE WRITES TO "DARLING."

Prisoner Instructs Wife to See That the Loot He Got Here Is Returned.

Arrested at the North Avenue depot this morning by Detective-Sergeant John Flynn, as he was about to board the 9:29 train for New York, Stephen F. Pies, a baker employed by the Woodhull-Martin Company is held at the city police court on a charge of larceny. Pies, who gave his address as 782 First avenue, New York city, had with him a suitcase containing some china ware, and confessed that he had stolen the dishes from packing cases in the cellar of the department store, where the bakery department is located.

Questioned at police headquarters, Pies confessed that he has been stealing goods from the basement of the store ever since he got the job as baker with the local firm. He has been employed here for about three weeks and has gone to his home in New York every Saturday taking with him his suit case, which he acknowledges has been filled with articles taken from the store.

His method of stealing has been a clever one. Employed as he was in the basement of the store, Pies has been in the habit of leaving the bakery department after his work is done nights and carefully opening packing cases consigned to the firm and stored, unopened, in the basement. From these cases, he acknowledges that he has taken many articles, principally china and glassware, as far as can be learned. After looting the cases, Pies has carefully replaced the loosened cover boards and nailed up the cases again.

J. V. E. Vanderhoef, general manager at the store, had suspected the man for some time, and reported the case to the police. Casual inquiry as to what train Pies was going to take to New York today brought the reply from him that he would leave on the 9:59 train. Detective Sergeant Flynn, who was on the case, decided that it would be a good idea to meet the earlier train and arrested Pies as he was about to board it. The store management is taking an inventory of the contents of unopened packing cases stored in the basement, but it is believed that it will be some time before this inventory can be completed, and until then, the value of the articles stolen can not be definitely reported.

Arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning, Pies broke down and confessed that he had been taking articles from the store ever since he got the job. He said that he got married recently and his folks would have nothing more to do with him after the match. He wrote a note to his wife, telling her that he had been caught and asking her to give up the stolen goods. He was remanded for a hearing Monday morning.

Train Kills Wolfhound.

A valuable wolf hound was killed by a westbound train on the Pennsylvania Railroad at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon near Commerce street, Rahway. The dog, which was owned by S. A. McDonald, was as large as a good-sized pony. It jumped a fence directly in front of the locomotive.

MAN IS STABBED AND ROBBED IN NEWARK.

Stabbed twice in the breast by two men who held him up in Market street, near Ward street, Newark, early Wednesday morning, and robbed him of $3, John Hollert, 43 years old, was removed to St. Barnabas' Hospital. The victim's injuries were slight, and after they had been dressed he was brought to the First Precinct police station and locked up as a witness.

Hollert, who is a Pole, is unable to speak good English. He told the police, however, that he lived in Lyons Farms and was on his way home when he encountered his assailants, whom he had never met before. After the men had made their escape Hollert started for the police station. At Market and Broad streets he met Patrolman Bowerson, who had him removed to the hospital. Hollert was turned over to police headquarters Wednesday and an attempt will be made by Captain Carroll to find his assailants.

REV. ROBERT ELLIOTT ORDAINED A DEACON.

Rev. Robert Elliott, acting rector of the Church of the Holy Comforter of Rahway, was ordained a deacon Wednesday. Bishop Scarborough officiated. Rev. Thomas A. Conover, of Bernardsville, was in charge of the morning prayer service.

The stole placed about Rev. Mr. Elliott's shoulders was the gift of the Ladies' Guild of the church.

Rev. Mr. Elliott was formerly a Methodist clergyman in charge of the church of that denomination at Bernardsville.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

Thomas Sharp Post, G. A. R., of Millville, has been granted permission to erect a soldiers' monument on one of the public streets.

Two doctors and a trained nurse are attending Alfred Twells, the Woodbury ball player who was injured internally in a game on July 5.

Charles Coyland, who was working on a 30,000-gallon water tank 150 feet in the air in Woodbury, fell into the tank Tuesday, but was resuced.

The name of Henry H. Savage, a Mt. Holly lawyer, has been mentioned in connection with the Democratic Assembly nomination in Burlington county.

Though Eva Embley, two years old, tumbled from a second-story window of the home of her mother, Mrs. Flora Embley, 148 Jefferson street, Trenton, yesterday, her injuries consisted of only a few bruises about the head.

Knocked down by a laundry wagon at Eighth and Walnut streets, Camden, yesterday, David Campbell, six years old, of 776 Cherry street, was badly bruised about the body.

The receipts of a game of baseball between Millville and Royersford today will be donated to the Millville Board of Trade. Nearly 1,000 tickets have already been sold.

Bishop McFaul will have charge of the laying of the corner-stone of the new Catholic church at Woodbury tomorrow. The sermon will be preached by Dean Mulligan, of Camden.

Lizzie Weast, of Florence, was removing a kettle of hot water from the stove yesterday when, in some manner, she tripped and the boiling water was dashed over her, causing severe scalds.

Vice-Chancellor Walker has decided in favor of the defendant in the suit of Mrs. Clinton Bullock, of Mt. Holly, for alimony pending her suit for divorce. It was shown that Mrs. Bullock has sufficient means to support herself.

Accused of breaking the arm of Europe Zaiss, a baker, with a shovel during a dispute over a bread bill, Joseph Pfeffer, of Tenth and Florence streets, was held in $300 bail by Justice of the Peace Roub, in Camden, yesterday.

A long-standing dispute between the Burlington County Board of Freeholders and John H. Hurley, a Trenton contractor, over the construction of the Tabernacle gravel road, has been submitted to a board of arbitration for settlement.

Recorder Mara yesterday ordered the Bayonne police to cease taking bail bonds from Justice of the Peace Joseph Slamski. The recorder says several bonds were presented to the court recently, the signers of which hold no property.

Henry M. Herbert, chief of the division of sewerage and water supply of the State Board of Health, has sent to the Camden water department a report of an inspection made of the Camden waterworks by Arthur C. Fowler, assistant chief of the State department. The report praises the water supply of Camden much.

For interfering with Frank Trusty, one of Camden's colored dog-catchers, Charles Still, a machinist, was fined $3.75 in the Camden Police Court yesterday. As he was about to catch the dog in a net, Trusty alleges, he was kicked on the shin and that the dog escaped.

Justice of the Peace Jones, of Beverly, has no mercy for a man who cruelly treats horses, and Tuesday night imposed a fine of $20 and costs upon Albert A. Atkinson, a young farmer of Edgewater Park, who was arrested by Agent Hahner, of the S. P. C. A. A large number of men and women from Delanco testified against him.

In the Bayonne Police Court yesterday Recorder Mara dismissed a complaint of disorderly conduct made by Mrs. Pauline Morningstar, of 11 West Thirty-third street, against Health Commissioner Edward S. Benson. She declared that he officially inspected her barn, appeared in his shirt sleeves and without his badge, and used rude language to her, and threatened to have her arrested.

Bridgeton is stirred over the belief than an infant was thrown into the Cohansey river Tuesday night. Two women, evidently mother and daughter, the latter sobbing, were seen to approach the river after much hesitation, and drop something into it from several wrappings, which were afterward found on the wharf. After they had hurried away nearby night workmen got grapping irons and unsuccessfully tried to solve the mystery.

A serious problem in shirts confronts Rev. Samuel C. Hodge, pastor of the Fifth Presbyterian church, Trenton, through his haste and a trustfulness in the average small boy. The dominie had started out with a bundle of a dozen shirts to carry to the laundry, on his way to get a trolley car for Princeton, where he was to make a call upon a brother clergyman. As the car hove in sight the dominie found that he would not have time to reach the daundress so he poked the bundle into the hands of a small boy on the street and told him to take it to the address marked upon it. Neither the shirts nor the boy can be found.

Trolley service in Atlantic avenue, Atlantic City, was suspended an hour in the busiest part of the afternoon yesterday, when Deputy Appraiser Rose, of the Mercantile Tax Department, caused the arrest of three crews for operating trolley cars without licenses. Managers of the Atlantic City and Shore Railroad, lessees of the line, paid the city $3,500 for licenses ten days ago, but the $50 certificates had not been posted in the cars as the law requires. The blockade was broken by the trolley men entering cash bail to appear before City Judge Keffer.

Three boys from South Bethlehem, Pa., wandered into the Paterson Police Station last evening to enlist the aid of the authorities in behalf of one of the party, James Salwich, who said he lives on Cherry street, South Bethlehem. His companions, John Curry and John Daniels, informed Desk Officer Morrison that they came here in search of employment. Curry and Daniels were successful in obtaining work in a local silk mill and also secured a place to board. Salwich was not so fortunate and he asked the aid of the police in sending him home. The authorities will hold the lad until his people in South Bethlehem can be communicated with.

To fix the valuation of thirteen inches of land in front of the property of Soloman Teitelman, at Second street and Cooper avenue, Woodlynne, Circuit Judge Endicott, in Camden, yesterday named Colonel John A. Mather, Samuel D. Barcklow and James Macauley as commissioners. The move is the outcome of a recent contest between Teitelman's wife and telephone linemen, in which she prevented the men from planting a pole on the sidewalk in front of the house. The action is brought by Harry C. Kramer, representing the Eastern Telephone and Telegraph Company. The thirteen inches of land will be just about large enough for the pole the company is so anxious to have erected.

WOMAN ARRESTED ON BIGAMY CHARGE.

Annie Roome, indicted at New Brunswick for bigamy, was arrested in Coney Island Wednesday by Detective Michael Meyer, of New York, and Detective Richard A. Peltier, of this county. She is now in the New York Central Police Headquarters awaiting extradition.

The woman married Roome, a New York electrical contractor, in New York ten years ago. The couple later separated. On an excursion she met John Reilly, of New Brunswick, a widower with two children, who became infatuated with her.

She represented herself as a widow, it is said, and the couple were married by Rev. John A. De Wald, of New Brunswick. Soon afterward the pair quarreled, the woman throwing a lighted lamp at Reilly, whom she finally deserted. Reilly found out through letter where she was, and Roome and he preferred charges, to which the woman was indicted.

TAX ON BABY CARRIAGES.

Atlantic City Councilman's Plan Arouses the Mothers There.

Hitting back at the people who have been advocating a tax on bachelors, a tax on the chair pushers, and everything else on the Atlantic City boardwalk, Councilman William Riddle will father a bill, to be introduced at the next meeting of Atlantic City Council, advocating a tax on baby carriages.

As soon as this plan was brought to the attention of some of the women yesterday they started a fight against even an introduction of the measure. The Mothers' Congress and all other clubs of women will fight the thing tooth and nail. They declare that such a thing would have a tendency to drive people from the city, and besides that it might tend to race suicide.

Mr. Riddle says that roller chairs and everything else along the Board walk are taxed to raise a revenue, and inasmuch as there are almost as many baby carriages as rolling chairs and as they take up almost as much room, why not compel them to bear a license tag and pay a tax?

ORGAN RECITAL TOO NOISY.

Ocean Grove Cottagers Say "The Storm" Disturbs Their Naps.

Ocean Grove's new pipe organ—the largest in the world—is causing trouble for its owners, the Camp Meeting Association.

An organ recital is one of the daily events of the summer's musical program and its feature is the daily playing by Organist Will C. Macfarlane of "The Storm," a composition which shows off the organ to the best advantage.

But the cottagers and hotel guests in the vicinity of the Auditorium have become surfeited with the organ's noise. They complain that it disturbs their afternoon naps and annoys them at teatime.

They will appeal to the association and suggest that for "The Storm" be substituted something more soothing.

Moving Pictures at Cranford.

Cranford now has a moving picture place of entertainment. F. J. Smith, of Brooklyn, has leased the building at Eastman street and North avenue, formerly occupied by the Christian Scientists.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning July 18, 1909.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—"Pilgrim's Progress" series.—VII. The Palace Beautiful.—Eph. iv, 7-16; vi, 10-17.

At the top of the Hill Difficulty, Christian soon came to the Beautiful Palace. Walking along as night came on, bewailing the indifference that made him late through his sleeping in the arbor and leaving his roll, for which he had to return, so that it was now necessary to travel in the darkness, "he lift up his eyes and, behold, there was a very stately palace before him, the name of which was Beautiful, and it stood by the wayside." Hitherto Christian had been a solitary pilgrim, but we must next consider him as admitted to the communion of the faithful and joining with them in the most solemn public services. This is represented under the emblem of the House Beautiful and the pilgrim's entertainment in it.

Christian hurried on toward the palace, hoping to secure lodging there. Looking through a narrow passage toward the Porter's Lodge, he saw two lions in the way and was afraid and thought that he would go back, for, though the lions were chained, he did not see the chains. But the porter, named Watchful, encouraged him to come forward, telling him that the lions were chained. Thus encouraged, he proceeded, yet with fear and trembling. The lions roared, but did not harm him, and he greatly rejoiced when he had passed them and reached in safety the gate where the porter stood. Christian was about to make a public confession of his faith, and at such a time opposition and fear and timidity often harass all Christians; hence the lions. But God is simply testing the character of our faith, and if we will but heed the encouraging words of faithful pastors and teachers and follow their directions as Christian did we should go on, and we shall find that the lions are chained and that no harm, but blessings and joy, will come to us.

In the Beautiful Palace Christian began his association with the saints of God. He was first closely examined by the porter, as all should be before entering the church of Christ lest they make an ignorant or false confession of faith. His examination being satisfactory, he was admitted. Here, in conversation with Piety, Charity, Prudence and Discretion, he told the story of his Christian experience. The public rehearsal of our personal experience may not always prove to be beneficial, but there is no doubt that in personal conversation with our Christian friends these should often be the subject of conversation. What more natural than for God's children to converse among themselves of their Father's dealings with them and of their personal experiences with Christ along the Christian life!

In the Palace Beautiful Christian's profession was ratified, and his membership in the church was completed. The supper served was emblematic of the Lord's supper, and the atonement was discussed. In his peaceful sleep the peace of God that comes to the new convert is symbolized. The next day he was taken into the armory and "put on the whole armor of God." He was also given a view of the Delectable Mountains and of Immanuel's land as a means of inspiration and of encouragement before he journeyed on to meet new trials and difficulties.

"I thought you were going through to Medicine Bend," suggested Smith as the trainman disappeared.

"McCloud," repeated Bucks, taking up his cigar and throwing back his head in a cloud of smoke.

"Yes," assented his companion; "but I am going through to Medicine Bend, Mr. Bucks."

"Do."

"How am I to do it?"

"Take the car and send it back tomorrow on Number Three."

"Thank you, if you won't need it tonight."

"I sha'n't. I am going to stay at Cold Springs to-night and hunt up McCloud."

"But that man is in bed in a very bad way; you can't see him. He is going to die."

"No, he isn't. I am going to hunt him up and have him taken care of."

Ten weeks later McCloud was sent from Medicine Bend up on the Short Line as trainmaster, and on the Short Line he learned railroading.

"That's how I came here," said George McCloud to Farrell Kennedy a long time afterward, at Medicine Bend. "I had shriveled and starved three years out there in the desert. I lived with those cattle underground ... forgotten my own people, ... my own face—and ... along one day with Whispering Smith and dragged me out of my coffin. They had it ordered, and it being a small size and 'onhandy,' as the undertaker said, I paid for it and told him to store it for me. Well, do you think I ever could forget either of those men, Farrell?"

In all the group of young men then on the mountain division, obscure and unknown at the time, but destined within a few years to be scattered far and wide as constructionists with records made in the rebuilding operations through the Rocky mountains, none was less likely to attract attention than McCloud. Bucks, who, indeed, could hardly be reckoned so much of the company as its head, was a man of commanding proportions physically. Like Glover, Bucks was a giant in stature, and the two men, when together, could nowhere escape notice; they looked, in a word, their part, fitted to cope with the tremendous undertakings that had fallen to their lot. Callahan, the chess-player on the Overland lines, the man who could hold large combinations of traffic movement constantly in his head and by intuition reach the result of a given problem before other men could work it out, was, like Morris Blood, the master of tonnage, of middle age. But McCloud, when he went to the mountain division, in youthfulness of features was boyish, and when he left he was still a boy, bronzed, but young of face in spite of a lifetime's pressure and worry crowded into three years. He himself counted this physical make-up as a disadvantage. "It has embroiled me in no end of trouble, because I couldn't convince men I was in earnest until I made good in some hard way," he complained once to Whispering Smith. "I never could acquire even a successful habit of swearing, so I had to learn to fight."

When, one day in Boney street in Medicine Bend, he threw open the door of Marion Sinclair's shop, flung his hat sailing along the show case with his war cry, and called to her in the back rooms, she thought he had merely run in to say he was in town.

"How do you do? What do you think? You're going to have an old boarder back," he cried. "I'm coming to Medicine Bend, superintendent of the division!"

"Mr. McCloud!" Marion Sinclair clasped her hands and dropped into a chair. "Have they made you superintendent already?"

"Well, I like that! Do you want them to wait till I'm gray-headed?"

Marion threw her hands to her own head. "Oh, don't say anything about gray hairs. My head won't bear inspection. But I can't get over this promotion coming so soon—this whole big division! Well, I congratulate you very sincerely—"

"Oh, but that isn't it! I suppose anybody will congratulate me. But where am I to board? Have you a cook? You know how I went from bad to worse after you left Cold Springs. May I have my meals here with you as I used to there?"

They laughed as they bantered. Marion Sinclair wore gold spectacles, but they did not hide the delightful good-nature in her eyes. On the third finger of her slender left hand she wore, too, a gold band that explained the gray in her hair at 26.

This was the wife of Murray Sinclair, whom he had brought to the mountains from her far-away Wisconsin home. Within a year he had broken her heart so far as it lay in him to do it, but he could not break her charm nor her spirit. She was too proud to go back, when forced to leave him, and had set about earning her own living in the country to which she had come as a bride. She put on spectacles, she mutilated her heavy brown hair and to escape notice and secure the obscurity that she craved, her name, Marion, became, over the door of her millinery shop and in her business, only "M. Sinclair."

Cold Springs, where Sinclair had first brought her when he had headquarters there as foreman of bridges, had proved a hopeless place for the millinery business—at least, in the way that Marion ran it. She could, however, cook extraordinarily well, and, with the aid of a servant-maid, could always provide for a boarder or two—perhaps a railroad man or a mine superintendent to whom she could serve meals, and who, like all mountain men, were more than generous in their accounting with women. Among these standbys of hers was McCloud. McCloud had always been her friend, and when she left Cold Springs and moved to Medicine Bend to set up her little shop in Boney street near Fort, she had lost him. Yet, somehow, to compensate Marion for other cruel things in the mountains, Providence seemed to raise up a new friend for her wherever she went. In Medicine Bend she did not know a soul, but almost the first customer that walked into her shop—and she was a customer worth while—was Dicksie Dunning of the Crawling Ston

CHAPTER V.

The Crawling Stone.

The valley of Crawling Stone river marked for more than a decade the dead line between the overland route of the white man and the last country of the Sioux. It was long after the building of the first line before even an engineer's reconnoissance was made in the Crawling Stone country. Then, within ten years, three surveys were made, two on the north side of the river and one on the south side, by interests seeking a coast outlet. Three reports made in this way gave varying estimates of the expense of putting a line up the valley, but the three coincided in this, that the cost would be prohibitive. Engineers of reputation had in this respect agreed, but Glover, who looked after such work for Bucks, remained unconvinced, and before McCloud was put into the operating department on the Short Line he was asked by Glover to run a preliminary up Crawling Stone valley. Before the date of his report the conclusions reached by other engineers had stood unchallenged.

The valley was not unknown to McCloud. His first year in the mountains, in which, fitted as thoroughly as he could fit himself for his profession, he had come west and found himself unable to get work, had been spent hunting, fishing, and wandering, often cold and often hungry, in the upper Crawling Stone country. The valley in itself offers to a constructionist no insuperable obstacles; the difficulty is presented in the canyon where the river bursts through the Elbow mountains. South of this canyon, McCloud, one day on a hunting trip, found himself with two Indians pocketed in the rough country, and was planning how to escape passing a night away from camp when his companions led him past a vertical wall of rock 1,000 feet high, split into a narrow defile down which they rode, as it broadened out, for miles. They emerged upon an open country that led without a break into the valley of the Crawling Stone below the canyon. Afterward, when he had become a railroad man, McCloud, sitting at a campfire with Glover and Morris Blood, heard them discussing the coveted and impossible line up the valley. He had been taken into the circle of constructionists and was told of the earlier reports against the line. He thought he knew something about the Elbow mountains, and disputed the findings, offering in two days' ride to take the men before him to the pass called by the Indians the Box, and to take them through it. Glover called it a find, and a big one, and though more immediate matters in the strategy of territorial control then came before him, the preliminary was ordered and McCloud's findings were approved. McCloud himself was soon afterward engrossed in the problems of operating the mountain division; but the dream of his life was to build the Crawling Stone line with a maximum grade of eight-tenths through the Box.

Are You Sure Your Kidneys Are Well?

Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood. But the duty of the kidneys is to remove all uric acid from the blood. Its presence there shows the kidneys are inactive.

Don't dally with "uric acid solvents." You might go on till doomsday with them, but until you cure the kidneys you will never get well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid, but cure the kidneys and then all danger from uric acid is ended. Here is Plainfield testimony to prove it.

Mrs. C. Rosseter, 127 Watchung avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I had severe backaches also occasional attacks of rheumatism. Being told that Doan's Kidney Pills were very effective in cases of this nature and believing that my trouble arose from my kidneys, I procured a box of this remedy from Randolph's Pharmacy. I soon found relief and since that time have always kept Doan's Kidney Pills in the house. Whenever I feel out of sorts, I take a few doses of the remedy and am soon weel again. My daughter and her husband have also used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

Summer-time in New York city will not be without its compensations of comfort this season if William Morris can have his way, for, following the prosperously popular policy in augurating the advent of William Morris, Inc., into the field of vaudeville entertainment, the completion, at a cost of $75,000 of the most artistic, attractive and complete roof garden theatre in the world, atop the American Music Hall, at Eighth avenue and 42d street, and which will be thrown open to the public on Monday evening. In novelty and beauty of decorative design, the American roof garden surpasses anything ever attempted in the way of open-air playhouses, for it will be in every sense of "roof garden"—a veritable forest of foliage and flowers, reproducing with idyllic splendor the scenic delights of an Adirondack camp, veiling the modern construction which necessitated the addition of two stories to the structure enclosing this charming counterfeit of a shady nook in the woods. There are accommodations for 1,400 auditors in this eyria, and every modern convenience and safe-guard has been adopted for the ease and safety of our patrons.

MR. WHELAN'S OPINION ON GREATEST TRADE CENTRE.

George J. Whelan, of East Front street, president of the United Cigar Stores Company, in speaking of retail trade conditions in New York says that Forty-second street and Broadway is the best corner for retail business in the United States.

"In comparison with figures that we have compiled from other cities," says Mr. Whelan, "we find that the corner of Forty-second street and Broadway is the most important retail corner in the United States. I will even venture the prediction that within ten years the territory about Times Square will be the most important retail territory in the world.

"I base the statement on the volume of business as well as on the number of people passing the corner at Forty-second street and Broadway during the day. Times Square is a twenty-four hour neighborhood—that is, there are people in that neighborhood during each of the twenty-four hours."

Mr. Whelan estimated that at least 300,000 people pass the corner at the intersection of Forty-second street and Broadway every day, the bulk of them spenders of money and a large proportion of them strangers come to the city for pleasure and shopping. According to Mr. Whelan 15,000 persons pass through the United Cigar store at that corner every twenty-four hours and of these one-half are purchasers of cigars and tobacco.

A. O. H. PROTEST BARRY STATUE IS UNDIGNIFIED.

Atlantic City, July 17.—Members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, through their national executive board, called in special session here Wednesday, sent a telegraphic protest to President Taft against the design for the statue to Commodore John Barry, to which was given first prize by the national commission, headed by Secretary of War Dickinson.

When the protest is in the form of a request that the United States Irish societies be allowed to select the form of statue to be erected to the Irish revolutionary hero, the real reason behind the objection is dislike of the nude allegorical figures surrounding the base of the proposed statue and intended to represent the progress of Ireland.

"The Irishmen of the United States demand that the statue to be dedicated to Commodore Barry, the great Irishman of the American Revolution, be strictly American and dignified in its design, explained a delegation of the committee last night.

"We object to the use of naked figures to represent the work done for Ireland by Brian Boru and other Irish heroes, and we would rather have any allegorical reference to the native land of Commodore Barry left off the statue."

ELIZABETH "TRIMMED."

Swindler Gets Deposits on Orders for Photographs.

The police of Elizabeth are looking for an imposter who trades on a slight resemblance between himself and Isidore Fieldman, a downtown photographer in that city, in more or less successful efforts to swindle unsuspecting housewives. His game is to present Fieldman's card and make an offer to take a photograph at a cut rate. He always insists on a deposit, sometimes taking as small a sum as ten cents.

For the last two weeks the photographer's studio has been visited by persons holding these cards and intent upon having their pictures taken at bargain rates. In many instances it has been hard for Mr. Fieldman to explain to them that they have been vicimized and that it would be impossible for him to produce pictures at the prices quoted by the swindler.

The New Chalmers Cars for 1910

No Increase in Price

Note the pictures. Our "30" has a 115-inch wheel base—with 34-inch wheels. A longer, higher hood to accord with a roomier tonneau. Lines like the costliest cars on the market.

Yet not a penny of additional price. The car still sells for $1500. Let us tell you how we have done it.

1,000 More Cars

Last season's output of "30's" was 2,500 cars, yet we ran 800 cars short of our orders. We were obliged to refuse trade to the extent of $1,200,000.

This year we have built a new factory, and our 1910 output of "30's" will be 3,500 cars. Those 1,000 extra cars will be made without adding a dollar to our fixed expense.

They will also be made with last year's tools and machinery. We have almost no new expense there. For mechanically, the car is not altered at all. Experience has shown us no way to improve it.

Thus we effect immense savings. And all of these savings have gone into the car—to make it more sightly, more roomy, more like the costliest cars.

Nine Per Cent Profit

Our profit this season will be the same as last season—exactly nine per cent.

Our customers have created these savings by calling for more of our cars. And every penny we save will be spent in giving them more beautiful cars. That is our permanent policy.

Please note the result. Note what a large and showy car—note the exquisite lines. Just think that $1500 now buys this amazing car.

Lower Prices

We will fit this $1500 car with a Bosch magneto, a Prest-O-Lite gas tank, and two Atwood-Castle gas lamps—all for $100 extra. The regular price of these extras is $175.

We will furnish our "30" with a Lenox mohair top for $75 extra. The regular price is $125.

We shall give you all the advantage of our quantity buying. So this 1910 model, fully equipped, costs you $135 less than did our 1909 model, equally equipped.

A longer, higher hood, roomier tonneau, longer wheel base, larger wheels and daintier lines. Yet the cost equipped is considerably less than the model of 1909.

No Records Like These

One of the Chalmers-Detroit "30's" has been run 32,000 miles, and has just completed a path-finding trip from Denver to Mexico City. Never has any car, at any price, made an equal endurance record.

Owners have paid us for repairs on their 1909 cars exactly $2.44 per car. That is a world's record.

On June 18th, a "30" won the Indiana Light Car Race, the greatest contest of its kind ever held in America, doing 232.74 miles at an average speed of 51.5 miles per hour.

On an economy test, made by the New York Auto Dealers' Association, it ran 25.7 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Never has a car at any price proved so satisfactory. Never did a car show such low cost for upkeep.

That is why we make no radical mechanical changes. Experience has proved that the 1909 "30" is absolutely right mechanically.

The Larger "Forty"

Our "Forty" for 1910 has 36-inch wheels. The wheel base is 122 inches—ten inches longer than last year. The car seats seven, while last season's seated five.

Upholstered in hand-buffed leather. Fitted with Bosch magneto, gas lamps and gas tank free.

Yet the price remains $2,750.

We will equip this car with a $150 Newport mohair top for $125 extra. The two extra seats will cost you but $75.

So this larger car, with larger wheels, when fully equipped, costs considerably less than last year.

This is our "Forty's" fifth season. It is known far and wide as the best medium-priced car on the market. It has been purchased by scores of the best experts in America for their personal use.

This season, with its extra room, there is not a car at any price which can reasonably claim to excel it.

Made as touring car, roadster and pony tonneau.

See These New Cars

Every Chalmers-Detroit dealer now has photographs of these new models. Demonstrating cars will be ready this month. Deliveries to users begin August 1st.

See them before you buy.

The tide of automobile demand is turning to these medium-priced cars. Not alone because of their prices, but mainly because of their savings on upkeep. The day of extravagance is past.

Last season these cars had no real competition. The demand was a third greater than could be supplied. This season, no medium-priced car will be anywhere near in their class.

Get your order in early, for orders are filled in rotation. August delivery gives you five months' use before the car's year begins.

AGENTS UNION COUNTY (Except Elizabeth).

HERRON CAN'T BE SENT TO AN ASYLUM

Archibald Herron, of Metuchen, who killed the Rev. Samuel Prickett, and who is under sentence of death in the electric chair, has lost again in an opinion filed at Trenton yesterday by Justice Reed for the Supreme Court, deciding that Herron must stay in the State prison, and when his sanity is restored must be electrocuted. His counsel, former Judge C. T. Cowenhoven, has been fighting to have the man taken to an insane asylum.

This case is of considerable interest here, as United States District Court Judge Rellstab, when county judge, refused to interpret the statute as counsel saw it, and was sustained in the Supreme Court. Then Cowenhoven went to the Supreme Court, and there he loses.

"A prisoner in the State prison under sentence of death is not entitled to his discharge therefrom because, upon inquiry by the trial court, it was found at that time his mental condition was inconsistent with his execution," declared Justice Reed.

"The disposition of the defendant, whose execution has been so arrested because of his mental derangement, is the question now presented," continues the opinion. "It is quite manifest that he can not be sent to an asylum for the insane. There is no statutory authority in this State for the imprisonment of a prisoner sentenced to capital punishment in any place other than a State prison. There is no other statute in this State which permits the transfer of such a prisoner from the State prison to an asylum. It follows, therefore, that the prisoner must remain in the custody of the keeper of the State prison or be entirely discharged from imprisonment. The latter course is unrecognized by any practise at common law and is inconsistent with the fact that the sentence of the prisoner is only temporarily arrested.

"It is inconsistent with the provisions of the electrocution act. By this statute it is enacted that the keeper of the State prison is bound to keep a person sentenced to death in confinement after the warrant of a presiding judge of the trial court is received by him. It further enacts that if the execution of the sentence within the time appointed shall by any cause be prevented, it shall be the duty of the judge, as soon as such cause ceases to exist, to make out, sign and deliver another warrant. So from the time of the delivery of the first warrant, and with it of the prisoner, to the principal keeper of the State prison, until the infliction of the punishment of death, the person so sentenced shall be kept in confinement unless he shall be lawfully discharged from such sentence.

"This petitioner in this case has not been discharged from his sentence. As already remarked, the execution of the sentence has only been stayed. The prisoner has been reprieved until a further order of the trial court, and further warrant directed to the keeper of the State prison. The prisoner is remanded to the custody of the principal keeper of the State prison."

BIG STORM PLAYS HAVOC AT CAMP.

Sea Girt, July 17.—A thunderstorm broke over the encampment yesterday afternoon, and for a few moments it looked as if Camp Fort was in imminent danger of being blown off the map. The big hospital tent, the guardhouse, which was in charge of Lieutenant Bernard, of Orange, and the Y. M. C. A. tent were torn from their fastenings and carried a short distance by the high wind. Tents in which the soldiers have been doing their own cooking were overturned and the camp land was speedily dotted with fallen white canvas.

After the first strong guest of wind and rainfall the skies cleared. In half an hour, however, rain was descending, this time in a steady downpour that lasted for some time.

The blacksmith shop of William Morton was struck by lightning while he was putting a shoe on a horse. Morton was rendered unconscious and required medical attention. Buglers sounded fire, and guardsmen with pails answered. The horse escaped injury, but the building was destroyed.

Two barns of Joseph Francis, near the shop, were set on fire and desroyed with their contents. The loss amounts to several thousand dollars.

The Beach House in Sea Girt was struck by lightning, which also made a hole through the house of Dr. McKnight without injuring any of the persons in the dwelling.

The body of Edward Hayden, the marine who was drowned on Governor's Day, was taken from the camp yesterday and sent home. A guard of honor accompanied it to the station, headed by the regimental band. Lieutenant Bernard placed the camp flags at half-mast.

DROUGHT IS RUINING CROPS IN MONMOUTH.

Red Bank, July 17.—In an interview with former Sheriff John H. Patterson, of Riverside drive, a prominent Middletown Township farmer, he had the following to say concerning the drought and its effect on farmers:

"The largest crop of rye straw that I have ever known to be gathered from the same number of acres was harvested this week by Frank Holmes at this place. The field contains thirteen and one-half acres, strict measurement, and it took thirteen and one-half balls of twine to bind it. I think there is at least twenty-seven tons of straw in the stack. It was stacked by Loxelle Holmes, who is past 71 years old, in two days and a half.

"The potato crop is ruined by the drought. Our vines looked very promising a week ago. They will not average twenty-five barrels to the acre. The apple crop will be the lightest gathered in the county in many years. Peaches are dropping badly. Corn and tomatoes are suffering for want of rain. The fields are bare of herbage. They look as though a fire had swept over them. I have lived a good while, and this is the most disastrous drought I ever remember."

Five more deaths among infants from the heat and stomach trouble were reported in Bayonne, yesterday bringing the total, so far this week, up to almost thirty. ### CONVICT MAN WHO SHOT GIRL.

Jersey City, July 17.—Because Mary Chrusal, of Bayonne, refused to give up the gold fillings in her teeth that were partly paid for by Maik Marcinick, her admirer, who saught to marry her, despite the fact that he had a wife living in Austria, he pulled a revolver and shot her in the shoulder. These facts came to light Wednesday in the trial of Marcinick in the Special Sessions Court before Judge Blair, and which resulted in the conviction of the accused. The young woman said that the gold fillings cost her $3, and all that the defendant paid toward the bill was $8, and that she did not see how she could separate that quantity of gold from her teeth.

Marcinick, in his defense, insisted that the trouble was not caused by the refusal of the girl to return him the gold in her teeth, but because she would not marry him. He said his rival was present at the time of the shooting and that when she refused to consent to the marriage he threatened to kill himself. He said his rival then handed him a revolver and that he was about to use it when Mary jumped in and tried to wrest it from him. The revolver went off in the struggle and the bullet lodged in Mary's shoulder.

HOSPITALITY IS SHOWN

Trinity Reformed Church Gives Cordial Reception to Rev. P. W. Harrison.

FIRST MISSIONARY TO MECCA.

Magazine Articles Criticized by Daring Young Man Who is to Undertake Hazardous Work.

The universal hospitality of Trinity Reformed church was made tangibly evident to the Rev. Paul Wilberforce Harrison, in the cordial greeting and reception that he secured yesterday morning, when he addressed a large congregation on some aspects of the missionary field, with especial reference to Arabia. After the service the church members remained to shake hands with him and wish him God-speed in his new work.

Trinity Reformed church of this city, through the Rev. Mr. Harrison, may be the first agency to preach Christianity in Mecca and in Medina, the seat of the Mohammedan stone of Caaba and the birthplace of Mahomet. Arabia has never been pierced by Christian missionaries and is the one stronghold of heathenism left in the world; for Buddhism in China and Brahminism in India are both crumbling. Repeated attempts have been made spasmodically by Christianity to make inroads on Mohammedanism, but without any success. Hence, if the present courageous plans of the Rev. Mr. Harrison, supported by the local church, which is the means of his undertaking the task, materialize, the first light of Christian teaching in Mecca will be due to the church-workers of Trinity Reformed church.

Some recent magazine articles, which have attacked some fundamental Christian beliefs and have cast disfavor on the missionary field, were criticised by the Rev. Mr. Harrison in his talk. This was done recently by Bishop McFaul and other noted divines.

"The church is not an agency to promulgate politics, neither is it essentially philanthropic, but its chief mission, and hence our own mission, for we are all disciples of the Lord Jesus Christ, is to teach repentenance and the remission of sins," he said. "If we comprehend this in its right relation we will understand that the educational and industrial aim of the missionary, though essentially it should be subordinate to the principal one of saving sinners, is ignored by critics of foreign missionaries."

Arabia is the triangular province lying in a central position between Africa, Asia and Europe. From it, especially from Mecca, Mohammedanism has been preached for centuries and is today. Because of this fact, the Rev. Mr. Harrison is doubly anxious to undertake the dangerous task of working among an unsympathetic people, who hold an almost superstitious veneration for their religion. Mr. Harrison is a well educated and forceful young man and is an especially earnest speaker. The union of these qualities blended with a cordial manner and a wide sympathy, particularly fit him for the hazardous undertaking that he has chosen, and that Trinity Reformed church is supporting him in. In the afternoon the Rev. Mr. Harrison spoke at Marconnier chapel before a large congregation.

HUDSON TUNNELS OPEN

Former Plainfielder a Prominent Official at Gala Opening Celebration.

PLINY FISK WELCOMES GUESTS.

Whistles Shriek When First Train Goes Through—Plainfield Now in Line for Healthy Growth.

Pliny Fisk, a brother of Mayor Charles Fisk, of this city, and a former resident of East Seventh street, was one of the five men representing the United States Steel Corporation that welcomed Vice-President Sherman, Governor Fort and other distinguished statesmen and engineers at the opening of the tubes under the Hudson river this morning.

Over 2,000 invitations were sent out to prominent legislators, and a vast throng, in which were many Plainfielders, gathered in front of the City Hall in Jersey City, where the event was celebrated formally. Trains coming through the tunnels brought the guests to a large grandstand erected here. Speeches were made by William McAdoo, president of the Tunnel Company, Mayor Wittpen, of Jersey City, Governor Fort and others.

When the official train started on its initial trip at 10:20 o'clock news of it was telephoned to Superintendent Frank Sheppard of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who gave the signal to start celebrating. Immediately every railroad locomotive in the lower end of Manhattan and in Jersey City and all river craft shrieked in a medley of whistles, gongs and sirens. Then, too, bombs helped the general bedlam along. School buildings and public buildings were gayly decorated for the occasion, and the thousands who gathered to cheer and clap all did themselves proud in recording the great event.

The lower part of Manhattan Island, it has been pointed out, must in time be devoted solely to business purposes, and the sooner the congested population in its unsanitary tenement house areas is dissipated the better it will be for the community at large. No political division would be injured by the removal of this population to suburban New Jersey, as their activity would still contribute to the predominance of New York city as the great commercial centre of the Western hemisphere.

The development of New Jersey as a residential section has been handicapped by the inaccessibility of this territory rather than by its actual distance from the business centre of New York city. Within eighteen miles of the business centre of the city on the New Jersey side and including Staten Island there is an area, excluding all marsh land, of approximately 380 square miles available for residential purposes. This area is 20 per cent. larger than the area of Greater New York and about eighteen times that of Manhattan Island. The system eventually will be extended to Staten Island.

Plainfield will share largely from the influx of population from the congested districts as new buildings are put up in the lower end of the island.

Mrs. Merlett's Version.

Mrs. Bonn Merlett, of Dunellen, whose husband was fined three dollars by Recorder Campbell on Wednesday for being drunk an disorderly indignantly denies the aspersions on herself, which she attributes to her husband. Mr. Merlett is reported to have told his friends that she was entertaining male company when he arrived home on Tuesday night and when the trouble occurred. As a matter of fact, Mrs. Merlett had as her guests a man and his wife at that time.

Some Campers Return.

Vail, members of the choir of Holy Cross church, have returned from the choir boys' camp at Hedges Lake, Cambridge, New York, and report "good times." There are still about a score of boy singers at the camp, which is in charge of Rev. George A. Warner, rector of the church, and these will remain until the camp breaks up on Wednesday.

HEATHEN LOST CHILDREN

And Sinful Men in Christian Lands Prodigals Says Minister.

THEY ARE NOT DISINHERITED.

Rev. Charles S. Kemble Preaches a Masterly Sermon on "The Sonship."

In his morning sermon before his own congregation, Rev. Charles S. Kemble, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, yesterday morning took up the question of man's sonship to God, using as a text the first nine verses of the fourth chapter of the Epistle to the Galatians. He contended that while a very good case could be made out for man's natural sonship to God; first as descendants of Adam whom St. Luke declares to have been the son of God; second, from the reiterated use of the words "your Father," by Christ in addressing congregations that as he said surely were not made up even largely of people who could be called regenerate or any orthodox basis, and third, Paul's assertion at Athens before a heathen audience that "we are the offspring of God."

"Paul, however," said Rev. Mr. Kemble, "has something much higher than a mere sonship of origin in his thought when he uses this now commonly translated 'adoption.' He means not an artificial sonship, he said, but a vital one, not a latent, but a realized sonship, a sonship that in conscious on our part and recognized on God's part, a sonship whose privileges are worn not by natural right on our part, but by God's gracious paternal condescension and Christ's gracious brotherly generosity, and the word translated, 'adoption' should be more accurately 'the position of sons.'

"Paul's intense zeal," said Rev. Mr. Kemble, "is the outcome of a burning conviction that the blessedness of conscious priviliged sonship is for all men, the heathen as well as the Jews being joint heirs, and entitled to know of their great inheritance. The heathen are to be regarded then as lost children, having no benefit of their origin, because not in the 'position of sons,' to be hunted up, to be informed of their high origin, their true nature, their exalted destiny, and instructed in the things that shall make them conscious sons in full communion with their Father.

"The vast number of sinful men in Christian lands," he said, "are more of the nature of prodigal sons. They were taught in infancy to pray 'Our Father,' they know of their relationship to God, but they are not occupying the 'position of sons,' they feed on husks instead of the fatted calf at their Father's table. Why associate with vile companions instead of enjoying the fellowship of the saints, they are out of touch with their Father. They need to be told of their Father's great yearning love for them. He hasn't disinherit d them.

"He hasn't crossed their names out of the family Bible," said the preacher. "He loves them still, even in their milder rebellion against Him as David did his wicked son Absalom. He loves them not because of any merit, but because they are His children, and He cannot be content to have them in misery, in want, in exile. Oh, prodigal, God loves you still, lay down your arms of rebellion, give up your restiveness, under His wise restraining, come home.

"The third class of sons who are out of place, unhappy and constrained is the class who are occupying the position of servants, when they might be and ought to be occupying 'the position of sons.' It was to this class ecpecially that this Epistle to the Galatians was written, to those who had been converted under Paul's ministry, many of them from heathendom, who had been informed of their high privileges in Christ Jesus, but who had allowed themselves to be discouraged, and had stepped down from their high seats to take their places among the servants.

"God doesn't want servants. He wants sons. Martin Luther had long laboriously served God as a servant, this Epistle and the Epistle to the Romans gave him a vision of 'sonship,' and his shackles fell off and he stepped out into the glorious liberty of the children of God and the Reformation was born. John Wesley confessed that his years of painful, unhappy service were caused by his having then only the 'faith of a servant,' when he caught the great secret of a filial relationship to God,' he too stepped out into the liberty of the sons of God and Methodism was born.

"For many are still where Luther and Wesley were in those painful years All the privileges of sonship are for you and for every man; don't

REBUKES ROCKEFELLER

Bishop Williams Opposes the the Idea Advanced by Scion of Wealth.

CHRISTIAN TYPES COMPARED.

Brother of Louis A. Williams, Who is His Guest, Preaches at St. Bartholomew's.

"A scion of wealth," remarked Bishop Charles D. Williams, of Michigan, in his St. Bartholomew's sermon yesterday in New York, "recently used the figure of the gardener's treatment of a rose bush, cutting off all but the hardiest buds, that the flowers might be perfect. He said it was right to apply that idea to human relations, and that doctrine was advanced, not in a board meeting, but before a Bible class." Bishop Williams is spending the summer there with his brother, Louis A. Williams, and has many friends here.

"I wonder," said the Bishop, "if the young man ever read the Bible he professed to teach. They say that a rose by any other name will smell as sweet, but the odor of that rose to me smacks strongly of crude petroleum."

It was evident the Bishop was aiming at John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and the Standard Oil Company. Later he cited the oil industry as a model in the art of making use of waste as by-products, and said the church should do the same with human wastrels.

But the doctrine of cutting off the poorer buds to raise a perfect flower did not appeal to the Bishop, for he characterized it as "the cold, merciless, scientific doctrine of evolution applied to human relations, the doctrine that the individual was of no use other than to perpetuate and develop the species." He continued:

"Compare that with Christ's philosophy of the shepherd, who, having ninety and nine sheep safe in the fold, goes out to look for the one which is lost. Compare it with the father who, having the righteous members of his family and household gathered around him, goes out to seek and to welcome the prodigal who has spent his substance in riotous living in foreign lands.

The present church, like the ancient synagogue, is lapsing into the work of ministering spiritual luxury to the morally fit. Parish work you have; yes, but it is a postscript to the real work of the church, which confines herself to one moral class, and when they move uptown she follows them. Of course, it is a good thing to keep the core of society clean, but if Christ came again today would He confine His ministry to this class?"

According to Bishop Williams, two types of Christians composed the churches today, one type of which preserved the character as the ancient Egptians preserved the body, by embalming it, and this type, he declared, were like the mummies, not much good to any one. The other type was the real Christ type, the kind that did not hold themselves above personal contact and personal work.

RESTAURANT KEEPER CRITICIZED CUSTOMER.

As the result of an altercation with William Parker, colored, of Warren street, Miss Dora Armely, who conducts a restaurant at the corner of Somerset street and Somerset place, is in the borough toils today, pending the payment of a $15 fine.

Miss Armeley indulged too freely in the cup that cheers Saturday night and when Parker came in to purchase a sandwich, she began to criticize him. Compliments flew back and forth for a few minutes, attracting the attention of Borough Marshal Keller, who took both to police headquarters. At the hearing before Recorder Dolliver, Miss Armeley was fined $15 and Parker $3. The latter paid.

Old Time Musicale Tonight.

Classical music, embracing many familiar old time melodies, will be played by a selected orchestra of local musicians under the direction of Martin A. Korff at the Salvation Army tent on Watchung avenue at corner of Fourth street, tonight. Lovers of music are assured a rare musical treat as Director Martin has selected an especially entertaining program.

Olmsted Will Not Lose Eye.

William Olmsted, of East Front street, who received an injury to his left eye, when a giant fire cracker exploded, July fourth, is now able to be about with ordinary glasses. The eye still troubles him and he is still under the care of a physician, but he will not lose it.

THIEVING YACHTSMAN IS QUICKLY CAUGHT

Clad in a natty blue uniform, with many buttons, and carrying in his hand a yachting cap, William E. Cooper, colored, who says his home is in Philadelphia, was led out of a police court cell to face City Judge Runyon. A complaint made by Thomas S. Wheeler, of Park avenue, states that Cooper left the yacht at Seabright Saturday, wearing the uniform, and carrying with him $6.[illegible] stolen from Mr. Wheeler.

Cooper, who says he is an ex-soldier, was very contrite about the theft, which he confessed. He came to town to call on a "lady friend" in the Netherwood section, and must have worn his yachting suit to make an impression. He is a widower, and was going from here to Philadelphia to see his sick child. He was arrested by Patrolman Nolan within five minutes after his arrival in town yesterday.

The prisoner said that a suit case containing some of his clothes is in Westfield, and the police have gone for it, and are holding Cooper until it can be learned whether any more stolen articles are in it. Mr. Wheeler will not press the charge against the colored man, who will be freed if his story is proved to be straight. Cooper told Judge Runyon that he couldn't understand how he came to steal, but guessed he had taken too many drinks and laid the theft to "worriness" about his sick child. He has an excellent record.

Funeral of Michael Kenney.

The funeral of Michael Kenney, who died on Thursday at his home on East Fourth street, was held Saturday morning at the house at 8:3[illegible] and at St. Mary's church at 9, solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Father Hogan, assisted by Father Dumfrie, of Dunellen, and Father Sciola. A large number of friends of the deceased attended the services and accompanied the remains to their last resting place in St. Mary's cemetery. Many handsome floral pieces were received from friends. The pall bearers were Michael Mack, Timothy Murphy, Joseph Harrigan, Patrick Connolly, Patrick Newell and Daniel McCarthy.

Express Horse Ran Away.

Patrolman Charles Flynn stopped a runaway on East Fourth street near Park avenue early this morning when the horse attached to one of the United States Express Company's wagons took fright while standing in Burdick's alley. Frank Runyon, the driver, was delivering a package. There was no damage.

Auto and Motorcycle Collide.

An automobile owned and driven by J. D. Smith, of Somerville, collided with a motor cycle ridden by Peter J. Simmons, colored, on Park avenue near Front street, yesterday afternoon. Simmons was thrown heavily, but escaped with bruises. The front of the automobile was damaged by the collision.

MAYOR ACTS PROMPTLY ON REPORTER'S CHARGES

An investigation of the charges made against Chief Marshal George Weiss, of North Plainfield, by John D. Townsend, a reporter for The Daily Press, made by Mayor Samuel Townsend of the borough, has resulted in the receipt by Mr. Townsend of a letter from the Mayor which speaks for itself and which closes the incident. Following is a copy of Mayor Townsend's letter:

Mr. John D. Townsend,

Dear Sir:—I am today in receipt of your communication of the seventeenth inst., with accompanying affidavit. I have investigated the matter of your complaint and, while your statement of the language used differs somewhat from the recollection of others present, enough has been learned to satisfy me that you had cause to feel aggrieved.

I wish, therefore, to apologize to you for the occurence and express regret that a police officer of the borough should not better have controlled his temper.

Yours respectfully,
(Signed)
SAMUEL TOWNSEND, Mayor.

CAULFIELD STILL IN CRITICAL CONDITION.

Thomas Caulfield, who was injured by being knocked down in front of the Iroquois Hotel on July 5, is still in a precarious condition. Information was elicited at the injured man's home this morning to the effect that on Saturday he was seized with convulsions and was believed to be in a dying condition. It was thought that he could not survive the day. However, he became more quiet and was delirious only part of the time yesterday.

A peculiar feature of Caulfield's case is that the injury has deprived him of the power of speech, although in the attacks of delirium he uttered several intelligible words. It is feared that in event of his ultimate recovery the man will be partially dumb.

Woman at the Bottom of It.

A woman was at the bottom of a fistic fight between John Kunski and Michael Belco at Dunellen yesterday. Both have been good friends for years, but both had the misfortune of having a strong liking for Miss Anne Cashon. She held herself as neutral property and the two contestants decided to hold a fistic duel, in which the fair object of the fray became mixed up considerably. As a result, both men were arrested on a complaint of Miss Cashon by Robert M. Pierce on a warrant sworn out before Justice Rogers. Both were held under bonds.

Auto Disabled on Tracks.

The rear axle and wheels of an automobile were damaged considerably in crossing the Central tracks near Bound Brook yesterday. The driver of the machine was said to be a Mr. Moynihan. C. T. Rogers, of New Market, towed the disabled machine to a garage.

RUSHMORE IN A SMASHUP

The Dynamo Man Causes Arrest But Case Goes Against Him.

COLLISION AT THE PLAINS.

Rushmore Now Promises to Bring a Civil Suit Against Brooklyn Chauffeur.

A head on collision between automobiles being driven by Samuel W. Rushmore, of this city and August Hetzel, a chauffeur for a Brooklyn garage company, furnished plenty of excitement at the 'Plains yesterday afternoon. The collision occurred at the corner of Park avenue and Front street about 1 o'clock.

Hetzel, who had a party of Brooklynites in his car, turned into Front street just as Mr. Rushmore made the turn into Park avenue from Front street. Rushmore claimed that Hetzel lost his head and crowded him so that it was impossible to avoid the accident. Hetzel made the counter claim that Rushmore had cut him off so that it was impossible to make the turn.

A heated argument followed and Rushmore swore out a warrant for Hetzel's arrest, charging reckless driving. Constable Walpole arrested the man and a hearing was held before Judge Clark at 3:30, Rushmore being represented by Lawyer J. R. W. Taylor, of this city. When the case was called Rushmore asked for an adjournment for fifteen days to allow him to have his witnesses present, including his wife, who was then confined to her bed suffering from shock and other injuries caused by the collision.

The motion was lost and the case proceeded with Alexander Muir as the only disinterested witness to be heard. Mr. Muir corroborated the chauffeur's version of the accident and the Brooklyn man was discharged. Mr. Rushmore declared that he would bring civil suit for damages against the owner of the car.

It took the balance of the afternoon to repair the damage to the Brooklyn car, both springs being badly bent and the front of the car damaged. The Rushmore car suffered but little damage, several spokes being chipped and an axle bent.

Mr. Rushmore, who is well known for his big advertising sign reflecting on the city, figured in an auto accident that resulted in a decision adverse to him about a year and a half ago.

MORE CHINA RECOVERED; PIES OUT ON $300 BAIL

Detective Sergeant John Flynn recovered decorative china ware and fancy plates to the value of about $75 from the of Stephen F. Pies, 72 First avenue, New York, Saturday afternoon, after the baker's confession that more articles stolen from the Woodhull-Martin store had been taken from his home. Pies, who was arrested by Flynn as he was about to board the 9:29 train for New York Saturday with a suit case full of stolen chinaware, wrote a letter to his wife in New York, telling her that "the game is up," and urging her to return the articles in the house.

The detective sergeant was accompanied to New York by J. V. E. Vanderhoef, assistant manager of the Woodhull-Martin store, who shadowed the thieving baker for several weeks. At the New York home, the two men found Mrs. Pies awaiting the arrival of her husband, who is but twenty-two years old, for dinner. Many Japanese china plates and pieces of decorative china stolen from the store, were decorating mantel and piano, and Mrs. Pies was shocked to learn that the articles were stolen, for she said that her husband had told her that he had bought all the articles from the firm at wholesale rates. She helped the officer and Mr. Vanderhoef gather up the stolen goods and pack the various articles in suit cases so that they could be brought to this city.

Mrs. Pies, with her mother-in-law, were in this city yesterday and called on the baker in his cell at police headquarters. His mother returned today and furnished $300 bail, the bond imposed by City Judge Runyon at the city court this morning by which Pies is held to await the action of the grand jury. The police say that Pies home is neatly and comfortably furnished, and that he apparently has no need to steal.

Weathered Oak, 12-in. top, 8-in. base, 14-in. high. Reg. $1.00.

That basement store we started with in Newark back in Civil War Days has become the big, busy, 5-building organization you see to-day—all because we never would stand still! The people's demands for broader varieties, better displays, more departments, a low price in plainly marked figures, and CREDIT that never hurt but helped, have been met by us more and more liberally year after year—and now see what it's made us: "New Jersey's Largest Exclusive Furniture House," with over 145,000 square feet floor space given up to our one business. There's a reason behind it all!!

4 CONGREGATIONS UNITE

Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson Preaches at Union Service.

THE HOLY GHOST HIS THEME.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, Rev. J. Y. Brock and Rev. Louis Bond Present.

A great congregation attended the third of the series of union services held in the First Baptist church last night, the large auditorium being almost full. Representatives from the First Presbyterian, First M. E. and Trinity Reformed churches joining the membership of the First Baptist church in the services.

Rev. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, was the speaker, and he took for his topic the "Holy Ghost," referred to in Acts 19:1-7, and said in part: 'The Holy Spirit is the administrator of the Kingdom of Jesus Christ in this world. From Christ's thirteenth to thirtieth year, we know very little of His life, but during the last three years of His life here he gathered about Him disciples, both men and women. It was easier for those who knew Him, best, to love Him most, and although their knowledge of Him was limited, He was their All in All.

"He told them He would leave them, but promised them a Comforter who would lead them in the way of all truth, and take His place. The time of the crucifixion came and some of them followed Jesus to the tomb. This history you know. But the resurrection came and for forty days He moved about among men, appearing to many and speaking to them. When He was about to go up to his Father. He took a few of the disciples to Olivet, who witnessed the ascension and since then, so far as we know, no physical eyes but those of Stephen, John and Saul of Tarsus have seen Him. The Master has gone, to be seen no more by his disciples and they go to an appointed place to receive the power from on high.

"On the Day of Pentecost came the Holy Spirit and descended upon the 120 persons gathered in the house, and since then the Holy Spirit has been in the world. This spirit is real and has the same attributes as the Father and Son. We have the Holy Spirit now and will have Him until the end of time. Everything that controls the salvation of man is administered by the Holy Ghost.

"How is a man to be saved until he knows he is a sinner? and who is to teach him that he is a sinner? It is the office of the Holy Spirit to do this. No man has ever come into the Kingdom of Jesus Christ excepting through the convincing power of the Holy Spirit. There is no such thing as a man-made Christian, and no man escapes the visit of the Holy Spirit who comes at least one to convict him of sin.

"Man must be saved and adopted into the household of God through the Holy Spirit. It is the Spirit's prerogative to give men to understand when they have been born again into the Kingdom. The advice of men, though good, is not enough to bring a sinner into heaven. Make a short cut and take it all to the spirit of Christ. There is but one way to settle the question—and that is to take it to the Holy Spirit in prayer and when it is settled this way it is settled forever.

"The Holy Ghost is a reliever of men's infirmities, that is spirited infirmities. Those who are tempted find the way made clear for them by resorting to the influence of God through His spirit. When these, the spiritual infirmities, come you have at your call the One who is ready to listen and to relieve. All ministers of the Gospel have a right to proclaim a Gospel that will keep a man clean and may God grant that you may all be satisfied with the fulness of the Spirit."

Mr. Anderson illustrated his point with anecdotes of personal experiences which drove home the truth with unerring force.

The musical part of the service was fine particularly the singing, unaccompanied, of the anthem, "Savior Thy Children Keep," by Sir Arthur Sullivan, the large choir sang sweetly and with fine expression.

The next union service will be held in the First Presbyterian church next Sunday and the sermon will be preached by Rev. C. E. Bronson, of Philadelphia.

Those on the platform last night besides Rev. Mr. Anderson were Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, Rev. John Y. Brock and Rev. L. O. Bond. Rev. Mr. Brock offered the prayer and Rev. Mr. Bond gave the offertory thanks.

Harry Sanderson, of Woodland avenue, leaves Saturday, July 31, for a three weeks' outing on Lake Ontario, where he has a bungalow.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Tepper, of Central avenue, are entertaining a number of friends and relatives, several of whom will stay for a week or more. Among the guests are his brother, John Tepper, of Selma, Alabama; Sol. J. Brook, of Louisville, Ky., and F. Kassler, of New York city, Mrs. Tepper's father.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Reclaiming the Meadows.

The people of Newark who have not made a special investigation of the subject have no idea of the gigantic improvement that is being made on the meadows by private enterprise. The Newark Meadows Improvement Company, which has taken up the work that several corporations have attempted but have failed to complete, is fast reclaiming a great area of salt marshlind that has heretofore been worse than worthless. This land lies between the Passaic and the Hackensack rivers, extending from the point where they flow together into Newark Bay up to Saw Mill Creek, in Bergen County, and comprises more than 5,000 acres. In the past year and a half some 300 acres of this marsh has been reclaimed by filling carried on by improved hydraulic methods, and Engineer W. M. Jacobus, who is in charge of the work, has predicted that in ten years at the outside the task will have been completed. Some of the land thus improved has already been sold for manufacturing plants, and a host of workmen are busily engaged in building docks, cutting through streets and erecting buildings.

The enterprise is being financed by the banking house of Harvey Fisk & Sons, who are also the backers of the Hudson tunnels and other undertakings that are of so much importance to the whole metropolitan district and especially to the people of this section of New Jersey. It will cost millions of dollars to carry out the project they have in mind, but they have already demonstrated that it can be made a big paying investment. The filled land is solid and is elevated enough to be above the highest tide level. The lands thus reclaimed—almost recreated—will furnish the finest possible sites for great manufacturing plants.

There are, however, two or three difficulties in the way of carrying out this project of meadow reclamation to the best advantage. One of these is found in the unsatisfactory methods of the State Riparian Commission in the matter of determining the values of riparian rights. Another difficulty is that the problem of meadow reclamation is being treated, not as a single proposition, but by diversified interests and with varying methods and objects. The complaint of Mayor Charles J. Fisk, of Plainfield, the head of the banking house financing the private enterprise, against the present methods of dealing with riparian rights is that the State has no fixed policy for determining the value of such rights. It is urged that some definite policy ought to be established to take the place of the hit-and-miss method of fixing the value of grants and leases. It is apparent that what is needed is the appointment of experts to make valuations of all the riparian rights of the State, just as the special commission is now laboring to revalue all the railroad property in the State. With such valuations fixed, would-be investors would have definite information as to what the State would require in the way of return for either grants or leases. In other words, the riparian question would become a business one and not one controlled by politics, as at present. It was to bring about this change that Governor Fort recommended in his messages the abolition of the Riparian Commission, and it is more than likely he will renew that recommendation and thus bring the matter once more to the attention of the Legislature.—Newark News.

THE JAPANESE IRIS.

That exceedingly pretty flower, the iris, of Japan, is in favor with florists. They are sent as gifts and will be used at luncheons, dinners and weddings.

They come in purple and in yellow, and make charming bouquets for the summer bridesmaid.

Sometimes the two colors are mixed with plenty of ferns and great bows and streamers of pale yellow tulle.

An iris wedding is quite the thing. The gowns of the bridesmaids are yellow, the picture hats of golden straw are trimmed with purple and yellow iris, the gloves are pale yellow suede and the flowers are of purple and yellow, carried in a great loose bunch on the left arm.

The bride's table is decorated with these flowers, and the ushers wear the yellow ones in the lapels of their coats.

NOVEL HAIR PIN HOLDER.

A novel and pretty hairpin holder is made of a tuft of lamb's wool clipped and shaped into a ball about the size of an apple. Two strips of ribbon of any desired color are sewed crosswise at the under side of the ball, and the ends of one strip brought up and tied in a bow at the top. The other strip is caught up on the other side of the ball, and the ends joined in a bow to the ends of the other strip. When stuck into the bal of wool the hairpins will remain there until wanted.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The local Sunday School and their friends hold the annual union excursion tomorrow to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove. As this is the only one of the season, it should be well attended.

Mr. and Mrs. William Deegan entertained friends from out of town over Sunday.

MANY PARENTS VISITED AT NETHERWOOD HOME

Mothers and fathers of the New York children now at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home visited at the home yesterday, coming from New York to spend the day. The service in the afternoon was in charge of George H. Chapman, treasurer of the home association, and the principal speaker was Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church.

"Walking Meeting Houses" was the topic of Dr. Chambliss' talk, and he held the close attention of both parents and children as he told how the human body should be considered as God's temple and cared for accordingly, being employed in the service of God. Mr. Sutro, of New York city, a personal friend of Miss Sara Curry and greatly interested in the work she is doing among the New York poor at the Little Missionary's Day Nursery on St. Mark's place, spoke and told of the progress of the work, outlining Miss Curry's carreer and stating that it was through her influence that the work had grown to its present high state of efficiency.

Music was a feature of the service and the 300 children at the home joined in the singing of the gospel hymns. There were solos by Miss Bracken and Mrs. Giddes and the two sang a duet, "Saved by Grace," which was keenly appreciated. L. H. Biglow, formerly president of the home association, led the singing. The prayer was led by James E. Parker.

Mr. Thresher, of New York city, was at the camp Saturday afternoon, when he entertained the children at a lolly-pop party, bringing an abundance of the lasting sweatmeats with him.

Mt. St. Mary Growing.

The crowning of the statue of Lady St. Mary at the Stony Hill church took place on Friday and Saturday. The crown was carried by the Misses Loretta Exner and Cornelia Uneza. The latter is but six years old. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and cut flowers, under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Exner. Misses Grace Carney was the leader and five visiting priests were present. The exercises were concluded Saturday night by a large banquet and by the display of fireworks at Berkeley Heights.

Mrs. John J. Freeman.

Mrs. John J. Freeman, of Oak Tree, died at her home in that village yesterday after a short illness. The funeral will be held at the Marconnier chapel in Oak Tree, on Wednesday at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale officiating. The interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

YOUNG JULIAN LINKE IS TOURING UNITED STATES

Julian Linke, the young son of Frank Linke, the Front street merchant, started today on the tour of the United States given as a prize by the New York American to twenty-four teachers and scholars in a contest for the largest number of subscribers to that paper secured in a certain time. The tour includes every point of interest in the country and is an educational jaunt.

George W. Boyd, general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania railroad who has entire charge of the tour, has appointed John F. McCoy, who accompanied President McKinley on his last tour of the country, to escort the American's party and take entire charge of it. Young Mr. Linke carries a silk badge, printed on red, white and blue bunting bearing the legend "New York American Tourist," which will serve as a mark of identification.

The American has provided in advance for every possible expense connected with the trip, and an additional sum of ten dollars has been given to each one of the tourists for contingent expenses. The party will travel in the private car "Cherbourg," furnished by the Pullman Company, and will probably be gone until about the first of September. In a letter to Mr. Linke the American gives some very good advice as to the wearing apparel to be taken on the trip and wishes the tourists an enjoyable time. Each one of them has also been supplied with a pair of thermos bottles for use on side trips away from the car. These were also furnished by the paper.

Y.W.C.A. DELEGATES HOME FROM SILVER BAY MEET

The ten members of the local Y. W. C. A., who have attended the conference at Silver Bay, Lake George, for the past two weeks, have returned. In the Plainfield delegation were Miss Elizabeth Goddard, Miss Harriet Mattison, Miss Amy Tapping, the Misses Isabel Scarbrough, Annie Hodgins, Florence Jennings, Minnie Line, Edna Snedeker, Helen George and Dorothy Randall. Miss Harriet Goddard, who is spending the summer at Westport on Lake Champlain, was with the delegation for two days.

This conference, attended by representatives from all the city associations in the northeastern part of America, was one of the largest and best ever held at Silver Bay. About 500 delegates were in attendance. The conference was fortunate in having among its speakers, Dr. Marion Burton, the new president of Smith College, who gave an inspiring course of lectures on the mind prophets. The technical conferences about various phases of association were particularly helpful.

The Plainfield delegation spent one afternoon in going to Fort Ticonderoga.

The bathing beach, so perfect for aquatic sports, was one of the most attractive features of Silver Bay, and tennis and boating were rivals for second place. Those who attended the conference are planning to hold an informal Silver Bay rally within the next two weeks.

Until September the gymnasium of the association will be open evenings for games, good times and exchange of books.

Enjoyed a Clam Bake.

About twenty employees of the Central Division of the P. S. C., went to Wardell, on the Shrewsbury River, Saturday and enjoyed one of the finest clam bakes that ever was gotten up for hungry men. The bake was arranged by Harry C. Chandler, of Newark, and was a success. Representatives from Plainfield, Elizabeth, Rahway, Perth Amboy, New Brunswick and Somerville were on hand to help dispose of the good things provided, and after the inner man had been satisfied the whole party enjoyed a sail on the river.

Kerwin in Trouble Again.

Laurence Kerwin is again in trouble. This time two women, Mrs. Bohlen and Mrs. Brandt who live near him, prefer charges of disorderly conduct against him, claiming that he used profane language to them. Warrants for his arrest were sworn out Saturday before Justice Suydam, of New Brunswick, and this morning Constable Robert Pierce, of New Market, took Kerwin to New Brunswick, where he was released under bonds to appear for a hearing later.

Miss Elsie Burner, of Jackson avenue, left today for Atlantic City where she will spend her summer vacation of two weeks.

FEW FIRES IN CARTAGENA.

The city of Cartagena, in the republic of Columbia, is one spot where the business of being a fireman is no great drain on the nervous system, according to Joseph K. Duffy, of San Francisco, who was seen at the New Willard last night, and who had spent some months in Cartagena, reports the Washington Herold.

"There have been two fires in Cartogena in the last seventy years. One man who now is growing old says his father remembers as a small boy when a house in the town was burned. That was an accident. The other fire, which happened recently, say about a dozen years ago, was believed to have been of incendiary origin.

"But these fires did not destroy the houses in which they happened," continued Mr. Duffy, "because the houses are built of stone. This felicitous state of affairs is ascribed by some of the inhabitants to the influence of San Pedro Claver, a priest of Cartagena a couple of centuries back, who within the last ten years was made a saint. Those who look at the city through other eyes get the idea that the absence of temporal fires is ascribed to the easy housekeeping of the natives.

"Clothing is not a requisite until the children are well advanced in age. The houses are open and there is not any very pressing need of fires. It is an ancient place, Cartagena, going on 400 years old, and it looks every bit of it. Some one has called the city 'more Spanish than a Spanish town,' and that appears to be true. For one thing, it is a walled town, and that sort of thing is apt to be new to any visitor from the United States. The streets are typically narrow and practically without sidewalks."

ASK YOUR BANK FOR NEW LINCOLN PENNIES

If the paying teller of your bank or the proprietor of the corner grocery hands you a bright new yellow coin, bearing upon its face an effigy of Abraham Lincoln, don't jump to the conclusion that you have been given a new style gold piece by mistake, or that you have been handed a tiny medal commemorating an event of national importance. It will be merely one of the 15,000,000 pennies of the new series of 1909.

So, if you would be "in on the ground floor" in the securing of specimens of the latest "coin of the realm," the release order for which arrived from Washington recently, get in line at the institution which guards your funds, if you have any, and the teller will be glad to transmute your silver into the novel, glittering one cent piece.

Coin collectors and souvenir hunters have been anxiously awaiting the putting of these into circulation since the order authorizing their coinage came to the mint from Washington, and an extra force of 500 men has been at work turning them out.

Their stamping marks symbolically another phase of the "passing of the red man," for in place of the old familiar Indian head, the new one cent piece bears the effigy of the martyred emancipator, surrounded by the thirteen stars.

Contrary to the usual custom, it is said there will be no "presentation coins" sent out, but the pieces will be distributed among the banks applying for them pro rata in the order of receipt of requests for the bits of shining metal. The coins are said to represent a triumph of the engraver's art.

CARING FOR POOR BABIES.

In an account of a new method of milk supply which is saving thousands of infant lives in New York, Rheta Childe Door, writing in Hampton's Magazine, gives a vivid pen-portrait of the mother-and-child problem among the immigrant poor in this country. Down in New York's Little Italy she discovered a milk depot which, last August, only forty-nine mothers could be coaxed to patronize. They have their own ideas about baby culture on the East Side. They do not stop with "sewing a child up for the winter." In many cases they swaddle them from hips to toes in tight and rigid folds of cotton cloth during the first year of their existence. The theory, a very ancient one, is that this process prevents crooked legs.

Now a baby properly swaddled, provided with a woolen hood which it wears indoors as well as out, and decorated with many coral charms against the evil eye, is supposed to be in a safe way to grow up. In hot weather about one-third of them disappoint expectations. And its costs thirty dollars to bury a baby in "Little Italy." This is the bottom price and does not include a band of music and the flowers, such as are demanded at the obsequies of an older person.

This fact, in a panic year, contributed to the early success, slight as it was, of the Mott street depot. The grandmothers of the quarter opposed it bitterly, especially when it was known that every baby had to be taken back once a week, stripped and weighed. Stripped in any kind of weather! Did any one ever hear the like?

The grandmother in "Little Italy" is almost as much of an autocrat as she is in China. Nevertheless, when the young mothers saw how the babies who were taken regularly to the milk depot waxed fat and slept at night they began to rebel against the tyrants. One hundred and forty-six Italian babies now attend the consultations and drink the certified milk. Thirty mothers are at present being enabled, by means of a quart of milk a day, to nurse their babies.

The grandmothers insist on attending the consultations to see that nothing horrible happens to the infants. Gradually they are becoming interested in the experiment. The other day an olive-hued youngster of six months, being put on the scales, was found to have increased in weight a whole pound since the week before. The mother's arms reached out to clasp her baby, but the grandmother, excited beyond measure, snatched the naked infant and waved him like a banner in the envious faces of the other mothers.

"He gains a pound!" she shouted. "Mother of God, the bambino gains a pound! It is a miracle!"

Fruit and Cream Dessert.

Atempting hot weather dessert may be made by lining a shallow dessert dish with lady fingers split down through the centre and filling the dish with whipped cream, sliced bananas and maraschino cherries. Allow it to cool before serving. If the dessert is prepared in individual dessert glasses it will be much more attractive. The mixture should be thoroughly chilled before serving, but not frozen.

So Stitching Doesn't Pucker.

When stitching a silk garment it will be found more practical to use thread in the bobbin. If silk is used in the bobbin as well as on the machine, the garment will be apt to "pucker."

FISHING OUT THE PENNIES

"I am naturally of a humane disposition," said a meek and lowly Rural Mail Carrier the other morning, "but I was mean enough to wish yesterday that some of my patrons who put pennies in the box on such a day and expected me to fish them out with fingers frozen to a frazzle might have had my job for the day.

"If rural patrons realized how great an accommodation it is to carriers for them to buy stamps and affix them to their letters before placing them in the box especially in zero weather, I am sure they would do so gladly. The trouble is that they do not think much about it, so keep on doing it, which, of course, they have a perfect right to do. Last night, after I had nursed my fingers back to consciousness, I decided to contribute a poetic protest for the benefit of rural patrons and have it printed. Here it is:

I'm Uncle Sam's most favored pet,
I'm hearty and I'm hale,
I've nothing in this world to do
But glide 'round with the mail;
But one thing almost breaks my heart,
And nervous system shocks,
It's the everlasting pennies,
That I'm fishing out the box.

I carry stamps and envelopes,
And postal cards and such,
And I'd like to sell a few;
'Twould please me very much,
But a man can't sell unless you buy,
No matter how he talks,
So I have to keep on diving
For the pennies in the box.

It's all right in the springtime,
Or when summer breezes blow;
But a different proposition
When it's thirty-two below;
When all your fingers and your toes
Are frozen hard as rocks,
It's anything but funny
Scratching pennies from the box.

And now, quite confidentially,
I'll tell you something more;
A Rural Carrier in our town
Forgot himself and swore;
Says he, I can stand the snow drifts,
I can stand the frozen locks,
But blast the measly pennies
In the blasted, measly box.

When the roll is called up yonder,
And we shall gather there,
They wouldn't let a mail man in
If they knew he'd learned to swear
If you want St. Peter to open the gate
When your Rural Carrier knocks,
Buy stamps and don't be guilty
O' putting pennies in the box.

THE CARE OF THE SLEEPING ROOM.

A teacher of domestic science, while teaching a class not long ago, laid great stress on the care that should be given the sleeping rooms.

"Above all things," she explained, "the bedrooms should at all times be thoroughly ventilated, light and cheerful. We should remember that a third of our lives are spent in our sleeping rooms, and that too much thought cannot be given to the care of these rooms to make sure that they are always in a perfectly healthful condition.

"An ample supply of fresh air in the bedrooms should always be insisted upon by the housewife. The human family is much more susceptible to injurious influences when asleep than when awake, and it is surprising to know how these influences accumulate in an unventilated sleeping room. A good plan is to open the window top and bottom while the room is occupied. During the day the windows should be opened wide.

"Some people have a mistaken notion that to be healthy a bedroom should be cold at all times. No room should be slept in during the cold weather that has not had a fire in at least three times a week. The room should be heated a little every day in winter and the windows opened a little top and bottom at bedtime.

"Warmth is necessary to perfect ventilation and the temperature of the sleeping rooms should never be lower than forty degrees."

These facts should be of value to the inexperienced and to those who claim that night air is injurious to health.

NOVEL PLACE FOR THE SINK.

"I saw a unique position for the kitchen sink recently," said a Newark woman. "A friend of mine, who has her own idea about things, has been building a house. She made up her mind that, if possible, she would do away with the danger of having water bugs or roaches in her kitchen.

"Believing that with the greatest care the wall back of the sink would in time become damp, and so a breeding place for the pests, she decided to have her sink in the centre of the room. She has followed out this plan and it apparently works admirably. There is a small work table connected with the sink, and the open plumbing makes it quite possible to get on every side as well as under the sink. It certainly gives a curious appearance to this essential workroom of the house but I am not sure that her idea isn't worth copying."

The prettiest stretch of Crawling Stone valley lies within 20 miles of Medicine Bend. There it lies widest, and has the pick of water and grass between Medicine Bend and the Mission mountains. Cattlemen went into the Crawling Stone country before the Indians had wholly left it. The first house in the valley was the Stone ranch, built by Richard Dunning, and it still stands overlooking the town of Dunning at the junction of the Frenchman creek and the Crawling Stone. The Frenchman is fed by unfailing springs, and when by summer sun and wind every smaller stream in the middle basin has been licked dry, the Frenchman runs cold and swift between its russet hills. Richard Dunning, being on the border of the Indian country, built for his ranch-house a rambling stone fortress. He had chosen, it afterward proved, the choice spot in the valley, and he stocked it with cattle when yearlings could be picked up in Medicine Bend at ten dollars a head. He got together a great body of valley land when it could be had for the asking, and became the rich man of the Long Range.

The Dunnings were Kentuckians. Richard was a bridge engineer and builder, and under Brodie built some of the first bridges on the mountain division, notably the great wooden bridge at Smoky creek. Richard brought out his nephew, Lance Dunning. He taught Lance bridge-building, and Murray Sinclair, who began as a cowboy on the Stone ranch, learned bridge-building from Richard Dunning. The Dunnings both came west, though at different times, as young men and unmarried, and as far as western women were concerned, might always have remained so. But a Kentucky cousin, Betty, one of the Fairfield Dunnings, related to Richard within the sixth or eighth degree, came to the mountains for her health. Betty's mother had brought Richard up as a boy, and Betty, when he left Fairfield, was a baby. But Dick—as they knew him at home—and the mother wrote back and forth, and he persuaded her to send Betty out for a trip, promising he would send her back in a year a well woman.

Betty came with only her colored maid, old Puss Dunning, who had taken her from the nurse's arms when she was born and taken care of her ever since. The two—the tall, Kentucky girl and the bent mammy—arrived at the Stone ranch one day in June, and Richard, done then with bridges and looking after his ranch interests, had already fallen violently in love with Betty. She was delicate, but, if those in Medicine Bend who remembered her said true, a lovely creature. Remaining in the mountains was the last thing Betty had ever thought of, but no one, man or woman, could withstand Dick Dunning. She fell quite in love with him the first time she set eyes on him in Medicine Bend, for he was very handsome in the saddle, and Betty was fairly wild about horses. So Dick Dunning wooed a fond mistress and married her and buried her, and all within hardly more than a year.

But in that year they were very happy, never two happier, and when she slept away her suffering she left him, as a legacy, a tiny baby girl. Puss brought the mite of a creature in its swaddling clothes to the sick mother—very, very sick then—and poor Betty turned her dark eyes on it, kissed it, looked at her husband and whispered "Dicksie," and died. Dicksie had been Betty's pet name for her mountain lover, so the father said the child's name should be Dicksie and nothing else; and his heart broke and soon he died. Nothing else, storm or flood, death or disaster, had ever moved Dick Dunning; then a single blow killed him. He rode once in a while over the ranch, a great tract by that time of 20,000 acres, all in one body, all under fence, up and down both sides of the big river, in part irrigated, swarming with cattle—none of it stirred Dick! and with little Dicksie in his arms he slept away his suffering.

So Dicksie was left, as her mother had been, to Puss, while Lance looked after the ranch, swore at the price of cattle, and played cards at Medicine Bend. At ten, Dicksie, as thoroughly spoiled as a pet baby could be by a fool mammy, a fond cousin, and a galaxy of devoted cowboys, was sent, in spite of crying and flinging, to a far-away convent—her father had planned everything—where in many tears she learned that there were other things in the world besides cattle and mountains and sunshine and tall, broad-hatted horsemen to swing from their stirrups and pick her hat from the ground—just to see little Dicksie laugh—when they swooped past the house to the corrals. When she came back from Kentucky, her grandmother dead and her schooldays finished, all the land she could see in the valley was hers, and all the living creatures in the fields. It seemed perfectly natural, because since childhood even the distant mountains and their snows had been Dicksie's.

Advance Fur Sale!

A Mid-Summer Event of Great Moment

Made Furs at the Cost of Raw Skins

An Achievement Possible Only to the Hahne & Co. Organization.

If Peary in the Arctic fields of ice and seas of floating bergs, and Roosevelt in Darkest Africa, were the emissaries of this house, hunting and trapping for us and sending us the skins resulting from their quarries for game, we could not offer you greater price advantages in furs than we are able to offer as the result of the magnificent, thorough and far-reaching trading organization of which the Hahne & Co. store is a conspicuous part.

Six months ago our furriers were busying themselves corraling big lots of fine skins and placing early orders for having them converted into fashionable coats, muffs and neckpieces.

With several of the biggest Metropolitan establishments combined with our own to buy for, our buyer-manager could place orders of such magnitude as would not be possible with any single concern, and figuring not only on a great Fall and Winter business, as the result of fast returning prosperity, but a fine trade thruout these remarkable July offerings, these orders were so large as to command the most unusual concessions from the makers, who saw profit for themselves in these early season contracts.

It happens, since our contracts were closed, that animal skins of almost all sorts have advanced mightily in price; yet astonishing as it may seem, we are going to sell furs in this July Sale at lower prices than last year's—more than that, at lower prices in many instances than raw skins can be bought for at the present moment—making this far and away the best fur offering that can be made to you by any house anywhere.

Black Lynx Skins, as an instance, have advanced 135 per cent., and are now very scarce.

Skunk Skins, Skunk Dyed Coon Skins, Japanese Mink and Sable Skins have all been tremendously advanced.

A Lynx Skin now costs no less than $35, yet we are going to sell Lynx Muffs, rug or flat shape, with heads and tails, or Lynx Scarfs, for only $29.50.

Last year a 36-in. Near Seal Coat was counted remarkably cheap at our price of $55. This July we are going to sell a 50-in. Near Seal Pony Coat for only $59—and mind you, these coats are extremely well made and specially lined according to our own idea—very beautiful indeed.

Women's 50-in. Pony Coats, richly marked, in stylish models, lined with rich pastel shades of twill or satin—old rose, catawba, amethyst and gray, also beautiful brocaded effects, will be sold like this:

$55 Coats, $35; $57 Coats, $37.50; $59.50 Coats, $39.50.

Handsome 36-in. Pony Coats, lined in fashionable pastel stripes and plain gray, regular season's price $37.50—a remarkable special at ..... $29.50

50-in. Near Seal Coats—One of the richest of furs (and these are particularly fine, and are bound to find immense favor with good dressers), made in hipless models, lined with pastel shades of rich soft silks or satin; regular season's price would be cheap at $75; in this July Sale the price will be..... $59.50

$89 Caracul Coats, 50 inches long; in the July Sale $69.50.

$240 Caracul Coats, 50 inches long, for $159.

Japanese Mink Coats, 40 inches long; regular season's price $198; in this July Sale at..... $150

$750 Mink Coats, 40 inches long, with tails and paws about the neck, $450.

Hudson Seal Coats, 50 inches and 52 inches long; value $150, $198 and $250, will be sold at $125, $150 and $175.

Muffs and Scarfs of Ermine, Chinchilla, Mink, Lynx, Fox, Wolf, Japanese Mink, Japanese Sable, Raccoon, Persian Paw and Squirrel—

Muffs—In a wide range of qualities and prices, beginning with handsome Squirrel Muffs for as little as $5.50 and going to the rich Mink Muffs at $175.

Scarfs—In an equally large variety of qualities and prices beginning with the Squirrel Scarf at only $3.75 and running to the elegant Mink Scarfs at $250.

CHAPTER VI.

In Marion's Shop.

In Boney street, Medicine Bend, stands an early-day row of one-story buildings; they once made up a prosperous block, which has long since fallen into the decay of paintless days. There is in Boney street a livery stable, a second-hand store, a laundry, a bakery, a moribund grocery, and a bicycle shop, and at the time of this story there was also Marion Sinclair's millinery shop; but the better class of Medicine Bend business, such as the gambling houses, saloons, pawnshops, restaurants, barber shops, and those sensitive, clean-shaven, and alert establishments known as "gents' stores," had deserted Boney street for many years. Bats fly in the dark of Boney street while Front street at the same hour is a blaze of electricity and frontier hilarity. The millinery store stood next to the corner of Fort street. The lot lay in an "L," and at the rear of the store the first owner had built a small connecting cottage to live in. This faced on Fort street, so that Marion had her shop and living rooms communicating, and yet apart. The store building is still pointed out as the former shop of Marion Sinclair, where George McCloud boarded when the Crawling Stone line was built, where Whispering Smith might often have been seen, where Sinclair himself was last seen alive in Medicine Bend, where Dicksie Dunning's horse dragged her senseless one wild mountain night, and where, indeed, for a time the affairs of the whole mountain division seemed to tangle in very hard knots.

In her dining room, which connected through a curtained door with the shop, McCloud sat one day alone eating his dinner. Marion was in front serving a customer. McCloud heard voices in the shop, but gave no heed till a man walked through the curtained doorway and he saw Murray Sinclair standing before him. A stormy interview with Callahan and Blood at the Wickiup had taken place just a week before, and McCloud after what Sinclair had then threatened, though not prepared, felt as he saw him that anything might occur. McCloud being in possession of the little room, however, the initiative fell on Sinclair, who, looking his best, snatched his hat from his head and bowed ironically. "My mistake," he said blandly.

"Come right in," returned McCloud, not knowing whether Marion had a possible hand in her husband's unexpected appearance. "Do you want to see me?"

"I don't," smiled Sinclair; "and to be perfectly frank," he added with studied consideration, "I wish to God I never had seen you. Well—you've thrown me, McCloud."

"You've thrown yourself, haven't you, Murray?"

"From your point of view, of course. But, McCloud, this is a small country for two points of view. Do you want to get out of it, or do you want me to?"

Plainfield in . . . . The Olden Days.

Re-printed from The Weekly Constitutionalist

September, 29, 1870.

If war and intemperance were banished from the earth, what a harvest of joy and prosperity would ensue.—Editorial.

The M. E. church is rapidly nearing completion and as yet we see no movement being made toward having a clock in the steeple. Has the project been given up, or won't the people subscribe. Keep it before them.

The New York State Prison contains 575 prisoners, including 26 females. Three hundred and seventy are engaged in the manufacture of shoes, turning out daily 2,000 pairs.

A brilliant display of Northern Lights was given our citizens on Saturday night last. The heavens, at times, presented a truly grand appearance, which would require and abler pen than ours to describe. The streets were thronged with gazers at the beautiful sight until a late hour.

October 13, 1870.

FOUND—The parties who lost two "cabbage leaf" cigars, and a paper of "three cent" tobacco while foraging for sweet corn in old Newt Spencers' garden, may get the same by applying to The Boy Newt.

Has the Bound Brook and Plainfield canal been opened? We notice a body of water that looks like a canal on Front street. We would suggest that a lock be constructed about opposite Coriell's meat market.

The work of flagging the sidewalks on Cherry street, from the railroad to Seventh street, is rapidly progressing. Where is that old clap trap boardwalk to be taken up and a decent pavement laid on the other section of the street.

Our merchants will study their own interest by advertiseing in the Constitutionalist, the best local paper in the county.

Warren Mission School.

The exercises of dedicating the new chapel of the above school, in North Plainfield on Sunday last, was very interesting. Rev. J. K. Vincent delivered a feeling address, while remarks were made by Mr. H. Otis Newman and others. Some fine singing was rendered by the scholars. The whole indebtedness of the school was raised by subscription, amounting to some $800. The school is now in a prosperous condition, thanks to the untiring energy of those who have labored long in its behalf.

LOVE'S NOBILITY.

Love measures not by standards human,
But gives Her best to Spirit's freemen;
She shares Her glory with the pure in heart,
And to all lives in captivity.
She leads a manly angel of a woman pure,
Int othat inner court of purity
Possessed in sacred isolation by all truly noble;
And, as a Guardian Angel tender, there leaves the vistant and visited
To learn the grandeur and the soul-peace of Love reciprocated.

Cheese wiht Soup.

An experienced housekeeper of the Forest Hill section says that cheese is a nice addition to soup. "It adds nutriment," she says, "when the soup is not rich of itself, such at tomato and other vegetable soups used so much in summer." Any good yellow cheese may be used and if nothing else is at hand, an ordinary American cheese will fill the bill." This woman always serves grated Parmesan cheese with clear soups.

Effects in Parasols.

Many of the new parasols are made with a five-inch border of pompadour silk that is very effective. The body of the parasols are made in a variety of colors, including black, which, combined with the brilliant colors of the border, is especially stylish.

PLAINFIELD DEFEATS SCOTCH PLAINS TEAM

Plainfield's ball tossers put a crimp in the aspirations of the doughty warriors from the 'Plains Saturday, incidentally breaking the long string of victories which have been the reward of consistent playing by the Scotch Plains aggregations. As this is the second team that Manager Dorflinger's pets have thus stopped, others have begun to take notice.

When the game began with 'Plains at the bat, Ortleib started in by giving two of the Scotchmen bases on balls, besides being touch up for a hit. This netted one run. Plainfield's turn at the bat was a trifle different. Barnes, Boyd, Emery and Britt Martin all contributed swats which with a couple of errors resulted in four runs coming over the pan. And you can put that down in your book as a lucky inning, for after that McLaughlin had the Indian sign on the home players, only one solitary hit being added to the hit column of the Plainfielder's score.

As to individual players every one of them deserve credit for the fine game put up. In the seventh inning Dodge, the 'Plains short stop twisted his ankle in an endavor to stop a scorching liner from Boyd's bat, and though in pain pluckily stuck to his job. Britt Martin committed two grievous errors in the second period but atoned for them in the next by poling a two-bagger to left center, getting to third on the throw in. The necessary bingle to bring him in was not forthcoming so Britt rested at third.

Ortleib was not in his usual form, and had it not been for the fine fielding behind him this story would have had a different ending. Plainfield won by 4 to 3. Subjoined is the score.

SATURDAY'S GOLF AT LOCAL COUNTRY CLUB

The event of interest at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday, was a three-ball handicap, match play, on the point system. R. G. Morse was the winner with 47 points, while C. C. Burke and A. W. Kleinecke were tied for second honors with 41 points each. The scores:

R. G. Morse, 47; C. C. Burke, 41; A. W. Kleinecke, 41; W. L. C. Glenney, 40; A. A. Tilney, 39; B. F. Kraffert, 38; Willard Wadsworth, 36; R. F. Murray, 33; A. E. Barclay, 31; S. H. Patterson, 30; H. P. Fox, 29; C. W. King, 27.

There were three events at the Park Golf Club, Saturday, the weekly competition for the President's and club cups, and the women's handicap competition, nine holes, and a napproaching and putting competition for mixed couples, for a special prize cup, offered by W. V. Byard. There was a large field out, but few returned scores. These scores were posted for the President's and club cups:

R. B. Titsworth, 110, 30-80; G. A. Lough, 112, 30-82; W. R. Faber, 98, 14-84. The elading scores in the women's competition were as follows:

Miss Grace TenEyck, 62, 15-47; Miss Louise H. Fuller, 74, 20-54; Miss Bessie TenEyck, 7, 20-58; Miss Harriet B. Shreve, 62, 0-62.

Miss H. I. Miller and Lloyd T. Fisher won the aprpoaching and putting competition with a score of 9. The playing was very close and the winning couple just won out by a narrow margin.

R. A. WEST CAPTURES SINGLES CHAMPIONSHIP

The lawn tennis tournament for the singles championship of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association was brought to a conclusion on the courts of the Plainfield Country Club Saturday, July 17. The individual title went to R. A. West (Elizabeth Town and Country Club), while L. B. Freeman (Morristown Field Club) was runner-up.

It is now assured that Plainfield C. C. will win the Association championship, as it is not possible for any of the other clubs to equal her score. She now has 7 points, having won both first and second, through the victories of Miss Edna Wildey and Mrs. Morris Dumont in the ladies' singles, and being sure of 7 more, as two Plainfield teams are left in the final round of the men's doubles, which is still to be played. The complete score is as follows: Plainfield C. C., 7 points; Elizabeth T. & C. C., 5 points; Morristown F. C., 2 points.

The matches played July 17 were as follows: Second round, Theo. Gavett (Park Club) defeated W. B. Cragin, Jr., (Plainfield C. C.) by default; J. H. L. Todd (Fanwood T. C.) defeated T. Gavett, 6-2, 6-2.

Semi-final round: L. F. Freeman defeated E. S. H. Pendergast, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3; R. A. West defeated J. H. L. Todd, 6-4, 6-4.

Y. M. C. A. DEFEATS EAST MILLSTONE IN NINTH INNING.

Manager Listman's Y. M. C. A. colts scored their tenth victory in an exciting game at East Millstone Saturday when they defeated the team at that place by the score of 5 to 4. The victory was scored in the ninth inning when the locals knocked in two runs.

East Millstone started the ball rolling by scoring three runs in the first inning. This lead was never headed by the locals until the last inning when they scored the winning runs. Peacock was in good form for the locals and struck out ten men, and let one walk. His opponent, Kraft, struck out fifteen and let three walk. Ralph Schoonmaker came in for two hits, while Will Schoonmaker scored one. Fritts showed up well with three hits, including a two-bagger; while O'Loughlin and Stover also scored two base hits. The score by innings:

BALL TEAMS SPLIT EVEN ON THEIR DOUBLE HEADER

The fast Baptist A. C. team and the Plainfield A. C. played a double header at Scotch Plains on Saturday afternoon. The P. A. C. secured the first game by the score of 10 to 4. The Baptist A. C. the second by the score of 6 to 4.

In the first game Slocum of the local team was opposed by Hand and Clarke. Slocum pitched a brilliant game securing 15 strikeouts, giving no hits, and deserved a shut out, errors bein gresponsible for the Baptist A. C. runs. In this game Hanon and Hahn, of the local, and Demaret and Saunders of the Baptist A. C., played clever ball. In the second game the Baptist team showed a reversal of form and won the game at the start. Clarke secured twelve strikeouts, and six hits were made off his delivery. Dufford of the locals, pitched his usual good game, getting ten strikeout, and being touched up for three hits. The feature of the game was the clever catching of Slocum who caught in place of Moran, and the fast fielding of Reynolds of the Baptist A. C. Rev. Mr. Mathiews the manager of the Baptist A. C., has cause to be proud of the good showing his team has made this season. They are playing fast ball, are well drilled in team work and play a clean game.

AT LAST ST. MARY'S DEFEATS ST. JOSEPHS

St. Mary's finally turned the tables on St. Joseph's of Bound Brook, on Saturday afternoon by the score of 11 to 6, on St. Mary's Oval. George Conover made his season's debut in baseball circles by twirling the game for St. Mary's and barring a tendency to be a trifle wild, pitched a fine game striking out seven and giving eight hits. L. Bowlby, St. Joseph's pitcher, was hit hard and at the time when hits meant runs.

St. Mary's went right after the game in the first inning by scoring three runs and then put it away for good by scoring six in the fifth on seven hits and a base on balls. Dixon broke up the game in this inning by hitting for three bases with three men on base and after that inning St. Joseph's were never in the running.

Tommy Mullen played a brilliant fielding game for St. Mary's on third base, while Scheller starred for St. Joseph's, making some fine catches of difficult foul balls.

BASEBALL.

It is said that Fisher, the Harvard pitcher, is slated for a job on the mound for the Highlanders. Their present condition shows that reinforcements of some kind are needed to prevent their adorning the southernmost point of the baseball column at the end of the season.

Dodge, the shortstop of the 'Plains' team, showed that he has lots of grit by remaining in the game after he injured his ankle on Saturday. He was suffering great pain when he came to the bench.

McGraw's Giants have lost but twelve games since the first of June. All the rest of the 29 games counted against them were lost while Muggsy was on the sick list. This shows that the managerial influence is a considerable factor in the success or failure of a base ball team.

Report has it that "Smiling" Al Orth is soon to rejoin his old mates on the New York Americans. Al. sure would be a welcome addition to the pitching staff of that aggregation. He can still put 'em over better than some of the youngsters who are working for Stallings.

Nolan and Schott saved Ortleib some worry on Saturday. The former pulled down four that had all the earmarks of hits while the latter rendered a like service in five instances.

Netherwoods Win.

The fast Netherwood A. C. again added to their long string of laurels when they defeated the Warren A. C. Saturday by the score of 4 to 0. It was clearly a case of pitchers' battle and Frederickson who pitched for Netherwood struck out eleven men, while six hits were scored against him. Johnson who twirled for Warren fanned seventeen men and allowed but three hits.

Laurels Win 10 to 5.

In an exciting game of ball this morning the Harmony Street Juniors fell down to defeat before the heavy hittinf Laurel A. C. by the score of 10 to 5. The batteries for the teams were: Laurels, Moore and Canton. Harmony Street Juniors, Hope and Trotter.

'Plains Man's Early Jag.

Patrick Kellaher, of Scotch Plains, developed an early jag Saturday morning, and was arrested by Patrolman Charles Flynn on West Front street at about 7:30 o'clock in the morning. Kellaher was badly sozzled, and wasn't in shape to come into the court-room until this morning. His jag was one of the peaceful sort, so Judge Runyon suspended sentence.

H. C. Compton and his son, who own a motor boat as well as a house boat at Barnegat, took a fishing party out Saturday running down to the deep waters of Barnegat Bay, where they caught a good mess of weak and blue fish, some twenty large fish rewarding their patient angling.

Chalmers-Detroit "30"—$1500

Touring Car, Roadster, Pony Tonneau, Landaulet, Coupe, Limousine

Chalmers-Detroit "Forty"—Price $2,750

Touring Car, Pony Tonneau, Roadster. Equipped for seven passengers at $75.00

The New Chalmers Cars for 1910

No Increase in Price

Note the pictures. Our "30" has a 115-inch wheel base—with 34-inch wheels. A longer, higher hood to accord with a roomier tonneau. Lines like the costliest cars on the market.

Yet not a penny of additional price. The car still sells for $1500. Let us tell you how we have done it.

1,000 More Cars

Last season's output of "30's" was 2,500 cars, yet we ran 800 cars short of our orders. We were obliged to refuse trade to the extent of $1,200,000.

This year we have built a new factory, and our 1910 output of "30's" will be 3,500 cars. Those 1,000 extra cars will be made without adding a dollar to our fixed expense.

They will also be made with last year's tools and machinery. We have almost no new expense there. For mechanically, the car is not altered at all. Experience has shown us no way to improve it.

Thus we effect immense savings. And all of these savings have gone into the car—to make it more sightly, more roomy, more like the costliest cars.

Nine Per Cent Profit

Our profit this season will be the same as last season—exactly nine per cent.

Our customers have created these savings by calling for more of our cars. And every penny we save will be spent in giving them more beautiful cars. That is our permanent policy.

Please note the result. Note what a large and showy car—note the exquisite lines. Just think that $1500 now buys this amazing car.

Lower Prices

We will fit this $1500 car with a Bosch magneto, a Prest-O-Lite gas tank, and two Atwood-Castle gas lamps—all for $100 extra. The regular price of these extras is $175.

We will furnish our "30" with a Lenox mohair top for $75 extra. The regular price is $125.

We shall give you all the advantage of our quantity buying. So this 1910 model, fully equipped, costs you $135 less than did our 1909 model, equally equipped.

A longer, higher hood, roomier tonneau, longer wheel base, larger wheels and daintier lines. Yet the cost equipped is considerably less than the model of 1909.

No Records Like These

One of the Chalmers-Detroit "30's" has been run 32,000 miles, and has just completed a path-finding trip from Denver to Mexico City. Never has any car, at any price, made an equal endurance record.

Owners have paid us for repairs on their 1909 cars exactly $2.44 per car. That is a world's record.

On June 18th a "30" won the Indiana Light Car Race, the greatest contest of its kind ever held in America, doing 292.74 miles at an average speed of 51.5 miles per hour.

On an economy test, made by the New York Auto Dealers' Association, it ran 25.7 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Never has a car at any price proved so satisfactory. Never did a car show such low cost for upkeep.

That is why we make no radical mechanical changes. Experience has proved that the 1909 "30" is absolutely right mechanically.

The Larger "Forty"

Our "Forty" for 1910 has 36-inch wheels. The wheel base is 122 inches—ten inches longer than last year. The car seats seven, while last season's seated five.

Upholstered in hand-buffed leather. Fitted with Bosch magneto, gas lamps and gas tank free.

Yet the price remains $2,750.

We will equip this car with a $150 Newport mohair top for $125 extra. The two extra seats will cost you but $75.

So this larger car, with larger wheels, when fully equipped, costs considerably less than last year.

This is our "Forty's" fifth season. It is known far and wide as the best medium-priced car on the market. It has been purchased by scores of the best experts in America for their personal use.

This season, with its extra room, there is not a car at any price which can reasonably claim to excel it.

Made as touring car, roadster and pony tonneau.

See These New Cars

Every Chalmers-Detroit dealer now has photographs of these new models. Demonstrating cars will be ready this month. Deliveries to users begin August 1st.

See them before you buy.

The tide of automobile demand is turning to these medium-priced cars. Not alone because of their prices, but mainly because of their savings on upkeep. The day of extravagance is past.

Last season these cars had no real competition. The demand was a third greater than could be supplied. This season, no medium-priced car will be anywhere near in their class.

Get your order in early, for orders are filled in rotation. August delivery gives you five months' use before the car's year begins.

Made by Chalmers-Detroit Motor Company, Detroit, Mich.

Won 2 firsts and one second prize Johnston's Drive Hill Climb Contest, and made the best time for the day.

FIFTY YEARS A PRIEST

Golden Jubilee Mass for Rev. John Schandel on Thursday Morning.

AT ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH.

Bishop James A. McFaul to Preach the Sermon—Father Schandel Is Eighty-one Years Old.

The Rev. John Schandel will have completed fifty years of labor as a Catholic priest on Thursday, the Feast of St. Mary Magdalen. On that day he will celebrate his golden jubilee at St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield, of which Father Miller is pastor, at a jubilee mass, surrounded by his many admirers and warm friends. The mass will be celebrated at 10 o'clock. Father Schwartz, of Stony Hill, will officiate, assisted by Father Devine, of New Brunswick, and Dean Cody, of Newark, who will be deacons of honor. Right Rev. Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, will preach the sermon. The singing will be by St. Jospeh's choir, and Prof. Paroubek will render violin solos, suited to the occasion.

Rev. John Schandel.

This program will commemorate the half century anniversary of a useful pastorate, a sunny life and a cheerful disposition. For these things did Father Schandel bring with him from Rinbruch, Luxembourg, where he was born in 1818, and he lavished them upon all northern New Jersey during these fifty years. For he built churches and labored from parish to parish, from Paterson to Lodi, Macopin, Ringwood and Passaic. He was made pastor of St. Mary's church at Stony Hill, where he remained for twenty-six years and relinquished the parish only when he was obliged because of physical disability some five years ago. But the sunshine and the cheerful disposition which he brought with him from Luxembourg he still has, and all who attend the jubilee mass may share it with him. Here on Thursday he will greet his Bishop, who was only a mere child when Father Schandel was ordained a priest. What are now thriving towns and cities he found were villages and struggling parishes, and the rugged German priest helped them over the hard places. He trudged over the mountainous country roads from mission to mission, during his arduous career.

Father Schandel was made the first resident pastor at Passaic in 1868, where he built St. Nicholas' church. He is one of the few priests who have attained the distinction of celebrating a fiftieth anniversary. Only three or four have survived the rigors of early work in the State of New Jersey for that period. Father Schandel's latest parish, Stony Hill, is one of the most interesting parishes in this State. It was a lonesome place and not at all inviting as a charge, but Father Schandel had with him plenty of sunshine and a cheerful disposition, which he brought with him from Luxembourg, and it never failed him, for he still has it.

The sun will shine at St. Joseph's at Thursday's jubilee mass, and the good and venerable priest, whom every one simply adores, will be the guest of honor. And even should it rain, it will be because everything is so parched and dry that Father Schandel wanted it to rain.

UNITE ON INSTALLMENTS

Dollar Down and a Dollar a Week Fee for This Ceremony.

'SQUIRE HAND OFFICIATES.

Hoboken Man Takes Advantage of Want Adv. Inducement In the Daily Press.

Of the twenty-six marriage ceremonies performed by Justice of the Peace Hezekiah Hand, since the publication of his wonderfully attractive advertisement in The Daily Press, the first couple to take the installment feature seriously arrived at the Justice's home last night near midnight and routed him and his wife out of bed. Christopher Meyers, a neighbor, was also called out to act as witness to the marriage.

The bride was Miss Gertrude Maude Bowers, of Union Hill, and the gallant swain, E. Augustus Peck, of Hoboken.

When the Justice opened the front door of his home the couple stepped inside and stated their errand. They were informed that they had struck the right place, and if they would wait until Mrs. Hand could make a hasty toilet that estimable lady would act as a witness. The light in the hall was very dim and Justice Hand explained that as soon as Mr. Hand appeared on the scene the lights would be turned up. In the meantime he questioned the couple as to their ages. Miss Bowers was quick to reply that a brighter illumination would reveal that their statements were true. The revelation wiped out any doubts the Justice might have had.

After the ceremony the groom produced the first installment of one dollar and promised to forward the balance in weekly installments of a dollar each. The Justice has no doubt that the happy man will keep his contract to the letter.

Thus two hearts are made happy and the worry of not having to pay out a lump sum to obtain that happiness is demonstrated. Surely Justice Hand's methods are not without commendation.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PUPILS VISITED BABY CAMP.

A delegation from the Park Avenue Baptist Sunday school visited the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountain last Saturday afternoon, spending several hours in entertaining the children, and in making themselves generally useful about the camp. They took upa lot of bright, pretty pictures, which they tacked upon the walls, taking pains to make the babies' rooms especially attractive. The party of friends became greatly interested in the work of the camp, and before leaving served all the children and mothers with ice cream and cake. The trip was made especially pleasant by the kindness of one of the party who met his delegation at the trolley terminus and conveyed them to and from the camp in his autotmobile.

Local Oarsman to Compete at Asbury

John and Ray Dutcher, sons of the Rev. E. C. Dutcher, formerly pastor of the Dunellen Methodist church, are now located on the east side of Wesley Lake, Asbury Park. The young men are conducting a boat business, and have both entered the aquatic events to be held late in the summer there. John Dutcher is a member of the varsity crew of New York University and has won numerous prizes at Asbury Park in rowing events.

VICTIM'S CASE PUZZLES

When Conscious Thomas Caulfield Can Not Talk Coherently.

IN DELIRIUM INTELIGIBLE.

Man Assaulted by Charles Sprigg Has an Even Chance For Recovery.

The case of Thomas Caulfield which has excited such widespread interest among his friends and the people at large is still uncertain as to its developments according to Dr. P. J. Zeglio, who is attending the injured man.

Caulfield was felled by a blow from the fist of Charles Sprigg on the 5th of July, and in falling struck his head a violent blow on the curb at the entrance to the Iroquois hotel. Caulfield was picked up unconscious and after having his wounds dressed at the improvised hospital at police headquarters was removed to his home, 303 Johnson avenue.

During the greater part of the time Coulfield has been unconscious and often delirious, frequent convulsions racking his body, retarding the recovery that would naturally follow perfect quiet. Dr. Zeglio said this afternoon that his patient had an even chance of recovery, but the final results of the fractured skull was still a matter of doubt. At times Caulfield is conscious but is unable to talk coherently and while in his delirium some of the words he utters are perfectly intelligible.

Hopes are entertained that when the man's physical strength has reached normal conditions he will be able to throw off the effects of the jar to the nerves so that his speech will not be permanently affected.

HIS FELLOW COUNTRYMEN RELIEVE HIM OF ROLL

Dominick Santanglo, who lives at 629 South Second street, is shy a big bank roll today because he took a walk with two strange fellow countrymen yesterday afternoon. When Dominick started out to walk, he had $40 in his pocket; when he came home, he didn't.

It was a pleasant afternoon for a walk, and when the two strangers, whom Dominick met near his home, called his attention to this fact, and suggested that the three stroll Dunellenward, Dominick fell for the idea. Arm in arm, the three started off. Dominick sandwiched between his new acquaintances. And he proved good meat for the sandwich.

The conversation dealt with generalities, but the party seemed to have the same views on the Messina disaster and the increased cost of living. The strangers were anxious to know if everything went well with their new friend, and congratulated him on his job, hoping that he would never need money. There was no suggestion of a "brace," although the pair walked so close to "the man between" that they "touched" him, as he afterwards found out. Dominick says he doesn't remember having been jostled, and the "fellow feeling" of his comrades seemed rather that of a fellow feeling in the heart than in the pocket. But the forty is gone, and so are the strangers.

PRIMROSE MINSTRELS HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

George H. Primrose and his great minstrel company come to the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night. They will convince the most skyptical of the quality of a good minstrel entertainment. In the first place comes Mr. Primrose, who is conceded by all to be America's most popular minstrel, whose graceful dancing has captivated the amusement loving public; next comes Happy Jack Gardener, whose artistic ability as a singing comedian is world wide. 'Gov." Bowen, who is know and regarded as one of the funniest black face comedians on the minstrel stage comes next, and is followed by Dan Walsh, the eccentric black face comedian, one of the few black face men of the old school on the stage today. Ward Brothers, impersonators of plantation darkeys.

The vocal department which has received the most careful attention from Mr. Primrose is the next feature. It will contain such well known artists as Harry F. Seivers, S. Ross Harvey, Frank H. Bright, Al Flarson, Harry McHalan, Frank Campbell, George Remington, Martin Holmes and Eddie Martinoe, and a big chorus of trained voices, also an operatic orchestra of talented musicins.

Added to all this is a scenic environment and spectacular representation of actual scenes in the South, where darkey life will be depicted by song, story and dance by the greatest minstrel company ever seen in this country. Eight star vaudeville acts are interwoven throughout the performance.

I. W. TRAVELL VISITS HOME OF FAMOUS ENGLISH STATESMAN

Former Principal Ira. W. Travell, of the city high school, who is now touring England with Mrs. Travell and with Miss Ellen K. Cuming, formerly of the city high school faculty, in a letter to one of The Daily Press staff members says that the party has walked around the walls of Chester, one of the most mediaeval in appearance of the English towns. The party also attended vesper service in the old Chester cathedral. On July 9th, the party made a trip by automobile to Hawarden, the home of Gladstone.

Mr. Travell will conclude his visit abroad shortly and will return to take up his new duties as superintendent of the Morristown public schools, next month.

CO. K PREPARES TO HIKE

Smalleytown March on Saturday to Get Boys Into Shape for Sea Girt Trip.

LEAVE FOR CAMP AUGUST 7.

Captain Kitchell Issues Orders for Week-end Jaunt to a Somerset Village.

Members of the Second Regiment, N. G. N. J., to which Company K belongs, are active in their preparations for a hike to Sea Girt, where they will remain for the week beginning August 7. The different companies will mobilize at some central point, and from there begin their march to the sea.

To get in condition for the trip to the camp Company K will march to Stirling Saturday afternoon and will spend Saturday night in camp at the Smalleytown school-house, marching back to this city Sunday afternoon.

General orders for the practice "hike," issued today, announce that the members of the company will meet at the armory on West Front street, Saturday afternoon, in regulation khaki uniform, with tan shoes, chambray shirt and campaign hat. The local military will make the "hike" in heavy marching order, and will carry blankets, cooking utensils and shelter tents. It will be an eleven mile march, the company marching to Smalleytown by way of Somerset street, and through the Notch, a distance of about five and a half miles.

The soldier boys will be in command of Captain Kitchell, and upon arrival at the camping place will prepare supper and pitch their tents for the night. Sunday there will be a drill in the morning after military camp duties have been completed, and the Plainfield military will prepare breakfast and dinner before starting for home. The company will probably arrive at the armory at about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon. On the march, various field manevres will be practised, a van and rear guard maintained as if marching through a hostile country.

In order to facilitate the prompt starting of the march, supplies and final instructions will be issued at the armory Friday evening, when the members of the company will meet at 8 o'clock.

It had been felt among some of the members of the regiment that because Governor Fort opposed the plan of some of the detachments making the trip afoot, he might object to the plan of the Second Regiment. It has developed, however, that opposition was to any section of a regiment making the trip on foot while the remainder of the men went by other means of transportation.

It is expected that the regiment will arrive in Sea Girt Tuesday and

THAT FRESH AIR LEGACY

Messrs. Chapman and Parker Explain Hewitt Bequest Decision.

CLEAR UP MISUNDERSTANDING.

Why the Netherwood Home Executive Committee Took the Course It Did.

The following letter to The Daily Press was received today:

Editor, The Daily Press:

An article appeared in The Daily Press of Thursday last under the heading "Outsiders Control of Fresh Air Home—Social Managers Won't Be Given Hewitt Bequest and They Withdraw." This article as furnished to you for publication contains many inaccurate statements which are grossly misleading and calculated to injure the work which Miss Curry is conducting at Netherwood.

We feel it our duty, therefore, to present through your valuable paper to the public, not anonymously but over our own signatures, a plain and truthful statement of the facts concerning the bequest of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) to the Netherwood Fresh Air Home under the will of the late Frederic C. Hewitt.

When our executive committee learned of this bequest it was proposed to incorporate "The Netherwood Fresh Air Home," which is simply a voluntary organization, and to make application for the payment of the legacy to this institution. Messrs. Rolston and Morgan representing "The Little Missionary's Day Nursery of New York," objected to this proposition, saying that the intent of Mr. Hewitt was that the "Little Missionary's Day Nursery" and not a separate organization, should be the beneficiary, and, therefore, that the bequest could be obtained by no other claimant.

In support of this contention, Mr. Morgan stated that Mr. Hewitt was his personal friend, and that it was through him that Mr. Hewitt had been led to make this bequest. He further stated that Mr. Hewitt knew nothing of a separate organization, but understood that "The Netherwood Fresh Air Home" was the name under which the summer work of "The Little Missionary's Day Nursery" was conducted.

Mr. Morgan insisted that he knew positively what was the intent of his friend regarding this matter, and he conceived it to be his duty to see that the will of the testator was carried into effect, and from this position he declined to recede.

But both Mr. Morgan and Mr. Rolston assured us that when the money was received it would be kept as a separte fund, deposited in the Plainfield Trust Co., if desired, and that the interest accruing would be devoted solely and entirely

COMMEND SENATOR KEAN

Union County Republicans Warmly Thank Him for His Tariff Work.

PLANNING A DOLLAR DINNER.

Annual Demonstration at Elizabeth to Be Held on Wednesday Night, Sept. 22—The Outing.

Thanking him for "his untiring efforts to make the new tariff all that shall be for the benefit of the nation as a whole," resolutions highly eulogistic of United States Senator John Kean were passed by the Union County Republican Committee at its regular meeting in the Dix building last night in Elizabeth. That the action was planned as a slap at Governor Fort for his recent expression regarding the tariff builders' work, it is said, does not appear likely inasmuch as the resolution was introduced by Howard A. Williams, of the Second ward of this city, one of the New Idea leaders of that independent bailiwick. Mr. Williams, who is a New York lawyer, said that he thought some recognition should be taken of Mr. Kean's efforts and he explained that that was the sole purpose of his resolutions. Sheriff Robert J. Kirkland and Assistant Prosecutor James White, both Elizabeth men, briefly seconded the motion and the resolutions were unanimously passed.

Following is the resolution:

"Resolved, That on behalf of the citizens of Union county, this committee expresses to the Honorable John Kean, United States Senator from New Jersey, its hearty appreciation of his services in the revision of the tariff.

"We thank him for his untiring efforts to make the new tariff all that shall be for the benefit of the nation as a whole, subordinating to the good of the country, the interests of any one locality.

"We particularly commend his successful endeavor to add to the free list a number of articles entering our industries as raw materials, as a result of which, we anticipate increased prosperity for our manufacturers and the consumers of their product; recognizing in such action a fulfillment of the pledges made during the last campaign by the Republican party and its candidates to enact a revenue measure that should revise the Dingley tariff downward and give our manufacturing industries free raw materials."

Arrangements were made for the annual Dollar Dinner to be held at Turn Hall, Elizabeth, on Wednesday night, Sept. 22. For that purpose County Chairman Frank H. Smith appointed these as a committee to co-operate with a committee of the Downtown Republican Club: J. Stephen Higham and H. H. Williams, of this city; John R. Moxon, Robert J. Kirkland, William Pender and Neil McLeod, of Elizabeth; Henry Krousse, of Roselle; John W. Clift, of Summit; F. O. Decker, of Westfield; William F. Hall, of Cranford, and William Randolph, of Rahway. The Downtown Club's committee comprises James White, Edward Bauer, Sidney Williams, Henry Fromme and Henry J. Smith.

The committeemen from the various districts handed to Chairman Smith, the names of the workers in their districts they desire to have named as Republican district election officers. This list will be transmitted to Robert H. McAdams, chairman of the Union County Election Board.

As chairman of the outing committee, Factory Inspector Andrew McCardell, of this city, reported that all arrangements had been made for the excursion to Shilling's Grove, Rockaway, on Saturday, August 14. The trip will be made by thee steamer Isabelle.

Nut Comes Off; Ice Cakes Fall.

Several large cakes of ice were thrown from the rear of the wagon, but no one was injured, when the nut and washer of one of the rear wheels of one of the Natural Ice Company's wagons worked off and the wheel rolled off. The mishap happened this morning in front of the Somerset street school. The nut was probably loose and the jolt received from catching the wheel in the trolley tracks caused the washer to force the nut off. A jack was obtained from a nearby stable and the wheel put on. Then the ice was picked up and the drivers continued on their way making deliveries.

BEST WAY TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE

How the Chef at the Hotel Astor Makes the Coffee Which is Served at This Famous Hotel.

The guests at the Hotel Astor have always been delighted with the delicious fragrance and delicate richness of the coffee served there. Visitors from all parts of the world pronounce it perfection.

Any housewife can make coffee just as delicious by using the same blend of coffee. It is sold by all grocers, in one-pound and three-pound tins under the name Hotel Astor Coffee, and is guaranteed to be the same in all respects as that served now and always at the Hotel Astor, New York.

This most perfect coffee was originally blended for the exclusive use of the Hotel Astor, but is now packed for family use in air-tight tins so that it reaches you as crisp and fragrant as when it left the roaster.

The Hotel Astor recipe for making coffee is in every tin, and requires less coffee than low grade coffees, with which it is impossible to realize the true coffee flavor.

Hotel Astor Coffee is sold by most good grocers everywhere in the bean, ground or pulverized. Never sold in bulk. If, however, yours does not, write the importers, B. Fischer & Co., 190 Franklin street, New York City giving his name and address, and they will tell you where you can get it.

The differences between the leaders an tailenders in the big leagues present some very interesting comparisons in percentages. Rochester, the leader in the Eastern League, leads Jersey City by .157; Detroit, in the van of the American League is .338 ahead of Washington, and Pittsburg leads the Boston aggregation by no less than .428 up to Monday morning.

Krause, of the American League, lost his first game of the season Sunday, when the St. Louis team got to him for ten bingles. Up to Sunday Krause had pitched in ten games, all of which were victories.

The way the hoodoo is following the Highlanders seems to be a persistent necromancer. On Sunday the Yanks were nosed out by the yellow throw by Austin, and a fumble by Apollo Chase. Close games seem to be the rule with Stallings' men and they are getting the small end of the score.

Of all the pitchers in the National League there is none who can do the ascendency act as suddenly and with such disastrous results as Southpaw George Wiltse of the Giants. Wiltse is a clever pitcher. No one will gainsay that statement, for he has proved it conclusively, but once the tall, thin chap starts to go up there is no chance of his coming back and retrieving himself. When he starts he goes, and it behooves Manager McGraw to look for another to take his place on the mound in a hurry in such emergencies.

The Giants face another hard task this week. While the Yankees are still out on the warpath in Western fields, the Polo Grounders have still to complete the etertainment of the St. Louis club, and then the two-time champions of the world will come to town to show before the regulars under Coogan's Bluff. Through Wednesday Bresnahan and his Cardinals will be the guests of John McGraw's athletes, but on Thursday, Friday and Saturday those Chicago Cubs will be here.

Through Wednesday the Yankees are at Detroit, and then on Thursday the Highlanders move on to Cleveland, to stay through next Monday. The Cubs and Cardinals will change places this week. After Roger finishes up his engagement in New York he will replace Frank Leroy Chance and his Cubs in Brooklyn, thus completing the week on the home lot of the Superbas.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

Matt McGrath's big hammer throw made at Ulmer Park on Sunday, will not go on the records, but it will be remembered as a great performance by those who witnessed it. The throw, 183 feet 8 inches, is way ahead of the record, and McGrath's limit has not yet been reached.

TOLD BY TEMPERANCE MAN.

Shark Off Keyport Pulled White Out of Boat.

William White, Sr., with his son, William White, Jr., hydrant inspector and a Cadet of Temperance, of Bayonne, went fishing yesterday off Keyport.

The elder White felt a terrific tug at the line. A moment later he was pulled overboard. His son threw him a rope and hauled him to the boat, the elder White keeping a tight hold of the fishing rod. It took the combined efforts of both father and son to haul the catch alongside the boat.

Then it was discovered they had caught a shark, which was killed with a long knife.

THE DAILY PRESS.

Plainfield, N. J., July 20, 1909.

JOHN KEAN AT WASHINGTON.

The Union County Republican Committee does not propose to let go unanswered the denunciation of the Republican Congress by Governor Fort, who says: "For four months the people have been witnessing an exhibition at Washington of a party trying to enact a tariff in flat violation of its pledges to the people." United States Senator John Kean hails from Union county, and his party's organization rushes to his defense by passing a resolution expressing "appreciation of his services in the revision of the tariff." In behalf of the citizens of Union county," the committee thanks Mr. Kean "for his untiring efforts to make the new tariff all that shall be for the benefit of the nation as a whole" and "for his successful endeavor to add to the free list a number of articles entering our industries as raw material." If all his colleagues were as zealous in faithfully discharging their duties at Washington as is John Kean, there would be no cause for such complaints of procrastination, inefficiency and violation of party pledges.

BOYS' FIRE BRIGADE IS SUGGESTED BY CHIEF

The continued dry weather has prompted Chief T. O. Donne, of the fire department, to make a few remarks concerning the most successful method of fighting a grass or brush fire when discovered. As prompt measures ought to be taken when such a fire starts it is well to remember that quick action with a wet broom will prevent its spread.

Following out the idea that boys are always ready to chase the apparatus when it responds to an alarm the suggestion is made that these same little fellows can be made into a corps of valuable assistants before an alarm is turned in. Most families are provided with at least one broom and a pail, and as these are the best appliances for fighting a blaze in the grass or brush it would be a decided advantage to supply the boys with these things, not omitting to fill the pail with water and set them to beating out the flames and preventing their spread.

This is a simple expedient which has been tried with success, and it serves as a lesson in self reliance as well as it serves the purpose of saving property.

CO. K PREPARES TO HIKE

then begin the actual duties of camp life.

On the march the men will each carry a half shelter tent and a day's rations, besides their rifles, bayonets and cartridge belts. The blankets and overcoats will be carried by teams which will accompany the men.

Besides the supply wagons, the men will be accommodated by kitchen wagons and ambulances. At each stopping place coffee will be ready for the men on their arrival.

It is because of the preparations that are under way for the march that the Plainfield company is taking hikes out into the country at the present time.

COLORED CAMP MEETINGS AT JERSEYLAND PARK.

A series of union camp meetings held nightly at Jerseyland Park, near Westfield, under the auspices of St. John's Baptist church (colored), are attracting local colored people. Rev. William Perry, of Wasnington, D. C., is making the addresses at the meetings, and deals with vital questions of Christianity in a powerful way. He is the first vice-president of the National Colored Baptist Evangelistic Convention of America, and vice-president of the Colored Baptist Ministers' conference of New Jersey.

Rev. Mr. Perry, who has formerly pastor of the First Baptist church, of Cranford, has been pastor of colored churches in Washington, D. C., Princeton, Montclair and Pawtucket, Rhode Island.

Wahlig to Lead.

Oscar F. Wahlig, of Norwood avenue, will conduct the service tomorrow night at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home. This evening the meeting will be in charge of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Dunellen Presbyterian church.

W. R. Stahl, of Philadelphia, has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Chris Stahl, of Maple avenue.

THAT FRESH AIR LEGACY

to the support of Miss Curry's work at Netherwood.

Two courses of action were now open to the executive committee of the Plainfield organization:

First—To incorporate "The Netherwood Fresh Air Home," and to take legal steps to obtain the bequest for this institution.

Second—To decide not to enter in to any contest and permit "The Little Missionary's Day Nursery" to obtain the legacy believing that Messrs. Rolston and Morgan would redeem their pledge, that the money should be kept as a separate fund for the benefit of Miss Curry's work at Netherwood.

If the first course had been pursued it would, of course, have antagonized the authorities of "The Little Missionary's Day Nursery." Therefore, even in the remote event of our obtaining the bequest, it would have resulted in Miss Curry being obliged to sever her connection with the New York work, with which she is engaged for ten months in the year; or to abandon her work at Netherwood.

The executive committee decided, therefore, to adopt the second course and the sequel has proved the wisdom of this step. The executors of Mr. Hewitt's will have admitted the claim of "The Little Missionary's Day Nursery," and the bequest will be paid in due course.

In the heading of the article under review these words occur "Local managers won't be given Hewitt bequest and they withdraw." In the body of the article it is stated that Mr. Hall and Miss Hawkins have withdrawn their help and support from the Home "as has also the other active workers from the city." This conveys the impression that the executive committee (managers) and practically all others who have hitherto aided Miss Curry in her work, have now withdrawn their support. This idea is preposterous.

It may be that a few will find it in their heart to desert Miss Curry and her noble work, even at this important time, when she has, approximately, three hundred mothers and children to care for at the Camp, but of these there will be very few. All the true friends of Miss Curry still stand behind her, more loyal than ever, if that be possible, in supporting the beautiful work of charity in which she is engaged; and Miss Curry has faith to believe that this will prove to be the most successful season in the history of the Home because, as she says, it is the Lord's work. We confidently share in this belief, for the Lord's work has ever prospered and multiplied under adversity and opposition.

GEO. A. CHAPMAN,
Chairman Finance Committee Netherwood Fresh Air Home.
JAMES F. PARKER,
Second Vice-President.

MISS LILLIAN HIBBIN NOW IS MRS. CHARLES E. DALBY.

Mr. and Mrs. Erastus W. Bulkley, of West Seventh street, tendered the use of their home to Miss Lillian Hibbin, Mrs. Bulkley's maid, on Saturday night on the occasion of the young woman's marriage to Charles E. Dalby. The entire first floor of the house was lavishly decorated for the occasion, and the wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. A. E. Finn, pastor of the First Baptist church, in the drawing room.

The bride's gown was of white mull, trimmed with Renaissance lace. She wore a veil and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and white sweet peas. Miss Margery Pittis, of Brooklyn, was the flower girl, daintly gowned in white organdie, with pink ribbons. She carried a basket bouquet of pink and white sweet peas. There were no other attendants. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Thos. Power as the couple entered the room.

The drawing room, where the ceremony was performed, was beautifully decorated with white sweet peas and asparagus fern, and the prevailing color scheme of the dining room, where a collation was served after the ceremony, was pink and green, sweet peas, palms and ferns being used with excellent effect. Covers were laid for fifteen.

The couple received many handsome and valuable presents, and received the hearty congratulations of about a score of friends, several of whom came from out of town. Mr. Dalby recently came to this country from London, England, and his bride is also English born. She has been with Mrs. Bulkley for about two years. Mr. Dalby is employed at Pond's.

At Proctor's.

While the show now on the boards at Proctor's is one of the best that has been put on at the popular place of amusement, it is said that the entertainment for Thursday, Friday and Saturday is even better. Fields and Hanson, who will appear on Thursday, are both Elks and in Elizabeth, where they are playing now, the house has been practically sold out for tomorrow night to the members of the order. The moving pictures leave nothing to be desired. Joan of Arc with Mme. Bartet, a famous French actress, as Joan will be shown tomorrow.

SMALLEY WILL FIGHT AGAINST INJUNCTION

As a result of the action of the Somerset Freeholders in changing the lines for the widening of Greenbrook road, it is expected that former Newton B. Smalley and Charles Debele, who are jointly interested in lands along the affected thoroughfare, will oppose an application for an injunction to prevent the change of course being effected. Messrs. Smalley and Debele are in Trenton today and nothing definite can be learned of their purpose. The former mayor read "the riot act" to the Somerset county Freeholders last Saturday, and since then the Somerset people have been watching for further developments.

Some months ago, Mr. Brunson, with several other property owners along the road, dedicated twenty feet in front of his property to the borough, so that the road could be made forty feet wide. The contractors started the work two weeks ago, and on Monday last Mr. Smalley discovered that County Engineer E. S. Doughty, of Somerville, had changed the course of the thoroughfare in front of Brunson's property, so that it took the entire forty feet from land owned by the Smalleys on the opposite side, instead of twenty feet, as originally agreed. When Smalley called on Brunson for an explanation the latter said he didn't want the shade trees cut down in front of his property.

Charles Debele is a joint owner with Smalley and a New York real estate company in the land abutting the road. A further investigation on the part of Mr. Smalley brought out the fact that the New York realty company had been negotiating with Brunson without the consent of Mr. Debele or himself. At the time the property owners dedicated the frontage for road improvement purposes Smalley was Mayor of North Plainfield. Since then there has been an active real estate boom in the vicinity, and Brunson is said to desire to save his frontage.

After a meeting of the Somerset freeholders on Saturday County Engineer Doughty changed the stakes, and the road will go directly in front of the Brunson farm, as originally intended. Brunson declares he will take out an injunction restraining the contractor from removing the fress or trespassing on his land. Smalley contends the land was once dedicated to the borough, was accepted, and that Brunson has nothing to do with it.

Engineer Doughty and Freeholder Lutkins, of North Plainfield, say that Brunson misrepresented the matter to them by stating that he had seen all concerned, and it was agreeable to them that the change should be made.

Girl Auto Driver Strikes Boy.

A Plainfield young woman, whose name could not be learned, driving an automobile owned by J. W. Pettit, of 19 Evergreen place, East Orange, struck the ten-year-old son of Clarence Love, of Broad street, Westfield, on North avenue, that place, at 5 o'clock last evening. The lad was taken to a physician where he was found to be unhurt. Love would not press charges against Pettit on this account. The young woman hastened home to this city alone.

Mt. Zion Excursion.

The Mt. Zion A. M. E. and Shiloh Baptist churches will hold their annual excursion to Bellewood Park on August 12. With the Plainfield excursionists the Ebenezer A. M. E. church of Rahway and the St. Thomas A. M. E. Zion of Somerville, and the A. M. E. mission of Westfield, will also go to the park.

PLANS FOR THIS CITY PHILA. DWELLING ROW

Another new enterprise that will soon attract the attention of Plainfielders is now in process of formation to bring to the city an innovation of which the city may justly feel proud.

In 1903, William Jeffery, the real estate man, organized what was known as the Investors Realty Company, among whose stockholders were City Judge William N. Runyon, Freeholder J. Hervey Doane, A. W. Weseman, William R. Mosher, Dr. D. C. Adams and many other Plainfield people.

The company bought land in the west end of Plainfield and cleaned up a profit of 130 per cent. in two years, which, to say the least was a remarkable showing. Mr. Jeffery has now organized a new company, under the laws of the State of New Jersey, which will be known as the Metropolitan Construction Company. This company will begin operations at an early date and will build a row of Philadelphia dwellings in the heart of Plainfield. These houses will contain every modern improvement, including telephones, which will be installed and the rate charge paid for a year in advance.

Not to be outdone by other advanced-idea builders the company will also have installed electric cook stoves and a motor for use in the laundry and for other purposes.

In an interview today Mr. Jeffery said that he preferred to withhold the location of the site of the new buildings until all the arrangements are completed. Mr. Jeffery will be president of the new company and the treasurership has been offered to a well known Plainfield man.

FOUR BOROUGH BOYS STEAL SOUR APPLES.

Four small borough boys whose liking for apples proved to be stronger than their moral conscience are paying the penalty today that is usually alloted to those who break the seventh commandment. Two spent an uncomfortable morning in a borough cell, another went off scot free and another doesn't sit down while he tells that his father came forward with a dollar fine that Recorder Dolliver imposed. The worst of it all is, so the lads say, that the apples were sour.

For some time past complaints have been made that small boys stole apples from trees near the corner of Watchung and Mountain avenues, so that Chief Weiss began an investigation. This morning he caught four youngsters in an apple tree at that place, and placed all of them under arrest. They are Charles Barry, William James, Andrew Judge and Orville James. The latter was so small in stature and so penitent for stealing something that he proved that he didn't steal, that Recorder Dolliver dismissed him. A fine of one dollar was imposed on the other three, and as Barry's father was present to pay his fine, he was released. The other youngsters sat in a cell until their fine was paid.

Whelan Gets S. S.

James Whelan, a mason, who was picked up by borough Marshall Culver in an intoxicated condition on Westervelt avenue yesterday, received a suspended sentence when arraigned before Recorder Dolliver. He promised to leave drink alone for a while.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The borough streets are being sprinkled with oil, to lay the dust. The work is being done by the borough street committee. If the 'Plains residents want relief they have to raise the money by subscription, as there seems to be but little effort made to keep the town up to date, in the way of town improvements.

The annual union Sunday-school excursion is being held today, the destination being Asbury Park. The result is the town is practically deserted.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pope and child, of Grant avenue, Plainfield, have been visiting Mrs. Pope's mother, Mrs. John Marsh, of Park avenue.

Rev. and Mrs. Franklin K. Mathiews, of the parsonage, are entertaining Mrs. A. J. Gahagan and Miss Weller, of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. Edward L. Hand and her neice Miss Hand, have returned from a visit with friends on Long Island.

The Thomas M. Paff, Sr., property on Park avenue, has been rented to Mr. Dean, of Philadelphia.

William Schenck, of Forest avenue, has taken a position in New York.

CHURCH OFFICERS.

Rev. R. A. Stout President of East End Chapel.

Organizing for active church work, the congregation of the Netherwood Reformed church assembled in the edifice last night and elected an executive committee of seven members, headed by the pastor, Rev. Royal A. Stout, as president. William T. Banks was chosen vice-president; G. D. Merkel, treasurer; S. O. Rush, secretary, and Enoch Berry, church master. The other members of the committee are A. H. Stevenson and A. F. Randolph. The members of this committee will hold office for one year.

The first executive meeting of the committee will be held in the church at 8 o'clock on Monday evening.

Two Negroes Drowned.

George Thompson and Edward Weaver, two negro farm hands, went for a ride on the Raritan Canal Monday afternoon in a small rowboat. They took a bottle of whiskey with them. When last seen alive the negroes were steering an uncertain course and singing loudly. Their boat was found bottom side up in the canal last night. Later Weaver's body was found at the bottom of the canal, but Thompson is still missing.

Foot Caught Between Cars.

William Burke, of 15 East Sixteenth street, Bayonne, is in the Alexian Brothers' Hospital, Elizabeth, suffering from severe injuries to his foot. The member was caught between two cars while Burke was working at the Elizabethport transfer yards today.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

Bishop McFaul laid the corner-stone of St. Patrick's Catholic church, Woodbury, Sunday.

The Vineland Board of Education has awarded the contract for $10,000 school buildings to Walter Foulk.

The Gloucester Board of Health has received word from the State Board that all cases of malarial fever must be officially reported.

When a window sash fell on him Sunday, Eugene Lovett, thirty-six years old, of 228 Benson street, Camden, was badly cut about the head. He was cared for at Cooper Hospital.

This is the year that the "seventeen-year" locusts are due, and already they are nearing the surface of the ground in South Jersey. In 1892 they appeared in this part of the State in great numbers.

Cornelius Decker, of 155 East Twenty-second street, Paterson, was riding a bicycle in the downtown section Sunday afternoon when he passed over a rut in the roadway and was thrown heavily to the ground. He dislocated his shoulder.

The dental offices of Dr. J. S. Miller, Dr. Thomas E. Hayes and Dr. Ernest Keeler, all within a block of police headquarters, Trenton, were entered and robbed within a few hours of each other, and a considerable quantity of booty in the way of gold, false teeth, stamps, etc., was stolen.

John Averitt, of 927 Market street, Paterson, while riding a bicycle in the darkness of upper Market street, that city, Saturday night, ran into a wagon, getting a bad fall. His hand was dislocated and he was injured about the face. He was taken to the General Hospital, but was able to go home after the injuries were dressed.

Drifting at sea in a gale of wind, helpless because the gasoline engine had ceased to operate, Captain Charles Haddon, of Island Heights, in the launch Nix, with his family, signaled for help. They were two miles from land. The keeper of the Cedar Creek Life Saving Station, with a crew of volunteer oarsmen, went to their rescue and towed them to Island Heights.

Charles R. Yutz, who claims to be a veterinary surgeon, was the victim of an odd accident Sunday, when a knife was driven to the bone of the upper part of his left arm by a refractory horse. Yutz was trimming "proud" flesh off the animal's hoof when it suddenly kicked and sent the knife into Yutz's arm. The victim was attended at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The Atlantic City police intend to enforce the city law against snapping of photographs on the beach and arrested James Chalmers, a photographer, who had started to take pictures of pretty girls. The girls objected to the arrest, but a stony-hearted policeman took Chalmers and his plates, while the girls begged tearfully to have the negatives left with them.

The Gloucester Board of Health was informed a few days ago that the body of Alfred Marshall had been buried but two feet below the surface in Cedar Grove Cemetery because the ground is so crowded as to necessitate burials on top of other bodies in some cases. Members of the board made an investigation Sunday, found the charges true and ordered the reburial of Marshall's body in another part of the cemetery.

Suffering from a lacerated head and injuries to her arm, Mrs. Anna Colyan, thirty-five years old, of 418 South Second street, Camden, visited the Homeopathic Hospital Sunday afternoon and declared that she had been bitten and beaten by one of her boarders. She said she was attacked when she refused to allow the boarder to remove his trunk because he owed her board.

Alleging her husband fled with an affinity after going through a pretended marriage ceremony, Mrs. Eveline F. Smith, of Trenton, has commenced an action for divorce and support of her six children against her husband, Howard W. Smith, who she says is now residing in Frankford, Pa. She was married to her husband September 2, 1888. They lived in Moorestown, N. J., until April 1, 1901, when Smith is charged in the complaint with deserting and running away with Kate O'Donnell.

Samuel McGimpsey, of Port Jervis, N. Y., employed as a conductor by the Erie Railroad, was taken to the General Hospital, Paterson, Sunday, suffering from a dislocation of the right shoulder. McGimpsey's train parted while traveling along the Erie tracks near Waldwick, and while the two sections were being shunted toward each other McGimpsey stood on the platform of the caboose. The impact when the two sections met hurled him against the side of the caboose and caused the injury.

Ordinary postal cards brought $1 each at the opening of the Chelsea sub-postoffice Saturday because they were sold by Mrs. Franklin P. Stoy, wife of Mayor Stoy, and Mrs. Bacharach, wife of Postmaster Bacharach. About $150 was netted for the Atlantic City Hospital through their acting as salesclerks at the windows for a short time. One of the cards, containing the autograph of Postmaster Bacharach, was bought by Armand T. Nichols for $10. Charles Evans, head of the Atlantic City

IS THIRD SHOOTING IN BAYONNE PARK.

Andrew Lugila, 24 years old, of 73 West Twenty-second street, Bayonne, was shot and fatally injured at the City Park, yesterday afternoon. Pietro Feresco, who is accused of having fired the shots, made his escape.

The wounded man was taken to the Bayonne Hospital, where is was found that two bullets had penetrated his abdomen. No cause for the shooting could be learned. Lugila was too weak last evening to make a statement.

This is the third shooting affray at the City Park within three weeks. Because of the bad blood which exists between rival factions of nearby residents the police fear a serious outbreak. Recently the Italian quarter was searched and as far as possible the denizens disarmed.

HAD ON TWENTY SHIRTS.

Bayonne Prisoner Believed to Be Freight Car Thief.

With more than a score of shirts wrapped about his legs and body, over which he wore a suit of brown cloth, Andrew Fleming, of 307 Seventh street, Jersey City, was arrested in Bayonne yesterday.

According to the police, Fleming is one of a gang of freight car thieves who have been operating between here and Jersey City for over a year. Special Officer Weiss testified that he had seen several men, of whom Fleming was one, throwing a huge box off a car. The box contained shirts. In a shed along the railroad tracks of the Central Railroad the police found a lot of stolen property.

There was no direct evidence against Fleming and Recorder Mara remanded him.

"The country suits me, Sinclair."

"No man that has ever played me dirt can stay here while I stay." Sinclair, with a hand on the portiere, was moving from the doorway into the room. McCloud in a leisurely way rose, though with a slightly flushed face, and at that juncture Marion ran into the room and spoke abruptly. "Here is the silk, Mr. Sinclair," she exclaimed, handing to him a package she had not finished wrapping. "I meant you to wait in the other room."

"It was an accidental intrusion," returned Sinclair, maintaining his irony. "I have apologized, and Mr. McCloud and I understand one another better than ever."

"Please say to Miss Dunning," continued Marion, nervous and insistent, "that the band for her riding-hat hasn't come yet, but it should be here to-morrow."

As she spoke McCloud leaned across the table, resolved to take advantage of the opening, if it cost him his life. "And by the way, Mr. Sinclair, Miss Dunning wished me to say to you that the lovely bay colt you sent her had sprung his shoulder badly, the hind shoulder, I think, but they are doing everything possible for it and they think it will make a great horse."

Sinclair's snort at the information was a marvel of indecision. Was he being made fun of? Should he draw and end it? But Marion faced him resolutely as he stood, and talking in the most business like way she backed him out of the room and to the shop door. Balked of his opportunity, he retreated stubbornly but with the utmost politeness, and left with a grin, lashing his tail, so to speak.

Coming back, Marion tried to hide her uneasiness under even tones to McCloud. "I'm sorry he disturbed you. I was attending to a customer and had to ask him to wait a moment."

"Don't apologize for having a customer."

"He lives over beyond the Stone ranch, you know, and is taking some things out for the Dunnings to-day. He likes an excuse to come in here because it annoys me. Finish your dinner, Mr. McCloud."

"Thank you, I'm done."

"But you haven't eaten anything. Isn't your steak right?"

"It's fine, but that man—well, you know how I like him and how he likes me. I'll content myself with digesting my temper."

CHAPTER VII.

Smoky Creek Bridge.

It was not alone that a defiance makes a bad dinner sauce; there was more than this for McCloud to feed on. He was forced to confess to himself as he walked back to the Wickiup that the most annoying feature of the incident was the least important, namely, that his only enemy in the country should be intrusted with commissions from the Stone ranch and be carrying packages for Dicksie Dunning. It was Sinclair's trick to do things for people, and to make himself so useful that they must like first his obligingness and afterward himself. Sinclair, McCloud knew, was close in many ways to Lance Dunning. It was said to have been his influence that won Dunning's consent to sell a right of way across the ranch for the new Crawling Stone line. But McCloud felt it useless to disguise the fact to himself that he now had a second keen interest in the Crawling Stone country—not alone a dream of a line, but a dream of a girl. Sitting moodily in his office, with his feet on the desk, a few nights after his encounter with Sinclair, he recalled her nod as she said good-by. It had seemed the least bit encouraging, and he meditated anew on the only 20 minutes of real pleasurable excitement he had ever felt in his life, the 20 minutes with Dicksie Dunning at Smoky creek. Her intimates, he had heard, called her Dicksie, and he was vaguely envying her intimates when the night dispatcher, Rooney Lee, opened the door and disturbed his reflections.

"Here Is the Silk, Mr. Sinclair."

"How is Number One, Rooney?" called McCloud, as if nothing but the thought of a train movement ever entered his head.

Rooney Lee paused. In his hand he held a message, and he faced McCloud with evident uneasiness. "Holy smoke, Mr. McCloud, here's a ripper! We've lost Smoky Creek bridge."

"Lost Smoky Creek bridge?" echoed McCloud, rising in amazement.

"Burned to-night. Seventy-seven was flagged by the man at the pump station."

"That's a tie-up for your life!" exclaimed McCloud, reaching for the message. "How could it catch fire? Is it burned up?"

"I can't get anything on that yet; this came from Canby. I'll have a good wire in a few minutes and get it all for you."

"Have Phil Hailey and Hyde notified, Rooney, and Reed and Brill Young, and get up a train. Smoky Creek bridge! By heavens, we are ripped up the back now! What can we do there, Rooney?" He was talking to himself. "There isn't a thing for it on God's earth but switchbacks and five-per-cent. grades down to the bottom of the creek and cribbing across it till the new line is ready. Wire Callahan and Morris Blood, and get everything you can for me before we start."

Ten hours later and many hundreds of miles from the mountain division, President Bucks and a companion were riding in the peace of a June morning down the beautiful Mohawk valley with an earlier and illustrious railroad man, William C. Brown. The three men were at breakfast in Brown's car. A message was brought in for Bucks. He read it and passed it to his companion, Whispering Smith, who sat at Brown's left hand. The message was from Callahan with the news of the burning of Smoky Creek bridge. Details were few, because no one on the west end could suggest a plausible cause for the fire.

"What do you think of it, Gordon?" demanded Bucks, bluntly.

Whispering Smith seemed at all times bordering on good-natured surprise, and in that normal condition he read Callahan's message.

He was laughing under Bucks' scrutiny when he handed the message back. "Why, I don't know a thing about it, not a thing; but taking a long shot and speaking by and far, I should say it looks something like first blood for Sinclair," he suggested, and to change the subject lifted his cup of coffee.

"Then it looks like you for the mountains to-night instead of for Weber and Fields'," retorted Bucks, reaching for a cigar. "Brown, why have you never learned to smoke?"

WORTH KNOWING.

When books become badly soiled on the edge, if not gilt edged, close the book tightly, then erase the marks with an ink eraser. This will cut off all rough edges, all soiled marks and leave the book very clean.

To remove an ink stain from a colored waist, put the stained portion in sweet milk and let it stand until the milk sours. Hank the waist up and let the milk dry, brush it off and wash in the usual manner. This will remove ink when buttermilk has failed.

In selecting a pure linen tablecloth, if you are no judge of linen moisten the goods with the tongue and if a damp spot instantly appears on the opposite side you may rest assured the linen is good. If not the moisture would be long in penetrating the weave.

The cushioned back of a Morris chair has been found valuable in the sick-room to place back of the invalid in bed.

The handles of knives should never be immersed in water, or, after a time, they would become discolored and loose.

A relish made of one can of pimentoes, mixed with finely chopped celery, is well liked. It is covered with French dressing and served on lettuce leaves.

Save one or two turkey wings. They are the best brushes in the world to use around a stove, and they are splendid for sweeping closet shelves. Weight the wing top with an iron until it dries.

Baseball and General Sports

LANKY BOB TO UMPIRE VILLAGE BALL GAMES

In order to stimulate interest in baseball in the borough of Dunellen, Robert Fitzsimmons has announced that he will umpire all baseball games there for the rest of the season.

"The boys 'ad to teach me," he said. "I'm not in the business of umpiring and drawing patronage to a team unless it's a cracker-jack team, but the Dunellen chaps have won their spurs; they licked the Central Railroad team 7 to 6. When a team can do that and play as those chaps do, why Bob's their friend. He likes them, and wants to see them get along."

Fitz will receive no pay for his work, but does it purely from a sense of public spirit, or rather borough pride. The Dunellen players put up a good article of ball and deserve better attendance at the games. This fact he thinks coupled with the fact that he will be in the umpire's box, for he now is rated as a first-class umpire, ought to swell the crowds to the Dunellen diamond.

"Yes, and he might want to fight a pitcher sometime," ardently piped up a youngster when the project was first broached.

"By Jove," said Fitz, clapping his hands together, "in that case we'll 'ave to get Battling Nelson to pitch."

BASEBALL.

Harry VanZandt was not in the game for Dunellen Saturday, owing to a sprained ankle received while playing a week ago.

Ernest Dorflinger, the enterprising manager of the Plainfield nine, is negotiating to play two more games with Scotch Plains. Much rivalry exists between the nines, and a good article of ball is always assured the fans when they come together. No dates have been decided on as yet.

Harney, the twirler for Dunellen, showed up in great form Saturday, when the Dunellenites defeated the Jersey Central railroad team.

Chauncey Murphey, the former P. H. S. twirler, announces that he will get out of the game for the present. Business in New York will prevent him from playing Saturday afternoons.

The Y. M. C. A. nine has won 10 games so far this season

Y. M. C. A. players cross bats with Bedford next Saturday. Of Manager Listman's colts, all save three, are above .300 in batting. For a local team this has rarely been equalled.

Several criticism against the umpiring of Fred Dayton at the Dunellen game, Saturday, were unfounded. Whenever he has officiated he has given general satisfaction. Saturday he had two extremely difficult decisions to make.

If Schott, the husky and alert left fielder of the Plainfield team, could hit the ball as wel as he fields it, there is no doubt that he would now be covering left garden for one of the big league teams. He has played the outfield for two seasons without making an error.

Laurel A. C. defeated the Harmony A. C. on the DeLacey avenue grounds, by a score of 21 to 6. The batteries were H. Hand and Canter for the Laurels, and C. Harper and Pope for Harmony.

To Play New Brunswick.

Manager Dorflinger's Plainfield ball tossers will take another fall out of the New Brunswick team on Saturday. A game has also been arranged for the thirty-first with Scotch Plains. Other games which ought to prove interesting are those with the Asbury Park and Long Branch teams, which are composed of college players, and who are well known for their ability to play ball for all there is in it.

RAILROAD MEN ARE THIS THIEF'S PREY.

An attempt was made at 3 o'clock yesterday morning to enter the residence of Louis E. Ganong, 126 Jaques avenue, Rahway. Mr. Ganong was awakened by the raising of the window and, looking out, saw a man partly in the lower window. Mr. Ganong donned some clothes and started after the thief, who made good his escape.

It is thought that the same thief visited the residence of Councilman R. Tharp, 66 Elm avenue where he secured a gold watch and $20 in money. He forced a rear window, and visiting Mr. Tharp's bedroom, took the latter's clothes down to the dining room, where he emptied the pockets, leaving behind in a pile on the dining room table Mr. Tharp's railroad pass, keys and other articles, taking only the watch and cash.

Mr. Tharp is a conductor on the Pennsylvania Railroad, running an Atlantic City express. Mr. Ganong is an engineer, also in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

HURT WHEN HORSE BOLTS.

Elizabeth Produce Merchant Painfully Injured in Runaway.

Louis Sandaggo, a produce merchant, of 21 Flora street, Elizabeth, was severely cut and bruised when his horse ran away in Madison avenue, early yesterday.

Sandaggo was returning from the Newark market when the horse became frightened and dashed down the avenue. Sandaggo was kicked in the leg and fell from his seat to the street.

Patrolmen Sheridan and McCormack went to Sandaggo's assistance. An examination at the Alexian Brothers' Hospital showed that Sandaggo was cut about the body and leg.

The New Chalmers Cars for 1910

No Increase in Price

Note the pictures. Our "30" has a 115-inch wheel base—with 34-inch wheels. A longer, higher hood to accord with a roomier tonneau. Lines like the costliest cars on the market.

Yet not a penny of additional price. The car still sells for $1500. Let us tell you how we have done it.

1,000 More Cars

Last season's output of "30's" was 2,500 cars, yet we ran 800 cars short of our orders. We were obliged to refuse trade to the extent of $1,200,000.

This year we have built a new factory, and our 1910 output of "30's" will be 3,500 cars. Those 1,000 extra cars will be made without adding a dollar to our fixed expense.

They will also be made with last year's tools and machinery. We have almost no new expense there. For mechanically, the car is not altered at all. Experience has shown us no way to improve it.

Thus we effect immense savings. And all of these savings have gone into the car—to make it more sightly, more roomy, more like the costliest cars.

Nine Per Cent Profit

Our profit this season will be the same as last season—exactly nine per cent.

Our customers have created these savings by calling for more of our cars. And every penny we save will be spent in giving them more beautiful cars. That is our permanent policy.

Please note the result. Note what a large and showy car—note the exquisite lines. Just think that $1500 now buys this amazing car.

Lower Prices

We will fit this $1500 car with a Bosch magneto, a Prest-O-Lite gas tank, and two Atwood-Castle gas lamps—all for $100 extra. The regular price of these extras is $175.

We will furnish our "30" with a Lenox mohair top for $75 extra. The regular price is $125.

We shall give you all the advantage of our quantity buying. So this 1910 model, fully equipped, costs you $135 less than did our 1909 model, equally equipped.

A longer, higher hood, roomier tonneau, longer wheel base, larger wheels and daintier lines. Yet the cost equipped is considerably less than the model of 1909.

No Records Like These

One of the Chalmers-Detroit "30's" has been run 32,000 miles, and has just completed a path-finding trip from Denver to Mexico City. Never has any car, at any price, made an equal endurance record.

Owners have paid us for repairs on their 1909 cars exactly $2.34 per car. That is a world's record.

On June 18th, a "30" won the Indiana Light Car Race, the greatest contest of its kind ever held in America, doing 232.74 miles at an average speed of 51.5 miles per hour.

On an economy test, made by the New York Auto Dealers' Association, it ran 25.7 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Never has a car at any price proved so satisfactory. Never did a car show such low cost for upkeep.

That is why we make no radical mechanical changes. Experience has proved that the 1909 "30" is absolutely right mechanically.

The Larger "Forty"

Our "Forty" for 1910 has 36-inch wheels. The wheel base is 122 inches—ten inches longer than last year. The car seats seven, while last season's seated five.

Upholstered in hand-buffed leather. Fitted with Bosch magneto, gas lamps and gas tank free.

Yet the price remains $2,750.

We will equip this car with a $150 Newport mohair top for $125 extra. The two extra seats will cost you but $75.

So this larger car, with larger wheels, when fully equipped, costs considerably less than last year.

This is our "Forty's" fifth season. It is known far and wide as the best medium-priced car on the market. It has been purchased by scores of the best experts in America for their personal use.

This season, with its extra room, there is not a car at any price which can reasonably claim to excel it.

Made as touring car, roadster and pony tonneau.

See These New Cars

Every Chalmers-Detroit dealer now has photographs of these new models. Demonstrating cars will be ready this month. Deliveries to users begin August 1st.

See them before you buy.

The tide of automobile demand is turning to these medium-priced cars. Not alone because of their prices, but mainly because of their savings on upkeep. The day of extravagance is past.

Last season these cars had no real competition. The demand was a third greater than could be supplied. This season, no medium-priced car will be anywhere near in their class.

Get your order in early, for orders are filled in rotation. August delivery gives you five months' use before the car's year begins.

PREFER GRAND OPERA TO "RAG TIME" MUSIC

That "rag time" music isn't best appreciated, and that classical music of a high order is enjoyed by an audience of a distinctly cosmopolitan make-up was made evident to those who attended the concert at the SalvationArmy tent on Watchung avenue at the corner of Fourth street, last night.

Numbers on the program included selections from the most celebrated grand opera music, and represented such singers as Caruso, Scotti and Mmes. Eames, Tetrazzini, Sembrich, Severina and Geraldine Farrar. The most celebrated parts that each of these singers have taken were rendered by means of a large concert phonograph in an unusually distinct and pleasing manner. In addition to this an orchestra composed of some of this city's best musicians under the direction of Martin A. Korff rendered a program of six numbers. These, too, were of a high order.

The audience was recruited from various parts of the city and, from the advertisement given the concert beforehand, all knew that it was to be of a distinctly high order. Hence the fact that many came from the Boulevard section and some even from Scotch Plains argues well for lovers of good music who have been protesting against the too frequent pollution of the public's musical taste by "popular," or "rag time" music. The audience for the most part listened attentively and applauded roundly.

Between the parts of the program a silver offering was taken and the people showed their appreciation by a generous response. The concert phonograph was operated by H. V. Lough, and Whitney Frazee, of this city, rendered a cornet solo.

The concert last night was so successful that it is highly probale that others of a similar nature will be given. This appreciation of the general public's taste, and incidentally compliment to it by Capt. Hewitt displays his keen understanding of the people, his sympathy with them and this accounts largely for his success in working among them.

between dressing well and dressing stylishly. It costs money to dress well, but it requires knowledge to dress stylishly. A woman with money spends $10.00 to secure the effect of "Stylish" Shoes, while another woman with knowledge will secure just the same effect by spending $3.50 to $5.00 for a pair of "VAN ARSDALE'S" Shoes. ## FIFTH DISTRICT'S GOSSIP

Capstick, 'Tis Said, May Succeed Fowler if the Latter Declines to Run Again.

THE CAMPAIGN A YEAR OFF.

Nomination for Morris Is the Report—Fowler Not a Senatorial Candidate.

Much amusement has been caused in Union county political circles by the premature booms for "favorite sons" for the fifth New Jersey congressional berth, particularly as all the figuring is being done with many "ifs." So far as can be learned from his political intimates, Charles N. Fowler, who is now serving his fifth term as the representative of Union, Morris and Warren, has not mentioned whether he desires to be returned. In the light of recent events, both in his district and at Washington, it is not generally believed that he will seek to go back. Since an unsuccessful effort was made by some of the more powerful organization men in Union count two years ago to get "Uncle Dan" Voorhees to join in a treaty to prevent Fowler's renomination, it is said that the political enmity towards the representative has not lessened in his county.

Two men are more prominently mentioned by the warm weather boomers in connection with the possible succession, they being former Mayor Alexander Gilbert and Mayor Charles J. Fisk, both of this city. So far as Mr. Gilbert is concerned, it is said that he would not be adverse to going to Washington. He is the president of the New York Clearing House and is a warm friend of the present congressman. It was he who was picked by the political enemies to be named in place of Fowler last time, but the banker came out flat-footed against the scheme, declaring that he would not only not run against Mr. Fowler for the nomination, but would work for the wealthy marble man.

As for Mr. Fisk, his friends say that he has no inclination to go to Congress. They feel sure, they say, that any tender of a nomination to the former excise commission head would meet with a prompt refusal. The governorship job would be more to his tastes, according to his close personal friends, and it is not at all probable that he would decline to run for it were there chances his way. But his friends say that for some time at least he is "as dead as a door nail" so far as a gubernatorial nomination is concerned. His prominence in the excise investigation work, where he showed to advantage, would put him clean out of the running, it is generally considered. Because of his connection with that probe, the political wiseacres and his friends seem to agree that a nomination for him would spell defeat for his party.

When Republican County Chairman Frank H. Smith was asked today by a Daily Press man as to his choice for congressman, he declared he had none. He refused to commit himself about the qualifications or chances of any particular man, and said it was altogether too early to discusses the subject. He remarked:

"It's a whole year before the time is ripe for such discussion. I have not discussed the matter with any one, for I have enough to do without wasting my time that way. I have heard of both Mr. Fisk and Mrs. Gilbert as possibilities, but that's up to them and up to the people. I don't know whether either one of these would accept if the honor were tendered him. It's a long time before the congressional campaign; there's something more important before that and that is the campaign this fall."

John H. Capstick, of Boonton, will probably be the choice of the Morris county leaders, it is said here by Mr. Fowler's friends, in the event of the latter declining to run again. Morris county, according to their figuring, will be entitled to name the man and they have in that "Uncle Dan" Voorhees has his eyes set on Captstick. That overtures have been made to Mr. Fowler to run against John Kean for the United States Senatorship is the positive assertion made today by the marble man's friends. According to the latter, Fowler would have none of it and is alleged to have so informed some of the leaders who seek to unhorse the Ursino man.

Borough Ordinances Out.

Copies of the new borough ordinances which were recently printed, are now in the hands of the borough clerk and may be obtained by any one applying to him. The booklet is published by the Mayor and council of the borough, and was compiled by Charles A. Reed, the Corporation Counsel.

NURSERYMAN CONROY HOLDING THE FORT

Charles Berg, a hat manufacturer, of East Orange, invoked the aid of the law yesterday in an attempt to oust Edward J. Conroy from the possession of the Somerset Nurseries on Somerset street, which Mr. Conroy occupies as a florist. The action was brought before Vice-Chancellor Stevens by Riker and Riker, attorneys for Berg, and was denied. Berg's motion was based on the purchase of the property in a foreclosure sale in 1904.

Robert Newton Crane, attorney for Mr. Conroy contended that his client was rightfully in possession of the propert yinasmuch as he had bought it under a contract sale for the sum of $18,600. The Vice-Chancellor decided that Mr. Conroy was rightfully in posession of the property and could not be dispossessed.

PRIMROSE MINSTRELS AT THEATRE TONIGHT

Never before has minstrelsy been presented in such an elaborate manner as will signalize the forthcoming production of the George Primrose Minstrels in its entire new dress at the Plainfield theatre tonight. The scenery, costumes and stage properties are all new. An absolute regard for the eternal fitness of things have led the management of this production to insist upon exactness in the matter of male costuming and other things incidental to a big production of this kind.

Happy Jack Gardener, who is professionally known to be one of the highest salaried black face men in the country, is the principal comedian for Mr. Primrose. Mosher, Hayes and Mosher, the world's greatest comedy bicyclists, are another strong feature.

The minstrels in their natty uniforms paraded through the principal streets this morning playing some of the latest marches, making the feet of the spectators, who were lined up along the line of march, keep time to the inspiring strains. The band will give a concert in front of the theatre tonight at 7:30, which will be well worth hearing.

STRAIT NOW ACCUSED OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

Samuel S. Swackhamer acted as prosecuting attorney for the Society of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of Somerset county, on the request of Miss Steele, of Somerville, in Justice Snape's court in the borough yesterday afternoon. Through his objection that the papers were not drawn up in proper legal form the charges of cruelty to animals preferred against Freeman Strait by the Society's representative, William Pangborn, of the borough, were dismissed. The case will be pressed when the papers are rectified, it is asserted.

Strait was formerly Game Warden of Watchung, and has figured in cruelty to animals cases before. He holds a lease on a farm owned by Girard H. Underhill. This lease includes the use of all live stock and horses. For some time past it is asserted by the Society's officer, Strait has been underfeeding and ill treating the horses, while another story says that Strait is doing it for spite against Underhill, who it is said is anxious to have strait vacate the property.

Strait will fight the case to a finish and has engaged Lawyer Thomas Stryker, of Trenton, to look out for his interests. The prosecution was in the hands of the Somerset county's Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animal's representative, Miss Steele. She was unable to appear in court and Swackhamer appeared in her place. One ground for the unsatisfactory drawing up of the papers, was that the case is being taken up by the county Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, instead of by the State society.

Boy Had the "Wanderlust."

The disappearance of Morris Gottscholt, a pupil at the Groszmann School, at Watchung Crest, was reported to the police by Dr. M. P. E. Groszman, the principal, this morning. The boy, who came to the school for treatment two days ago from his home in California, is seventeen years old, and has what the school physician calls a "nomadic temperament." The boy's "wanderlust" didn't result in his getting lost, because he was located three hours afterwards and brought back to the school.

PUNISH "BEER ARK" MEN

Seven Local Offenders are Fined by Judge Atwater at Elizabeth.

ALL FOR ILLEGAL SELLING.

John Hermann, Michael Ryan and John Hendricks Each to Pay a $200 Fine.

Seven of these indicted for illegal liquor selling in Plainfield were up for trial in Elizabeth this morning and in every instance were found guilty and fined. Charles Musser was fined $100 and stands committed until the fine is paid. James Regan was fined $100 and sentenced to thirty days in the county jail. John Herman and Michael Ryan were mulcted in the sum of $200 each. August Hendrick also came in for a fine of $200.

In the case against LeGrand and Gifford Beers, the restaurant keepers, each was fined $50 and they will stand committed until the amount is paid. R. N. Crane, of this city, appeared for the two last named men.

The cases against these men were called before Judge Atwater after true indictments had been found against them for selling liquor in Union county when their licenses were for Somerset county only. They were arrested in this city on June 11, all charged with selling liquor here without licenses and State wide interest was aroused in the matter.

"JOHN DOE" GUILTY; SENT TO REFORMATORY

Still refusing to give his real name to the authorities, John Doe was sentenced by Judge Atwater today to the State Reformatory for stealing a cow from James Carter (colored) a few days ago.

The reason assigned by Doe for withholding his name is that he wants to spare his family the shame of his crime, and its consequences. The man confessed, however, to a reporter that his family name was Kemp, but would not give his Christian name nor address.

South Plainfielder's Horse Killed.

John Geary, of South Plainfield, figured in a runaway in Perth Amboy yesterday. He drove down with a load of garden truck in a market wagon and left the team standing in front of a store while he entered the place presumably to sell some of his truck. The wagon was left in charge of John Crow, one of Geary's workmen. The horse became frightened at a passing automobile and bolted, throwing Crow off the wagon. It ran into an iron bridge, smashing the wagon and injuring itself so badly that it had to be destroyed. Crow ssutained several bruises on his head and face.

A New Colored Pastor.

Rev. George E. Scruggs, of Virginia, has been called to the pastorate of the Ebeneezer Baptist church, colored, of East Third street, and preached there for the first on last Sunday. He succeeds Rev. David W. Cannon, the former pastor, has accepted a call to the Calvary Baptist church at Norwich, Conn. Rev. Mr. Scruggs was formerly pastor of a colored Baptist church at Four Mile, West Virginia, and is a brother-in-law of Walter Ford, of West Third street, with whom he will make his home.

To Preach at Trinity.

During August, while Rev. John Y. Broek is on his vacation, Trinity Reformed's pulpit will be filled on three Sundays by Rev. Dr. E. P. Johnson, of New Brunswick, who temporarily had charge of the church after Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor-emeritus, was stricken and before Rev. Mr. Broek was called.

To Continue Union Services.

The arrangement among the First Baptist, First Presbyterian, Trinity Reformed and First M. E. congregations for union services, prevailing at present, will be continued through August. Two services will be held in each church excepting the First Presbyterian where two will be held.

"JOY RIDERS" HEARINGS TAKE PLACE TOMORROW

The case of the four automobile "joy riders," who miraculously escaped death near Metuchen last Tuesday, when the big touring in which they were riding turned turtle in a field on the Perth Amboy road, was postponed until tomorrow afternoon at the request of Assistant County Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., to City Judge William N. Runyon at the city court today. The hearing will be at 2 o'clock. Vincent W. Nash, Jr., represents the four chauffeurs, Hugh McIver, George M. Macintyre, George G. Mitchell and Walter Kattenring.

The counsellors had a court room argument about the postponement. The assistant prosecutor asked for an adjournment of the case until Friday, the last day when it can be heard, under the law. His reason was that his presence was necessary in Elizabeth this morning for cases in the county court.

Mr. Nash had made the trip to this city from Lake Hopatcong, where he is spending his summer vacation, and didn't want to make the trip twice in a week. He stated that his case was ready for trial, but when he appreciated the fact that Mr. Hetfield could not present the State's case today, he asked for an adjournment of thirty days. It was found that City Judge Runyon could not grant this extension, and it was finally decided that the case come to trial tomorrow afternoon.

FIRE DEPARTMENT'S PROBABLE TRANSFERS

Captain William F. Townley has been assigned to be in charge of No. 4 fire-house, now in course of construction in the Netherwood section, and will assume his duties there as soon as the building is ready for the firemen's occupancy. Mr. Townley, who is now in charge of No. 3 house on West Fourth street, will go to the new house with two men, but Chief Doane has not yet announced who these will be.

Taking Mr. Townley's place at the West End house will be George Mehl, of headquarters, who is now tillerman of the hook and ladder truck. Mr. Mehl is not a captain, but the appointment to take charge of the West End house is in the nature of a promotion.

Captain George Feiring, in charge of No. 1 house, will be shifted to headquarters, and Captain James Daly will go to No. 1 house from headquarters.

The Councilmanic fire committee, through its chairman, Councilman Herbert Buxton, has purchased from Fisk and Carroll, of New York, a handsome team of dapple greys for the new East End apparatus, and the animals are being kept on Long Island until the apparatus is put in commission at the new fire-house. Their cost was $650.

The carpenter work at the new fire-house will probably be completed by August 1. Alexander Milne, the contractor, has been hampered by delays in the work, but is pushing it as rapidly as possible toward completion.

GRIEF CAUSES DEMISE OF MRS. LOUISA BRITTON

Mrs. Louisa Britton, widow of the late John Britton, died at the home of her son Stephen, 1115 East Front street, yesterday in her seventy-second year from a general breaking down attributed to grief over the death of her husband which occurred about three months ago. The funeral will be held at Eatontown on Friday at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and the interment will be in Glenwood cemetery, West Long Branch.

Besides her son, Mrs. Britton leaves a brother, Charles Streightoff, of Brooklyn. She had been living with her son since the death of her husband who was connected with the National Express Company in New York City for many years. Mr. Britton was a descendant of the original Huguenot family of Brittons who landed at Staten Island in 1662 and were not connected with the families of the same name who are residents of Long Island.

Made Merry on the Mountains.

The members of the First Day School of the Society of Friends of this city enjoyed a picnic on the Watchung mountains yesterday afternoon. The party made the trip to the mountains early in the afternoon and an informal time was enjoyed until night.

HOLD WOUNDED BURGLAR

Oscar Schmidt is Sent to Jail to Await Grand Jury's Action.

HE CONFESSES THE OFFENSE.

Arraigned Before Judge Runyon, He Fails to Get $200 Bail—Vanderweg's Good Work.

Oscar Schmidt, the burglar shot in the foot by Patrolman Vanderweg near Clinton avenue, early on the morning of the Fourth of July, was remanded to the county jail at Elizabeth today to await the action of the grand jury for burglarizing the grocery store of E. R. Mills, of 1277 West Front street. He entered a plea of guilty, and bail was placed at $200 by City Judge Runyon. Schmidt could get no bondsman.

The wounded burglar, who has been at Muhlenberg Hospital since the shooting, is now able to move about with a cane, and was discharged from the hospital yesterday, when Chief of Police Kiely took him to a city court cell in the patrol wagon. The hospital physicians were unable to locate the bullet.

Schmidt, who says his home is in Philadelphia, was seen in the cellar of the grocery store shortly after midnight by the patrolman, who arrested him when he found that he was carrying several bottles of soda, some canned tomatoes and some jelly. He said he had taken the food to keep from starving to death on his way to Philadelphia from New York by foot. As officer and prisoner stood by the patrol box awaiting the arrival of the patrol wagon Schmidt dealt Vanderwegw a heavy blow in the stomach, and while the officer was gasping for breath, ran west along Front street. The patrolman shouted to him to stop and as he still kept on, fired and hit the running prisoner in the left foot.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Mr. and Mrs. Burner in Runaway at Shore.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Burner, of Jackson avenue, who are registered at the Miller Cottage, Atlantic City, had an exciting runaway experience at the railroad terminal upon their arrival Monday afternoon. They entered the hotel 'bus with their daughter, Miss Elsie Burner, and Miss Katheryn Rutledge, to be driven to the hotel, but at the slamming of the 'bus door, the horse took fright and started on a wild run before the driver, Morris Kahn, could seize the reins.

The 'bus with its frightened passengers, proceeded several blocks at a terrific speed and finally collided with a heavy express wagon. The force of the collision threw Mr. and Mrs. Burner out, and both were severely bruised on the concrete roadway. They were removed to the Atlantic City hospital in the ambulance, and Mr. Butler remained there over night, suffering from the shock.

FLYER KILLS A HORSE

Animal Torn from Potato Wagon at Dunellen is Thrown Fifty Feet.

ENGINE WHISTLE TOO LATE.

Trainmen Run Back to Find Onderdouk Unhurt—Gates at Crossing Up at the Time.

A westbound Philadelphia flyer struck a horse driven by John Onderdonk, of Piscataway at the Grove street crossing, Dunellen, of the Central Railroad of New Jersey at seven o'clock this morning, tore the animal from the wagon, hurled it fifty feet and struck the beast a second time, killing it.

Onderdonk was on his way to this city, where he was to deliver a large load of potatoes. The weight of the loaded wagon prevented its being damaged, as the train struck the horse squarely in the middle. The shafts were torn from the wagon, but aside from this no other damage was done. Onderdonk approached the tracks and as the gates were up supposed that the track was clear. As soon as he got over the westbound freight tracks, he heard a shrill whistle from an onrushing Philadelphia flyer. He whipped up his horse in an endeavor to back it up out of the way of danger; but seeing that a collision was inevitable jumped from his seat.

The train came to a stop and trainmen rushed back expecting to find a dead man. When the extent of the damage was learned the train continued on its way. The horse was removed from the tracks, and neighbors assisted in removing the wagon from the tracks, towing it to a local blacksmith shop.

Charles Williams, the gateman on duty at Grove street, had no explanation to offer as to why the gates happened to be up at the time. He has held the pos. there for fifteen years and has never had an accident before at his crossing. He has a good record in the service of the company and was much affected by the accident. Onderdonk values his horse at $200.

To Take Exams Tonight.

The newly elected sergeant and two corporals of Company K, of this city, will take their examinations tonight in the local armory. They take the examinations on short notice so as to get their commissions before the company goes to the camp at Sea Girt. The examinations are based on the manual of arms, guard duty, and extended and close order. These examinations are conducted by the State and are the same as those given in the regular army.

Underwent an Operation.

John Burns, proprietor of the Hotel Kensington, has returned from Hamburg, N. J., where he underwent a successful operation of the right eye. Four years ago, Dr. Tellett, of that place, removed a cataract from the eye, but since then a veil gradually covered the pupil. This veil, Dr. Tellett removed on Monday.

JOIN ORDER OF MERCY

Six Young Women Take Solemn Vows at Mount St. Mary's.

RECEIVE THEM ALL AS NOVICES.

Father William Miller Officiates in the Absence of the Right Rev. Bishop McFaul.

Mount Saint Mary's college, on the Watchung Mountains, was the scene of an interesting and impressive ceremony this afternoon when six young women were received into the Order of Mercy. In the absence of Right Rev. Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, Rev. Father William S. Miller, pastor of St. Joseph's church of North Plainfield, presided.

The novices received were Misses Anna Collins, of Bridgeton, Mary Monahan, of Jamaica, L. I.; Agnes Jones, of Malone, N. Y.; Genevieve McHale, of Phillipsburg; Charlotte Berel, of New York City, and Alice Dever, of Camden.

The novices entered the chapel in bridal array and invoked the Holy Ghost afterwards making their vows of perseverence. They then retired and changed their raiment to the habit of the order and were given the white veil and cloak which they will use on all solemn occasions until their full term as novices has expired and they become full members of the Order. At the conclusion of the ceremony Father Miller invoked again the aid of the Holy Ghost in behalf of the new Sisters

This was the first ceremony of the kind that has be n held in the new edifice and was attended by a large audience of friends and relatives of the young women.

BOROUGH DOG OWNERS MUST LICENSE THEM.

Ciro J. Morino was haled to the borough police court this morning to explain why a dog owned by him was not licensed as ordered in a borough ordinance. The borough police have started an active campaign against violators of this law, and Morino was mong the first offenders to be pprehended. On a promise that he would dispose of the dog, the case was dismissed by Recorder C. M. Dolliver.

It is asserted that numerous boroughites are allowing their bowwows to roam the borough streets without the necessary licenses, either ignoring the law entirely or else doing so from neglect. Hereafter all dogs found that are not properly licensed will be taken in tow by the police and owners will be called to account. No leniency will be shown offenders in the matter as sufficient warning has been given.

YOUNG LINKE AT WASHINGTON TO SEE PRESIDENT TODAY.

Julian Linke, one of the New York American's touring party, reports today having been taken under the wing of Congressman Bennett, and under his guidance visited the House of Representatives and Senate. Today the party is to be received by President Taft. Side trips were made to Mount Vernon, where Washington's tomb was visited. Miss Julia Lotts, formerly bookkeeper for Frank Linke, and now employed in the Pension Office, and her sister who is in the Navy Department, met the tourists at the Pennsylvania R. R. station, and enjoyed the trip to Mount Vernon with them.

Lodge Women Hold Sociable.

Under the auspices of the good and welfare committee of Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, a successful dime sociable was given at the home of Mrs. George Mobus, of Washington Valley, last night, when a neat sum was realized for the work of the lodge women. The evening was made more enjoyable by the rendition of numerous phonographic selections, and a bountiful watermelon supper was served at a late hour. Guests came from Mount Bethel, Warrenville, Martinsville and this city, the local delegation making the trip to the Mobus home in a large hay wagon.

Baraca Election.

The Baraca class of the Temple Baptist church held a business meeting last night and elected the following officers: Teacher, Rev. J. W. Musson; president, I. L. LaRue; vice president, C. L. Meyers; secretary, H. Bouton; financial secretary, Mr. Griffen; treasurer, Mr. Ellicott; librarian, I. E. Crow; reporter, J. Baker. After the meeting the Baracas joined the Philathea class, where ice cream, cake and sandwiches were served and a social time enjoyed.

LAYING OUT SHIP CANAL.

Government Engineers Busy at Chesapeake Creek Route.

Perth Amboy, July 21.—Government engineers have been at work for several days past at the mouth of the Chesapeake creek on the south shore, and along that stream inland, making preliminary survey of a route for sea level canal across New Jersey. Several possible routes are to be surveyed for a deep waterway across the State by the board of engineers appointed in pursuance of the river and harbor act recently passed by Congress.

This survey will be the first step taken by the government in this section of the country towards building the great ship canal that has been talked of during the last year or so. When New Jersey survey is completed the government engineers will make an investigation of the various routes suggested for continuing the canal through the State of Delaware.

Lieutenant-Colonel James C. Sanford, formerly engineer in charge of the Delaware River, is a member of the board which will make the survey.

The first unassisted triple play ever made by a player in a major league is credited to Neal Ball, of Cleveland, who negotiated the trick Monday in the first game of the double-header played there with Boston. Wagner and Stahl of the Boston team were on first and second respectively when McConnell slammed a liner to short. Ball caught it and jumped to second, putting out Wagner, who had started to third. Stahl, who had not expected that the liner would be caught, was running to second and before he had time to turn back Ball touched him out. Ball's exploit is a record for the major league. Paul Hines of the Providence team is credited with such a play, but many claim that he was assisted in the stunt by the second baseman. The Cleveland shortstop got a home run to his credit in the same inning and followed it up in the next inning with a double.

The first of the games at the Polo Grounds Monday was the longest game that was ever decided on that field. Last year Pittsburg and the Giants struggled for sixteen innings to a 2 to 2 tie.

St. Louis got a near triple play in the second session of the tail end of the double-header in New York on Monday. Murray was on third and O'Hara occupied second. Devlin cracked a liner toward third that looked good and both runners started. Byrne grabbed the liner, touched third and threw to the midway. It would have been easy but Byrne was nervous and threw high to Charles, permitting O'Hara to clamber back safely.

Bresnahan sprang two minor leaguers on the New Yorks Monday, both of them pitchers, and while they weren't heralded into the National League with a blare of trumpets they certainly resemble the goods in every respect. Harmon hails from Shreveport, La., in the Texas League, and Bachman is claimed by Portsmouth, O., of the Ohio State League.

STEALS WHEELS TO READJUST MAKEUP.

An artistic taste in theft has been shown by a 15-year-old boy under arrest in Elizabeth charged with the theft of twenty-four bicycles, one of which, a handsome loop frame machine, he gave to his little sweetheart. The rest of them he took to pieces and interchanged the parts so that their appearance was so altered as to make identification by a casual inspection almost impossible.

The boy is Leo Kestic, of Amboy avenue. He was araigned in the City Criminal Court before Judge Mahon yesterday and paroled in custody of his father, Joseph Kestic, for the action of the Juvenile Court. He was arrested Monday by Detective James Ward, acting under orders from Captain John A. Peters.

The boy seems not to have stolen the bicycles from any love of gain or simply for the sake of stealing, but because he wanted all his playmates to have bicycles, and because he liked to take them apart and put them together again. He displayed a genius at the latter occupation. None of the bicycles recovered were the same as they were when stolen. Some of them had the original frames only, the handlebars, saddles, etc., having been taken from other machines and put on the frame.

Young Leo was not to work reassembling the wheels yesterday as they were when he stole them, and he displayed remarkable aptitude at his task. He took the machines apart and unerringly selected the parts that belonged to each one. The owners of the bicycles themselves, on looking at their machines, confessed that they would be unable to accomplish the same task.

Four additional wheels, besides the twenty recovered, were found late yesterday at the direction of the boy.

HELD FOR SHOOTING BOY.

Jersey City Man Arrested for Hitting One of His Tormentors.

Jersey City, July 21.—Henry Vogler, 38 years old, of 39 Terhune avenue, a boxmaker, is under arrest charged with atrocious assault and battery for having shot 7-year-old Benjamin Minch, of 284 Cator avenue, in the left leg below the knee with a charge from a shotgun yesterday afternoon.

According to Vogler, some boys were playing at "cat" in front of his home and he ordered them to go away. They went away, but later returned, throwing stones at his house, hitting his mother and himself and the chickens in the yard. He went into the house and procured a shotgun and fired the charge into the ground.

Young Minch and his companions claim that Vogler fired into the crowd and made a complaint against him. Policeman Daniels making the arrest. The injured boy was sent to the City Hospital.

CARPENTER FALLS 24 FEET.

Harry Adler, a carpenter, is in the Elizabeth General Hospital suffering from fractures of the ribs, sustained in a fall from a new building at Elizabeth Monday.

He was working on the roof of a new structure at Washington avenue and Grove street, when the plank on which he was standing gave way and he fell to the ground, a distance of twenty-four feet. His injuries will probably not prove fatal.

GRAND CHIEF'S VISIT TO FREEDOM CASTLE

Grand Chief Sidney Hall, of Milleville, paid a fraternal visit to Freedom Castle, K. G. E., last evening. An informal social time was enjoyed by the members of the castle and speeches were made by Mr. Hall, Dr. J. H. Buchanan and H. J. Martin. Mr. Hall is the guest of Horace J. Martin for several days. Tonight in company with Mr. Martin and several members of the castle he will visit the South Orange castle. Later in the week visits will be paid to New Brunswick, Somerville and Perth Amboy.

Grand Chief Hall was much pleased with the showing made by the local castle which is the only one to finish the year with an increase in membership. The other castles in the State have suffered a loss in membership. This was due in part to economic conditions with generally affected the country after the panic of the fall of the year before. Plainfield also came in for some favorable comment by the Grand Chief who was much impressed with the beauty of the city. He also spoke favorably of the hospitality of the members of Freedom castle.

Turnip and Potato Soup.

This is the best of all vegetable soups. Cut into cubes enough white turnips to make a pint, enough potatoes to make a pint, enough carrots to make half a pint, cut also a half pint of the white part of celery, one large onion and a clove of garlic. Cook the onion slowly with three tablespoonfuls of butter for thirty minutes, then add two quarts boiling water, add the carrots and cook half an hour longer. At the end of this time add the turnips, celery, potatoes, garlic, a tablespoonful of salt, teaspoonful of sugar, and pepper to taste. Cook an hour longer and when ready to serve add a tablespoonful of chopped parsley.

WHAT MR. SWACKHAMER SAW THROUGH GLASSES

Former Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer lost his spectacles the other day and lost no time in resorting to the "want" columns of The Daily Press to bring about their recovery. No sooner had the paper made its appearance on the street than the eloquent lawyer was beseiged by persons who said they had found a pair of "specs" that might be his. One pair in particular, he thought might be his, but when he tried them on e experienced some funny s nsations.

This is the way Mrs. Swackhamer describes his examination:

"The spectacles I found are worse than useless to me. They make a dollar bill looks as big as a horse blanket.

"An angleworm is a boa constrictor.

"A glass of clear water is full of creeping things. Snakes stand on their tails and dance the Highland Fling.

"The ring opens and there is an exhibition of the ferocity of brutes, the cock fight, the dog fight, the bull fight and the prize fight.

"The curtain rises and there are the chorus girls and the ballet dancers in a giddy whirl and summer costume.

"You see the bony gambrels of the race horse and the telegraph poles look like a high board fence. Everything looks slippery and crooked as a water snake.

"These spectacles should be washed seven times in Jorden and the owner, whose nose I venture to say is not painted in water colors, should be treated for moral stigmatism.

"If he should make a misstep and pitch from the stage of action, would the world throw up the sponge or go on without him.

"Would the rivers swell with tears, or would earth curl her lip with a smile of approval.

"I wot not.

"If he dare not come for them in daylight, I will leave the kitchen door on the creek tonight, and he will find them in the bathroom, squinting just past the raw edge of the angle of vision."

BULLDOZING REPORTERS NOT TO BE TOLERATED

The Newark Evening News last night editorially directed its attention to the complaint made by John Townsend, a local reporter, against Chief Marshal George Weiss, of North Plainfield. After making a prompt investigation, the Mayor, in his official capacity, apologized to the reporter and stated that he had cause to feel aggrieved. He also announced his purpose to take the matter up with his police board in the near future.

"Bulldozing Reporters" is the subject treated by the News when it said editorially:

"A Plainfield reporter has filed charges against the chief marshal of the borough of North Plainfield, alleging that the latter, while in uniform, used vile and profane language in denouncing the newspaper man for an article that appeared in the paper by which he was employed, and also threatened him with personal violence. The complaint has been referred to Mayor Townsend, who is to make an investigation of the allegations.

"Considered by itself, this appears to be a small matter, affecting only an ordinary reporter and a municipal official. But the case has much significance. If the reporter's charges are correct—and they seem to be supported by competent witnesses, for the incident took place in a public office in the presence of a number of people—then it was an attempt on the part of a public official to interfere with the liberty of the press. The chief, in his anger, is said to have announced that the reporter could no longer secure news from his office and to have refused to permit the reporter to see the police blotter. This is an instance of unsurpation of power that is by no means infrequent on the part of police officials, who take the ground that they can dictate to the newspapers just what shall be published and what shall be suppressed. There was no assertion that the article complained of in the North Plainfield instance was untrue, but the chief did not wish it published for personal reasons. Mayor Townsend should give the complaint made the attention it deserves, and should rule upon it in a way to indicate that the bulldozing of newspaper men for doing their duty will not be tolerated."

Take a loin of mutton, trim off the outer skin and superfluous fat, and roast it or bake it, allowing twenty minutes for each pound of meat, and exposing it to a greater heat during the first half of the time than during the second half. ### GRANDPA'S SILK HAT.

"I didn't mean to do it," said the little boy, as the nice old gentleman held out the badly damaged hat for his inspection, relates the Chicago News.

"Then you did do it?" said the nice old gentleman. "You deliberately break into my wardrobe and convert it to the uses of a Hallowe'en celebration, do you? Haven't you any respect for the rights of property?"

"I didn't think it would hurt it," said the little boy. "I thought I—"

"You thought you would put it back, and I would never know it had been spiked to the top of an illuminated pumpkin?"

"It wouldn't stay on," objected the little boy.

"Of course I won't punish you," said the nice old gentleman, after a pause. "I hardly suppose you expect anything in the nature of a reward, but I won't punish you. I may mention the matter causually to your father when he comes home this evening, but he may take a penient view of the matter, especially as it isn't his hat."

"Don't tell him, gramper!" pleaded the little boy.

"I think it is my duty to tell him," said the nice old gentleman. "Anything you do is naturally of interest to your parents. If you show a destructive tendency it is hardly fair to allow them to remain in ignorance of it. How do you suppose, for instance, that I am going to church next Sunday? You wouldn't expect me to attend church in a frock coat and a traveling cap, would you?"

"No, sir," said the little boy. "But you might buy a new one," he said, hopefully.

"That's true," said the nice old gentleman, reflectively. "I guess I might do that. I could use the money I have been laying aside to buy you a present with. Yes, I shall have to do that. Still, it won't seem familiar. I've had that one nearly twelve years now, and it was like an old friend to me. I counted with the utmost confidence on its lasting me the rest of my natural life. Now look at it!"

"You aren't going to tell pa, are you?" begged the little boy.

The nice old gentleman rubbed his chin.

"Well," he said, "I don't know but I ought to. Still, if I thought there wasn't any personal reflection intended when you put my hat on a pumpkin, I might keep the secret locked in my own breast during your good behavior."

HINTS FROM FRANCE.

Some of the most attractive of the summer hats are of soft leghorn lined with figured foulard. These accord with semi-dressy gowns and make the costume complete for a tour of the shops and the inevitable "five o'clock."

To wear with the tailored suit the latest idea is a colored silk handkerchief to match the stocking visible above the buckled shoe. This is a fad that has become so popular that even the men have taken it for their very own.

The influence of the Orient has made itself felt for the last two years, but never more strongly than during this season. Japan has just sent to us some new and lovely parasols with handles wonderfully carved and ribs of wood. Many of these are appropriately covered with pongee, and they are almost exactly the shape carried in the land of cherry blossoms.

In the morning almost every other woman appears on the boulevard in a frock of foulard, and, strangely enough, they are almost all of black and white. This seems to be the favorite selection for the hours before 12, but in the afternoon, between dejeuner and the hour of tea, madame still wears foulard, but of chartreuse green. There seems to be a singular unanimity of opinion on this point, and the result is interesting.

LEMON WATER ICE.

One pound of lump sugar, one quart of boiling water, three or more lemons, four whites of eggs.

Put the sugar and water on the fire, and boil to a syrup; skim well and boil until it will form a good thread between your finger and thumb. Let it get cold. Rub three lumps of sugar on the rinds of the lemon to obtain the "zest," then add them to syrup.

When it is cold, add one cupful of strained lemon juice and half freeze it. Then add the stiffly whipped whites of eggs, beat them well in, and continue freezing.

PLAN NO NEW TERMINAL

Report That Jersey Central is Negotiating with P.R.R. Officially Denied.

AS TO USE OF THE TUNNELS.

Three Railroad Systems Would Be Benefitted by the Rumored Change If Made.

There is a prospect, it is said, that the Central Railroad of New Jersey will rent the Jersey Central station of the Pennsylvania Railroad when the latter moves into its new Thirty-fourth street station in Manhattan. The idea seems to be that in this way the Central can avail itself of the newly completed tunnels and land its passengers on Broadway in a few minutes. The Baltimore and Ohio, and the Reading, both of which also use the Jersey Central tracks would also share in the benefit.

An official of the Hudson and Manhattan said last night that he understood that the Jersey Central whose New Jersey terminus is now at Communipaw, and over whose lines the Reading and B. and O. trains come in, was considering the proposition.

At the office of General Manager William G. Besler, in the Liberty building, New York, it was said this afternoon that no arrangements had been made for that purpose. Mr. Besler was not at his office at the time, but his chief clerk stated that the general manager had told newspaper men that "no negotiations had been entered into with the Pennsylvania." Further than this he declined to make any comment. When asked whether the plan was being considered by the Jersey Central, he declared that he did not know.

FREEHOLDERS DECIDE TO ON GREENBROOK ROAD

The proposed improvements to Greenbrook road, by which the street will be widened, taking equal portions from each side, regardless of trees, which were authorized by the Somerset County Board of Freeholders, will be carried out. The original plans for the improvement of the road, it is said, can not be changed unless Mr. Brunson makes personal arrangements with each of the property owners who oppose his ideas. Unless he does this several shade trees that he was anxious to save, it is reported, will have to be cut down to make the necessary improvements to the road.

Representatives of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders Former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, Henry Jennings, Charles Debele, Charles Arnold and other property owners visited State Road Commissioner Gilkyson at Trenton yesterday for the purpose of having him straighten out the matter. Mr. Brunson was also present. As Commissioner Gilkyson has authority only to superintend matters relative to the actual construction of new roads and not their lines the matter was outside of his jurisdiction, and it now rests in the same position that it did a week ago. The freeholders have full power to act. Mr. Brunson, it is said, may endeavor to make an amicable settlement with the property owners in order to preserve his shade trees. He is willing, it is said, to spend considerable money to do this.

Midsummer Fashions.

Black Panama hats are among the midsummer importations, and these have much the apeparance and texture of Leghorn. Perhaps the smartest of the very late millinery are the straws in red-brown (a cinnamon shade), which are trimmed with black. These hats are especially affected in combination with rough tussor and heavy linen suits. With such suits, too, the fashion is growing of wearing shoes to match them. Some shoes of the more brilliant colors are positive offenses in the street, where they are most inappropriate.—Harper's Bazaar.

Chinese-American Arrives.

Hackettstown, July 21.—The initial visit of the stork to the Chinese laundry of Lem Hing, in Church street, is announced. He left a daughter. Hing married about two years ago Miss Cora Drake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Drake, of this place. Both mother and child are doing well.

At Proctor's

The vaudeville at Proctor's undergoes a change tomorrow, but there is still time to see one of the best bills ever put on the stage in this cool place of amusement. Frank Dale, the dancing comedian and the diminutive Rose Sisters are well worth seeing. The moving pictures are, as usual, of the best.

A Slight Joke.

"As for me," remarked young Muggsly, "I don't believe in the higher education for girls. The one I marry won't know Latin or Greek."

"I can readily believe that," rejoined Miss Slasher. "A girl who knows anything at all wouldn't marry you."—Chicago News.

APPEAL FOR HELP FOR THE LOCAL BABY CAMP

The summer camp under the direction of the Plainfield City Union of King's Daughters, sutuated on Watchung Mountain, is in charge of Mrs. E. L. Bird, an efficient matron, whose genial kindliness has endeared her to all those she has ministered to in this delightful summer resort for babies. The revenue for the maintenance of this work is derived from voluntary contributions consequently money and supplies are always needed for work of this character. There is perhaps no other similar charity which accomplishes so much real good for the outlay as is done in this camp.

Visitors are always welcome at the camp and Saturday afternoon has been selected as a general time of reception of visitors. Arrangements have been made for a short service every Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at which special music, both instrumental and vocal will be rendered, and an interesting speaker will address the company.

During the season of 1908 the camp continued for 47 days during which time 1,080 children and 283 adults were cared for. The expense for the entire camp, including labor and provisions was only $400. About twenty-five families shared in the benefits of the camp in many cases mothers and babies were nursed back to health and their lives saved through the ministrations of the fresh air camp.

Any one who wishes to contribute either money or supplies may send them to Mrs. F. W. Jones, 16 Mountain avenue, who is chairman of the camp committee. The camp can be reached by the Somerset trolley car leaving the car at the end of the line and going up the mountain by way of Johnson's drive, which with its easy grades makes the ascent easy and agreeable.

NEITHER SPALDING GETS A DIVORCE.

The suit for divorce instituted by Alexander J. Spalding, of Jersey City, against Mrs. Della J. Spalding, on the ground of desertion was decided at Paterson yesterday afternoon by Vice-Chancellor Stevenson. The petition of the husband and cross-bill filed by the wife were both dismissed.

In rendering the decision the court stated that in view of the fact the wife had placed the husband on a year's probation invalidated the claim of two years' legal desertion, the year's probation having been included in the husband's demand for divorce. He also said that in his opinion the couple ought not to be required to be bound to each other, but technically neither was entitled to a divorce.

There was a hearing in this suit in the morning at Jersey City. Mrs. Spalding admitted that she might have told her husband he would be a "better fellow" if he drank a bit.

"Did you tell your husband he would be a 'better fellow' if he drank?" she was asked.

"I may have said that," was her reply, blushing.

"Why did you say that?"

"Because he was always holding himself up a a model because he didn't drink." She also said that she had no love for her husband after the death of their child in 1906.

Spalding told of his efforts to have his wife come back and live with him. In reply to one question he said:

"Her people put the devil in me."

"What do you mean by that?" asked Vice-Chancellor Stevenson.

"Well," was the reply, "it's pretty hard to say; I guess I mean mischief."

The couple separated on May 11, 1906. Spalding is employed by an express company. He was once a member of the Fourth Regiment.

FOR 73 YEARS HAS BEEN CHOIR SINGER.

For seventy-three years a church singer, the oldest member of the great Ocean Grove Festival Chorus, in point of years and length of service. This is the dual record held by Augustus L. Wilcox, a former resident of Newark.

Mr. Wilcox has been singing in churches since he was a lad 12 years old. He is now past 85, and if he has grown aged in body, he has not done so in spirit. He never misses a rehearsal or public performance of the big choir. His voice, a deep bass, is retained in all its pristine vigor. For twenty-three years Mr. Wilcox sang in Newark, dividing the time between St. Paul's M. E. church, where he was in the choir for fourteen years, and Calvary Presbyterian church, where he remained over eight years.

Mr. Wilcox has sung in several other cities and for the past twenty years has been a familiar figure in the Ocean Grove choir. When the late John R. Sweeney, at the request of the Rev. Dr. Stokes, first president of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association, assumed leadership of the local choir, Mr. Wilcox was among the first to answer the call for singers. He has stuck to his post unremittingly ever since.

For forty years Mr. Wilcox was a resident of Newark. While living in that city he took a lively interest in politics and the cause of education. He served as a member of the Newark Board of Education many years ago. In 1860 he helped in organizing the Newark Republican central committee and was chairman of the committee to secure speakers.

Mr. Wilcox spends his winters in Florida. Desuite his years he finds plenty to do both winter and summer to satisfy the desire for an active, useful life.

WOLF AT LARGE IN WOODS NEAR MONTCLAIR.

A wolf prowling in the woods that skirt Upper Mountain avenue, Upper Montclair, yesterday sharpened the hunting instincts of men and boys living in the neighborhood. It was early in the afternoon when the cry "A wolf! A wolf!" was heard, and it wasn't the old proverbial cry, either, for there really was a wolfe loose in the woods. Mothers called their children into their homes and locked the doors and windows. The more courageous of the men and boys armed themselves and went on the trail of the wolf.

Things began to look dismal for the wolf. The woods were thoroughly beaten for the wild beast. At last one of the scouts of the hunting party caught sight of the quarry and sent a courier back to the main party. A council of war was held to adopt the best means of attack.

There was a man in the party who once had been out West, and he said that the best thing to do would be to shoot the wolf. That action was decided upon, and once again the trail of the wolf was taken up. The animal was again sighted and several guns were raised for the slaughter, but just then the scout saw that the animal was being led by a man. The guns were dropped, and once again the wolf's life was spared.

Then it was found that the wolf was a tame one belonging to Chapin Marcus, of Upper Mountain avenue, and that it had wandered from its home. When Mr. Marcus' gardener noticed its absence he went in quest of it and easily captured it.

A Particular Caller.

"Any callers today, my dear?" the man who had just moved into the suburbs inquired as he sat down to his delayed dinner.

"Yes," the wife replied. "One."

"A neighbor?"

"No, a servant girl."

"Good. Did she suit?"

"Yes, but we didn't."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Why Not?

Mother—Just run upstairs, Tommy, and fetch baby's nightgown.

Tommy—Don't want to.

Mother—Oh, well, if you're going to be unkind to your new little sister, she'll put on her wings and fly back to heaven.

Tommy—Then let her put on her wings and fetch her nightgown.—Technical World.

Evened Up.

The Dominie—I'm glad to hear you say you weren't angry with your father for punishing you for something you hadn't done.

Freddie—Oh, I got square with him all right. I did it afterward.—Puck.

KRINZMAN STORE HAS A $1,500 FIRE.

About 1,000 persons turned out Monday night to watch a fire in the store of Krinzman & Sons, at 219 First street, Elizabeth, which did about $1,500 damage. The blaze started in the basement, where there was a quantity of vegetables, meats and groceries stored, from some unknown cause.

Some children playing about the front of the store saw smoke issuing from it about 9 o'clock, and a man turned in an alarm from box 63, at Marshall and First streets. The firemen worked half an hour or more before the fire was out.

The basement of the store was flooded with water to a depth of three feet. Ten policemen were on hand to keep the crowd back. No one was injured. The fire was confined entirely to the cellar. The firemen had to tear away the flooring in two places to get the hose through.

UNDERWRITERS TO INSPECT ENGINES.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters was given permission by the Elizabeth Board of Fire Commissioners, at its meeting last night, to inspect the city's fire engines at some time to suit the convenience of the representatives of the underwriters and the local department.

The engines will be operated by their regular crew, and will be put through their paces according to suggestions from the underwriters.

Three representatives of the national board have been in Elizabeth for several days going over the department, the first inspection of its kind ever made in Elizabeth.

OLD INDIAN SCOUT DEAD.

John H. Naylor Was Once Picturesque Figure in Elizabeth.

The funeral of John H. Naylor, of Elizabeth, Civil War veteran and former Indian scout, was held from 1159 Elizabeth avenue at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Rev. Thomas E. Vassar officiating. Years ago Naylor was one of the most picturesque figures in Elizabeth.

Naylor, it is said, was known as "Buck" Naylor in his younger days and was a scout in many a bloody battle with the Indians, and traveled for years with Buffalo Bill. When he left the show business he settled in Elizabeth and used to be a familiar figure in Broad street, riding a sprightly bronco, with his long hair streaming in the wind and a brace of Colts in his belt. Then he started a riding academy.

Naylor died, aged 69, at the State Hospital at Morris Plains, Saturday night. His wife and two brothers survive him.

W. R. STARRETT BETTER.

Westfield Man Has Been Ill in Chicago Hospital.

William H. Starrett, of Westfield, who started for California two months ago, is still in a Chicago hospital, where he is receiving treatment for stomach trouble. Mrs. Starrett is with him, and from present indications he will be able to proceed westward in a few weeks.

Mr. Starrett was a candidate for Town Council in the Second Ward last fall, and is a member of Fireside Council, Royal Arcanum. Shortly after he left Westfield he was taken ill on the train and taken to the hospital, where he was operated on for appendicitis.

HER LOQUACITY LOST OUT.

Mrs. O'Donnell Talked Six Minutes Straight, but Uselessly.

If ever a prize is awarded to the woman who can talk the longest without pausing it will go to Mrs. Annie O'Donnell, of Bayonne, who talked for six minutes without stopping in court yesterday. She appeared against her neighbor, Mrs. Thompson, whom she accused of having called her names.

Several times the recorder rapped his gavel, but it was useless. The woman would not cease talking until she had finished telling her story. Then the case was dismissed.

HONOR FOR NOBLE CHILD.

Medal Due Rahwegian Vocalist, Who Volunteered Alone.

At a meeting called by the Rahway Board of Education, in the annex building No. 1, at which all the school children in the city were expected to assemble and arrange for the singing at the laying of the corner-stone, only one child put in an appearance. The committee is understood to have under consideration the presenting of a medal to this child. A brass band will now furnish the music instead of the school children.

DEMAGAUER STILL ALIVE.

Joseph Demagauer, the young man who was shot in the back in a saloon row at Elizabeth Saturday night, is still in the Alexian Brothers' Hospital, and the bullet has not yet been taken from his body.

Frederick Hines, of Butler street, and David Van Pelt, Jr., of Rankin street, were arraigned yesterday before Judge Mahon in the City Criminal Court, charged with having been participants in the disturbance, and were held in $200 bail each to await the action of the Grand Jury.

A HARD STRUGGLE.

Many a Plainfield Citizen Finds the Struggle Hard.

With a back constantly aching,
With distressing disorders,
Daily existence is but a struggle.
No need to keep it up.
Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you.
Plainfield people endorse this claim:

Robert Love, 44 Duer street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For eight or nine years I was a victim of kidney complaint. Every cold I contracted settled in my kidneys and caused my back to ache severely. heavy lifting or much standing on my feet gave me additional pain. In the morning upon arising, my back was in a bad condition and the lameness did not disappear until I had exercised for some time. I doctored and used several so-called kidney cures, but this was only a waste of money. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in the newspapers, I procured a box at Randolph's Pharmacy and began their use. When I had taken about half the contents of the box, my condition was greatly improved and before long the pain left me entirely. I will always speak a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills when the opportunity offers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

SEVEN KILLED IN DYNAMITE BLOW-UP.

Seven men are dead and one man is dying as the result of an explosion of dynamite at Vails, at the junction of Stanhope where the short cut to Lake Hopatcong on the Susquehanna Railroad is under construction.

The fatality took place yesterday morning at 11 o'clock and was due to the premature explosion of a number of sticks of dynamite used to blast a huge rock.

The sole survivor of the railroad gang, Vincent Santo, of Vails, was placed on the first train and after an all afternoon run was taken to St. Joseph Hospital, Paterson.

Santo was blinded by the accident, his right arm was torn off at the shoulder and his body mangled. The doctors have given up hope of saving his life. The men killed were all Italian laborers and were known only by numbers.

ROXANA SURVIVOR TELLS OF TRAGEDY.

Abraham Olsen, of 15 Hartley place, Bayonne, was one of the survivors of the ill-fated Roxana, the yacht which sank Sunday as a result of which eleven persons were drowned. He arrived home yesterday afternoon, and in speaking of his experiences said:

"When the boat sank we had nothing to keep us up except some empty beer cases and boxes. I was lucky enough to grab the edge of a case, which kept me afloat until I was rescued.

"All who did not sink—both men and women—were fighting and trying to hold on to the cases. Time after time men and women piled on top of me and we sank, but I managed to keep my grip. Then, after a long struggle, a launch rescued us. We were all so exhausted that we had to be taken to a hospital."

EAGLES' OUTING SUNDAY.

Elizabeth Aerie Expects to Have Good Time on Trip.

Plans are now complete for the annual excursion of the Elizabeth Aerie, Order of Eagles, to Wetzel's Grove, L. I., next Sunday.

The boat will leave the public dock at 9:45 sharp Sunday morning and stop at Bayonne to take on a large delegation from that city. The sail will be extended up the Hudson as far as Grant's Tomb, where the boat will turn back and go up Long Island Sound to the grove, where a dinner will be spread. After the dinner a field day will be held.

The committee in charge of the affair is composed of: Chairman, David Maloney; treasurer, George T. Carroll; secretary, John Trimble; Jeremiah Mallon, William P. Cavanaugh and William P. Neafsey.

HALF-PAY DAY PLANS.

Elizabeth Committee to Discuss Interesting Union County Towns.

Ways and means of developing the half-pay day movement in the towns and cities outside of Elizabeth will be considered by the board of directors of the Hospital Half-pay Day Committee at a meeting at the City Hall, Elizabeth, tomorrow night. Directors will probably be assigned individually to some of the towns to meet the local committees, tell them of the work and advise them how best to carry it on.

Inspected Roselle Roads.

Mayor Charles W. MacQuoid and the members of the street committee of the Roselle Borough Council made an automobile tour of the streets of the borough this afternoon to ascertain just what road repairs will be necessary.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

A pot of pomade for the complexion is one of the many interesting relics of long ago in the latest collection of Prof. Flinders Petrie, who with students of the British School of Archaeology in Egypt has just returned from six months excavation work in the ruins of Thebes and Memphis. It belonged to an Egyptian woman of quality who died in the seventeenth dynasty, some 3,650 years ago. A complete outfit of toilet requisites was buried with her. The mummy of the owner lies close by in the room at University College where the collection is being shown.

The pomade pot is delicately wrought in alabaster. The preparation has endured its thirty-six centuries of burial remarkably well, and still has a fresh perfume. It has not yet been submitted to analysis.

The painted coffin in which the mummy was found is hewn from a sycamore trunk. Inside the coffin was a wooden pillow or head rest inlaid with ivory and ebony, two beadwork pouches and a bead fly whisk. The toilet articles were contained in a beautifully woven basket. Besides the pomade, it held pots of a preparation for painting the eyebrows, a carved horn to hold oil and a blue marble dish resembling a pin tray.

The Egyptian woman was rich in jewelry. On the mummy were found oranments of gold weighing in all half a pound, and an exquisitely made girdle of electrum (gold and silver alloy). The gold oranments include a heavy necklace four bangles and a pair of earrings nearly two inches in diameter. Buried with the Egyptian woman were also several interesting specimens of pottery, a chair and footstool, cakes of bread and dishes of grapes, dates and other fruit. A dried dome palm fruit shows plainly the marks of a child's teeth. A needlework outfit, which also formed part of the Egptian woman's property, includes a bronze cutting out knife, a sharpening stone, two flints and a ball of thread. The tomb was found at Thebes in a valley to the north of the Tombs of the Kings and is probably the richest entire burial that has been brought from Egypt. The coffin was only placed under a foot or two of stones and earth.

The collection contains numerous other items of interest to Egyptologists, including foundation deposits of a temple at Thebes, built by the high priest Nebunnef, under Rameses II., various bronzes, specimens of delicate ivory carving, copper ringlets from a statue, a sandal, pans of blue and green color, scarabs, and jars of Greek forms of the seventh century B. C., with Greek monograms of owners, showing that probably a Greek garrison was resident there at that time. There are also two colossal negro heads, an alabaster female figure of Mediterranean style, and two coffins with mummies.

The great result of the year's work at Memphis appears to have been the discovery of the palace of King Apries—the Pharaoh Hophra of the Bible—who was contemporary with Jeremiah. Hitherto no palace had been known in Egypt beyond the tower of Medinet Habu and some portions of rather earlier date. Now there is a great building about four hundred feet long and half as wide preserved to ten or fifteen feet high. The stone lined halls, of which seven remain, were over forty feet long, while there were brick halls nearly as large, the walls of which were about fifteen feet thick. Some good bronze figures of gods were found, but the one supreme piece was a fitting of a palanquin of solid silver a pound in weight decorated with a bust of Hat-hor with a gold face. Of the finest workmanship of the time of Apries and probably unique, it remained in the Cairo Museum.—London Correspondent, New York Sun.

A NEW BRAND OF THEFT.

Two boys, John O'Leary and Joseph Frier, were arrested by Detective Doody at Elizabeth yesterday and charged with snatching handkerchiefs, hats, etc., through the windows of excursion trains.

Chief Gray of the Central Railroad detectives, in a telegram of instructions to Doody, ordered him to make arrests of boys who station themselves on signal poles and along the railroad tracks and as excursion trains pass grab handkerchiefs, hats and other articles waved by children from the windows. Gray said that reports have been made to him that a large amount of valuables have been lost in this manner.

Doody took up his station along the Long Branch Railroad yesterday and succeeded in arresting the two boys. Complaint against them will be made today in Judge Mahon's court.

COOL BOY PREVENTS PANIC.

Camden, July 21.—"Excuse me, ladies and gentlemen, but there is a small fire next door, and perhaps you had better walk out."

Harry Jones, 15 years old, delivered this message in a cool, even voice to a large audience in the Star Parlor, a picture show at 605 Broadway, last night, and the audience filed calmly out.

The lad accidentally set fire to some draperies while looking for a scarf pin with a match in his home, at 603, adjoining the theatre, and his first thought was for the safety of the audience. The loss by the fire was $1,800.

CHAPTER VIII.

The Misunderstanding.

No attempt was made to minimize the truth that the blow to the division was a staggering one. The loss of Smoky creek bridge put almost 3,000 miles of the mountain division out of business. Perishable freight and time freight were diverted to other lines. Passengers were transferred; lunches were served to them in the deep valley, and they were supplied by an ingenuous advertising department with pictures of the historic bridge as it had long stood, and their addresses were taken with the promise of a picture of the ruins. The engineering department and the operating department united in a tremendous effort to bring about a resumption of traffic. Glover's men, pulled off construction, were sent forward in trainloads. Dancing's linemen strung arc lights along the creek until the canyon twinkled at night like a mountain village, and men in three shifts worked elbow to elbow unceasingly to run the switchbacks down to the creek bed. There, by cribbing across the bottom, they got in a temporary line.

McCloud spent his days at the creek and his nights at Medicine Bend with his assistant and his chief dispatcher, advising, counseling, studying out trouble reports, and steadying wherever he could the weakened lines of his operating forces. He was getting his first taste of the trials of the hardest worked and poorest paid man in the operating department of a railroad—the division superintendent.

To these were added personal annoyances. A trainload of Duck Bar steers, shipped by Lance Dunning from the Crawling Stone ranch, had been caught west of the bridge the very night of the fire. They had been loaded at Tipton and shipped to catch a good market, and under extravagant promises from the livestock agent of a quick run to Chicago. When Lance Dunning learned that his cattle had been caught west of the break and would have to be unloaded, he swore up a horse in hot haste and started for Medicine Bend. McCloud, who had not closed his eyes for 60 hours, had just got into Medicine Bend from Smoky Creek and was sitting at his desk buried in a mass of papers, but he ordered the cattleman admitted. He was, in fact, eager to meet the manager of the big ranch and the cousin of Dicksie. Lance Dunning stood above six feet in height, and was a handsome man, in spite of the hard lines around his eyes, as he walked in; but neither his manner nor his expression was amiable.

"Are you Mr. McCloud? I've been here three times this afternoon to see you," said he, ignoring McCloud's answer and a proffered chair. "This is your office, isn't it?"

McCloud, a little surprised, answered again and civilly: "It certainly is; but I have been at Smoky Creek for two or three days."

"What have you done with my cattle?"

"The Duck Bar train was run back to Point of Rocks and the cattle were unloaded at the yard."

Lance Dunning spoke with increasing harshness: "By whose order was that done? Why wasn't I notified? Have they had feed or water?"

"All the stock caught west of the bridge was sent back for feed and water by my orders. It has all been taken care of. You should have been notified, certainly; it is the business of the stock agent to see to that. Let me inquire about it while you are here, Mr. Dunning," suggested McCloud, ringing for his clerk.

Dunning lost no time in expressing himself. "I don't want my cattle held at Point of Rocks!" he said, angrily. "Your Point of Rocks yards are infected. My cattle shouldn't have been sent there."

"Oh, no! The old yards where they had a touch of fever were burned off the face of the earth a year ago. The new yards are perfectly sanitary. The loss of the bridge has crippled us, you know. Your cattle are being well cared for, Mr. Dunning, and if you doubt it you may go up and give our men any orders you like in the matter at our expense."

"You're taking altogether too much on yourself when you run my stock over the country in this way," exclaimed Dunning, refusing to be placated. "How am I to get to Point of Rocks—walk there?"

"Not at all," returned McCloud, ringing up his clerk and asking for a pass, which was brought back in a moment and handed to Dunning. "The cattle," continued McCloud, "can be run down, unloaded, and driven around the break to-morrow—with the loss of only two days."

"And in the meantime I lose my market."

"It is too bad, certainly, but I suppose it will be several days before we can get a line across Smoky creek."

"Why weren't the cattle sent through that way yesterday? What have they been held at Point of Rocks for? I call the thing badly managed."

"We couldn't get the empty cars up from Piedmont for the transfer until today; empties are very scarce everywhere now."

"There always have been empties here when they were wanted until lately. There's been no head or tail to anything on this division for six months."

"I'm sorry that you have that impression."

"That impression is very general," declared the stockman, with an oath, "and if you keep on discharging the only men on this division that are competent to handle a break like this, it is likely to continue!"

"Just a moment!" McCloud's finger rose pointedly. "My failure to please you in caring for your stock in an emergency may be properly a matter for comment; your opinion as to the way I am running this division is, of course, your own; but don't attempt to criticise the retention or discharge of any man on my pay roll!"

Dunning strode toward him. "I'm a shipper on this line; when it suits me to criticise you or your methods, or anybody else's, I expect to do so," he retorted in high tones.

"But you cannot tell me how to run my business!" thundered McCloud, leaning over the table in front of him.

As the two men glared at each other Rooney Lee opened the door. His surprise at the situation amounted to consternation. He shuffled to the corner of the room, and while McCloud and Dunning engaged hotly again, Rooney, from the corner, threw a shot of his own into the quarrel. "On time!" he roared.

The angry men turned. "What's on time?" asked McCloud, curtly.

"Number One; she's in and changing engines. I told them you were going west," declared Rooney in so deep tones that his fiction would never have been suspected.

Dunning, to emphasize, without a further word, his disgust for the situation and his contempt for the management, tore into scraps the pass that had been given him, threw the scraps on the floor, took a cigar from his pocket and lighted it; insolence could do no more.

McCloud looked over at the dispatcher. "No, I am not going west, Rooney. But if you will be good enough to stay here and find out from this man just how this railroad ought to be run, I will go to bed. He can tell you; the microbe seems to be working in his mind right now," said McCloud, slamming down the roll-top of his desk. And with Lance Dunning glaring at him, somewhat speechless, he put on his hat and walked out of the room.

It was but one of many disagreeable incidents due to the loss of the bridge. Complications arising from the tie-up followed him at every turn. It seemed as if he could not get away from trouble following trouble. After 40 hours further of toil, relieved by four hours of sleep, McCloud found himself, rather dead than alive, back at Medicine Bend and in the little dining room at Marion's. Coming in at the cottage door on Fort street, he dropped into a chair. The cottage rooms were empty. He heard Marion's voice in the front shop; she was engaged with a customer. Putting his head on the table to wait a moment, nature asserted itself and McCloud fell asleep. He woke hearing a voice that he had heard in dreams. Perhaps no other voice could have wakened him, for he slept for a few minutes a death-like sleep. At all events, Dicksie Dunning was in the front room and McCloud heard her. She was talking with Marion about the burning of Smoky Creek bridge.

FURS Will Not Be Cheaper in Many a Day Than They Are Being Sold in This Advance Sale of Ours.

When we say that we can sell you furs this year at lower prices than we sold them last season notwithstanding the tremendous advances in furs of all sorts you have some reason to be skeptical tho little reason to really doubt it, for this store does not mis-state facts. But for those who are skeptical we present two examples of this year's low pricing which can be readily verified by anyone.

Lynx Skins now cost no less than $35, yet we will sell thruout the month of July during the run of this sale, beautiful Lynx Muffs in rug or flat shape, with heads and tails, or superb Lynx Scarfs for only $29.50.

36-in. Near Seal Coats were sold here last year at the low price of $55. No store beat that price. Yet in this July Sale we are offering 50-in. Near Seal Coats for only $59—beautifully made and richly lined.

You may guide by these examples as they are indicative of the pricing all along the line.

The 50-in. Pony Coats we are selling at $35, $37.50 and $39 are wonderfully cheap.

The 36-in. Pony Coats at $29.50 are as good bargains.

Squirrel Muffs are here for as little as $5.50; Mink Muffs for as much as $175.

Squirrel Scarfs may be had for as little as $3.75, and you may buy superb Mink Scarfs for as much as $250.

Anyone desiring to buy furs in this sale may take advantage of the special prices, pay a small deposit, and have the furs laid aside for them until they are needed in the fall. It is a grand opportunity all should take advantage of.

The New Chalmers Cars for 1910

No Increase in Price

Note the pictures. Our "30" has a 115-inch wheel base—with 34-inch wheels. A longer, higher hood to accord with a roomier tonneau. Lines like the costliest cars on the market.

Yet not a penny of additional price. The car still sells for $1500. Let us tell you how we have done it.

1,000 More Cars

Last season's output of "30's" was 2,500 cars, yet we ran 800 cars short of our orders. We were obliged to refuse trade to the extent of $1,200,000.

This year we have built a new factory, and our 1910 output of "30's" will be 3,500 cars. Those 1,000 extra cars will be made without adding a dollar to our fixed expense.

They will also be made with last year's tools and machinery. We have almost no new expense there. For mechanically, the car is not altered at all. Experience has shown us no way to improve it.

Thus we effect immense savings. And all of these savings have gone into the car—to make it more sightly, more roomy, more like the costliest cars.

Nine Per Cent Profit

Our profit this season will be the same as last season—exactly nine per cent.

Our customers have created these savings by calling for more of our cars. And every penny we save will be spent in giving them more beautiful cars. That is our permanent policy.

Please note the result. Note what a large and showy car—note the exquisite lines. Just think that $1500 now buys this amazing car.

Lower Prices

We will fit this $1500 car with a Bosch magneto, a Prest-O-Lite gas tank, and two Atwood-Castle gas lamps—all for $100 extra. The regular price of these extras is $125.

We will furnish our "30" with a Lenox mohair top for $75 extra. The regular price is $125.

We shall give you all the advantage of our quantity buying. So this 1910 model, fully equipped, costs you $135 less than did our 1909 model, equally equipped.

A longer, higher hood, roomier tonneau, longer wheel base, larger wheels and daintier lines. Yet the cost equipped is considerably less than the model of 1909.

No Records Like These

One of the Chalmers-Detroit "30's" has been run 32,000 miles, and has just completed a path-finding trip from Denver to Mexico City. Never has any car, at any price, made an equal endurance record.

Owners have paid us for repairs on their 1909 cars exactly $2.44 per car. That is a world's record.

On June 18th, a "30" won the Indiana Light Car Race, the greatest contest of its kind ever held in America, doing 232.74 miles at an average speed of 51.5 miles per hour.

On an economy test, made by the New York Auto Dealers' Association, it ran 25.7 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Never has a car at any price proved so satisfactory. Never did a car show such low cost for upkeep.

That is why we make no radical mechanical changes. Experience has proved that the 1909 "30" is absolutely right mechanically.

The Larger "Forty"

Our "Forty" for 1910 has 36-inch wheels. The wheel base is 122 inches—ten inches longer than last year. The car seats seven, while last season's seated five.

Upholstered in hand-buffed leather. Fitted with Bosch magneto, gas lamps and gas tank free.

Yet the price remains $2,750.

We will equip this car with a $150 Newport mohair top for $125 extra. The two extra seats will cost you but $75.

So this larger car, with larger wheels, when fully equipped, costs considerably less than last year.

This is our "Forty's" fifth season. It is known far and wide as the best medium-priced car on the market. It has been purchased by scores of the best experts in America for their personal use.

This season, with its extra room, there is not a car at any price which can reasonably claim to excel it.

Made as touring car, roadster and pony tonneau.

See These New Cars

Every Chalmers-Detroit dealer now has photographs of these new models. Demonstrating cars will be ready this month. Deliveries to users begin August 1st.

See them before you buy.

The tide of automobile demand is turning to these medium-priced cars. Not alone because of their prices, but mainly because of their savings on upkeep. The day of extravagance is past.

Last season these cars had no real competition. The demand was a third greater than could be supplied. This season, no medium-priced car will be anywhere near in their class.

Get your order in early, for orders are filled in rotation. August delivery gives you five months' use before the car's year begins.

Made by Chalmers-Detroit Motor Company, Detroit, Mich.

Won 2 firsts and one second prize Johnston's Drive Hill Climb Contest, and made the best time for the day.

Peerless A. C. Defeated.

The Peerless A. C. was defeated by Perth Amboy Sunday by the score of 12 to 11 in a game that was fast and full of heavy batting. Miller, from Scotch Plains was in the box for the Peerless boys, and allowed but seven hits. Schroffer caught him in fine style. Mullin poled out a home run in the third inning with three men on bases. Errors were the cause of the Peerless' defeat as they made eighteen hits. The fielding of the Perth Amboys and their timely batting earned them the game.

JAIL DOORS CLOSE ON BOY WHO SLEW.

Now smiling and now crying as he answered the prosecutor's questions, John Kane, of Burlington, the 12-year-old boy who last Saturday shot and killed 4-year-old Frances Ford, half in play, half in earnest, proved the most interesting witness at the inquest yesterday before Coroner Bisbing, at Mt. Holly. The lad was held for the killing and remanded to jail.

Rather small for his age, with his round face plentifully freckled, the boy looked like anything but a murderer, and a murmur of pity ran through the room as he was called to the witness stand.

The boy expressed a desire to tell of the tragedy and the prosecutor asked him if he knew what would become of him if he told an untruth.

"Yep, you'd send me to the reform school," answered the boy.

"But if you died, what would become of you then, Joe?"

"I'd go to the bad man," he replied.

The little prisoner then rehearsed the events leading up to and surrounding the tragedy, which were substantially the same as he had given in an earlier confession. He again changed the story to deny that he shot the gun deliberately.

"Tommie had the gun and I took it away from him," he said. "Frances came around the corner. 'Look out, I'm going to shoot you,' I said. She began to cry and then the gun went off. I had my hand on the trigger, but I just pressed it a little. I didn't mean to kill her, we was good friends and often played together."

For nearly an hour and a half the jury deliberated before returning a verdict of manslaughter, which was the mildest form under which the boy could be held.

"Joe's" mother broke into tears as the assistant prosecutor read the verdict and nearly swooned when Coroner Bisbing remanded the boy to jail to await the action of the county authorities.

Joe gravely shook hands with several boy chums, who said they were very sorry for him and hoped he would get out soon. But he shed never a tear.

OPPOSE VOTING MACHINE

Democratic Club to Petition for Removal of Automatic Devices.

THERE ARE FOUR IN THIS CITY.

Minority Party Workers to Get Signatures for Petition to Common Council.

The question of removing the voting machines at elections in this city, was the main topic of discussion at the second regular meeting of the Plainfield Democratic club last night. A constitution and by-laws were also introduced and adopted.

As there is a time limit for the bringing to the Common Council the petition of the people for a vote to decide on the removal r continuance of the voting machine, committees were appointed to solicit signatures for petitions to be presented to the Council at its next regular meeting on August 2. The first election district in each ward being affected by the voting machines, member of the club representing these districts were appointed by President Leroy J. Ellis as follows: First ward, W. L. Hetfield; Second ward, James E. Martine and H. W. Marshall; Third ward, Leroy J. Ellis and J. P. McCarthy; Fourth ward, J. H. Schleif and John F. Casey.

The meeting was not very well attended, only twleve members being present, but what was lacking in numbers was more than made up in enthusiasm. Frank J. Shattle was made temporary secretary. The committee on nominations was not ready with candidates for the offices of first and second vice-presidents, secretary and treasurer, so these important offices are still unfilled. The next meeting, which will really be a continuation of last night's gathering, will be held Wednesday evening, August 4.

Section two, of the constitution, contains in a few comprehensive phrases the objects and purposes of the club, and read as follows: "The objects and purposes of this organization are to declare and give renewed force to the principles of the Democratic party; to expose and oppose the false and unrepublican teachings and tendencies of the Republican party; to make earnest appeal to our fellow citizens for their active support in the struggle of our people for government in accordance with a strict construction of the Constitution of the United States; for taxation for revenue only, according to Government needs and for individual opportunity and honest industry against the growing greed of monopoly, seeking by all honest means the nomination and election to office of such men only as will pledge their energies to the faithful carrying out of the objects herein declared."

It was decided to hold the annual election of officers on the third Wednesday of January of each year. The question as to who is eligible to membership in the club brought forth considerable discussion, but it was finally decided that "any good Democrat in Union county may become a member on approval by the Executive Committee."

Members of the county committee residing in the city will be invited to attend the next meeting and it is hoped by then to have the organization in a flourishing condition.

FIREMEN SAVE TOOLS WHEN CARPENTERS' SHED BURNS.

Prompt action on the part of the firemen prevented the destruction of several hundreds of dollars worth of carpenters' tools when fire was discovered in the tool house near a residence being erected by the Geo. E. Hall construction company, on Denmark road, near Osborne avenue, last night, at about 6:30 o'clock. The cause of the fire is said to have been spontaneous combustion among oily rags, but it might have been caused by smoking.

The fire department was notified by telephone by Mrs. David Hand, of Berkeley avenue, who saw the flames from her piazza. The firemen turned a chemical stream on the blazing building and succeeded in saving two carpenters' chests of tools, stored there. The damage amounts to about $50. The building was owned by James Manning, contractor for the new house near which it stood.

All Netherwood turned out to see the fire, which was the first show of excitement since the great (?) automobile parade of the Charter Day demonstration visited that section.

Electric Wires for Church.

William H. Pope has the contract for wiring the new Netherwood Reformed church, on Leland avenue. The Public Service Corporation has extended its wires to the church and hereafter that edifice will be lighted by electricity.

SIX TAKE ORDER'S VOWS

Novitiate for the Sisters of Mercy Received at Mount St. Mary's.

FATHER MILLER OFFICIATES.

Monsignor Connolly, Dean Mulligan and Other Priests Witness the Ceremony.

Six young women who have been candidates for six months, began their novitiate, following the reception of the Sisters of Mercy at Mt. St. Mary's College yesterday afternoon, as told exclusively in yesterday's Daily Press. They are now beginning their time of trial which will last for two years, after which, should they decide to continue the life, they will become professed. Otherwise, they will leave the life and return to worldly duties. The beautiful and impressive reception ceremony was held for the first time yesterday at the college.

Dressed as brides the six young women entered the college chapel to the music of the community choir. Then followed a few short words of exhortation by the Rev. William H. Miller, of St. Joseph's church, who officiated in place of the Rt. Rev. Bishop McFaul. He explained the life that they were to pursue, its beauties and rewards, and ordered them to the best of their ability to follow the life marked out by the Savior, and to follow a life of sacrifice and of devotion to the poor. Then they retired and after a few moments returned in the religious garb of the Sisters of Mercy—black habit and white veil. They entered each bearing a lighted candle, while the community choir sang in Latin. At the altar they received parts of their religious dress: White cloak, and white veils and rosaries. The ceremony was concluded with the benediction and the blessed sacrament. Then the candidates were allowed to retire and greet their friends and relatives. The Rev. Father Miller, who conducted the religious ceremony, was assisted by the Rev. J. Baldwin, chaplain of Mt. St. Mary's College.

Miss Anna Collins, Brighton, Sister M. Lucia; Miss Mary Monahan, Salverton, N. Y., Sister M. Dominica; Miss Agnes Jones, Malone, N. Y., Sister M. Josephine; Miss Genevieve McHale, Phillipsburg, Sister M. Hildegarde; Miss Charlotte, Berel, New York, Sister M. Euphrasia; Miss Alice Dever, Camden, Sister M. Reginald.

The visiting priests were: Dean Mulligan, Camden; Monsignor Connolly, Phillipsburg; The Rev. Fathers Patrie, Atlantic City; Haggerty, Bridgeton; Quinn, Phillipsburg; McConnell, Belmar; Lee, Jamaica, L. I.

The ceremonies of profession and reception also will again be held at Mt. St. Mary's College about January 6 next.

A Democratic Probe.

At the meeting of the Democratic Club last night, toward the close of the proceedings, J. F. V. Dilts inquired as to the whereabouts of the furnishings of the old organization, stating that he was under the impression that there were some eighty chairs and other articles which might now become useful to the new club. P. J. Reville, who at one time had the goods and chattles of the old organization in his charge responded that from one cause and another the chairs had disintegrated owing to disuse and as an available asset they might be considered as non-existent.

Fresh Air Camp.

The meeting at the Netherwood Fresh Air camp this evening will be in charge of the Christian Endeavor Society of Warren chapel, and will be led by President Charles S. Windham. Miss Nora Schenck will sing a solo and Mrs. Ida and Miss Edith Wheeler will sing a duet. Martin A. Korff will render violin solos. The society will leave on the 7:30 trolley from the North avenue station and all those interested in the camp are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Baptist Excursion.

The First Baptist church excursion to Ocean Grove left this morning with about a thousand people on the train, which was in one section of fourteen cars. When the train left here the weather was delightfully cool and no signs of rain were seen, but the reports from along the coast since early morning would indicate that the excursionists have run into a rain storm.

REGAN IN MORE TROUBLE

Justice Snape Holds Him in Bail on Charge of Felonous Assault.

ON CHILDREN'S TESTIMONY.

Alleged that Defendant Fired Two Shots in Their Direction July 14.

Patrick Regan, who was fined ten dollars by Recorder Dolliver on July 14 for discharging firearms in the borough without a license, was held in $150 bail by Justice Snape yesterday afternoon, to await the action of the Somerset county grand jury at the September term on a charge of felonious assault and attempt to kill. On the evening of Wednesday, July 14, some children, among whom was Miss Bertha Goldstein, a daughter of Louis Goldstein, were sitting under a tree opposite Regan's house on Harrison street. They claim he came out of his house and fired two shots in their direction and then immediately went back in again.

The borough police had authority to punish Regan for discharging firearms without a license, which is contrary to the borough statute, but the question as to whether assoult with probable intent to kill could be proved against Regan comes under the jurisdiction of the State, and for this reason the case came up before Justice Snape yesterday afternoon.

According to the testimony submitted yesterday, the court deemed that the evidence warranted holding Regan on the serious charge of felonious assault. Bad feelings have existed between Goldstein and Regan for some time. This feeling, it is alleged, is also shared by Jacob Keller, Walter Carver and other neighbors of Regan in the vicinity of Harrison street and Cedar street. Hence when Miss Bertha Goldstein testified that she heard someone coming from the Regan house at about 9 o'clock at night, who fired two revolver shots in the direction of a street lamp under which she and some friends were sitting, and further that the bullets could be heard whizzing by her head, the court held that the shooting could not have been accidental, and that it bore the evidence of mischievous intent.

But one point of Miss Goldstein's testimony was shaken, and that was when Walter Carver, a fifteen year old boy, asserted that he thought that only one shot had been fired. Keller, who lives next door to Regan, testified that he had heard some one emerge from the Regan house, fire two shots, and then slam the door. Regan on the contrary swore that he was in bed at the time that the alleged shooting took place, and that he was awakened by his daughter when it occurred. His wife followed him to the door to find out what the shooting was about, he said. She verified his testimony.

Samuel S. Swackhamer represented Regan and Judge William N. Newcorn appeared for the prosecution. The case will come up before the grand jury September 14.

YOUNG PEOPLE PICKNICKED AT NEW BRUNSWICK.

Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Finn chaperoned a party of young people, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, in a delightful picnic outing near New Brunswick Tuesday. The trip was made by trolley, and supper was served at the Phillips Farm, near New Brunswick, where tables were prepared under the trees.

In the afternoon, the party went canoeing on the Raritan river, and during the day the picnickers enjoyed hay rides and played various outdoor games. The party included Mrs. James S. Pray, Mrs Compton and the Misses Eleanor Stutsman, Mabel Stutsman, Anna M. Clarke, Mary Leveridge, Arline Brown, and Marion Mortimer.

Sneak Thief There.

Augustus S. Schoot, of Union Village, was the victim of a sneak thief last night. During his absence in the evening some one got into the house by raising a window screen. The thief found a pair of Mr. Schoot's trousers in which there was a roll amounting to $60, with which he made an effectual escape, leaving no clue behind.

Plainfielder Promoted.

S. O. Rush, of 247 Leland avenue, has been promoted to Assistant Transfer Agent of the Kansas City Southern Railroad. He is now secretary to the chairman of the executive committee of the Kansas City Southern railroad, who is the president of the Delaware and Hudson railroad.

At the Plainfield Rescue Mission tonight at 8 o'clock, in W. C. T. U. hall, the Babcock building, Rev. Ora J. Shoop will speak. There will be special singing by the Misses Sadie and Mattie Banker. All are welcome.

FORMER PLAINFIELDER BURIED IN BROOKLYN

Frank W. Vail, formerly a resident of this city, and well known to many Plainfielders as stage manager of the "Lola From Berlin" company, which opened at the local theatre last August, died at his home in Brooklyn Sunday night. Several of his relatives, living in this city, attended the funeral held at his late home Tuesday afternoon.

Surviving Mr. Vail is his wife, who was with the "Lola From Berlin" company last year, and scored a success by her dancing. About ten years ago, Mr. Vail left this city, where he had made his home on Waynewood place, and moved to Brooklyn. Recently he went to Dallas, Texas, for his health, but returned to Brooklyn about a week ago. He and his wife had signed contracts to play with a new Cohan & Harris production during the coming season. Mr. Vail was a cousin of Fireman Edward Vail, of No. 1 engine house and of William B. Vail and Miss Elsie Vail, of West Front street.

PREMIERE PERFORMANCE OF "THE GAY HUSSARS"

Henry W. Savage has secured a new musical piece which he thinks will rival if not excel the great record made by "The Merry Widow." It is called "The Gay Hussars," and he will offer it to the public for the first time on any stage at the Plainfield Theatre on Tuesday night. The importance of this announcement will be apparent when it is considered that the entire play and production will be taken from here intact to open at a Broadway theatre in New York the following night. The size of the undertaking is realized when it is stated that an entire special train is required to transport the company, scenery and effects to Plainfield and that Mr. Savage will bring here the complete production exactly as he will present it in New York.

Not only are there three complete sets of scenery, constructed upon an imposing scale, but the costuming is the most gorgeous of anything he has ever shown to the public. The gowns worn by the women of the company were imported from Vienna and are exact duplicates of those of the original production which is now running in Vienna, Berlin and Munich. Accompanying "The Gay Hussars," is a special orchestra of thirty picked musicians, a Hungarian band and a trained stage crew, the entire organiztion consisting of over 100 people. Mr. Savage himself, will be present to view the new production upon which he has expended thousands of dollars and which it is confidently expected will run in New York for months to come.

The title of "The Gay Hussars" in German is "Ein Herbstmanoever." It was written by Karl Von Bakonyi and Rudolph Rodensky, and the music was composed by Emerich Kalman. Bakonyi is one of the leading dramatists of Austria, and has written a score of successful plays, and his work has been performed over 6,000 nights in Vienna alone. Kalman, however, is a mere boy. Until the production of "The Gay Hussars" he was entirely unknown, and nothing from his pen had ever been published. In one day, however, this work made him famous, and his compositions are now being played by orchestras all over the continent of Europe. The music of "The Gay Hussars," as described by critics is simply delicious. It is full of entrancing waltzes, stately quadrilles, stirring czardas, and the army calls, exquisitely blended into melody. It requires a large and powerful orchestra to properly present this work and this feature of Mr. Savage's new production, it is declared, will be one of its most engaging attractions.

Drought Ruins Lawns.

The lack of rain has produced an unparalleled condition, especially in and about this section. The drouth has ruined hundreds of lawns, and in consequence many hundreds of men who usually found employment in summer mowing these lawns are now out of employment. Many lawn mowers who are usually kept busily engaged during July and August have been idle for the last three weeks.

Keiderling Busy.

Stray dogs without a license, or those not properly tagged as provided in the borough ordinance, are being rounded up by borough dog catcher Keiderling. Yesterday afternoon two bow wows were caught, one of these on Craig place. These bow wows are held in the borough pound, and if not claimed by their owners will be put to death.

DISTRICT COURT CASES

Twenty-four of Thirty Cases on Docket Adjourned Until Aug. 5.

NONE OF ANY IMPORTANCE.

New York Publishers Suit Against Local Woman Postponed Until She Can Be Heard.

Thirty cases were on the docket in the District Court this morning before Judge Newcorn of which twenty-four were adjourned, the majority to be heard on August 5. The court will adjourn on that day to reconvene on Thursday, September 2. Landlord and tenant cases will come before Clerk Horace Adams during the interim.

Judgment by proof was rendered in the case of Burns Brothers against Henry Brinker for $22.90, and in the case of the Plainfield Milk and Cream Company against James Trimmer for $21.50. Judgment was also given in four landlord and tenant cases.

In the suit brought by Houghton Mifflin & Co., of New York, against Mrs. Warrene Barwise for payment on a contract signed by her for certain books bought on the installment plan, testimony of the plaintiff was heard and the case continued until Mrs. Barwise can be brought before the court to present her defense. Mrs. Barwise is now at the seashore.

The suit brought by Alfred Canfield, of Newark, to replevin two pool tables and their accessories sold by L. Moledeski, a landlord, for rent due him, became such a complicated case that Judge Newcorn, at the conclusion of the testimony and arguments of counsel took the case under advisement. His decision will be rendered at a later date.

Canfield claims that Moldesky sold property that belonged to him (Canfield) under a contract entered into with Samuel Thornton, a Watchung avenue pool room keeper. Thornton signed an agreement or contract agreeing to pay a certain amount of money each month, until the full obligation was cancelled. In the meantime he had failed to pay his rent and the pool tables were seized and sold to Louis Kadish for $40.

The suit is the outcome of this sale and Canfield seeks to recover the tables which he claims never were the property of Moledeski and hence Moledeski had no right to sell the tables or offer them for sale. The case resolves itself into whether the landlord becomes a part owner of the goods and chattles of another when the goods are moved into his premises. R. Newton Crane appeared for Canfield and Harry C. Runyon for the defendant, Louis Kadish.

TO ELECT 8 COUNCILMEN

Gloak, Montgomery, Clay, Mygatt, Holt, Buxton, Wilson, C. Randolph Go Out.

ONLY THREE HOLD OVER.

Councilman-at-Large and Ward Councilmen to Be Chosen at the Fall Election.

The terms of the three councilmen at large and five ward councilmen expiring, eight candidates for the Common Council will be nominated and elected this fall. This is the greatest number in years at any single election, for there are only three members that hold over. This is due to the fact that two of the present membership are filling unexpired terms.

Questions of vital importance to the city will come before the new body and for that reason it is said that strong pressure is being brought to bear upon the men whose terms expire to accept renomination, which in this Republican city is generally considered as equivalent to election. So far as is known none has yet definitely decided whether he will accept another term.

The ward councilmen whose terms expire this fall are William Lloyd Gloak, of the First ward; Frank L. Holt and George Strong Clay, both of the Second; Frederick Edouard Mygatt, of the Third, and Herbert Frelinghuysen Buxton, of the Fourth. councilmen-at-large who go out are Francis Launcelot Montgomery, of the Second; and William W. Wilson and Charles Randolph, both of the Fourth.

Mr. Wilson is filling the unexpired term of the late W. W. Suydam. Mr. Clay is filling out the term of Robert E. Hall, who recently removed to Philadelphia, while Mr. Mygatt succeeded William S. Tyler, when the latter resigned to become a member of the Board of Education.

Mr. Wilson is the only one who expresses a wish not to be named as a candidate. His business interests, he says, will not permit of his devoting the required time for municipal matters. The other three members of the body, who hold over, are Ralph I. Tolles, Duncan W. Taylor and Frank Randolph.

Half-Pay Day in Westfield.

The Westfield half-pay day committee to collect funds for the benefit of the Elizabeth hospitals held a meeting Tuesday night and organized by electing Mayor A. L. Alpers chairman, G. A. V. Hankinson, secretary, and James G. Casey, treasurer. The committee adjourned to await a visit from the Elizabeth executive committee.

PRIEST'S JUBILEE MASS

Ceremony Marks Fiftieth Anniversary of Father Schandel's Ordination.

BISHOP McFAUL PREACHES.

Impressive Service Today at St. Joseph's Church in Honor of A Venerable Priest.

Rev. Father John Schandel, for fifty years a priest of the Roman Catholic church, celebrated his golden jubilee this morning in St. Joseph's church. A jubilee high mass was sung of which Father Schwartz was the celebrant. Fathers Devine, of New Brunswick, and Cody, of Newark, were deacons of honor. Father Schandel was presented with a purse containing one hundred dollars in gold.

The sermon which was preached by Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, was an eulogy of the venerable priest who has been such a devoted worker in the various parishes of the diocese. The bishop told the very interesting story of the life of the priest from boyhood up and compared his life with that of the pioneers of old who fought their way through wildernesses establishing as they went the churches that remained as monuments to their devotion.

The music which was rendered by the full choir of the church was under the direction of Professor Paroubek, who contributed several violin solos in his masterly manner.

Father Schandel was greeted by a large number of his old parishioners from Stony Hill and the church itself was filled to the doors. The celebration covered two events, it being the feast of St. Mary Magdalene on the church calendar. Father Schandel received the congratulations of the bishop and of the many visitors from out of town who made the trip here on this occasion especially to convey their good wishes to the priest who had so often ministered to them in years gone by.

Father Schandel was born in Rinbruch, Luxembourg, in 1818 and was ordained a priest when he was forty-one years old. His parishes have included those at Passaic, where he built St. Nicholas' church, Paterson, Lodi, Macopin, Ringwood and Stony Hill. In the last named town he was pastor for twenty-six years and only resigned his charge when physical disability made it necessary. Father Schandel is held up as a model of consistency by the clergy, and is one of the few priests to whose lot it falls to celebrate a half century in the priesthood.

JOY RIDE CHAUFFEURS FIGHT ON TECHNICALITIES

Hugh McIver, George M. Macintyre, George G. Mitchell and Walter Kettenring, the four chauffeur "joy riders," who were out with the Mitchell touring car belonging to the F. L. C. Martin Automobile Co., when it was overturned and wrecked near Metuchen early on the morning of July 14, were arraigned for a hearing before City Judge Runyon at the city court this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Deputy Commissioner Shinn, of Trenton, was in court, representing J. B. R. Smith, head of the State Motor Vehicle Commission, came to this city this afternoon for the case, at the request of F. L. C. Martin, and was in the court room with County Prosecutor C. Addison Swift, of Elizabeth, and Assistant County Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., who conducted the case for the State. The four men, who were released on $300 bail apiece after their arrest in Perth Amboy by Chief Kiely the day of the accident, were represented by V. W. Nash, Jr.

The specific charge on which the four are held is for driving the car without the permission of the owner, a violation of Section 127, of the State Automobile Law.

Technicalities about the framing of the complaint are the basis of the defendants' case. Mr. Nash, their attorney, claims that the complaint states that the car is the property of the F. L. C. Martin Automobile Co., but in the complaint Mr. Martin does not state his connection with the firm. Again, according to the contention of the lawyer for the defense, it is said that as Theodore Van Zandt, the night manager of the garage, gave his consent to the taking of the car, it amounts to the same thing as Mr. Martin's permission, Mr. Van Zandt being his official representative.

F. L. C. Martin was the first witness called.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Motor boating on the New Market lake is rather slack so far this year despite the fact that there are three such boats on the lake. Charles Rogers is the owner of two, Percy Vail has one and Assemblyman von Minden has a launch.

Charles Robinson, the negro arrested in the borough on a serious charge a little less than a year ago, has but a short time to serve in the county jail. His good behavior will materially shorten his sentence.

John Onderdonk will sue the Central Railroad for the full value of his horse that was killed yesterday morning at the Grove street crossing.

Improvements on Jefferson avenue are being pushed by the contractors. The work is now well under way.

Mrs. David Campbell, who has been indisposed for some time past, shows no improvement.

The Board of Education meets August 3, for the transaction of routine monthly business.

Michael Gallagher, who has been ill, is now able to be about again as usual.

WESTFIELD.

Westfield's Park Commission is up against a knotty problem. The Council has voted the commission $20,000 with which to purchase the triangles at Central avenue and North avenue, and the strip along Central avenue adjoining the railroad property. Tuesday when negotiations were opened with the owners of the property the prices asked amounted to over $30,000. Condemnation proceedings may be begun.

Mrs. F. A. Winkler, of Chestnut street, was brought home from St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Elizabeth, Tuesday. She has recovered from her attack of typhoid fever.

St. Luke's Episcopal church at Westfield will be closed during August for repairs, and open again the first Sunday in September.

Dr. H. P. Savage has been appointed town physician in place of Dr. J. T. Tubs, who has left town.

AN ARMY LULLABY.

Beyond the hilltops sinks the sun,
The baby birds are in their nest,
The thunder of the sunset gun
Calls baby soldier boys to rest.

Upon a chair beside your bed
Your sword and helmet you can see.
(When father went to war, he said
That you must take good care of me).

You've knelt and said your bedtime prayer,
So now in slumber close your eyes
The sentry calls "Halt! Who goes there?"
"A friend," the Sandman's voice replies.

Johnny Lush has quit the St. Louis team and gone to his home. He may never play ball again. His physicians informed him that he is suffering from Bright's disease.

Pfeister is a good pitcher; but just as soon as a team begins to solve his delivery he goes up with a bang! The Superbas always seem to be able to bring about his downfall.

If Mike Donlin has been at the Polo Grounds these days he must have been spirited in, for no one has seen him enter. And you may just believe that the watch which has been kept has been a close one.

The Cubs are going fast now. Not once while in the field do they show signs of sluggishness. Even in practice the men work hard, and that goes a whole lot toward the making of a good team. They all work together and seem to help each other along.

Warhop, the Yankee youngster, who was considered to be only a seven inning man a few weeks ago, has developed into a stayer. He held the Detroit Tigers to five hits on Tuesday, and these were scattered.

Mathewson's injury will affect the Giants more than the mere loss of his services would indicate. Matty in the game is a wonderful stimulant to his mates.

There is some likelihood of George VanHaltren, the veteran outfielder, joining the ranks of the big league umpires. Van would be an ornament to the game anywhere, whether playing, coaching, or judging the play.

ROBS POOR BOX IN ELIZABETH CHURCH.

The robbery of a poor box and the desecration of the altar of his church were reported yesterday by the Rev. Vincent Masnicki, rector of St. Adelbert's Roman Catholic church, in Third street, Elizabeth. The outrage happened Monday morning.

Father Masnicki thinks that the thieves attended the 8 o'clock mass on Monday and remained in the church after the services were over. In front of the statue of St Anthony, which is on one side of the main altar, there is a small altar at which the parishioners burn candles in honor of the saint. The altar and the candelabra are constructed of cast iron. Underneath the candle racks there is an iron box in which are placed the offerings of those who burn candles.

It is the custom of worshippers to take a candle from a box underneath the altar and for compensation to place an offering in a little iron slot box, which is so constructed as to form part of the altar.

The lock on the box was broken, its contents taken and the box carried to the rear of the church and placed in a pew near the door, where it was discovered by the sexton of the church about noon Monday. The lighted candles in front of the statue were taken from their holders and thrown upon the floor in front of the communion rail.

The discovery of the iron box led the sexton to investigate. He found that the glass in a brass box used for offerings for the poor had been broken and its contents, amounting to less than $1, stolen.

TEMPERANCE FOLK CLOSE INSTITUTE.

Upholding their motto, "New Jersey Shall Be Redeemed," the delegates of the New Jersey W. C. T. U. brought their institute to a close at Ocean Grove yesterday afternoon.

Yesterday morning Mrs. K. L. Sunderlin, of Blairstown, gave an address on "A Glance Backward and Forward." Mrs. Sunderlin is positive that the future of the temperance movement is bright and cites in proof the advances made by the Prohibitionists in many States that have become "dry." Papers were read by Mrs. M. S. Stout, of Bayonne, on "What Do We Mean by Literature and Art," and by Mrs. I. H. Demarest, of Closter, on "Philanthropic Work of the W. C. T. U."

The afternoon session, which closed the institute, was replete with interest. Those taking part and the titles of their subjects were: Mrs. M. P. Sparks, of Bridgeport, "The Coming Hero;" Mrs. Adah Robertson, of Paterson, "How to Extend Our Borders;" Mrs. Grace Swartz, of Wenonah, "Mothers' Problems;" Mrs. A. Neiderbuhl, of Newark, "Why We Need Young Women;" Miss E. H. Goodwin, of Greenwich, "Columbia and Her Daughters."

WEDDED IN NEW HAVEN.

Miss Edna Johnston, of Westfield, Now Mrs. Reily.

Miss Edna Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Johnston, of 166 Harrison avenue, Westfield, was married to Frank Mills Reily, of New Haven, Conn., last night. The wedding took place in New Haven in a handsome new home prepared by Mr. Reily for his bride.

The nuptials were performed by the Rev. Dr. Bowdish, presiding elder of the New Haven District of the Methodist Episcopal church, who baptized the bride when she resided in Brooklyn with her parents. After a reception the young couple started on an auto tour of the East. Several persons from Westfield attended the wedding.

FIX BAIL AT $2,500.

Stanislaus Jalinsky, Charged with Larceny, Held in Bonds.

Bail in the total sum of $2,500 was fixed on four indictments against Stanislaus Jalinsky by Judge Atwater in the Court of Quarter Sessions at Elizabeth yesterday.

On the indictment with which he has been found guilty a $1,000 bond was fixed, and $500 was made on each of the other indictments. Jalinsky is charged with stealing $163 from Malick Messinger while he was boarding a train at the Elizabethport station on June 17, and other smilar charges.

FINE MOTHER FOR ABUSE

Mrs. Moreno Punished by Recorder for Cruel Treatment of Child.

TIED HER TO THE STAIRCASE.

Defendant Pleads That Her Off-Spring Was Disobedient —Hubby Escapes.

A ten dollar fine was imposed on Mrs. Ciro J. Moreno, of 48 Craig place, by Recorder Dolliver in the borough police court last night, for cruelly treating her five-year-old daughter, Helena. Preston G. Elliott and Howard Case, both neighbors, complained to the police of the abuse of the child.

Marshal Pope went to the residence yesterday afternoon, and when within a half block of the house heard the screams of the child. On entering the house he found the little one tied to the newel post of the staircase, crying hysterically. A warrant was immediately sworn out for the arrest of the woman.

When arraigned before Judge Dolliver Mrs. Moreno said that the child had been disobedient at different times and that corporal punishment, in her opinion, was necessary. In explaining how it was that the girl was tied to the post, she said that she had ordered a domestic to do this in order to prevent the child from running on the streets, as the family is preparing to move out of town and had no one to watch her.

The attention of the neighbors, it appears, was attracted when a domestic called the child, who went in to the house laughing. Five minutes later, it was said, its screams were heard, and as these did not cease, the police were notified. The couple live at the corner of Duer street and Craig place and are Spaniards. Judge Dolliver dismissed Mr. Moreno on the charge of cruelty to the child, but a fine of $10 was imposed on his wife. Moreno was in court the day before on a charge of letting his dog run about the streets without the necessary license.

GIVES NEGRO 7 YEARS FOR MURDEROUS ATTACK

Judge Atwater in the Court of Special Sessions at Elizabeth yesterday, sentenced Sidney Brown, colored, of Elizabeth, who was convicted July 8 of brutually assaulting and robbing Jacob Reuter, an aged Third avenue butcher, in that place, to seven years of hard labor in State prison.

The assault of Reuter aroused the whole city. He was found shortly after 9 o'clock on the night of April 17, lying in the road near the South street bridge over the Elizabeth river. His head had been badly beaten by a blunt instrument and his pockets were mulcted of a sum of money, earnings at the butcher shop during the day. When struck down Reuter was on his way home. At the trial of Brown the State produced strong evidence. Christian Wade, son of Contractor Matthew Wade, testified that from his bedroom window he saw Brown run up behind Reuter and strike him with something he held in his hand.

A chain of evidence showing through Brown's own friends his actions on the night of the assault and up to the time of his arrest in Philadelphia was introduced by the prosecution. Robert Stewart and Clarence Clark, both colored, who were arrested after the assault, testified for the State. Brown's defense was simply a denial by himself on the witness stand.

N. J. DENTISTS OPEN THEIR ANNUAL SESSION.

The thirty-ninth annual convention of the New Jersey State Dental society was opened in the Casino, at Asbury Park, yesterday morning, with Dr. Frank G. Gregory, of Newark, president of the society, in the chair. Following the roll call and the offering of the opening prayer, Dr. Gregory delivered his annual address, which was followed by a general discussion of the points upon which he dwelt. The delegates assembled in the large hall at the western end of the Casino, and there were but few absentees when the president rapped for order. The session will come to a close tomorrow, when officers will be elected and the reports of the various standing committees will be made.

SOCIETY MAN ADMITS THEFT.

John Guild Muirheld Carter, charged with embezzling more than $4,550, of which $1,150 was from Harry Harris, Trenton's assistant city engineer, his brother-in-law, was arraigned in Mercer court at Trenton yesterday. He pleaded guilty to the indictment charging him with robbing his brother-in-law and to allegations that he embezzled $750 from Herbert St. Clair Heroy, a local tea merchant, and another that he embezzled $60 from Mr. Heroy.

Carter was manager for Heroy, who charges that he stole $3,400. He will be sentenced later. Carter was prominent in society.

SPECIAL ELECTION'S BALLOT OF GREAT SIZE

A matter of considerable importance regarding the printing of the official ballots for the coming special election, when the proposed constitutional amendments will be submitted to the votes of the people on September 14, is the size of these ballots, and because of the importance of the subject the tentative ballot prepared at the suggestion of Assistant Attorney General Nelson B. Gaskill has been submitted to Governor Fort for approval or ejection.

It is obligatory to submit to the people the exact language of the proposed amendments and they make in clear and legible type a ballot about two thirds the size of one page of the Daily Press. No such unwieldy ballot has ever before been prepared, and the question is whether they shall stand in clear, readable type, or be made much smaller by the use of the smallest sizes of type. It is said that printed in pearl or diamond the ballots can be gotten in about the usual size, but such a course is open to the objection that the voter could not read the type. Hence the employment of the larger size, clear, readable type, with the consequent objection of the ballots being of enormous size.

The secretary of State's office does not want the people to believe there is to be any attempt to put through a ballot of unreadable type to get the ballots in the usual size, nor to criticise if they are made large and unwieldy because of the employment of good, readable type. Hence the whole matter has been put up to the attorney general's office and the chief executive for selection.

GEYSER OF OIL IN BAYONNE AFLAME.

Several thousand barrels of crude oil were destroyed by fire on the meadows near the Standard Oil Company's works, Bayonne, yesterday afternoon.

One of the huge pipes through which oil is pumped from Pennsylvania sprank a leak. A geyser of oil fifty feet high was emitted and in some way the oil caught fire. The meadow grass, which is oil-soaked and dry from the long drought, was soon ablaze and threatened to spread to several of the tanks in the vicinity.

Dense volumes of smoke were wafted over Bayonne, and for some time completely hid the sun. The fire was put out by the company's workmen.

TRYING TO GET HOLD OF STATE SCHOOL FUND

The board of managers of the State Council, Junior Order United American Mechanics, today issued a circular letter calling upon all the members of the order to put forth their greatest efforts in securing the nomination of candidates for next year's Legislature who favor the prevention of the diversion of school money for State purposes.

This action on the part of the order is the result of certain members of last year's Legislature trying to divert part of the money raised for school purposes by the taxation of main stem railroad property to State use. The order bitterly opposed the passage of such a law at the time, and its present action is an attempt to prevent a repetition by the next Legislture.

The letter is issued by authority of Grafton E. Day, the Rev. J. Morgan Read and Everett Gray, of Camden county; William H. Miers, of this county, and Joseph H. Thompson, of Ocean; the board of managers and is as follows:

"The order for two years past has, as it well known, been making a fight for the preservation of the school moneys of this State. Last year and this year a persistent effort was made by the administration to turn the school money, derived from the tax on the main stem of the railroads, into the State treasury for miscellaneous uses. Through the efforts of our order these attempts proved unsuccessful. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

"The effort to divert these moneys from the schools has in no wise ceased, and the influence that is working to this end is enedavoring to secure the nominations of candidates for the Legislature from the various counties who, if nominated and elected, will favor this policy. We urge every member of the order in this State to be on guard, and to see that the nominees for Legislature are friendly to the schools and will resist any effort to divert from the use of the schools such proceeds of the main stem railroad taxes as, under the act of 1906, are pledged to the free public schools of the State."

LONG BRANCH BLAZE DOES $80,000 DAMAGE

Thirty thousand persons watched yesterday afternoon eleven fire companies fight a fire which practically destroyed the block between Brighton, Second and Palmer avenues, in the west end section of Long Branch with a loss of $80,000. Fourteen buildings—eight business places and six barns—were completely destroyed, while three other building were gutted.

The fire began in the loft of a barn in the rear of the building owned by Joseph Pasinski. It was discovered about 3 o'clock and was then only a trifling affair, but before an alarm could be sounded a strong southwest wind fanned the flames into a blaze, which in an instant leaped to the adjoining stables.

All the buildings attacked except the Coulter Hotel were frame structures and the long drought had them as dry as tinder. It was not till the fire reached the hotel that the firemen had a chance. Its brick walls withstood the blaze a time, and although it was gutted, it prevented any other houses catching.

KELLY'S BODY RECOVERED.

Elizabeth Boy Was Drowned in Sound on Sunday.

The body of William Kelly, the 16-year-old boy who was drowned in the sound at Elizabeth Sunday afternoon, was recovered at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It was seen floating off the dock of the W. A. Clark Wire Co. by Daniel Sullivan, a foreman, who shouted to men on a mud barge to go and get the body.

The barge, however, was too far off for the men to hear Sullivan's voice, but two linemen working on a telegraph pole heard him and saw the body. Thinking that it was a person drowning, the men rushed to their boat and put out into the stream. The tide, which was running strong, prevented their towing the body to shore.

A lighter then put out from the barge and got it to shore. It was turned over to Undertaker Engel.

RECTOR CHANGES HIS NAME.

The Rev. Dr. Sleeper Wants to Perpetuate Mother's Name.

Judge Atwater, sitting in the Court of Common Pleas at Elizabeth yesterday, granted the Rev. Dr. Henry Hale Sleeper, rector of Grace Episcopal church, an order permitting him to change his last name to Gifford. The order of the court takes effect in thirty days and was made by petition of Peter J. Olde, representing Dr. Sleeper.

In his petition, addressed to the court, Dr. Sleeper said his only reason for changing his name was to perpetuate his mother's family name, which was Gifford, and which is now extinct.

The change of name will affect Dr. Sleeper and his wife only.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

The Millville Board of Trade is making an effort to get the Central Railroad to run a branch to that city.

The latest to enter the fight for the Republican Assembly nomination in Burlington county is Deputy County Clerk Charles M. Atkinson, of Mt. Holly.

Blood poisoning from which William Phares, of Mt. Holly, is suffering, is attributed by him to the treatment he received in Philadelphia for the extraction of teeth.

Mayor Cresse, of Ocean City, yesterday ordered the killing of a number of dogs that have been confined in the city pound for five days, and the animals were shot, their owners having failed to redeem them.

While returning home after spending the day at Ocean City, Katharine Illy, of 1338 North Dover street, Philadelphia, fell dead of heart disease at the Reading Station at Fourth street at 6:20 o'clock Tuesday evening.

David H. Lane, chairman of the Republican city committee of Philadelphia, a summer resident of Atlantic City, will meet its merchants at a meeting of the City Business League of Atlantic City on Friday of next week.

While trying to escape being run down by two large automobiles, near Iona, Jacob Long, of Glassboro, was thrown from his bicycle and had his shoulder blade broken. He was taken in one of the autos to his home.

Hurrying to catch a train, Mayor C. Taylor Rue, of Burlington, stepped upon a loose board in a sidewalk drain, tripped, fell upon his face and sustained deep cuts and lacerations of the chin. The teeth of the lower jaw were nearly driven through his lip, while he was much bruised and shaken.

A band of gipsies passing through Clayton stopped at the S. F. Parks livery, and, while dickering for a horse trade, one of the women stole his watch. When he discovered his loss Parks harnessed his fastest horse and soon overtook the gipsies, who, under threat of arrest, gave up the watch.

Constant Ford and George Risley, young men of Williamstown, are taking a trip down the Egg Harbor river in a rowboat. They started from Brooklyn, one mile below Williamstown, where a small stream runs into the river. They expect to be gone some time, and have a tent, in which they camp at night.

While workmen were rummaging through the old Landis homestead, Vineland, which is being made into stores, a petition, signed by 150 early settlers, was found, asking Founder Landis to make an address on August 8, Vineland's tenth birthday, 1871. The petition is to be framed and will occupy a position of honor.

Anthony Zangara, fifteen years old, of Passaic, was arrested Tuesday afternoon and locked up, after having been captured stealing a satchel, containing $50 worth of automobile inner tubes, from the automobile owned by Bruno M. Westerman, of 252 Lafayette street, which had been left standing in front of a dwelling at 185 Autumn street, Paterson.

Edward Vreeland, who is employed in a wagon manufacturing shop at Athenia, while putting a tire on a wheel Tuesday, was struck in the forehead by a tool which had been heated in the forge fire. He received a bad burn above the right eye. The victim was treated at the General Hospital, Paterson. Vreeland lives at 9 West street, that city.

Caught breaking into the home of Thomas Lynch at 302 Warren avenue during the absence of the family, John Pettit, seventeen years old, of Fourth and Walnut streets, and Adam Nead, fourteen years old, of Newton avenue and Walnut street, were committed to jail in default of $500 bail in the Camden police court Tuesday. The boys were watched by Policeman Howard Smith for an hour and were then placed under arrest as they were using a screw driver on a rear door.

If the newly organized company, headed by former Mayor Augustus Hilton, succeeds in its plans, there will be a trolley line from Wildwood Junction to North Wildwood within a year. The line will tap Grassy Sound and little settlements between Anglesea and the mainland, skirt the edge of the meadows down Five Mile Beach and connect with the Cape May trolleys near Cold Spring Inlet. The new company is working in conjunction with the Stone Harbor project to build a wagon road and a trolley line to Seven Mile Beach.

Dr. S. S. Cole, of Vineland, and Ellsworth Barber, of Millville early Tuesday morning started in a launch on a fishing trip for the Maurice River Cove, and when off Bricksboro the engine stopped. Investigation showed that the gasoline tank was empty. While Dr. Cole was refilling the tank the engine mysteriously exploded, and both men were blown twenty feet in the air. They landed in the river, and after much difficulty reached shore. The noise of the explosion was heard by residents of the village, who rushed to the river bank and assisted in rescuing the men. The boat was totally wrecked.

"Every one is talking about it yet," Dicksie was saying. "If I had lost my best friend I couldn't have felt worse; you know, my father built it. I rode over there the day of the fire, and down into the creek, so I could look up where it stood. I never realized before how high and how long it was; and when I remembered how proud father always was of his work there—Cousin Lance has often told me—I sat down right on the ground and cried. How times have changed in railroading, haven't they? Mr. Sinclair was over just the other night, and he said if they kept using this new coal in the engines they would burn up everything on the division. Do you know, I have been waiting in town three or four hours now for Cousin Lance. I feel almost like a tramp. He is coming from the west with the stock train. It was due here hours ago, but they never seem to know when anything is to get here the way things are run on the railroad now. I want to give Cousin Lance some mail before he goes through."

"The passenger trains crossed the creek over the switchbacks hours ago, and they say the emergency grades are first-rate," said Marion Sinclair, on the defensive. "The stock trains must have followed right along. Your cousin is sure to be here pretty soon. Probably Mr. McCloud will know which train he is on, and Mr. Lee telephoned that Mr. McCloud would be over here at three o'clock for his dinner. He ought to be here now."

"Oh, dear, then I must go!"

"But he can probably tell you just when your cousin will be in."

"I wouldn't meet him for worlds!"

"You wouldn't? Why, Mr. McCloud is delightful."

"Oh, not for worlds, Marion! You know he is discharging all the best of the older men, the men that have made the road everything it is, and of course we can't help sympathizing with them over our way. For my part, I think it is terrible, after a man has given all of his life to building up a railroad, that he should be thrown out to starve in that way by new managers, Marion."

McCloud felt himself shrinking within his weary clothes. Resentment seemed to have died. He felt too exhausted to undertake controversy, even if it were to be thought of, and it was not.

Nothing further was needed to complete his humiliation. He picked up his hat and with the thought of getting out as quietly as he had come in. In rising he swept a tumbler at his elbow from the table. The glass broke on the floor, and Marion exclaimed: "What is that?" and started for the dining room.

It was too late to get away. McCloud stepped to the portieres of the trimming room door and pushed them aside. Marion stood with a hat in her hand, and Dicksie, sitting at the table, was looking directly at the intruder as he appeared in the doorway. She saw in him her pleasant acquaintance of the wreck at Smoky Creek, whose name she had not learned. In her surprise, she rose to her feet, and Marion

"Oh, Mr. McCloud, Is It You?"

spoke quickly: "Oh, Mr. McCloud, is it you? I did not hear you come in."

Dicksie's face, which had lighted, became a spectacle of confusion after she heard the name. McCloud, conscious of the awkwardness of his position and the disorder of his garb, said the worst thing at once: "I fear I am inadvertently overhearing your conversation."

He looked at Dicksie as he spoke, chiefly because he could not help it, and this made matters hopeless.

She flushed more deeply. "I cannot conceive why our conversation should invite a listener."

Her words did not, of course, help to steady him. "I tried to get away," he stammered, "when I realized I was a part of it."

"In any event," she exclaimed, hastily, "if you are Mr. McCloud I think it unpardonable to do anything like that!"

"I am Mr. McCloud, though I should rather be anybody else; and I am sorry that I was unable to help hearing what was said; I—"

"Marion, will you be kind enough to give me my gloves?" said Dicksie, holding out her hand.

Marion, having tried once or twice to intervene, stood between the firing-lines in helpless amazement. Her exclamations were lost; the two before her gave no heed to ordinary intervention.

McCloud flushed at being cut off, but he bowed. "Of course," he said, "if you will listen to no explanation I can only withdraw."

He went back, dinnerless, to work all night; but the switchbacks were doing capitally, and all night long trains were rolling through Medicine Bend from the west in an endless string. In the morning the yard was nearly cleared of west-bound tonnage. Moreover, the mail in the morning brought compensation. A letter came from Glover telling him not to worry himself to death over the tie-up, and one came from Bucks telling him to make ready for the building of the Crawling Stone line.

McCloud told Rooney Lee that if anybody asked for him to report him dead, and going to bed slept 24 hours.

CHAPTER IX.

Sweeping Orders.

The burning of Smoky Creek bridge was hardly off the minds of the mountain men when a disaster of a different sort befell the division. In the Rat valley east of Sleepy Cat the main line springs between two ranges of hills with a dip and a long supported grade in each direction. At the point of the dip there is a switch from which a spur runs to a granite quarry. The track for two miles is straight and the switch-target and lights are seen easily from either direction save at one particular moment of the day—a moment which is in the valley neither quite day nor quite night. Down this grade, a few weeks after the Smoky Creek fire, came a double-headed stock train from the Short Line with 40 cars of steers. The switch stood open; this much was afterward abundantly proved. The train came down the grade very fast to gain speed for the hill ahead of it. The head engineman, too late, saw the open target. He applied the emergency air, threw his engine over, and whistled the alarm. The mightiest efforts of a dozen engines would have been powerless to check the heavy train. On the quarry track stood three flat cars loaded with granite blocks for the abutment of the new Smoky Creek bridge. On a sanded track, rolling at 30 miles an hour and screaming in the clutches of the burning brakes, the heavy engines struck the switch like an avalanche, reared upon the granite-laden flats, and with 40 loads of cattle plunged into the canyon below; not a car remained on the rails. The head brakeman, riding in the second cab, was instantly killed, and the engine crews, who jumped, were badly hurt.

Select Furs Now

PAY FOR THEM IN THE FALL.

We have arranged during this Fur Sale to permit you to make your selections of any of the fur coats, muffs, or neckpieces in the big collection, pay a small deposit and have us hold them until the cold weather comes and you are prepared to pay the remainder of the cost.

There may be some wise folks who think it will be just as easy to buy furs in the fall and the prices will be no higher; but we would like to call their attention to the fact that a workman cannot make more than one or one and a half of these big fur coats in a week, some of them requiring more than a hundred skins, and that in a little while as the season advances, the demand will be so great for competent men that fur garments will be mighty hard to get at any price. We make this prediction knowing the situation in the market today more intimately than most stores do, and we advise all our patrons to try and see their way clear to picking furs now while they may be had at extremely low prices and on such favorable conditions.

Have no hesitancy in picking from the furs presented in this July Sale for they are strictly all new garments in the latest fall models, not a piece having been carried from last season.

Second Floor.

30 Per Cent. Off Marked Prices on Men's Suits

Figuring on the fact that our regular prices on men's clothing are just about 20 per cent. lower than equal qualities are sold for elsewhere, then adding our present cut of 30 per cent. below those prices, you will arrive at a clear understanding of what this reduction of 30 per cent. off our marked prices mean.

It is a saving of fully a half of what you would have to pay elsewhere for equal garments.

Every Black Suit, every Blue Suit, every Novelty Mixture Suit, every Cheviot and Tweed Suit, every pair of Trousers, every white or fancy Vest in our entire stock, excepting only full dress, Tuxedo and uniforms, has suffered a mark-down of 30 per cent. to insure immediate selling.

The Hahne & Co. Clothing comes from makers who are creators of styles, makers upon whom custom tailors are now waiting for Fall and Winter ideas. You may be assured of the beauty of the clothing as well as the worth of the fabrics entering into them; fit and finish are all that could be desired.

Take your time to find just what you want—surely something here to please you.

Baseball and General Sports

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The New Jersey Motorcycle Club, of Newark, will hold a race meet on the half mile track at Olympic Park, that city on Saturday afternoon, July 31, and will continue similar meets at intervals of two weeks right through the summer and fall season. As part of this racing campaign the club is arranging for a big open carnival at Alympic Park on Saturday, August 21. They will have the National Champions there, as it follows the championship meet. Plans are on foot now to make the event the eastern championship meet, and if this is assigned the Newark body by the F. A. M. it will be a monster affair.

The events for the meet on July 31, are as follows: Two mile match race between Howard O'Brien and Percy Drummond; five mile handicap for singles; five mile handicap for doubles; three mile race for belt driven machines; pursuit race for singles; pursuit race for doubles; two mile open; two mile scratch race; fifteen mile Marathon. An auto race for small power cars may also be added. There will be medals for all the events except the Marathon and a silver cup will be given for that.

New Baseball Rule.

Cincinnati, July 22.—President Pulliam has taken official cognizance of the matter of overthrown balls in National League games. He has mailed a bulletin to club presidents and managers giving notice of the change, which says that in future umpires are to judge of where the base runner is when the overthrow is made and the base runner is then to be allowed to go to the base for which he was headed and then take one more. The change is the outgrowth of the protested game between Brooklyn and Pittsburg.

BRUTAL NEGRO IS FINED $50 IN BOROUGH COURT

Max Brown, a young colored man, was fined fifty dollars by Recorder Dolliver in the borough police court yesterday afternoon for cruelly treating a horse driven by him. Brown was caught in the act of beating the animal at the corner of DeLacey and Fairview avenues by Chief George Weiss.

The horse refused to go, and Brown with a heavy raw hide whip lashed it repeatedly. Then would rest awhile and begin the lashing anew. The animal looked half starved and the load was such as to make it not wish to move. At police court several bystanders corroborated the testimony of Chief Weiss and also said that kicks had been used by the driver as well as the whip. Thirty-one heavy markings where the horse had been lashed were counted on each side.

Taking into consideration all of these facts, Recorder Dolliver imposed the heavy fine. Brown did not have the money and is staying in the borough toils while it is being raised by his father. While a prisoner in the borough police headquarters he has steadfastly refused to eat the food that has been offered him.

ELIZABETH SEWER CONTRACT SIGNED.

Kenah, Councilmen Augustus W. Schwartz, Dr. Edward D. Frost, George H. Schlotterer, Jeremiah D. Leary, Owen Farrelly, City Surveyor William H. Luster, Jr., Harry A. Rath, William Potts, William J. McCloud, Augustus S. Crane, Street Commissioner N. K. Thompson, Daniel J. McGovern, John J. Collins, president of the fire board; John J. Farrelly James Brennan, Edward L. Brennan, E. L. P. Coleman and James Potts.

The sewer will take up the volume of sewerage which now flows to the sound in the Elizabeth river and will cost probably $225,000.

WIFE MUST LIVE WHERE HUSBAND MAKES HOME.

Trenton, July 22.—That a wife has no right of choice as to where she will make her home is shown in the report of Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr., as a master in Chancery, recommending that Bernard Miller, formerly of this city, be granted a divorce from his wife, Jessie, on the ground of desertion. The Millers were married in this city, and a short time later Miller obtained a position in Jersey City. He asked his wife to accompany him there, but she refused to do so, saying, according to the testimony, that she preferred to remain with her parents.

Later Miller rented and furnished a home in Newark and requested his wife to go there to live. Again, according to the testimony, she refused, and Miller thereupon began suit for divorce, charging desertion. Mr. Katzenbach finds that the charge is proven and recommends the divorce.

FROMKOURT HOLDS HIS JOB.

Garwood Road Commissioner Saved by Mayor Burns.

Councilman Paul Britz, chairman of the street and water committee, desired the Common Council, of Garwood, to dispense with the services of Road Commissioner Adam Fromkourt Tuesday night, claiming that there was no work for the commissioner to do and that the taxpayers' money was being wasted.

Mayor Burns objected to dismissing the commissioner until all sidewalk jobs had been completed and the commissioner had passed upon the work. Mr. Britz offered a resolution to dismiss the commissioner, but it was not seconded.

Councilman Wallace Kaylor, the veteran members of the Council, tendered his resignation without giving a reason. The resignation was tabled.

The New Chalmers Cars for 1910

No Increase in Price

Note the pictures. Our "30" has a 115-inch wheel base—with 34-inch wheels. A longer, higher hood to accord with a roomier tonneau. Lines like the costliest cars on the market.

Yet not a penny of additional price. The car still sells for $1500. Let us tell you how we have done it.

1,000 More Cars

Last season's output of "30's" was 2,500 cars, yet we ran 800 cars short of our orders. We were obliged to refuse trade to the extent of $1,200,000.

This year we have built a new factory, and our 1910 output of "30's" will be 3,500 cars. Those 1,000 extra cars will be made without adding a dollar to our fixed expense.

They will also be made with last year's tools and machinery. We have almost no new expense there. For mechanically, the car is not altered at all. Experience has shown us no way to improve it.

Thus we effect immense savings. And all of these savings have gone into the car—to make it more sightly, more roomy, more like the costliest cars.

Nine Per Cent Profit

Our profit this season will be the same as last season—exactly nine per cent.

Our customers have created these savings by calling for more of our cars. And every penny we save will be spent in giving them more beautiful cars. That is our permanent policy.

Please note the result. Note what a large and showy car—note the exquisite lines. Just think that $1500 now buys this amazing car.

Lower Prices

We will fit this $1500 car with a Bosch magneto, a Prest-O-Lite gas tank, and two Atwood-Castle gas lamps—all for $100 extra. The regular price of these extras is $175.

We will furnish our "30" with a Lenox mohair top for $75 extra. The regular price is $125.

We shall give you all the advantage of our quantity buying. So this 1910 model, fully equipped, costs you $135 less than did our 1909 model, equally equipped.

A longer, higher hood, roomier tonneau, longer wheel base, larger wheels and daintier lines. Yet the cost equipped is considerably less than the model of 1909.

No Records Like These

One of the Chalmers-Detroit "30's" has been run 32,000 miles, and has just completed a path-finding trip from Denver to Mexico City. Never has any car, at any price, made an equal endurance record.

Owners have paid us for repairs on their 1909 cars exactly $2.44 per car. That is a world's record.

On June 18th, a "30" won the Indiana Light Car Race, the greatest contest of its kind ever held in America, doing 232.74 miles at an average speed of 51.5 miles per hour.

On an economy test, made by the New York Auto Dealers' Association, it ran 25.7 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Never has a car at any price proved so satisfactory. Never did a car show such low cost for upkeep.

That is why we make no radical mechanical changes. Experience has proved that the 1909 "30" is absolutely right mechanically.

The Larger "Forty"

Our "Forty" for 1910 has 36-inch wheels. The wheel base is 122 inches—ten inches longer than last year. The car seats seven, while last season's seated five.

Upholstered in hand-buffed leather. Fitted with Bosch magneto, gas lamps and gas tank free.

Yet the price remains $2,750.

We will equip this car with a $150 Newport mohair top for $125 extra. The two extra seats will cost you but $75.

So this larger car, with larger wheels, when fully equipped, costs considerably less than last year.

This is our "Forty's" fifth season. It is known far and wide as the best medium-priced car on the market. It has been purchased by scores of the best experts in America for their personal use.

This season, with its extra room, there is not a car at any price which can reasonably claim to excel it.

Made as touring car, roadster and pony tonneau.

See These New Cars

Every Chalmers-Detroit dealer now has photographs of these new models. Demonstrating cars will be ready this month. Deliveries to users begin August 1st.

See them before you buy.

The tide of automobile demand is turning to these medium-priced cars. Not alone because of their prices, but mainly because of their savings on upkeep. The day of extravagance is past.

Last season these cars had no real competition. The demand was a third greater than could be supplied. This season, no medium-priced car will be anywhere near in their class.

Get your order in early, for orders are filled in rotation. August delivery gives you five months' use before the car's year begins.

LONG TROLLEY JOURNEY

Benjamin K. Burke Goes Through Five States in Just Nine Days.

A TRIP OF OVER 480 MILES.

He Plans Tour to Duluth, Minnesota, by River, Canal and the Great Lakes.

A trip of 481 miles in open trolley cars through five States in nine days, is the feat of Benjamin K. Burke, secretary and treasurer of the Dunellen Lumber and Stone Company, who has just returned after making the journey. Mr. Burke is an ardent advocate of outdoor travel and is now planning a trip by motor boat from Bound Brook to Duluth, Minnesota, which can be made continuously by river, canal and by passing through the Great Lakes. He will make the trip in a few years.

"Outdoor trolleying in the States of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut is ideal," said Mr. Burke. "The roadbeds are firm and the traveler is not troubled by dust. Further the trolley lines pass through all country places and the air is rich in ozone. The scenery is perfect, and the traveler may stop off at any pretty spot through which he passes that might strike his fancy. I have visited a great many places in my life, and I have made many trips, but never have I enjoyed one so thoroughly as I did this one. In traveling by steam cars the journey gets extremely tedious and besides bitumous coal is used in the railroads in those States, making the traveling doubly unpleasant."

Mr. Burke made his trip in nine days and save for a few short stretches by water, and the trip from Dunellen to New York made the journey entirely by open trolley car. He spent most of his evenings visiting places of amusement and walking about the cities that he visited, and traveled for the most part of the morning and afternoon.

Mr. Burke went from Dunellen to New York by steam train, and the rest of the trip was made by trolley, with the exception of a short stretch by water. From New York he went to Montauk by open trolley, and from there to New Haven. Here he stopped over night at a hotel after first attending the theatre. From New Haven he went to Middletown, and from there to Hartford, where he again visited the theatre and spent the night. Windsor, Willimantic, Norwich and New London were then visited in order. From New London he went to Watch Hill. Here he took a boat to Montauk Point. After a short stay here he went to Newport by boat. From here he went to Fall River, Mass. Then he visited New Bedford, Fair Haven and the head of Buzzard's Bay. From here he went to Middleboro and from there to Taunton, after which he returned to Fall River and took the boat back to New York.

RECEPTION IN HONOR OF MISS SADIE LEACOCK.

An informal reception was tendered to Miss Sadie Leacock, of New York, last night, at the home of Miss Ella Adams, on Johnston avenue, with whom she is spending her vacation. Miss Leacock is well known and popular in eas end but removed to New York about a year ago and this reception was in the nature of a welcome back to her former home by old associates.

Those present in addition to the hostess and Miss Leacock were Anna Whalen, Hilda Bennett, Marian Thompson, Florence Courtney, Geo. Courtney, George Betelle, Charles Schroder, Archie Thompson, Martin Whalen, Leonard Bennett, Herbert Adams and Horace N. Adams.

Piano and mandolin selections by Miss Leacock and Herbert Adams, light comedy by George Estelle, games, etc., were the features of the evening. Refreshments were served and all joined in extending to Miss Leacock their best wishes for her future prosperity.

Baptists Have Good Time.

Notwithstanding the rain yesterday those who went to Asbury with the First Baptist church excursion had a glorious good time. The showers that did come down did not begin to be noticed until after 2 in the afternoon. In all about 700 people took the trip, among them several dentists, who took advantage of the excursion to attend the convention of the State Dental Association. It was one of the best excursions from a financial point of view the church has ever held. The excursionists returned home at 9 o'clock, tired, but happy.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Cox have returned from Connecticut and have opened their house on Madison avenue.

ANOTHER MAD DOG SCARE

Vicious Canine Attacks Two Men and is Finally Shot by Police.

THE MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION.

For Public Safety, Mr. Fisk Orders That Dogs Running at At Large be Shot.

Shot by Detective Sergeant Flynn, who with Patrolman Saffron pursued it for several blocks along East Front street this morning, a dog which is believed to have been mad, was killed after it had attacked several people and bitten about a dozen other dogs in the city and borough. The chase was made in the Mayor's automobile. The animal's head has been severed by Health Officer John O'Brien, Jr., and sent to the State bacteriologist at Trenton for examination. Mayor Fisk has issued a proclamation, warning dog owners to keep close watch over their canines for signs of developing rabies.

The animal, which is a cross breed between an Irish terrier and a hound, viciously attacked Letter carrier George L. Apgar, of Grandview avenue, this morning at about 10 o'clock, as he was delivering mail on Norwood avenue. Snapping angrily, the canine rushed at the postman whose hip boots saved him from being bitten. The dog seized the left boot viciously, but its teeth did not penetrate to Apgar's leg. The postman broke his umbrella on the beast, and kicked it away from him.

The police were notified that the rabid dog was running about in the East End, a telephone message having been made by Henry J. Storrs, of Kensington avenue. "Towzer," a Newfoundland puppy there, was bitten by the dog which atatcked Mr. Apgar and had to be shot by the police. Patrolman Charles Flynn was attacked by the dog shortly after it bit "Towzer." The animal sprang at him, seizing the left sleeve of his rubber coat. He shook it off, but was unable to get a shot at it. He was saved from a bite by the coat sleeve, for the dog's teeth did not touch him. It is reported that the dog was running about through North Plainfield yesterday and bit several dogs along Harrison avenue and other borough streets. It was also seen on Park avenue and Prospect avenue this morning.

Mayor Fisk was at police headquarters this morning when the "mad dog" scare developed, and tendered the use of his automobile for the pursuit. The police rode nearly eight miles around town searching for the dog before it was finally shot on East Front street.

Realizing the danger from the development of other cases in case the dog should have the rabies, Mayor Fisk at once framed a proclamation, providing that all dogs found on the streets, unless on a leash and accompanied by a person more than twelve years of age, shall be shot. The edict is effective at once, and a fine of $20 is the penalty for each offense. The ordinance will be effective until September 16. The police have been instructed to shoot on sight all dogs running at large tomorrow.

POLITICIANS WITH FORT

That is They Were Yesterday on Occasion of Governor's Day.

UNION COUNTY DELEGATION.

Kean, Smith, Codding, Pierce, Voorhees, Fisk and Others in the Big Crowd at Sea Girt.

Pretty nearly every man whose name is found in the political "Who's Who" of New Jersey took luncheon with Governor Fort at Sea Girt yesterday at the biggest Governor's Day gathering that the summer capital has seen in many years. Among the guests were Hamilton F. Kean, Frank H. Smith, Charles Codding, Carlton B. Pierce, A. F. Kirstein, Charles J. Fisk, Foster M. Voorhees and Augustus W. Schwartz, all of Union county, and W. W. Smalley, of Somerset county.

There were Regular and New Idea Republicans and Regular and New Idea Democrats, but all seemed to have a good time, the only thing to mar the day being a rainstorm which came up after the luncheon and forced a postponement until tomorrow of the review of the 1st Regiment by the Governor.

In the throng were former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., two ex-Governors—Stokes and Voorhees—several Representatives in Congress and State Senators and Assemblymen galore, not to speak of the large number of State officials. There were candidates, too, and as Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of Somerset, walked about the lawn he was frequently saluted with "Hello, Governor!" Vivian Lewis, of Passaic, who would also like to be Governor, had a large number of friends, too.

Ex-Governor E. C. Stokes is going to be a candidate for United States Senator against John Kean, at least that is what his friends said yesterday, and he is going to put up a hard fight to capture the place. H. Stacy Smith, of Essex, who was a prominent member of last winter's Assembly, would like to be Speaker of the next House, and to that end he did some quiet work among his fellow members. Former Senator Smith had a large number of Democrats under his wing.

COLORED DAMSELS PAY IN COURT FOR SCRAPPING.

Returning from a "salt water" outing at South Beach at about 9 o'clock last night, three colored girls engaged in a lively scratching and hair-pulling bee at Fourth street and Watchung avenue, and were surrounded by a large crowd of colored fellow-excursionists when Patrolmen Messler and Saffron broke through the crowd and arrested them. At court this morning they gave their names as Mary Taylor, of Hobart avenue; Sarah Taylor, of West Seventh street; and Bertha Newton, of Hobart avenue. After hearing the story of the mix-up, City Judge Runyon said that he thought each had had five dollars worth of fun, and each tendered a five dollar bill before leaving the court room.

Mary and Sarah, who came to the bar alone when the case was called, each had time to tell their story and lay the blame on the absent member of the trio before Fighter No. 3 swept into the court room. She told an entirely different story, by which she was completely exhonorated from all blame, merely acting in self defence. Denials flew fast from the other two, who are sisters.

Bertha was somewhat taken aback by the stories of the other two, who put the blame entirely upon her, and she took occasion to deliver a brief lecture to her fellow prisoners, assuring them that it was best to tell the truth—as she was doing. These moralizings were not uninterrupted, and the three-fold torrent of language rendered the court speechless. Testimony from all three showed that "dis chile done hit me fust," and in each case a different individual was designated. Judge Runyon believed all the stories, perhaps, for he held all to be equally to blame and the five dollar bills were produced and tendered with grand flourishes by the girls.

By Trolley from Carlisle.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hunsburger and W. J. Dunbar, all three from the historic city of Carlisle, Pa., are taking a trolley ride through this section of the country. On the way here they passed through Harrisburg, Lancaster and Philadelphia, and after dining today at the Kensington resumed their trip on a trolley car to Trenton.

R. S. Stevens, of this city, is at the Park Hotel, Ocean Grove.

ECUMENICAL CONFERENCE

4th Conference of Methodists to Be Held at Toronto in October.

H. K. CARROLL IS SECRETARY.

Plainfielder Also Made Secretary for Presbyterian World's Great Missionary Conference.

The fourth Ecumenical council of Methodist churches in October, 1911, will be held in Toronto. This was decided at the first day's session of the commission of the Western section held yesterday in Thornley chapel at Ocean Grove.

Two cities were under consideration and were nominated—St. Louis and Toronto. The claims of both were carefully gone over and final decision favored Toronto for several reasons, one being that a twenty-seven-hour journey would be saved the foreign delegates, and another being that St. Louis would be much warmer early in October, the time of holding the council, than Toronto. Then the fact of holding the council in Canada was looked at as a matter of courtesy to the delegates from Great Britain.

An executive committee of twenty-fie has been named to make all necessary arrangements for the conference in co-operation with a similar committee in Great Britain. Dr. H. K. Carroll, of this city, has been elected secretary of the American executive committee, and will be charged with all the correspondence as the active executive officer. He will have rooms at 150 Fifth avenue in New York city. Dr. Carrroll is also secretary of the American executive committee of the World Missionary conference to be held in Edinburgh, in 1910, and of the committee on reference and counsel, representing all foreign missionary boards in the United States and Canada, with headquarters at 156 Fifth avenue. The latter is the Presbyterian, the former the Methodist building. The Methodist Ecumenical conference will represent more than 30,000,000 Methodists, including adherents.

INSURANCE AGENTS' FEAST AT WALDORF

Marking the conclusion of a contest among the local assistant superintendents and agents of the Prudential Insurance Company, the insurance men gathered at the Hotel Waldorf for a celebration banquet last night. During the week of the competition insurance to the amount of $80,000 was written by the contestants.

F. W. Smith was awarded a five-dollar gold piece as first prize for doing most business during the contest, and G. R. Laird recived a $2.50 gold piece for winning second honors. The presentations were made by Superintendent Martin Reilly, who has recently succeeded D. O. Evans as manager of the Plainfield district. Mr. Reilly comes to this city from Jersey City, and his place there is taken by Mr. Evans.

The banquetters were Superintendent Reilly, Assistant Superintendents H. W. Farley, W. D. Wright and O. L. Adriance, of this city; G. W. Hope and Arthur Dudley, of Somerville, and W. C. Miller, of Westfield; agents P. A. Vroom, F. W. Smith, G. R. Laird and F. L. Cregar, of this city, and Daniel Haley, of Somerville. Mr. Reilly acted as toastmaster, and the viands served by Meinhost Wincham were of the finest. Following the menu-slaughter, there were informal speeches, in the course of which each diner was called upon.

The seven assitant superintendents of the Plainfield district will form an organization next Friday night, for it is believed that organization will be the means of more effective co-operation for business.

At Fresh Air Home.

The meeting at Netherwood Fresh Air Home last night was attended by a large delegation from Warren chapel and other friends in the neighborhood. Charles S. Windham, who led the meeting, spoke to the children about Jesus and held their attention throughout his address. Mrs. McKelvey, wife of the pastor of the chapel, also addressed the meeting. Misses Ida and Edith Wheeler sang duets and Miss Nora Schenck a solo. Despite the weather a decidedly happy evening was spent.

Gymn Now Ready.

The Y. M. C. A. gymnasium which has been undergoing repairs of various kinds during the past month, is now open for members. A new floor has been laid, and the apparatus has been put in repair. The horizontal bar has been shifted to the left of the floor.

"I am with you boys, I'm with you," you can hear his sweet voice ring;
"I am with you boys, I'm with you," his reply to everything.
"I am with you boys, I'm with you, you can always count on me;
"I am with you boys, I'm with you; yours truly, Herbert B."

CHIEF'S PROMPT ACTION PREVENTS ACCIDENTS

Prompt action on the part of Borough Chief of Police George Weiss in detecting a dangerous hole about which was a weak foundation on the Somerset street bridge, probably prevented seyeral serious accidents to horses this morning.

The chief was riding over the bridge on a trolley car when he noticed a peculiar eddy of water. From the nature of the current he could see that something was amiss. Consequently he alighted from the car and made an immediate investigation. A hole in the bridge nearly two feet square was partly closed by some weak boards, which had a horse stepped on them, would have given way, breaking the horse's leg.

Freeholder Andrew Lutkins was notified of the matter and after a personal investigation he immediately put laborers at work repairing the bridge. The foundation about the side near the hole was found to be in a weak condition. This was temporarily repaired. Later the freeholders will make extensive repairs.

PROCLAMATION.

To Whom It May Concern:—

I, Charles J. Fisk, Mayor of the City of Plainfield, by virtue of the authority vested in me, pursuant to the terms of an ordinance of this city, entitled "An Ordinance concerning Dogs," approved May the 3d, 1909, do hereby proclaim and give public notice that from and after the date hereof and to and including the fifteenth day of September, 1909, no dog will be allowed to leave the premises of the person owning or entitled to the custody of such dog, unless securely confined upon a leash and accompanied by a person over the age of twelve years. Any person found guilty of violating any of the provisions of said ordinance, is liable to be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars for each offense, and in addition thereto, and during the term herein above set forth, all dogs found running at large, whether or not they be licensed, will be seized and disposed of according to law.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at the said city of Plainfield this twenty-third day of July, A. D., 1909.

PLAINFIELDER INVENTS DOOR HANGING DEVICE

Walter R. Lewis, of Richmond street, is the inventor of a device for hanging doors, which is destined to throw the achievements of others in this line into the shade. While watching the hanging of a pair of doors in a building on Watchung avenue some time ago, Mr. Lewis was surprised to discover that the two men engaged in the work had been at it for the greater part of two days.

He suggested to the builder that the time consumed in the operation seemed altogether disproportionate to the value of the work, and asked if there was not a simpler way of doing it. On being answered in the negative Mr. Lewis began to think. The result of his study is the patent which has just been granted to him.

The device will revolutionize the building in of folding doors where a door hanger is used on tracks. It is a simple device and obviates the necessity of tearing out the woodwork in the operation of hanging the doors, and the trick can be accomplished in an hour and a half easily.

Mr. Lewis has shown the drawings of his invention to architects in this city and they will in future call for the use of his hanger in their specifications. Several large manufacturers in the West are making estimates for the cost of producing the new hanger in large quantities and the lowest concern will probably receive the contract for making them.

Application for the patent was made on March 18 and the patent granted on July 13. Lewis says he has already been asked to consider an offer of $50,000 for the patent outright.

Fitzsimmons to Umpire.

Robert Fitzsimmons will umpire his first offical game of the season for the Dunellen baseball team at Dunellen tomorrow afternoon. The McKiernan A. C., of Newark, will cross bats with the Dunellenites on the local diamond. This team is composed of amateur and semi-professional players and is rated among the strongest teams of its class in Newark. Harney and Lidgate will be the battery for the Dunellenites and the rest of the team will line up as usual.

Special Service at Baby Camp.

A special service will be held at the "Baby Camp on the Mountain" Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at which some fine vocal and instrumental music will be rendered. The camp is situated on Johnson drive, on the Watchung Mountain, and is reached by the Somerset street trolley and a walk over a good road with easy grades.

HEARING OF "JOY RIDERS"

Four Chauffeurs Held to Await the Action of Union County Grand Jury.

County Prosecutor and His Assistant and Deputy Commissioner Have Chauffeurs Held.

Hugh McIver, George M. Macintyre, George G. Mitchell and Walter Kettenring, the four chauffeur "joy riders" who figured in the wrecking of a touring car belonging to the F. L. C. Martin Automobile Company, near Metuchen, early on the morning of July 14, were held to await the action of the grand jury after the postponed hearing of their case before City Judge William N. Runyon at the city court yesterday afternoon. The bail of $500 apiece, upon which they were freed after their arrest following the accident, is to continue.

V. W. Nash, Jr., who was counsel for the four chauffeurs, based his defense on the claim that the complaint was improperly framed, and that three of the defendants were not responsible under the motor vehicle law, section 127, of which was violated only by Hugh McIver, the driver of the car. He claimed that McIver, too, was exhonorated by the testimony of F. L. C. Martin himself, the first witness called by the State, who stated that Dr. Cramer, of Seabright, who had rented the car, has control of it.

These contentions were combatted by Assistant County Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., who conducted the case for the State, and were overruled by City Judge Runyon. Nash's contention that only the man who had charge of the car (Dr. Cramer) could make the complaint, was declared erroneous by Mr. Hetfield, who said that the opposing lawyer had confused criminal action with civil action, and he showed that any citizen could make the complaint.

The assistant prosecutor also showed that all four chauffeurs could be held responsible for the taking of the car although but one drove it. He substantiated his statement by referring to parallel cases in the law books. City Judge Runyon allowed Mr. Hetfield's contention, explaining that the consent to take the car from the garage was based on a false hypothesis—a misrepresentation to Night Manager Theodore Van Zandt, and he denied Mr. Nash's motion.

The court room was crowded to its utmost capacity when the case was called at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. County Prosecutor C. Addison Swift, of Elizabeth, and Deputy Commissioner Shinn, of Trenton, representing J. B. R. Smith, head of the State Motor Vehicle Commission, were both in court. The witnesses called by the State were F. L. C. Martin, owner of the wrecked car; Peter G. Lynn, assistant foreman at Martin's garage; William Mazocco, Martin's manager; Peter S. Van Zandt, Martin's night manager; Peter Floersch, a Perth Amboy hotel keeper, and Arthur L. Hulick.

Mr. Martin testified that McIver and Macintyre were in his employ, and told how each had come to him on July 15 and talked with him about the accident. It developed that while Macintyre said he had only had "two short beers," the other members of the party took acoholic refreshment before starting on the ride and at the stopping points. On the cross-examination Mr. Martin admitted that the car was under the control of Dr. Cramer, but not while it was in his garage. He said that his foremen were employed to act according to their own discretion about sending cars out, but he excepted from this discretionary powers, Peter S. Van Zandt, the night manager of the garage.

Mr. Van Zandt, when called to the stand, testified that he had given permission for the car to leave the garage, and had personally attended to the filling of the gasolene tanks at the request of McIver. Macintyre was sitting in the car at the time.

Peter Floersch, the Perth Amboy hotel keeper, testified that the party bought drinks in his hostelry, and told how he had seen the automobile, with six passengers, running at a high speed through the Perth Amboy streets late at night.

Arthur L. Hulick, questioned about the doings of the four before starting from this city with the car, caused a laugh by refusing to answer "on the grounds that he might be incriminated," but when recalled to the stand answered several direct questions by the assistant prosecutor. Mr. Hetfield thanked him for that his statements which were not incriminating and would not be used against him.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The enterprising and newsy Weekly Call celebrated its seventeenth birthday yesterday. In editorially reviewing the growth of Dunellen for that time, Editor Day finds much to commend, and strikes a note of optimism and of altruism in forecasting the growth of the borough in years that are to come.

Charles Braun has rented the Mills house on Walnut street, formerly occupied by I. N. Line, who has moved to his new house on Washington avenue. Mr. Braun leased the house through the agency of Charles E. Tinsman and will take possession August 1.

The Middlesex and Union County Board of Freeholders have commenced the work of macadamizing Jefferson avenue, Dunellen, between West Front street and Green Brook. This thoroughfare is the dividing line between the two counties.

The work of remodelling the Law house on Washington avenue has been started by local contractors. The property was recently purchased by a New York man who is having it enlarged and redecorated.

Mrs. Frederick R. Stephenson, of Lincoln, gave a birthday party in honor of her son, Ivanhoe, aged fourteen, Wednesday night. Music and games were the principal features.

A shirt waist dance will be held this evening in Jr. O. U. A. M. hall for the benefit of the Dunellen baseball team. Music will be furnished by Naylor's orchestra.

Mrs. Walter Dunn entertained the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church at her home Wednesday afternoon.

Michael Gallagher, of Dunellen, who has been ill with pneumonia, was able to go out Wednesday for the first time in three weeks.

The McKiernan A. C., of Newark, will oppose the locals on the local diamond tomorrow. Robert Fitzsimmons will umpire.

Frances Manning, of Newark, spent Wednesday with her grandfather, William H. Manning, of New Market.

Henry Clawson, of Dunellen, who has been ill for the past week with tonsilitis, is able to be about again.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mullen and children left yesterday for an extended stay along the Jersey coast.

William Huffnagle, of Brooklyn, spent Monday and Tuseday with his brother George, of Dunellen.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Caffa, of Dunellen, spent Wednesday with friends in Somerville.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The ball team will be accompanied to Bound Brook tomorrow afternoon by a number of the fans. With MacLaughlin in condition the locals should be able to give a good account of themselves before the nine innings are over.

A number of Father Schandel's old parishioners from here and Stony Hill attended the special services held yesterday at St. Joseph's church to celebrate Father Schandel's 50th anniversary as a priest.

F. H. Seeman and family, who have been residents of the borough for several years, will remove August 1 to Plainfield.

The weekly prayer and praise meeting of the Baptist church will be held tonight in the church parlors.

The Baptist A. C. team will play the Warren A. C. team on the home grounds tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walpole, of Front street, have been entertaining relatives from Newark.

Miss Marion Clark, of Front street, is spending two weeks with relatives in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Frank Hosinger is having a new porch built on her house on Park avenue.

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

Klaw and Erlanger have made another innovation in the theatrical business of New York city, which has proven an enormous success—namely, the production of a dramatic offering on a roof garden. Brady & Grismer's "A Gentleman from Mississippi," in the Aerial Gardens, which crowns the lofty parapet of the New Amsterdam Theatre, has been received just as cordially as it ever was on an indoor stage. The success of the departure is revolutionary. It has been held most vogorously that only a show with music and lots of girls would appeal to the summer theatregoer. New York, however, has grown in such favor as a summer resort that the increase in visitors will keep open any house that is cool and comfortable. The stranger within the gates, it has been proven, is keen to see a dramatic success with a strong New York cast. Something he or she can talk about when he or she gets back home. It gives one the opporunity to make that irritating unanswerable remark, "yes, I saw the show when we were in New York ith dear Tom Wise and Douglas Fairbanks in the cast. It was an entirely new production, too."

BULLET IS REMOVED FROM SPINAL CORD.

One of the rarest and most difficult operations of modern surgery was performed in the Alexian Brothers' Hospital, Elizabeth, yesterday upon Joseph Demagauer, who was shot in the back in a dance hall fight along the waterfront Sunday night.

The bullet, which had been located in the man's spine by means of X-ray photographs, was removed from his spinal cord. The missile, which was lodged in the spinal canal itself, had rested there since Sunday and has caused complete paralysis of the body below the hips.

Dr. John F. Erdman, of Bellevue Hospital, Manhattan, performed the operation, which is known as laminectomy. It was necessary to open and afterward reset the eleventh dorsal vertabrae, in which the bullet was lodged.

No hope is held out for the young man's life. There is no way to rejoin the severed parts of the spinal cord, and he will be paralyzed until death. The doctors say that he may die in twenty-four hours and may live for weeks.

The operation attracted wide attention and was witnessed by several Elizabeth surgeons.

HALF-PAY PROJECT MARCHING AHEAD.

The directors of the hospital half-pay day committee met at Elizabeth last night and decided to have the members from the different wards make an attempt to round up the men nominated as captains and obtain their acceptances or their refusals to do the work. Only fifty-eight of the 125 men asked to take up the work have sent in answers.

It was reported that there would be a meeting of the Union Township branch on Wednesday night.

The local pastors will be asked to make some mention of the work from the pulpits some time just before September 25, the day appointed for the collections.

Those present last night were Chairman Alfred A. Stein, H. S. Chatfield, Charles H. K. Halsey, Patrick J. Ryan, John W. Whelan, Robert B. Cissel, C. S. Black, Owen P. Mahon, E. H. Karr and Francis Engel.

FINED FOR BEATING HORSE.

Negro Hackman of Cranford Says He Will Appeal.

Harvey Harris, a negro hackman and proprietor of a small livery stable on North avenue, Cranford, was fined $20 by Judge E. R. Collins yesterday for cruelty to a horse. The charge was made by Mrs. Charles L. Emmons, who testified that while she was seated on the piazza at Mrs. Wasson's residence, on Riverside avenue, last Thursday, she saw Harris beating a bay horse. Mrs. S. Wetherell, a friend of Mrs. Emmons, identified Harris as the man who did the beating.

As soon as sehtence was pronounced Harris said he would appeal the case. Judge Collins gave him three days to do it.

Mrs. Robert Lowry, of East Seventh street, is registered for the season at the Cliff House, Lake Minnewaska, New York.

Raises Damage Claim.

The District Court suit of John Dodd, a Singer employe, against the Public Service Corporation, for false arrest, was discontinued at Elizabeth yesterday by Abe J. David, counsel for the plaintiff, who announced that he would move the suit in the Circuit Court and claim $2,000, instead of the $500 damages he asked in the lower court.

The family of L. H. Biglow Jr., of Brooklyn, who have been stopping at Truell Hall, are spending the summer months on the coast of Maine. Mr. Biglow, who is still at the hall, will join them later.

THE DAILY PRESS.

Plainfield, N. J., July 23, 1909.

"BOROUGHITES' 'KICKERS'" ...THE UNIONIST-GAZETTE

In its new story concerning the dispute over the lines in widening Greenbrook road, the Somerville Unionist-Gazette today disagrees to editorially express its opinion of North Plainfielders. Here is its tribute:

"If half the threats made by the Plainfield contingent are carried out the board is likely to have law suits on its hands if it builds the road 'as per contract,' or any other old way, and the prospect is not very pleasing. In fact, a number of members of the board are very outspoken in the opinion that the North Plainfield 'kickers' have become very tiresome. It is asserted that the board has never attempted an improvement in the borough of recent years without being forced to spend $4,000 or $5,000 more than the original contract price in order to satisfy a small per centage of the 'kickers.'

"One of the latest 'kicks' from North Plainfield, it is stated, is over a good iron bridge on Washington avenue. The 'kickers' are 'kicking' because the bridge is too long for the stream it spans. Then again they are 'kicking' because vehicles make a noise which disturbs their slumber at night in crossing the plank floor of the bridge.

"There is a demand on the board to replace the good iron bridge with a nice, short, concrete bridge with a noiseless bottom.

"The board is just now figuring on moving the good iron bridge either to Pluckamin or Blawenburg, where the people live so far from the county lines that they are not eternally walking around with chips on their shoulders and threatening to jump the border."

HIS TALK ON HARMONY DROWNED BY CAT'S CRY

Just as the members of the Piscataway Board of Education were discussing the question of adding a course of music to the curriculum of the New Market, South Plainfield and other Piscataway township schools, a cat entered the building and began a concert on its own account.

The unearthly sounds from the animal completely drowned the efforts of the members to discuss the question in an ordinary tone of voice. They persisted, but in vain. When President Veghte, of Bound Brook, began a dissertation on harmony and its relation to the aesthetic development of the plastic mind, a series of painful siren cries came from the cat. These finally drifted into an ensemble of various melodies, expressing, probably, all sorts of emotion and feeling, and acting as an impromptu illustration of the speaker's words.

"I guess," said Mr. Veghte, "our intentions are misinterpreted by our feline visitor. Though none of us are profound believers in physic phenomena, we can hardly construe this music as a message from the nether world directing us to abandon our efforts to teach music in our schools; but for the present, be it such a message, or not, I would recommend that we do not undertake the course this year."

A last grand finale from the cat mingled with the laughter of the board members at Mr. Veghte's witty remarks, and they filed out of the room to the music of a varied recessional, convinced that the musical education of the New Market and South Plainfield youths must be left to the agencies outside of the school interests, and over which they have no temporal or physical control.

The proposed course of music in the Piscataway schools was strongly recommended by County Superintendent of Schools, H. Brewster Willis, of New Brunswick. Mr. Willis unfortunately was not present at the meeting of the Piscataway school board Tuesday afternoon.

At Proctor's.

Standing room only was the sign at Proctor's last night. The theatre was literally packed to the doors to welcome Fields and Hansen, the black face musical comedians. Fields with his concertina kept the audience in roars of laughter. This pair is as good as a whole circus. Housley and Russell, in a comedy sketch, showed up "Mrs. Nagg" to perfection. The motion pictures are a revelation. Tragedy and comedy are depicted true to life.

INDOOR SOCIAL AT EAST END'S CHAPEL

The new Netherwood Reformed church was attractively decorated last night when the first indoor social event in its history took place. A few of the deeply interested women of the church took advantage of the cool weather we are having, and on very short notice arranged for an exceedingly interesting program of musical and other numbers in which an enjoyable evening was spent.

In spite of the inclement weather about forty people were in attendance and enjoyed a foretaste of the sociability that will be increasingly manifested during the coming fall and winter. The friends were entertained with piano and violin duets by Miss York and Master York, of Columbia avenue; vocal and instrumental duets by Mrs. Samuel O. Rush and Miss Maude Berry, and a clever recitation by Miss Gertrude Berry, of Leland avenue. Games were played and refreshments served.

Although the purpose of the evening was to promote sociability, it was proposed that a collection be taken up. The suggestion was acted upon, and over $5 was received. The church building is now receiving a double coat of white paint with green trimmings and the carpet has been laid in the aisles. Book racks have been added to the backs of the chairs, and the chairs for the primary department of the Sunday-school are in place.

The outside of the edifice has been completed by the placing of the steeple, and the bell will soon be hung thus finishing a record breaking performance in church equipping.

SAVAGE'S GREAT SHOW HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

The first gun of the dawning theatrical season will be fired at the New Plainfield Theatre next Tuesday night, when Henry W. Savage will offer for the first time on any stage, the "Gay Hussars" a new Viennese operatta, which is now the reigning success of Europe, and which it is confidently expected is to rival if not excel the vogue of its elder sister, "The Merry Widow." "The Gay Hussars" is the musical piece which was presented at the same theatre in Vienna, where "The Merry Widow" had its long run, when that famous musical play had worn itself out. The new piece immediately sprang into success and returning Americans have told of the tremendous vogue it has achieved through Austria and Germany. It was written by Karl von Bakonyi and Emerich Kalman, and Mr. Savage was in Vienna at the time of its orginal production there and secured the English and American rights. He has mounted it in a most lavish manner, importing the costumes from Vienna and Berlin.

RUN OVER BY CAB WOMAN BADLY HURT

Mrs. William Touchon, of 132 Johnston avenue, is lying at her home today badly hurt, as a result of being knocked down and run over by a cab driven by Arthur Coons, colored. The accident happened last evening after the return of the excursion train from Asbury Park, which both Mr. and Mrs. Touchon enjoyed. They were crossing the street near the corner of Watchung and North avenues, when the cab approached. Mrs. Touchon saw it coming, but it was upon her before she could move either way. She became confused and in trying to step back, was knocked down by the cab.

The wheels of the cab passed over Mrs. Touchon's right leg near the hip and also over her arm near the shoulder. The shock from the fall bruised her considerably. She was picked up and Dr. Dundon was summoned. He made a hasty examination and then had her removed to her home on Johnston avenue, where she is still under medical care. Mr. Touchon is a Public Service Corporation motorman and did not report for work this morning. The full extent of Mrs. Touchon's wounds are no known, as internal injuries may develop. This is not believed to be the case, however. Bystanders say that Coons made every effort to stop the cab, when he saw Mrs. Touchon in his path.

Dog Catcher Gets Even.

Mrs. Carrie Brown, colored, of Plainfield avenue, was arraigned before City Judge Runyon at the session of court this morning, to answer for the sins of her little dog, which bit Dog Catcher William Bryant about two weeks ago, and which has no license. She explained that she didn't want to pay for a license and was ordered by the court to deliver the animal to the dog catcher today.

MUST NOT SPEAK AS THEY PASS BY.

M. Bershad, a West End grocer, had Edward Dawson, of New street, brought before City Judge Runyon, at the city court today, and charged him with using vile and abusive language to him on Tuesday and Wednesday at his store. He said that he did not desire to press the charge, but wanted to have Dawson bound over to keep the peace, and ordered to keep away from him.

The grocer told the court that the words had been brought about by a charge of two cents more than Dawson had expected for a quart of milk. Bershad explained that this was because the milk had been bought in pint bottles at different times, and was worth five cents a pint, although a quart could be purchased for eight cents.

Dawson denied the charge of vile language, and got busy with the muck-rake, flaying the grocer's reputation by bringing counter charges of insult to his wife, who was in court to substantiate the allegations. Judge Runyon ordered the men to have nothing to do with each other in future.

Stung by Bees.

Jospeh Plum, of Manning avenue, had his right eye almost closed by being stung by two bees at his home Tuesday evening. Mr. Plum has several bee hives, and was extracting the honey when one bee stung him, just over the right optic. A secoud bee followed suit and stung him a little to the right of where the first bee alighted. Mr. Plum hastened to the house where a poultice was put on, temporarily relieving him. The accident was very painful to Mr. Plum, besides inconveniencing him greatly.

Brutal Negro Pays Fine.

Max Brown, the negro arrested by Chief Weiss of the borough, for cruelty to animals, who was fined fifty dollars by Recorder Dolliver, has been released from the borough police headquarters. Brown pursuaded his father, who is a garbage collector, to raise the money. This the old man did, going among his friends and relatives. The fine was paid, and young Brown was then released.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

The several Masonic bodies of South Jersey held their annual picnic at Pitman Wednesday.

The postmasters of Cumberland county had an excursion down the Maurice river Wednesday.

Assemblyman Walter Heritage, of Mickleton, has announced his candidacy for renomination in Gloucester county.

Charles Johnson, of Cross Keys, injured his hand the second time by striking a barbed wire, and blood poisoning has set in.

It is so dry in South Jersey that the weeds even refuse to grow, and the farmers are laying off their help, as there is nothing for them to do.

The physicians at the Cooper Hospital, Camden, Wednesday, performed the operation of removing a splinter from the eye of Catharine Morgan, ten years old, of 931 Point street.

Farmers who have exhibits at the Grangers' field day picnic at National Park, next Wednesday, will have a chance to show what Gloucester county can do without water.

Rev. George P. Armstrong and the members of his congregation of Trinity Episcopal church, Totowa, are carrying on a campaign in an endeavor to raise $12,000 to erect and equip a parish house.

Next Sunday will see the end of the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Sicklerville M. E. church, when J. Morgan Read, president of Pennington Seminary, will preach the closing sermon.

William McKinley, of 167 Pine street, Paterson, while operating a crane in the Passaic Steel Works, that city, Wednesday, lost the tip of the left index finger in the cogs. He was attended at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mrs. Garruth, of Dundee Lake, notified the Paterson police Wednesday that she has in her possesion a horse with a bob tail. The horse stands about fifteen hands in height. Mrs. Garruth said that the animal strayed on her property.

Joseph Puller, thirty-eight years old, of 34 Barbour street, Paterson, while fooling with a flobert rifle Wednesday afternoon sent a bullet through the tip of his left index finger. He received medical attention at the General Hospital, Paterson.

Because of numerous complaints, Sealer of Weights and Measures George Krug, of Camden, Wednesday began a crusade against ice dealers who have been giving short weight. He says he expects to weed out the dishonest ones or make wholesale arrests.

Dog catcher Ford, at Millville, had a warrant issued for Randolph Scull, proprietor of a market, charging him with disorderly conduct Wednesday. Ford claims that Scull insulted him when he captured Scull's prize hound without a muzzle. Scull says the man entered his yard to get the dog.

Joseph Friend, of Medford, was about to go to a neighborng town for his health Wednesday, and the carriage was waiting at the door to take him and his wife. He decided to look at his poultry once more before going. When he did not return Mrs. Friend went to the chicken yard and found her husband leaning on a fence, dead.

While a burglar was busy with a jimmy prying an entrance into the grocery store of Richard Miller, 237 South Broadway, Gloucester, late Tuesday night, Policeman Baker was getting near him to make a capture, when a watch dog set up a loud barking that frightened the robber. He escaped with a fusillade of pistol shots in his wake.

At the annual meeting of the Merchantville Water Company Wednesday a complete change in the management was effected. These officers were elected: Henry J. West, State comptroller, of Gloucester, president; W. D. Weikel, of Merchantville, secretary and treasurer. The outgoing members of the board are Johnson, Armstrong and Smith. The incoming members are Weikel and West, leaving one vacancy yet to be filled.

Vice-Chancellor Leaming in Camden Wednesday filed an opinion denying the application of Percival Hannah, Jr., and Norman Hannah for the release of Percival Hannan, their father, from the Cumberland County Insane Asylum. Through physicians the sons sought the release of their father on the ground that he had sufficiently recovered. Mrs. Hannah opposed the application on the ground that her husband was not in condition to leave the asylum. Experts also testified in her behalf.

BAYONNE DEMOCRATS ANGRY.

The excursion committee of the Bayonne City Democratic Club declared yesterday that it will bring suit against several of the New York newspapers which published false stories regarding the trouble which arose between Jesse Feinberg, a local lawyer, and an attendant at Rockaway Beach bathing pavilion on the annual excursion of the club on Tuesday.

The stories published stated that the Bayonne Democrats were in a riot and left the beach shortly after their arrival. This is taken by the Democrats as placing them in the light of thugs and that its publication has worked injury to the club.

Whispering Smith

By Frank H. Spearman

Illustrations by Andre Bowles

Copyright, 1906, by Chas. Scribner's Sons.

The whole operating department of the road was stirred. What made the affair more dreadful was that it had occurred on the time of Number Six, the east-bound passenger train, held that morning at Sleepy Cat by an engine failure. Glover came to look into the matter. The testimony of all tended to one conclusion—that the quarry switch had been thrown at some time between 4:30 and 5 o'clock that morning. Inferences were many: Tramps during the early summer had been unusually troublesome and many of them had been rigorously handled by trainmen; robbery might have been a motive, as the express cars on train Number Six carried heavy specie shipments from the coast.

A third and more exciting event soon put the quarry wreck into the background. Ten days afterward an east-bound passenger train was flagged in the night at Sugar Buttes, 12 miles west of Sleepy Cat. When the heavy train slowed up, two men boarded the engine and with pistols compelled the engineman to cut off the express cars and pull them to the water-tank a mile east of the station. Three men there in waiting forced the express car, blew open the safe, and the gang rode away half an hour later loaded with gold coin and currency.

Had a stick of dynamite been exploded under the Wickiup there could not have been more excitement at Medicine Bend. Within three hours after the news reached the town a posse under Sheriff Van Horn, with a car load of horseflesh and 14 guns, was started for Sugar Buttes. The trail led north and the pursuers rode until nearly nightfall. They crossed Dutch flat and rode single file into a wooded canyon, where they came upon traces of a camp-fire. Van Horn, leading, jumped from his horse and thrust his hand into the ashes; they were still warm, and he shouted to his men to ride up. As he called out, a rifle cracked from the box-elder trees ahead of him. The sheriff fell, shot through the head, and a deputy springing from his saddle to pick him up was shot in precisely the same way; the posse, thrown into a panic, did not fire a single shot, and for an hour dared not ride back for the bodies. After dark they got the two dead men and at midnight rode with them into Sleepy Cat.

When the news reached McCloud he was talking with Bucks over the wires. Bucks had got into headquarters at the river late that night, and was getting details from McCloud of the Sugar Buttes robbery when the superintendent sent him the news of the killing of Van Horn and the deputy. In the answer that Bucks sent came a name new to the wires of the mountain division and rarely seen even in special correspondence, but Hughie Morrison, who took the message, never forgot that name. Hughie handed the message to McCloud and stood by while the superintendent read:

Whispering Smith is due in Cheyenne to-morrow. Meet him at the Wickiup Sunday morning; he has full authority. I have told him to get these fellows, if it takes all the money in the treasury, and not to stop till he cleans them out of the Rocky Mountains. J. S. B.

CHAPTER X.

At the Three Horses.

"Clean them out of the Rocky mountains; that is a pretty good contract," mused the man in McCloud's office on Sunday morning. He sat opposite McCloud in Bucks' old easy chair and held in his hand Bucks' telegram. As he spoke he raised his eyebrows and settled back, but the unusual depth of the chair and the shortness of his legs left his chin helpless in his black tie, so that he was really no better off except that he had changed one position of discomfort for another.

A clerk opened the outer office door. "Mr. Dancing asks if he can see you, Mr. McCloud."

"Tell him I am busy."

Bill Dancing, close on the clerk's heels, spoke for himself. "I know it, Mr. McCloud, I know it!" he interposed, urgently, "but let me speak to you just a moment." Hat in hand, Bill, because no one would knock him down to keep him out, pushed into the room. "I've got a plan," he urged, "in regards to getting these hold-ups."

"How are you, Bill?" exclaimed the man in the easy chair, jumping hastily to his feet and shaking Dancing's hand. Then quite as hastily he sat down, crossed his knees violently, stared at the giant lineman, and exclaimed: "Let's have it!"

Dancing looked at him in silence and with some contempt. The trainmaster had broken in on the superintendent for a moment and the two were conferring in an undertone. "What might your name be, mister?" growled Dancing, addressing with some condescension the man in the easy chair.

The man waved his hand as if it were immaterial and answered with a single word: "Forgotten!"

"How's that?"

"Forgotten!"

Dancing looked from one man to the other, but McCloud appeared preoccupied and his visitor seemed wholly serious. "I don't want to take too much on myself—" Bill began, speaking to McCloud.

"You look as if you could carry a fair-sized load, William, provided it bore the right label," suggested the visitor, entirely amiable.

"—But nobody has felt worse over this thing and recent things—"

"Recent things," echoed the easy chair.

"—happening to the division than I have. Now I know there's been trouble on the division—"

"I think you are putting it too strong there, Bill, but let it pass."

"—there's been differences; misunderstandings and differences. So I says to myself maybe something might be done to get everybody together and bury the differences, like this: Murray Sinclair is in town; he feels bad over this thing, like any railroad man would. He's a mountain man, quick as the quickest with a gun, a good trailer, rides like a fiend, and can catch a streak of sunshine traveling on a pass. Why not put him at the head of a party to run 'em down?"

"Run 'em down," nodded the stranger.

"Differences such as be or may be—"

"May be—"

"Being discussed when he brings 'em in dead or alive, and not before. That's what I said to Murray Sinclair, and Murray Sinclair is ready for to take hold this minute and do what he can if he's asked. I told him plain I could promise no promises; that, I says, lays with George McCloud. Was I right, was I wrong? If I was wrong, right me; if I was right, say so. All I want is harmony."

The new man nodded approval. "Bully, Bill!" he exclaimed, heartily.

"Mister," protested the lineman, with simple dignity, "I'd just a little rather you wouldn't bully me nor Bill me."

Police Outing Returns.

About 3,500 persons, including about one-half of the police department of Elizabeth, returned last night from the annual excursion of the Police Mutual Aid Association to Highland Beach. The affair was pronounced a success by all who went, and everything went off without mishap, according to report.

This is the Square Pot of the

that saves fuel and dollars and will heat the whole of a house. In every great engine and under every big boiler you'll find a square fire box. Ever noticed it? Well—we have adapted that principle to our furnaces. A square pot gives a clean, hot, clinkerless fire without waste of fuel. It requires the least attention and responds instantly. BOYNTON furnaces only have square fire-pots. It is our patent. There are other improvements. A square ash pit that improves the draft and makes removal of ashes easier. A pure air supply—for health's sake. A dust flue that saves the rooms above.

Look up the BOYNTON dealer in your town and talk it over.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for Steam or Hot Water. Also Ranges.

The New Chalmers Cars for 1910

No Increase in Price

Note the pictures. Our "30" has a 115-inch wheel base—with 34-inch wheels. A longer, higher hood to accord with a roomier tonneau. Lines like the costliest cars on the market.

Yet not a penny of additional price. The car still sells for $1500. Let us tell you how we have done it.

1,000 More Cars

Last season's output of "30's" was 2,500 cars, yet we ran 800 cars short of our orders. We were obliged to refuse trade to the extent of $1,200,000.

This year we have built a new factory, and our 1910 output of "30's" will be 3,500 cars. Those 1,000 extra cars will be made without adding a dollar to our fixed expense.

They will also be made with last year's tools and machinery. We have almost no new expense there. For mechanically, the car is not altered at all. Experience has shown us no way to improve it.

Thus we effect immense savings. And all of these savings have gone into the car—to make it more sightly, more roomy, more like the costliest cars.

Nine Per Cent Profit

Our profit this season will be the same as last season—exactly nine per cent.

Our customers have created these savings by calling for more of our cars. And every penny we save will be spent in giving them more beautiful cars. That is our permanent policy.

Please note the result. Note what a large and showy car—note the exquisite lines. Just think that $1500 now buys this amazing car.

Lower Prices

We will fit this $1500 car with a Bosch magneto, a Prest-O-Lite gas tank, and two Atwood-Castle gas lamps—all for $100 extra. The regular price of these extras is $175.

We will furnish our "30" with a Lenox mohair top for $75 extra. The regular price is $125.

We shall give you all the advantage of our quantity buying. So this 1910 model, fully equipped, costs you $135 less than did our 1909 model, equally equipped.

A longer, higher hood, roomier tonneau, longer wheel base, larger wheels and daintier lines. Yet the cost equipped is considerably less than the model of 1909.

No Records Like These

One of the Chalmers-Detroit "30's" has been run 32,000 miles, and has just completed a path-finding trip from Denver to Mexico City. Never has any car, at any price, made an equal endurance record.

Owners have paid us for repairs on their 1909 cars exactly $2.44 per car. That is a world's record.

On June 18th, a "30" won the Indiana Light Car Race, the greatest contest of its kind ever held in America, doing 232.74 miles at an average speed of 51.5 miles per hour.

On an economy test, made by the New York Auto Dealers' Association, it ran 25.7 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Never has a car at any price proved so satisfactory. Never did a car show such low cost for upkeep.

That is why we make no radical mechanical changes. Experience has proved that the 1909 "30" is absolutely right mechanically.

The Larger "Forty"

Our "Forty" for 1910 has 36-inch wheels. The wheel base is 122 inches—ten inches longer than last year. The car seats seven, while last season's seated five.

Upholstered in hand-buffed leather. Fitted with Bosch magneto, gas lamps and gas tank free.

Yet the price remains $2,750.

We will equip this car with a $150 Newport mohair top for $125 extra. The two extra seats will cost you but $75.

So this larger car, with larger wheels, when fully equipped, costs considerably less than last year.

This is our "Forty's" fifth season. It is known far and wide as the best medium-priced car on the market. It has been purchased by scores of the best experts in America for their personal use.

This season, with its extra room, there is not a car at any price which can reasonably claim to excel it.

Made as touring car, roadster and pony tonneau.

See These New Cars

Every Chalmers-Detroit dealer now has photographs of these new models. Demonstrating cars will be ready this month. Deliveries to users begin August 1st.

See them before you buy.

The tide of automobile demand is turning to these medium-priced cars. Not alone because of their prices, but mainly because of their savings on upkeep. The day of extravagance is past.

Last season these cars had no real competition. The demand was a third greater than could be supplied. This season, no medium-priced car will be anywhere near in their class.

Get your order in early, for orders are filled in rotation. August delivery gives you five months' use before the car's year begins.

Made by Chalmers-Detroit Motor Company, Detroit, Mich

Won 2 firsts and one second prize Johnston's Drive Hill Climb Contest, and made the best time for the day.

P.H.S. GRADUATES' PLANS

Nine of the Thirty-Eight Members of Class of 1909 Will Study Engineering.

AND OTHERS TO GO TO COLLEGE

Some to Start on Business Careers—Five Girls to Matriculate at Smith College.

The pupils of the Plainfield High School who were graduated from the city high school exactly a month ago today have for the most part completed their arrangements for their careers.

The Misses Sarah Brouwer, Marguerite Ramsey, Harriet Moodey, Louise Nicholl and Clara Savage will go to Smith College. The Misses Edna Burdick and Agnes Van Norden will enter the Montclair Normal School; the Misses Caroline Lambert and Frances Carr will enter Pratt Institute. The former will pursue a kindergarten course and the latter a course in art. The Misses Elsie Knowlton and Helen Rogers will study music. The Misses Mary Matthews and Esther Wolfe have secured stenographic situations. Miss Rosalie Kling has been entered up in Barnard College, while the Misses Carrie Baker and Ethel Skillman have not completed all of their arrangements for the future, as yet.

Ernest Banks, Barnard Kline, Richard Harrigan, Guion Fountain and Francis Wilcox are in business. Stanley and Sherwood Parsons and Joseph Silbert will enter Stevens Institute in the fall. All have taken the required examinations. Cornelius and Harold Schenck have been awarded scholarships for Rutgers College. Cornelius Schenck who is to pursue a course in civil engineering is now employed by Street Commissioner Andrew Gavette. Allen Snyder and John Lyness are planning to enter New York University. Charles Prior and Stanley Robins are to enter college to pursue courses in engineering. They are now planning to enter Cornell. Clyde Doane will enter Williams College. Alan Fitz Randolph will study at Princeton, and Washington McIntyre will enter one of the large universities on the Pacific coast, where he will pursue an engineering course. Alfred Beeken will enter the Carnegie Technical School from which his brother was graduated and James Cullen will enter St. Charles College. Arthur Bingaman will pursue a higher education at Columbia University. George Durar and Allen Fulmer will continue technical studies. Walter Knowlton has secured a responsible position with the chemical department of the Standard Oil Company. Frank Burdick, Edward Abbott, Albert Hardcastle, David Thickstun and Harry Sawyer have not entirely completed their plans, but it is likely that they will pursue higher education.

Of the future careers chosen by the boys, nine have elected some phase of engineering. No other profession is so well represented.

MISTAKE IN LAYING FLOOR MAKES NECESSARY REPAIRS.

Because they did not provide an air space of even a few inches in building a new floor in the basement of Saengerbund hall, two years ago, the Gesang and Turn Verein society will have to spend $2,000 to put their hall in use again.

The work has already been started and laborers are at work tearing up the basement floor, putting down concrete supports and raising the floor a few feet, so as to have an air space between it and the ground, thus preventing the too ready rotting of the wood. The bowling alleys will have to be torn up with the rest of the floor, and new ones will be laid during the latter part of the summer.

Upstairs the floor will be altered and put in shape for basketball. Whether the club will be represented by a team or not, is not stated. While the improvements are being made to this part of the building, minor changes in construction will also be made.

In the basement in addition to the air space, new wall supports will have to be put in in a number of cases, as those now in use are too weak to continue to be of service for a longer period of time.

Improving Printing Plant.

The North Plainfield Review has installed in its plant a two-revolution printing press, made by Walter Scott & Company, and a monotype type setting machine. Under the new management, the borough weekly has already shown much enterprise and a consequent improvement.

Mrs. Cormick McDonough, of Fairview avenue, has returned home after a weeks stay in Rockaway.

Miss Ida Altimus, of Second place, leaves Monday for Levonan, where she will spend her summer vacation.

DOG NUISANCE ABATED

Mayor's Proclamation Results in Absence of Canines on the Streets.

PENALTY FOR A VIOLATION.

Dogs Caught Running at Large May Be Shot and Owners Will Be Fined.

The prompt measures taken by Mayor Fisk to prevent dogs from running loose and possibly spreading rabies among other canines in the city has had its effect, and today the scarcity of dogs on the streets of the city is noticeable. The proclamation, while it would seem so, does not mean that the dogs caught running loose will be immediately killed. They will be taken to the pound and held for their owners for seventy-two hours, and if not called for then they will be shot.

It is not certain that the mongrel which gave the police such a chase on Thursday and yesterday, was a victim of the dred disease, but his actions before and during the pursuit would indicate that he was. Anyway "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and the Mayor is to be congratulated, it is considered, for his timely aid and action. If it is found that the dog had rabies the other dogs bitten will be rounded up and dispatched without further notice as it will not do to have any infected animal at large in the community.

It was stated yesterday that a Polish stone mason was attacked and bitten by the apparently rabid dog which caused all the commotion yesterday, but the man got away before his name could be ascertained. The report that several children living on the east side of town had been bitten could not be verified by a reporter who attempted to gather the facts in the case, and so far as known now no person was bitten, and only a few scared.

Letter carrier Apgar, who was one of the first attacked, was saved from the brute's teeth by his heavy rubber hip boots. Patrolman Charles Flynn was saved from the animal's teeth in the same manner, excepting that it was a rubber overcoat which prevented the dog's teeth from meeting in the officer's flesh. Two dogs that were known to have been bitten were shot by the police on request of their owners.

According to the proclamation a fine of twenty dollars may be imposed upon the owner of a dog found at large. It also states that a dog in leash must be accompanied by a person over twelve years old. This last precaution is a wise one, inasmuch as a very small dog becomes uncontrollable when attacked by rabies, and requires a strong hand in that emergency.

MRS. CAROLINE BEITER, AGED SIXTY-FIVE, DEAD.

Stricken with apoplexy yesterday, Mrs. Caroline Beiter, wife of William Beiter, died last night at her home, 105 Somerset street. She has been ailing for some time, but was not stricken until yesterday. Mrs. Beiter, who was sixty-five years of age, is a native of Baden, Carlruhe, Germany, and came to this country when she was a girl. She married Mr. Beiter in this city thirty-five years ago, and has been a resident here since her marriage. Her sudden death comes as a shock to scores of friends in city and borough.

Surviving Mrs. Beiter is her son Charles, the son of Mr. Beiter's brother, who was her first husband. The funeral will be at her late residence on Somerset street, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

ONLY "THREE BEERS."

But They Caused Doyle a Heap of Trouble.

Losing control of the horse, Patrick Doyle, a driver for McDonongh Brothers, coal dealers, was thrown out of one of the company's coal wagons on East Front street yesterday noon, while in an intoxicated condition. The accident, which happened near Berckman street, was seen by Dr. F. W. Westcott, who notified the police as to Doyle's condition. The driver's arrest followed. There was no damage done by the runaway.

Doyle was released with suspended sentence at his arraignment before Judge Runyon at the city court today. He said he had taken "three beers," but has kept away rfom police court for nearly five years and was rewarded for his good behavior.

Mrs. Philip MacIntyre, of West Seventh street, sailed on the American liner St. Louis today for Southampton. Mrs. MacIntyre will spend the next two months visiting friends in London and Paris. Tickets for the trip were secured through Estil's agency.

TRAIN HITS A WORKMAN

Patrick Nugent Struck by a Freight Suffers from Concussion of Brain.

REMOVED TO THE HOSPITAL.

Robert Clarkson, Who Saw the Accident, Summoned Assistance—Victim Will Probably Recover.

Struck by an eastbound freight train near the Grant avenue station at 5:20 o'clock this morning, Patrick Nugent, of 926 West Third street, was seriously injured as he was walking the tracks to his work at the Ransome Concrete Machinery Company. The man lies at Muhlenberg Hospital. He has concussion of the brain. Two deep gashes in the head have been sewed up by the hospital physicians. The victim sustained severe bruises about the body.

Nugent was walking eastward along the track and stepped out from behind a string of freight cars on Pond's siding, directly in front of the freight train, which was moving slowly. Robert Clarkson, night watchman for the Pond Machine Tool Works, witnessed the accident and ran to the victim's assistance. The train was stopped, and with the assistance of members of the crew, Clarkson picked Nugent up and carried him to the station.

The police were notified of the accident and the injured man was removed to the hospital in the patrol wagon.

J. G. Williams, the West Front street grocer, was aroused by someone knocking at his back door shortly after 5 o'clock this morning and arose in time to see the person walking away from his premises. Thinking that it was a tramp in search of food he payed no attention to the stranger, but now believes that it was some one seeking assistance for the wounded man.

It was at first reported that the man had a fractured skull and was mortally injured but subsequent inquiry at the hospital failed to confirm this. It is believed that the noise of a passenger train which had just passed prevented Nugent from hearing the approaching freight train.

SALOON KEEPERS ENJOINED NO LIQUOR FOR M'CAULEY.

James McCauley and Charlie Williams were up before City Judge Runyon this morning on the usual charge of drunkenness and were allowed to go on their promise to turn over a new leaf and quit the liquor.

McCauley has been arrested times without number for the same offence and his Honor promised that the next time he came before him the county would take care of him in the jail for a period of sixty days. After the pair had left the court room contractor Emmons entered and inquired of Chief Kiely for men to work. The Chief immediately despatched an officer to bring back the two men who had stated that they were willing to work. They could not be found.

In order to remove temptation out of the way of McCauley, the Judge said he would forbid the saloon keepers in town selling him any more drinks. It was stated that the present stamping ground of the bums in town—East Second street, from Park to Watchung avenues—will be cleaned up and the frequenters of the place scatered by the police.

Small Boy Hurt.

Charles Allegar, the twelve-year-old son of Howard Allegar, of West Fifth street, may loose the end of one of his fingers on the left hand, as a result of having it crushed in the cog wheel of an Irish Mail Thursday afternoon. A playmate was operating the machine, and the wheels were moving rapidly, when young Allegar happened to catch his left hand in the gearing. The machine was stopped, and young Allegar was taken to a nearby physician's office, where the injury was dressed. The lad is still under the care of a physician.

Grace Team Wins.

The Grace church choir boys' baseball team defeated the Highlander A. C. team this morning by the score of 6 to 4 in a splendidly played game at the Delacy avenue grounds. Walls and Martin, for the choir boys, did masterly work in the points. Bowley and Butler were the battery for the Highlanders.

T. H. Murray Marries.

Maude E. Mitchell, daughter of Rev. J. W. Mitchell, former pastor of Mount Olive Baptist church (colored) was married to Thomas H. Murray, of Asbury Park, at the home of the bride's parents, 659 West Third street, last Thursday evening. The couple will be at home after August 2.

MARK SOLDIERS GRAVES

Rahway Concern Given Contract for Headstones for Departed Vets.

IN UNION COUNTY CEMETERIES.

Fifty to Be Placed in Hillside—Cost Is $14.75 Each—J. Hervey Doane Chairman

Bids for the monuments to be placed on the graves of soldiers buried in Union county were opened by the committee of the Union County Freeholders' Board yesterday with the following figures presented: L. L. Manning, $15 each; W. E. Townsend, $15; R. F. Stead, $15.50; George McGee & Son, Elizabeth, $14.99; Thomas Jardine & Son, Rahway, $14.75. Thomas Jardine & Son were awarded the contract.

The specifications call for the monuments to be made of the best New Hampshire blue, or best dark Quincy granite of the size and character specified, sides and ends to be rough faced and tops for the inscriptions to be polished. The name of the regiment and rank, if any, and date of birth and death are to be cut in the top of the stone. The contractor is to set the stones and they are to be without footing. There will be between fifty and sixty of the stones to be set, outside of those already placed at Hillside cemetery.

Aside from the mere placing of the monuments, the graves of soldiers throughout the county are to be looked up and cared for. All this is the result of the work of a committee, of which J. Hervey Doane is chairman. The other members of the committee are: John M. Cady, of Summit; John H. Stephens, of Rahway; Joseph Perry, of Westfield and Charles J. Jensen, of Elizabeth.

NEED PUBLIC INTEREST IN FRESH AIR HOME

The Daily Press is in receipt of the following letter from J. D. Loizeaux, president of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home:

Editor, The Daily Press:

"Sir: Believing that there might be some misunderstanding as to the Peter Hewitt bequest will you kindly insert the following statement in your valuable columns:

"The bequest is certain to come and likely in the near future, but surely not in time for this season's work. Therefore, its needs are as they have been heretofore to be supplied by the cheerful givers of Plainfield and vicinity. It has no other source of income.

"Our citizens and the old friends of Miss Curry's work are therefore again invited to join us in its support. Those of us who have been in touch with it have found it a source of happiness and cheer to minister to the health and pleasure of the poor children, and we earnestly desire others to participate with us in it.

A hearty invitation is extended to all to come to the service on the grounds at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Come and enjoy with us a happy hour in this beautiful work.

"Yours in behalf of the little ones,
"J. D. LOIZEAUX,
"President Netherwood Fresh Air Home."

IN BOROUGH COURT.

John Strapol Fined $3 for Disorderly Conduct.

Clever work on the part of Borough Marshal Frank Culver in tripping up John Strapol, and arresting him, may result in the apprehension of two men who have been disturbing the borough police recently. The Plainfield police have been asked to assist in capturing Shabol's partner, who escaped from Culver, when he endeavored to arrest the pair yesterday afternoon.

Both Strabol and his companion were acting in a disorderly manner on Somerset street yesterday. Marshal Pope ordered them to move away from the vicinity of the Somerset school. The continued their disorderly actions and Pope called on Culver to help arrest the pair. By this time they were in the vicinity of Pearl street and Watchung avenue. Culver approached the pair unawares to them, and tripped Strabol just as he was about to run. While he put on the nippers, the larger of the pair escaped to this side of "the brook." In court Strabol was penitent and paid a fine of three dollars imposed by Borough Recorder Dolliver.

Miss Helen Thompson, of Westfield, is the guest of the Misses Louise and Helena Johnson, of Newark, who are occupying the Clairmere bungalow at Culver's Lake.

He is nearly as tall as the Bunker Hill monument; every inch he's a man;
Gee! What a boom in the building trade here, since our friend Alexander began!
Small wonder it is that his credit is good, and his work of the fairest and best,
For Alex is, even his rivals admit, head and shoulders above all the rest

DAM REPAIRS MADE; TIER'S LAKE AGAIN FULL

Tier's lake is again filling up and the water from the rain of the past two days will supply sufficient volume to make it assume its normal size. The water was let out of the lake recently to allow repairs to be made to the dam. This took several days, and when the gates were again closed two days ago, there was no water from upstream to fill up the lake.

The exposed water weeds and mud, together with numerous dead fish, on the bottom of the lake caused a stench which was extremely unpleasant to those people living near the lake. As the water was out of the lake for nearly two weeks the action of the sun on the lake bottom simply augmented the offensive odors. Hence the rain of the past two days gave a much needed relief.

The lake was full of bass and carp. These have all been practically eliminated. As it is impossible to keep bass in a pond where there are carp, which eat the spawn, it has been pointed out that now there is a good opportunity to stock the pond with bass. It is possible that the State game and fish authorities may do this, although nothing has been done as yet in the matter.

MRS. DAVIS TO SPEAK AT THE GOSPEL TENT.

There will be a special meeting at the Salvation Army Gospel tent on Watchung avenue tomorrow evening. The speaker will be Mrs. Isabella C. Davis, of this city. She is one of the ten founders of the order of The King's Daughters, and is at this time the second vice-president in the United States. At the opening of the tent Mrs. Davis made a short address which was very impressive and it is certain that all will be glad of the opportunity to hear her again.

There will be special music under the direction of Martin A. Korff. H. V. Lough will also be present, and give several of his best and most expensive records of sacred music on the talking machine.

Musical Service.

The last of the series of musical services given in Grace M. E. church during July, under the direction of the organist, Miss Alice Carroll, will take place tomorrow evening. The regular choir will be assisted by Mrs. F. M. Ward, contralto; Mrs. C. D. Young, soprano, and E. D. Young, tenor. The following numbers will be sung: Anthem, "Consider and Hear Me;" contralto solo and chorus; duet, "The Lord Is My Shepherd," soprano and alto, Smart; contralto solo, "Sun of My Soul," Bruno Huhn; anthem, "Art Thou Weary?" Broome.

Mrs. L. Moraller and son, Edwin, of Mountain avenue, have returned home after a week's stay visiting friends in New York.

BARRY'S LIVE STOCK KEEP HIM IN TROUBLE

Charles Barry, of Howard street, has been tiwice arrested on a Friday, and held for a hearing on Saturday, on essentially the same case. This morning he was fined three dollars for letting his cows run across the street on to the property of his neighbors. Last Saturday he received a suspended sentence for letting his horses run about the property of his neighbors. According to this tariff cows are more costly than horses, despite the fact that he earns his livlihood from the latter.

John Wilson complained that Barry's stock ran across his lawn and Frank Mobus also declared that he often went out of his door to find Barry's animals roaming over his property. Barry is engaged all day, and so commissioned his sons to care for the animals. Either the lads were not strong enough to hold on to the animals, or else they woefully neglected paternal orders; for the animals continued to graze on neighboring property, including lawns to such an extent that the police were called on to put a stop to the matter.

Barry, as a consequence, was haled to court last week and his explanation of the matter and a promise to see that it didn't happen again, prompted Borough Recorder Dolnver to suspend sentence. This morning, however, the judge was not disposed to view the matter of breaking a promise so lightly and imposed a fine of three dollars.

SPECIAL SERVICE AT MOUNTAIN BABY CAMP.

A special service has been arranged for tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountain. Mrs. J. A. Powlison, well known among Sunday school workers for her successful primary department, is to talk to the children. Special music, vocal and instrumental, will be made a feature of the program.

All those who visit the camp once, will want to go gain. It is situated on Johnson drive on the Watchung Mountain. Take the Somerset street trolley to end of line and from there take Johnson drive over a good road with easy grades.

Farmers Welcome Rain.

Farmers in this vicinity are rejoicing over the relief afforded by the rain of Thursday and Friday. A drought of almost forty consecutive days has played havoc with the crops and in some cases, farmers in Watchung and on the outskirts of this city have had to resort to artificial irrigation, or else suffer big loss. This has been attended with heavy expense and may affect the market value of country produce.

Miss Florence Newman, of Stiener place, has returned home, after a weeks' visit with Miss Helen Edgar, who is spending the summer at Ocean Grove.

REVOKE THEIR LICENSES

State Motor Vehicle Department Withdraws Permits of 6 Chauffeurs.

RESULT OF THE "JOY RIDE."

State Authorities Co-operating With Prosecutor's Office in Punishing of Offenders.

J. B. R. Smith, State Motor Vehicle Commissioner, yesterday revoked the license to run automobiles of six chauffeurs—W. H. Kettenring, George M. Macintyre, George G. Mitchell and Hugh McIver, all of this city; Anton Miller and Thomas Layden, of Perth Amboy. These were the chauffeurs that were involved in the "joy riding" episode on July 14, when a car was taken from the garage of the Martin Automobile company, and wrecked, causing painful injuries to some of the occupants near Metuchen while the chauffeurs were on their return home to this city. It is alleged that the four local chauffeurs while in a saloon arranged to take the car without the consent of the proprietor of the garage for a ride to Perth Amboy. At Perth Amboy they met Layden, Miller and Voorhees, and all seven of the chauffeurs engaged in a wild ride through the streets of that city.

The four from this city, in addition to violating the provisions of the motor vehicle law, also laid themselves liable to the newly enacted statute making "joy riding" a misdemeanor. The four chauffeurs were accordingly arrested the following day and the hearing occurred Thursday afternoon at police headquarters, and was attended by the prosectuor and assistant prosecutor of Union county and one of the motor vehicle inspectors. The result of the hearing was that all four were held to await the action of the grand jury.

The motor vehicle department is vigorously co-operating with the prosecutor, and it is the expectation that under the new misdemeanor act it will be possible to practically break up the "joy riding" by chauffeurs taking the cars without the owner's consent. This case, with the loss of licenses and consequent earning capacity, to six professional chauffeurs and with State prison staring four of them in the face, should be a severe warning to those who are tempted to engage in similar questionable pleasures. The license of Voorhees was not revoked, because there seemed to be extenuating circumstances in his case.

Besides this case, there are already two other cases of "joy riding," one in Hudson county and one in Monmouth, where the new criminal statute is being invoked.

FANWOOD STUDENT TENDERED A DANCE.

George Brick, of Fanwood, who is studying at Georgetown University, and is home spending the summer vacation, was the guest of honor at a dance held in the Fonwood clubhouse last night at which all his friends in the town and many others from Plainfield, Jersey City and New York were present. A most enjoyable evening was spent. The committee in charge of the affair was made up of the following: Miss Harriet Manning, Daniel McCormack, Mrs. John Brick and Miss Madie Brick, mother and sister of the host, Paul Ritter, Willie Mains and C. Lambertson.

Bicyclist Badly Hurt.

John Beekman, son of William M. Beekman, of 251 East Front street, who was injured by being thrown from a wheel on which he was coasting down Johnson drive last Monday, is still confined to his bed under the care of Dr. D. C. Adams. Young Beekman was sitting on the handle bars of Sylvester Line's bicycle, and when the front wheel struck an obstruction in the road, both were thrown off and injured. Line's face and arms were bruised and both of the Beekman's boy's knees were badly hurt.

Mrs. Julia A. Smith's Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Julia A. Smith who died yesterday morning, was held from the house at 8:30 o'clock and from St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock. The Rev. Sicola conducted the service. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery. The pall bearers were: Frank Cullen, Peter Russ, Patrick Boylan, William Bowers, Michael Regan and Patrick Higgins.

Union Services.

The Rev. Dr. Charles E. Bronson, of Philadelphia, will occupy the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church tomorrow morning and evening. The evening service will be a union service, and under the direction of Clifford A. Braider, organist and choirmaster. The choir will render a special musical program.

BETTER RIFLE PLAN OF MAJOR W. B. MARTIN

The Ordnance Department of the United States Government is experimenting on an idea conceived by Major William B. Martin, of Elizabeth, formerly captain of Company K, of this city, champion rifle shot of the world, which, if it proves practical, will revolutionize the construction of high-power rifles all over the world. The Major's idea is the result of careful study and familiarity with the use of a rifle. It purposes by the reduction of the twist in the rifle barrel to do away with the metallic fouling, the bugbear of all riflemen.

It was only after considerable difficulty and much persistency that Major Martin got his theory to the attention of the Government. The experiments, while being carried on slowly owing to the large amount of work before the Ordnance Department, have so far overcome the strongest arguments advanced against the theory by gunmakers, that of accuracy. The experiment have proven beyond a doubt that the reduction of the twists, as advocated by Major Martin, does not affect the accuracy of the rifle. Owing to the radical change which the practicability of the Major's idea would make, the eyes of all rifle experts and manufacturers in the world are centred on the working out of the theory.

When the Major returned from the Olympic shoot, in London, more than a year ago, he conceived his idea. In the service rifles and other high-power weapons considerable trouble has always arisen on account of the metal fouling. The collection of this foreign element in the fun barrel has caused no end of work and necessitates the use of acids and other solutions in keeping the interior of the barrel smooth and accurate.

On the hypothesis that a certain amount of the metal fouling is caused by the deposit in the barrel of small particles of jacket metal cut from the bullets by the lands in the barrel, Major Martin formed the theory that possibly a reduction in the pitch or twist of the rifling might obviate a certain amount of the trouble.

The Major took up the question of the construction of experimental barrels of different twists with a prominent maker of rifles about a year ago, but was not able to create enough interest in the subject to get the work undertaken.

In the average service rifle the number of twists are about two and one-half to the barrel. The Major advocates a reduction of this number to about one and one-half twists. The object of the twists in the barrel of a gun is to give the bullet a strong spin on its long axis, so that it is not able to spin on any other and must go point first. The spin prevents the bullet being knocked over by the blast of gas at the muzzle, or being turned over by the pressure of the air against the under side of its front in flight. With these facts confronting him the Major figures that the larger the amount of work which a bullet is required to do in the barrel of the rifle, the larger the amount of metallic fouling. By the reduction of the twist the amount of work which a bullet does is reduced also, thus most certainly reducing the amount of fouling caused by the working of the bullet in the barrel.

After gunmakers had refused to experiment with his idea, Major Martin, while in Washington last winter, had a long discussion with General J. A. Drain. The General at once became interested in the possibility of the working out of the Major's idea and promised to take up the question with the Ordnance Depratment, with a view to securing the construction of barrels of different pitch, which he did with the result that five barrels were constructed with ten, twelve, eighteen and twenty-inch pitches.

Tests were at once carried on by the department. Twenty strings of ten shots each were fired at 200 yards, 500 yards and 1,000 yards. After firing 100 rounds from each rifle at all the distances the rifle with the twenty-inch twist was thrown out and the firing went on with the other rifles.

At 200 yards the fifteen-inch twist showed the greatest accuracy. At 800 yards the eighteen-inch twist, and at 1,000 the twelve-inch twist. The differences were very small. Lieutenant C. A. Meals was designated by Colonel Bunt to conduct the firing.

After tests on the ranges up to 1,000 yards, Colonel Blunt, who took considerable interest in the working out of the experiments, secured the consent of the authorities to send Lieutenant Meals to Sandy Hook for the purpose of carrying out the experiments on the larger ranges of 1,500 and 2,000 yards.

After an experiment at Sandy Hook, Meals said:

"It is seen that the one turn in the eighteen inches was sufficient to give steadiness in fight to the bullet, yet the target at 1,500 and 2,000 yards appears to show that this rifle has a tendency to fall behind the others in accuracy."

The Lieutenant said that he did not consider the amount of firing sufficient to furnish the basis for an absolutely conclusive opinion. He said it does, however, furnish data sufficient to justify that a conclusion that there is no great difference in the accuracy of rfles having a ten-

HOW DID GIPSY KNOW HE WAS TO LOSE ROLL?

A kind of sub-consciousness seemed to tell William Dickson, of Trenton, on Thursday that something was about to happen to him. Just about that time a gaily-garbed gipsy damsel tripped into his shop and offered to read his palm for a quarter. Dickson produced the money and she declared that he was not sentimental, that he was happily married, told how many children he had, when he would probably die and of what ailment.

"But," said Dickson, "I want to know what is going to happen to me soon. I have a feeling that something is going to befall.'

"Aha," replied the gipsy, as she leaned toward him and held his eyes with her glance, "I see it now, you are going to lose some money. Be very careful."

Dickson thanked her and politely showed her out. A few minutes later he had occasion to put his hand in his pocket and he missed a roll of bills. "Gosh," said he, "that was easy. She knew I was going to lose it," and then he reported to the police.

With Bob Fitzsimmons as umpire of all the Dunellen ball games for the balance of the season, the fans will make no more kicks—not if they know what's good for them. Robert is far from being an advocate and demonstrator of moral suasion.—Newark Evening News.

ELIZABETH MUSICIANS CAPTURE FIVE PRIZES.

The music-loving people are much pleased over the success achieved by the Royal Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps, of Elizabeth, which last week won five prizes at the tournament held in Poughkeepsie by the New York State Association of Drummers, Buglars, and Fifers. The Royals number fifty-five musicians. The corps was organized a couple of years ago by Rev. Andrew Schonhart, assistant rector of St. Michael's German Catholic church, who is also chaplain of the Alexian Hospital there. The membership of the Royals is made up of representatives of different nationalities, and includes Americans, Irish, Scotch, English, Italian, German, Polish, and Hungarian musicians of different religious denominations.

The drum major is John Ryan, who is one of "Uncle Sam's" letter-carriers in Elizabeth. Father Schonhart has taken great pains to have the Royals properly drilled in music, and invariably attends their rehearsals.

The congregation of St. Michael's church has been much agitated over a rumor to the effect that when Rev. Dr. H. J. Behr, rector of the parish, returned from his European trip the assistant rector will be transferred from Elizabeth to some other place and put in charge of a parish of his own. Father Schonhart said that he knew nothing of any such change.

FIRE DESTROYED CLOTHES, DIDN'T DELAY WEDDING.

A wedding, the scene of which was changed because of a fire Saturday night, in which much of the bride's clothes were destroyed, occurred at Freehold Wednesday, when Miss Ida Evelyn Clark, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Clark, became the bride of Wm. Forman Stillwell, son of E. Stillwell, of Jerseyville. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. T. A. Skidmore, 59 Manalapan avenue, at 2 p .m., in the presence of only the immediate relatives, by Rev. Theodore F. Bayles, pastor of the Reformed church. A wedding dinner was served after the ceremony, and Mr. and Mrs. Stillwell left on an afternoon train for a wedding trip to Boston. Upon their return they will reside in Freehold, where Mr. Stillwell is in business.

Fortunately Mrs. Stillwell's wedding clothes were in course of making, at her sister's home Saturday night, when fire destroyed the home of her parents, entailing a loss of over $5,000. All of her personal effects were destroyed, and it was because of the fire that there were none save relatives at the wedding.

Inspecting City Streets.

Mayor N. A. Warren with Commissioner Robert Ferguson and Deputy Commissioner Peter Smyth, of Yonkers, N. Y., came to this city Thursday afternoon to inspect the streets with Dustoline, the dust-killer which has been adapted here. With them was John S. Lamson, Jr., formerly of this city, head of the firm which manufactures the dust-killer. Because of the rain, the efficiency of Dustoline could not be determined by the Yonkers men, who took an early train back after talking with Street Commissioner Andrew J. Gavett about the preparation.

Plays 'Possum as Burglar Works.

In fear for her life Mrs. M. K. Harr, of Ocean City, feigned sleep Thursday morning while a burglar was rifling the bureau drawers in her summer home. Fearing that the intruder might shoot her if she gave an alarm she lay perfectly quiet until the man had collected what booty he wanted and departed. Then she hurried to the telephone and informed the police.

Rain "Down East."

All the Connecticut and New England league games yesterday were postponed on account of rain.

The injury to Christy Mathewson's finger which will keep that wonderful slab artist out of the game for a week or two, is not as serious as was at first supposed. An examination by the X-rays shows that the bone of the finger was not broken, but the muscles surrounding the bone were badly lacerated. This means that with careful nursing the injured finger will mend so as to again be useful in from ten days to two weeks. In the meantime the Giants will be without the services of the greatest pitcher in the league and the mainstay of the club. Up to date Matty has pitched in seventeen games and has lost but three.

The local Y. M. C. A. will have as opponents today at Crescent Oval the strong Bedford team of Brooklyn. Manager Listman's team is traveling at a fast clip just now and a good game is expected.

The final score of a hotly contested game between teams from Aitkin and Deerwood, Minn., at Aitkin Thursday was 121 runs to 120 in favor of the home team. The game was won in the ninth after each team had made 79 runs in the eighth. The players feel that they have done pretty well, as this was their first game this season.

The bus of the Plainfield Auto-Bus Company, which Manager Dorflinger had hoped to obtain for the use of the baseball teams today will be in use by other parties and as the weather is uncertain for tomorrow he has been unable to make arrangements to charter a special trolley car for the use of his men. However, if the weather is clear a good game will be played at New Brunswick no matter how the team gets there.

New Brunswick has been so impressed with the playing of Seery, the Plainfield catcher, that they have been trying to secure his services permanently. But Seery will stick to his present mates for the season, although he will play Wednesdays and Sundays for New Brunswick. Seery has played a consistent game here, and it would be a pity to lose him. No backstop in the business hereabouts has anything on Seery.

Taking the first game by a 1 to 0 score from the Naps argues well for the Highlanders. Lajoie had it all framed up to win the whole series of five games from Stallings' men. "There's many a slip," etc.

Jimmy Savage, a graduate of Villanova College, who has been playing with the Hartford team of the Connecticut League, has been sent for by Manager Stallings of the Highlanders. Savage played second and was captain of his college team. Stallings thinks the young man is made of big league timber.

There will be a big bunch of rooters on hand from this burg when Dorflinger's Dreadnaughts line up against Driscoll's Dreamers at New Brunswick this afternoon. Every man jack of the Plainfield team is tuned up to concert pitch and there will be something doing all the time. Here's luck, boys.

DR. ELIOT FORSEES ANOTHER RELIGION

In the concluding address of the year to the students at the Harvard Summer School of Theology, at Boston, President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot made the prophecy that there would soon be a new religion, that would be the religion.

With appropriate metaphor and example he described what might be expected of the coming religion, one based on the two great commandments, the love of God and the service of fellow men.

"The new religion," he said, "will not afford safety primarily to the individual. It will think first of the common good and will not teach that character can be changed quickly. It will admit neither a sudden conversion in this world, nor a sudden paradise in the next. In primitive times sacrifice was the root of religion; even the Hebrew god was propitiated by human sacrifices. The Christian Church has substituted burning of incense for that.

"It will be of immense advantage if the religion of the twentieth century shall get rid of these things, for they give a wrong conception of God. The new religion will not think of God as a large and glorified man, or as a king, or a patriarch; it will not deal chiefly with sorrow and death, but with joy and life. It will believe in no malignant powers, and it will attack quickly all forms of evil.

"There are now various fraternal bodies which to many persons take the place of a church; if they are working for good they are helpful factors. Again, different bodies of people, such as Spiritualists and Christian Scientists, have set up new cults. But the mass of the people stay by the church. Since there will be undoubtedly more freedom in this country it may be argued that it will be difficult to unite various religions under this new head; but such unity, I believe, can be accomplished on this basis—the love of God and service of one's follow man."

"IF YOU DON'T WEAR A COLLAR, GO HUNGRY."

A damage suit against the proprietor of the Summit House at Summit, is threatened by Edward Keisser. He alleges a waiter in the restaurant of the hotel refused to serve him with a meal because he appeared in the dining room without collar or necktie. Keisser is connected with a tree spraying company which has been doing some work at Summit. The alleged refusal to serve him, he says, occurred last Thursday. He declares that he will spend some money to find out if the waiter had the legal right to so discriminate.

William J. Woestendieck, proprietor of the Summit House, when asked concerning Keisser's alleged grievance, said that he knew nothing about it. No waiter had made any report of such an occurrence. There was, however, a rule of the dining-room that no patron should be served who appeared without coat and collar. Mr. Woestendieck further said that if workmen in overalls want service it is customary to serve them in another room, instead of the main dining room, where women patrons sit.

Union Democrats Ready for Outing.

The fourteenth annual outing of the Union County Democrats will take place August 18 at Witzel's Point View Grove, Long Island Sound. As in previous years, the affair will be in charge of Elizabeth's city Democratic executive committee. The iron steamboat Sirius has been chartered. A program of athletic events, to the winners of which prizes will be awarded, will be run off at the grove.

New Jersey's politicians were with their Governor Thursday. They are not always with him.

An Asbury Park woman seeks separation from husband because he has not talked to her since their marriage day. Possibly he was too gallant to interrupt her.

When it is shown that a person is unfit to hold a license to run a car, the State Motor Vehicle department loses no time in revoking his permit. An instance in point is the promptness displayed in the recent chauffeurs' joy ride case.

Former Councilman William S. Tyler, who is filling the unexpired term of the late Dr. J. B. Probasco as a member of the school board, will probably be a candidate for a full term at the coming election. At any rate he should be and if he is he is deserving of a flattering vote.

Mayor Fisk will receive public approval of his action in issuing a proclamation forbidding owners to allow their dogs to run at large under penalty of twenty dollars fine. Since the new ordinance went into effect many have imagined that because they have taken out the required license they are permitted to let their dogs run at will, and as a result the canines have become a public nuisance. The imposition of the fine will have a salutatory effect.

For real genuine scrappers the citizens of North Plainfield take the record. Not a road or a bridge is started in the borough but a scrap is started about something.—Somerset Unionist-Gazette.

They certainly are scrappers for they always demand and generally get their rights. If North Plainfield were not "a good thing" when it comes to paying Somerset county's running expenses and getting the small end in the benefits, the Somerset politicians would long ago have agreed to let North Plainfield become a prat of Union county, which it rightly should be.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rockton, of Bound Brook, have removed to Manning avenue.

N. J. DENTISTS CHOOSE DR. DILTS PRESIDENT

Election of officers and reception of new members marked the closing hours of the thirty-ninth annual convention of the New Jersey State Dental Society at Asbury Park yesterday.

No demonstration was caused by contest for office, and only in the balloting for secretary dod any rivalry develop. Officers elected, each for one year: President, Dr. Charles Dilts, of Trenton; vice-president, Dr. W. F. Naylor; secretary, Dr. Charles A. Meekers, of Newark; treasurer, Dr. Henry A. Hull, of New Brunswick.

Dr. Meeker succeeds himself for the thirty-seventh consecutive term, and Dr. Hull for the twelfth.

The following were received into membership: Drs. Louis Cross, of Newark; Olive W. Montfort, of Plainfield; Albert U. Epstein, of Camden; Cyrus Kurtz, of Paterson; Morris Tepper, of Bayonne; J. S. Barrett, of Morristown; O. B. Whitford, of Plainfield; Wilmer A. Abbott, of Atlantic City; E. P. Doughty, of Atlantic City; H. W. Conrad, of Hasbrouck Heights; Charles G. Davis, of Plainfield; Forrest N. Brown, of Watertown, and A. H. Markhart, of Elizabeth.

DR. GRENFELL TO MARRY MISS A. C. MacCLANAHAN.

The engagement was announced in London yesterday of Dr. Wilfred Thomason Grenfell, the well known Labrador medical missionary, to Miss Anna C. MacClanahan of Lake Forest, Ill.

Dr. Grenfell, who is an Oxford graduate, has lived in Labrador since 1892, and has devoted his entire attention to the fishermen of the northern seas, establishing homes for them on land and equipping mission vessels for them at sea. In Labrador he has built four hospitals, a series of co-operative stores, and an orphanage, besides starting numerous small industrial schemes. His articles and monographs on deep-sea fisheries, fishermen, and work among them, including his "Vikings of To-day" and "Off the Rocks," have given him international eminence.

Miss Anna MacClanahan, whose engagement to Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the Labrador missionary, has been announced, is the daughter of Mrs. E. B. MacClanahan, of Lake Forest. They met in Europe, where Miss MacClanahan has traveled extensively since her graduation from Bryn Mawr. During the last year Dr. Grenfell has been a frequent visitor at the Lake Forest home. Miss MacClanahan has never taken an active interest in society, and since her childhood has been more abroad than at home.

KICKED HER WITH GOOD LEG.

Maimed Man Accused by Girl of Impolite Behavior.

Although Michael McDermott has only one leg he is in the county jail at Elizabeth charged with having kicked Miss Flora Keyes, of 209 Geneva street in Elizabeth.

Miss Keyes is employed at the Procter-Gamble factory, on Staten Island, and, according to her story, was on the way to work yesterday with several girl friends when she passed McDermott. The latter, who walked with the aid of crutches, waited for the girls to pass, and, according to Miss Keyes, after addressing her, he swung out his good leg and kicked her severely.

The assault was reported by the girls at the Second precinct station. It happened in Elizabeth avenue, within a short distance of the station, and an officer was at once sent out to apprehend the man. He found him on Geneva street.

AUTO VICTIM BETTER.

Miss Maud Tucker Was Hurt in Smash Near Elizabeth.

Miss Maud Tucker, of East Kinney street, Newark, who was an occupant of the automobile that was wrecked on June 28 while speeding down Morris avenue, near the Meeker Inn, is recovering rapidly at the General Hospital, where she was taken after the crash that resulted in the death of the driver, Edward Cooley, of Roselle Park, and the injury of Stanley L. Reed, the local garage owner.

Miss Tucker's face is still bandaged, so it cannot be ascertained how badly disfigured she will be, but it is likely that she will carry marks of her wounds through life.

ASK $4,642 FOR ELEVATION.

Property Owners on New Road Put in Damage Claim.

The law and finance committees of the Elizabeth Council are considering a claim for $4,642 damages, declared to have been susutained by Jacob Gordon and Harris Cohen, owners of property in New Point road, when the street was elevated.

City Surveyor Luster says that the elevation of the street had been only one foot three inches. Some of the statements made by Mr. Luster seemed to be new to counsel for the plaintiffs, and he said that he wished to go over the ground himself before the case progressed further. The hearing was adjourned.

Charles Snowden, of Watchung, is visiting at the home of relatives on Manning avenue.

NOT POSSESSED OF SOLOMON'S WISDOM.

Unable to bring to bear any such wisdom as that possessed by Solomon, Justice of the Peace William S. Mills, of Wilburtha, has held to await the action of the grand jury Miss Mary Riley and Andrew Becker, both well-known residents of that town. Miss Riley, who owns a large farm at Wilburtha, was first arrested on Becker's charge of assault and battery, and then Becker was arrested on a similar charge preferred by Miss Riley.

The trouble arose from the fact that two cows owned by Miss Riley strayed from her farm, as she claims, because some one broke down one of her fences. At any rate, Becker rounded up the cows, and Miss Riley claims that he had them tied together by the horns and was beating them unmercifully when she spied them. She seized a butcher knife and ran to the scene with the intention of cutting the rope that bound the cows. Becker charged that she tried to stab him with the knife, and Miss Riley retaliated by asserting that Becker and Frank Jones threw stones at her and struck her. Squire Mills found the problem too much for him and turned it over to the grand jury.

WON SWIMMING RACE AND ALSO A HUSBAND.

Announcement has been made in Paterson of the wedding of Miss Lydie Jackson, of this city, and Charles White, of 1127 Summer street, Philadelphia. Both are swimming experts, and it was through Mrs. White's skill that she met her fate. Some time ago she went to Philadelphia to take part in a water carnival, and in the fifty and 100 yard dashes there were no other women who could come within hailing distance of her.

At the same carnival White was a contestant in the long distance races, and he watched with admiration the manner in which Miss Jackson distanced him and all others. An introduction and rapid courtship followed.

STANDARD OIL ERECTS TANKS.

Eight, to Hold 40,000 Barrels Each, Going Up at Elizabeth.

Eight new tanks, with individual capacities of 40,000 barrels, are being constructed at the Standard Oil Refinery at Linden. To do this work there has been employed a special force of boilermakers and metal workers in other branches, but no new hands are being taken on.

Work on the tower being erected to carry off the fumes about which there was general complaint in Elizabeth a few months ago, is progressing, and it is expected that when it is completed no offensive odor will reach the city from the plant.

Got a Double Sentence.

At Asbury Park yesterday, Russel Matthews had his request granted in the city court, when he asked for twice the sentence of ninety days that had been meted out to him. Matthews was arrested following a row he had with John McFadden, who boards in Matthews' house. The two men are said to have been drinking, and Matthews, it is alleged, resented McFadden's interference when Mrs. Matthews received a slap in the face from her husband.

Erie Smoke a Nuisance.

The hearing before Judge Farmer, in the First Criminal Court in Jersey City, in the soft coal smoke nuisance case against the Erie Railroad, was continued yesterday. All of the witnesses called for the plaintiff, who is Health Inspector James Hagan, testified that the railroad concern is guilty of maintaining a nuisance. The health inspector is confident that he will win the case.

HERE AND THERE.

Andrew Judge, the ten-year-old son of Andrew Judge, of Grove street, captured a five-pound turtle in Green Brook in the vicinity of Grove street and Harrison avenue. The turtle had a shell whose circumference was a little over twenty-four inches, or a diameter of eight inches from the top of the shell near the head to the bottom of the shell near the tail. From the tip of the head extended to the tip of the tail the turtle was fourteen inches. So far as is known, this is the largest turtle captured in this vicinity in recent years.

The lad was playing with some friends about the bridge when one of them spied the turtle. Young Judge immediately took off his shoes and stockings and waded in after it, towards the stone on which it was perched. When the lad approached the turtle plunged in the water. The lad followed it, utterly regardless of any possible danger from biting. With sticks and stones the youngsters cornered the shellback and when the turtle withdrew its head into the shell, young Judge picked it up.

When asked what he intended to do with it, the lad had schmes for disposing of it, that would have done credit to John D. Rockefeller. "Why," he said, "I'll sell it to the old man to be made into soup, save the skin for pocketbook leather, and sell the shell to the highest bidder, to be made into napkin rings, or anything else that it can be used for. But," he added dubiously, "they make so blamed many imitation things now days with celluloid that it'll be a hard job getting a good figure."

School Board Denies Charge.

The Common Council, of Rahway, passed a resolution at a recent meeting criticizing the Board of Education for not having engaged an expert to supervise the erection of the new high school building. It also alleged that inferior material had been used in the construction of the building. At a meeting of the School Board last night this later allegation was emphatically denied. A resolution was passed criticizing the Common Council for its action and also demanding the name of its informant in the matter. Regarding an inspector the board stated that it is paying the architect to attend to that work.

STATE WITHOUT RIGHTS IN THE D. AND R. CANAL

Before they left Sea Girt, Thursday, Senators Bradley, Silzer and Leavitt, who comprise the special Senate committee charged with investigating the causes of the growing disuse of the Delaware and Raritan Canal, expect to meet and formally read an opinion from Attorney-General Wilson on the State's rights in the waterway. These rights, the State counsel thinks, are practically nil. At the meeting of the committee a date for the next meeting in Trenton will be set.

It is the belief of Attorney-General Wilson that whatever rights the State may have had in the canal were surrendered when it failed to exercise the option to take over the canal in 1881.

Mr. Wilson thinks that the only other way in which the State may become possessed of the canal is in the event of the company abandoning it and surrendering its charter.

The charter was granted in 1838, and conveyed most extraordinary powers somewhat similar to those given to the Society of Useful Manufactures.

Any act or amendment since then, says the attorney-general in his opinion, could only become operative with the consent of the canal company.

The State, he says, had the right to purchase as much as one-quarter of all the stock of the canal company and have the privilege of having two representatives in the directorate. But the State, Mr. Wilson points out, bought less than one-quarter of the stock and only had one director. Mr. Wilson feels that the only way in which the State can do anything is as an individual stockholder. The company, under its charter, is authorized to carry freight at a cost not exceeding four cents a mile, and passengers at five cents.

When the investigators meet at Trenton it will hear the testimony of witnesses with a view of ascertaining if the canal company has violated its charter rights.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

The funeral of Mrs. John J. Armour, of Clayton, who was burned to death Sunday, was held Thursday.

Charles Johnson, of Cross Keys, is suffering with a severe case of blood-poisoning, the result of sticking a piece of wire in his hand.

Henry Smith, employed as a laborer in the plant of the East Jersey Pipe Works, at Paterson, had his right index finger crushed in a set of cog wheels yesterday.

The Camden Bar Association yesterday adopted resolutions of regret on the death of James H. Carpenter, and in the afternoon a delegation of the members attended the funeral services at his late home, 38 North Second street.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pate, of Haledon, was attended at the General Hospital, Paterson, yesterday for burns on the forehead. The woman fell and sustained a triangular cut on her head three days ago. She used carbolic acid for an antiseptic, but the solution was too strong.

James Columbus, of Bond street, and Joseph Dunkersley, of 143 Vine street, both of Paterson, were quarreling and disturbing the residents of Vine street, that city, early yesterday morning, when Patrolman Geary placed both under arrest. Dunkersley claimed Columbus attempted to stick a fork into him.

Louis Fontablanca, of 32 Cross street, Paterson, gave up $5 to a stranger yesterday who tendered the former a job. The usual story of receiving a worthless piece of paper said to be worth more than the money turned over to the stranger, was told the police when the matter was reported at headquarters.

Rivalry between the constables of Delanco and Riverside has virtually left the long drawbridge over Rancocas Creek uniting the two places without police protection, and has turned it into a safe rendezvous for village ruffians, whose unmolested sway has so terrified residents that an appeal will be made to County Prosecutor Atkinson for protection.

Two full grown roosters were comfortably domiciled on his wooden leg when Adam Wagner, a Philadelphia cripple, was found asleep in a chicken house in the rear of 628 Kaighn avenue, Camden, yesterday, by Policeman Thompson. Later, arraigned on a charge of intoxication, Wagner pleaded so strongly for another chance that Recorder Stackhouse let him off.

By the will of Dr. Mary Pratt, who recently died in the Camden County Hospital at Blackwood, admitted for probate yesterday by Surrogate Reeves in Camden, her entire estate, valued at $20,000, goes to John H. Pratt, a son, living in East Camden, who is also made the executor. A caveat filed against the probating of the will by other children of the deceased has been dismissed for lack of prosecution.

Louis Rose, seven years old, was sitting on the seat of a heavy truck at Railroad avenue and Clay street, Paterson, yesterday afternoon, when the horse started suddenly and threw the lad off his seat to the ground, the rear wheels passing over the boy's chest. The little fellow was transferred to St. Joseph's Hospital. So far as the physicians could determine, the boy was not seriously injured. He complained of severe pains in his chest.

A double wedding in the comfortable farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Sherbokow, near Bridgeton, will take place in the near future, and the announcement of the double engagement will be celebrated this evening and Sunday with festivities. The bridegrooms are both from Philadelphia and will take their brides there to reside. Miss Minnie Sherbokow, the elder daughter, will wed Morris Witlin, while Miss Elizabeth will become the bride of Charles Allen.

Nearly 200 feet of beach front land outside the boardwalk at Atlantic City has been deeded to the city under the new plan of paying owners of the strand to make over their holdings to city control. City Solicitor Wootton, who is in charge of the project, has paid out $7,500 to Moore Brothers for control of their holdings of 100 feet at Missouri avenue, and supporters of the beach park plan claim that the entire beach outside the walk will be under civic control in less than a year.

Captain Daniel Ahern and his crew of three friends from Pennsgrove, were given a scare on their trip outside from Delaware capes to Egg Harbor Inlet yesterday, when their launch Maggie broke down off Avalon. A volunteer crew headed by the government keeper on duty towed the lifeboat from Avalon station out to the disabled launch and towed them to harbor. A wetting and a scare dampened the ardor of the sailors, who are bound for the Ventnor Yacht Club to take part in the races today.

Admitting having obtained part of the money lost by his accuser, but denying that he stole it from his pocket, as alleged, sixteen-year-old Paul Benson, of 1041 Diamond street, Camden, was committed in default of bail by Recorder Stackhouse yesterday on a charge of highway robbery. Harry Miller, a baker, residing at 1114 Baring street, told the magistrate that he was held up and robbed of $38 by three young men at Orchard and Chestnut streets late Saturday night last. Acknowledging that he was one of the trio Benson asserts that Miller dropped the money in the gutter while hunting for a nickle for which they had asked him.

Charged by Mrs. Clara Estelle Warwick, of Lumberton, with having given false testimony in her suit in Vice-Chancellor Leaming's court, at Camden, for the possession of her young son, John Severs, of Mt. Holly, and William Jones, of Lumberton, were yesterday held under $500 bail each by Justice of the Peace Schmitz, in Camden, on charges of perjury. Severs and Jones were witnesses for Mrs. Warwick's husband, and she declares that their testimony blackening her character and which materially assisted the defense in successfully resisting her suit, was without foundation. Mrs. Warwick, who by order of the court is permitted to see her child one hour each day at the home of his grandparents, has been sued for divorce since the original proceedings.

Young Millionaire Hurt.

Harry Charles Wilcox, the well known young Canadian millionaire, who recently spent several days in Plainfield visiting friends, has been taken to a private sanitarium near Philadelphia. Mr. Wilcox sustained severe injuries during a trial flight of an aeroplane near Erie, Pa., a couple of weeks ago. Mr. Wilcox is much interested in the problem of aerial navigation, and has spent a small fortune in experiments.

John Kean, 3d, Laborer.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning July 25, 1909.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Heroes of missions in China.—Matt. v, 13-16.

In Chinese missions we see an apt illustration of Christ's sayings in the Sermon on the Mount, "Ye are the salt of the earth," and "Ye are the light of the world." China has been preserved by the church, and its light is brightening the great conservative empire today as never before. But it has been a great task. China of all the nations of the world has been the least susceptible to outside influence. For centuries it excluded all foreigners from its shores, and it was not until the early part of the last century that its doors were thrown open and treaties made with England, Japan and other nations. But with this advanced step the hatred of the people for foreigners did not cease and has been especially active against Christian missionaries, and many martyrs lie buried in Chinese soil. The Chinese have no one religion. Confucianism, Taoism and Buddhism have all held a place among the people. Christianity, had it been presented as one of other religions, would undoubtedly have been accepted more readily, but its claim to be the only true religion has greatly hindered it, for to make progress under such a claim it was compelled to antagonize the existing so called religions. But Christ is the only real Saviour, and the missionaries could take no other stand, even at the risk of their lives. And they not only risked them, but many gave them in service for Christ. The early missionaries and indeed all who have gone to China as such have been heroes indeed.

Robert Morrison was the first missionary hero to China. The London Missionary society, which was organized in 1795, soon had its attention called to China through the discovery in the British museum of an ancient Chinese manuscript. But the East India company was antagonistic to all missionary effort, and the Chinese themselves objected to the coming of religious teachers to their land. It was only through the kindly offices of an American business firm, Olyphant & Co. of New York, that the London society was enabled to send its first missionary to China in 1806.

The missionary was Robert Morrison. No English vessel would transport him to China, and Morrison was compelled to go via the United States. He came to New York and thence went to China in an American sailing vessel, arriving at Canton on Sept. 7, 1807, 102 years ago. He soon had to take refuge in Macao, which belonged to Portugal. Here later on other missionaries found a haven of rest until China was opened to missionaries. In cities outside of China there were many Chinese, and the missionaries worked among them as a preparatory work until they could enter the empire. Morrison baptized but one convert after many years of labor and in all his labors saw but several converts, but they were the first fruits of a future great ingathering. Morrison's great work was the translation of the Scriptures into Chinese.

William Milne was Morrison's first associate in China. He arrived in Canton in July, 1813, and labored at Jara and Malacca. Then he returned to Canton, but, being persecuted there, returned to Malacca, where he labored until his death in 1822. The London society in 1822 sent out William H. Medhurst to re-enforce the mission to the Chinese in Jara at Batavia.

Other names of Chinese missionary heroes are Rev. E. C. Bridgman and Rev. David Abeel, to whom Mr. Olyphant presented a printing press, the first to be used by missionaries. In 1834 Peter Parker, the first medical missionary, was sent to China and through his medical skill removed much prejudice and won many people. In 1839 Dr. Hobson established a medical mission at Macao. J. Hudson Taylor was the founder of Chinese inland missions. John Nevins labored in Shantung and was the pioneer in establishing self supporting mission stations. William Murray "was the great apostle to the many blind people in China." These heroes of the past should inspire us to renewed zeal and energy in winning the world for Christ.

British Portrait of Dr. Clark.

A well known religious periodical of London, which recently interviewed Dr. Clark, says:

"Dr. F. E. Clark, the founder of the Christian Endeavor movement, is an American and a quiet, earnest gentleman who speaks in a low tone of voice. He is curiously quiet and reserved and also curiously intense. Meeting him in the street, one would take him to be simply an earnest, gentle mannered minister of the gospel, but hardly the leader of a crusade. One thinks of the leaders of some of the crusades of the past and present days—men who, although their honesty and unselfishness are unquestioned, manage to give the personal point to all they do and to impress their personality by sheer force and sometimes, as it seems, by magic upon the hosts behind them. Dr. Clark is a leader of another sort. He is a great leader because he is an impersonal one. Enthusiasm for the movement he has fostered shines out of his eyes, but he regards it as a father regards his grownup son—with pride, indeed, and yet with a sense that the movement is now capable of taking care of itself. Dr. Clark is not the general; he is the aid-de-camp of Another."

"All in good part, Bill, as you shall see; all in good part. Now before Mr. McCloud gives you his decision I want to be allowed a word. Your idea looks good to me. At first I may say it didn't. I am candid; I say it didn't. It looked like setting a dog to catch his own tail. Mind you, I don't say it can't be done. A dog can catch his own tail; they do do it," proclaimed the stranger in a low and emphatic undertone. "But," he added, moderating his utterance, "when they succeed—who gets anything out of it but the dog?" Bill Dancing, somewhat clouded and not deeming it well to be drawn into any damaging admissions, looked around for a cigar, and not seeing one, looked solemnly at the new Solomon and stroked his beard. "That is how it looked to me at first," concluded the orator; "but, I say now it looks good to me, and as a stranger I may say I favor it."

Dancing tried to look unconcerned and seemed disposed to be friendly. "What might be your line of business?"

"Real estate. I am from Chicago. I sold everything that was for sale in Chicago and came here to stake out the Spanish Sinks and the Great Salt lake—yes. It's drying up and there's an immense opportunity for claims along the shore. I've been looking into it."

"Into the claims or into the lake?" asked McCloud.

"Into both; and, Mr. McCloud, I want to say I favor Mr. Dancing's idea, that's all. Right wrongs no man. Let Bill see Sinclair and see what they can figure out." And having spoken, the stranger sank back and tried to look comfortable.

"I'll talk with you later about it, Bill," said McCloud, briefly.

"Meantime, Bill, see Sinclair and report," suggested the stranger.

"It's as good as done," announced Dancing, taking up his hat. "and, Mr. McCloud, might I have a little advance for cigars and things?"

"Cigars and ammunition—of course. See Sykes, William, see Sykes; if the office is closed go to his house—and see what will happen to you—" added the visitor in an aside, "and tell him to telephone up to Mr. McCloud for instruction," he concluded, unceremoniously.

"Now why do you want to start Bill on a fool business like that?" asked McCloud, as Bill Dancing took long steps from the room toward the office of Sykes, the cashier.

"He didn't know me to-day, but he will to-morrow," said the stranger, reflectively. "Gods, what I've seen that man go through in the days of the giants! Why, George, this will keep the boys talking, and they have to do something. Spend the money; the company is making it too fast anyway; they moved 22,000 cars one day last week. Personally I'm glad to have a little fun out of it; it will be hell pure and undefiled long before we get through. This will be an easy way of letting Sinclair know I am here. Bill will report me confidentially to him as a suspicious personage."

To the astonishment of Sykes, the superintendent confirmed over the telephone Dancing's statement that he was to draw some expense money. Bill asked for $25. Sykes offered him two, and Bill with some indignation accepted five. He spent all of this in trying to find Sinclair, and on the strength of his story to the boys borrowed five dollars more to prosecute the search. At ten o'clock that night he ran into Sinclair playing cards in the big rooms above the Three Horses.

The Three Horses still rears its hospitable two-story front in Fort street, the only one of the Medicine Bend gambling houses that goes back to the days of '67; and it is the boast of its owners that since the key was thrown away, 39 years ago, its doors have never been closed, night or day, except once for two hours during the funeral of Dave Hawk. Bill Dancing drew Sinclair from his game and told him of the talk with McCloud, touching it up with natural enthusiasm. The bridgeman took the news in high good humor and slapped Dancing on the back. "Did you see him alone, Bill?" asked Sinclair, with interest. "Come over here, come along. I want you to meet a good friend. Here, Harvey, shake hands with Bill Dancing. Bill, this is old Harvey Du Sang, meanest man in the mountains to his enemies and the whitest to his friends—eh, Harvey?"

Harvey seemed uncommunicative. Studying his hand, he asked in a sour way whether it was a jackpot, and upon being told that it was not, pushed forward some chips and looked stupidly up—though Harvey was by no means stupid. "Proud to know you, sir," said Bill, bending frankly as he put out his hand. "Proud to know any friend of Murray Sinclair's. What might be your business?"

Again Du Sang appeared abstracted. He looked up at the giant lineman, who, in spite of his own size and strength, could have crushed him between his fingers, and hitched his chair a little, but got no further toward an answer and paid no attention whatever to Bill's extended hand.

"Cow business, Bill," interposed Sinclair. "Where? Why, up near the park, Bill, up near the park. Bill is an old friend of mine, Harvey. Shake hands with George Seagrue, Bill, and you know Henry Karg—and old Stormy Gorman—well, I guess you know him, too," exclaimed Sinclair, introducing the other players. "Look here a minute, Harvey."

Harvey, much against his inclination, was drawn from the table and retired with Sinclair and Dancing to an empty corner, where Dancing told his story again. At the conclusion of it Harvey rather snorted. Sinclair asked questions. "Was anybody else there when you saw McCloud, Bill?"

"One man," answered Bill, impressively.

"Who?"

"A stranger to me."

"A stranger? What did he look like?"

"Slender man and kind of odd talking, with a sandy mustache."

"Hear his name?"

"He told me his name, but it's skipped me, I declare. He's kind of dark-complected like."

"Stranger, eh?" mused Du Sang; his eyes were wandering over the room.

"Slender man," repeated Bill, "but I didn't take much notice of him. Said he was in the real estate business."

"In the real estate business? And did he sit there while you talked this over with the college guy?" muttered Du Sang.

"He is all right, boys, and he said you'd know his name if I could speak it," declared Bill.

"Look anything like that man standing with his hands in his pockets over there by the wheel?" asked Du Sang, turning his back carefully on a newcomer as he made the suggestion.

"Where—there? No! Yes, hold on, that's the man there now! Hold on, now!" urged Bill, struggling with the excitement of ten hours and ten dollars in one day. "His name sounded like Fogarty."

As Dancing spoke, Sinclair's eyes riveted on the new face at the other side of the gambling room. "Fogarty, hell!" he exclaimed, starting. "Stand right still, Du Sang; don't look around. That man is Whispering Smith."

"Fogarty, Hell!" He Exclaimed.

HANDICAPPED.

This is the Case With Many Plainfield People.

Too many Plainfield citizens are handicapped with a bad back. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief but cannot reach the cause. To eliminate the pains and aches you must cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Can you doubt Plainfield evidence?

Mrs. Margaret Reville, 732 West Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For a long time I was troubled with a weak and lame back and was unable to find anything that would give me relief. My back pained me so badly at times that I dreaded to stoop. When I caught cold or overexerted myself, my suffering was doubled. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Randolph's Pharmacy, helped me at once and I continued taking them until cured. I have had no need of a kidney remedy in the past two years, but value Doan's Kidney Pills today as highly as ever."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

NEGRO RELIGIOUS SECT TO PARADE IN NEWARK

Melinda D. Morris, pastor of the Church of God and the Saints of Christ, a negro religious body, which has a following here, is marshaling her forces for a parade to be held tomorrow afternoon in Newark. It is expected that between 400 and 500 of this sect will march through the streets.

The parade will form at the Church of God cash grocery store, 82 Livingston street, in Newark. It will move to Springfield avenue and thence to High street, where the pastor will make an oration.

William Crowdy, who came out of the West, founded the Church of God and the Saints of Christ and the Cash Grocery Store. All three are flourishing, although Crowdy has died. Firm believers say that he is not dead, but sleeping, and that he will come to life again.

There will be such a great deluge of songs and psalms, not to mention the special oration, that it is possible, believers say, that Crowdy will awaken from his sleep. Members of the faith declare that it would be a great opportunity to prove his immortality, and that he ought not neglect this chance.

After the pastor's first oration the parade will march to Clinton avenue and to Broad street, where "by request" she will explain the fundamental objects of and meaning of the march. After she has satisfied this thirst for knowledge the marchers will move through Broad street to Market street, to Washington street and back to the Church of God Cash Grocery Store.

DRY DOCK COMPANY WILL ENLARGE PLANT.

The New Jersey Dry Dock Company will begin next month the erection on the waterfront at Elizabethport of its new plant, which General Manager Thomas Drum, of that city, says will not cost less than $50,000. The plant will be used for the repair and construction of steel and iron boats and it is expected will be completed and in operation before cold weather sets in.

The dry dock company now owns 900 feet of waterfront on the south side of the Elizabeth River. It is the intention to connect the new plant with the Sound Shore Road of the New Jersey Central, so as to better facilitate the receiving of iron, steel, and other materials used by the dry dock company, which at present has no railroad facilities.

STILL TRYING TO SAVE VEZ.

Senator Silzer Gets Writ of Error, Staying Execution.

Senator George Silzer, of Middlesex county, has taken out a writ of error in the case of George Vez, the Middlesex county man who is under sentence of death for killing his wife at Perth Amboy. The taking out of the writ followed the refusal of Chancellor Pitney of a writ of grace, and when served on Head Keeper George O. Osborne at the State prison, at Trenton, will operate as a stay of execution. Vez was to have been executed next Tuesday morning.

The Hungarian consul has taken an interest in the case, and it is said Senator Silzer has been retained by him to give Vex his last chance for life. It is also declared that the man is crazy and that the court will be furnished evidence of this fact. It will be shown that Vez had been acting strangely for a long time before his trial, even before the murder, and that his subsequent conduct leads to the conclusion that he has been crazy for a long time.

MAY SURVIVE LOCKJAW.

Boy in Elizabeth Hospital is Getting Better.

Twelve-year-old Felix Jasperino, of Rahway, is in the General Hospital, Elizabeth, suffering from lockjaw, contracted when he was shot with a revolver in the hand on July 5. In spite of the gravity of his ailment, the doctors hold out hope of his recovery.

At one time after he was taken to the hospital little Welix's jaws were locked like a vise, but under the treatment of the doctors he has improved, until last night he was able, with some effort, to separate his teeth a fraction of an inch. He was not brought to the hospital until July 12.

TUMBLES THREE STORIES.

Workman on New Building Breaks Leg—Will Recover.

Thomas Jensen, of 234 Clark place, Elizabeth, fell from a scaffold, three stories high, to the ground, Thursday and is in the Alexian Brothers' Hospital, suffering with a bad fracture of the leg and scalp wounds.

Jensen was employed on a new building at Third and Pine streets, Elizabeth. There was nothing to break his fall, and he struck the ground feet foremost. The doctors at the hospital say that he will recover.

Engine Spark Fires House.

A spark from a passing locomotive is supposed to have set fire to the office of former Mayor Thomas Brady, Avenue E and East Twenty-second street, Bayonne, Thursday. The fire was put out before much damage had been done.

STATE DEMOCRATIC CALL

The Committee Will Meet at Asbury Park on Wednesday.

OPENING OF THE CAMPAIGN.

Next Wednesday is set as the time when the Democrats of New Jersey will formally open their fall campaign with a meeting of the State Committee, in the Coleman House, in Asbury Park. James R. Nugent, the State chairman, has instructed William K. Devereaux, secretary of the State organization, to call a meeting for that time and place. Then plans will be unfolded for waging the fall campaign.

Not in years has the outlook been more brilliant for electing a majority of the Assemblymen than at the present time, and there is a possibility of electing enough Senators to make the next session interesting, to say the least.

It is considered likely that the members of the State committee will at that time discuss the proposed constitutional amendments, which are to be voted on at the special election to be held September 12. It is probable several propositions will be discussed for changes.

The most important thing to be considered will be the reports from the various counties. From Passaic there will be a report that with the fight that is being waged between Speaker Prince and James G. Blaine, jr. for the senatorship, there is a good chance for re-electing Senator Hinchcliff, who has served with such distinction in the upper house, and who has such a large personal following all through that county.

The report will probably be made from Mercer county that because of the internal dissentions of the Republicans here over the contest for the place of surrogate, and the grilling to which members of the party, who have not been in strict accordance with the leaders, have been subjected, there is a possibility that the full Republican strength will not be manifest on the tally sheets.

Ocean county is so badly split up over the sentational contest there that it would not be at all surprising to the Republicans themselves if the Democrats, as they have several times done in the past, are able to slip in their man, when he is nominated.

It is expected that reports will be made that with South Jersey torn by internal dissentions over the contest for factional control by the Republicans, the Democrats ought to be able to pick one or two extra men from that section who will grace the upper or lower houses. Even Uncle Dan Voorhees' county, Morris, is far from harmonious as regards the Republican side of the field.

An analysis of the conditions in Hudson and Essex will be far from discouraging to the Democrats. Taken all in all, the situation is one that will give the members of the State Committee the greatest encouragement.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Plainfield is to have the privilege of inspecting Henry W. Savage's new musical production, "The Gay Hussars," before it is taken to New York to open a long run at a Broadway play-house. It will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre on Tuesday evening, July 27, with the same great equipment with which it will be seen later in New York. The magnitude of the undertaking will be understood when it is stated that to bring the company, orchestra, scenery and costumes here, an entire special train will be required. "The Gay Hussars" is the operetta which Alan Dale, the famous dramatic critic, saw in Berlin and pronounced superior to "The Merry Widow." Its German title is "Ein Hebstmanoever," and the critic writing to the New York American under the date July 3, has this to say of it: "Saw it for the second time last night and had to stand up during the entire performance as not a seat was to be had. It is the daintiest, cutest, prettiest operetta of years.* * * better than 'The Merry Widow.'" Whatever its reception may be in America Mr. Savage is sanguine that it will meet great success. He has expended a good-sized fortune in equipping it. The ensemble includes more than one hundred people and the music will be played by a special orchestra of over thirty specially selected musicians. Besides there is a Hungarion band used in the second act of the operetta. The gowns which are extremely beautiful were imported from Vienna. They are exact duplicates of those used in the original production. While "The Gay Hussars" is semi-military its central theme is of love and it contains another of those fascinating widows with which Mr. Savage has been so fortunate in his stage productions.

Wants Talking Hubby.

Because she could not stand the nerve straining silence of her husband who, according to the testimony of several witnesses other than his wife, sat moodily around the house day after day and night after night without uttering a word, Mrs. Lizzie Beekman, of Asbury Park, has brought suit for divorce from Frank J. Beekman. Testimony has been taken by Charles J. Parker, acting for the Chancellor.

Industrial Insurance Rates Reduced!

The Prudential has reduced its Industrial Life Insurance rates by increasing by an average of 10 Per Cent. the amount of insurance that could be purchased heretofore for the same money. By a voluntary concession this increase has been made to apply to industrial policies issued since January 1, 1907, and in force July 1, 1909; it means an increase of over $20,000,000 to the insured under such policies.

The New Chalmers Cars for 1910

No Increase in Price

Note the pictures. Our "30" has a 115-inch wheel base—with 34-inch wheels. A longer, higher hood to accord with a roomier tonneau. Lines like the costliest cars on the market.

Yet not a penny of additional price. The car still sells for $1500. Let us tell you how we have done it.

1,000 More Cars

Last season's output of "30's" was 2,500 cars, yet we ran 800 cars short of our orders. We were obliged to refuse trade to the extent of $1,200,000.

This year we have built a new factory, and our 1910 output of "30's" will be 3,500 cars. Those 1,000 extra cars will be made without adding a dollar to our fixed expense.

They will also be made with last year's tools and machinery. We have almost no new expense there. For mechanically, the car is not altered at all. Experience has shown us no way to improve it.

Thus we effect immense savings. And all of these savings have gone into the car—to make it more sightly, more roomy, more like the costliest cars.

Nine Per Cent Profit

Our profit this season will be the same as last season—exactly nine per cent.

Our customers have created these savings by calling for more of our cars. And every penny we save will be spent in giving them more beautiful cars. That is our permanent policy.

Please note the result. Note what a large and showy car—note the exquisite lines. Just think that $1500 now buys this amazing car.

Lower Prices

We will fit this $1500 car with a Bosch magneto, a Prest-O-Lite gas tank, and two Atwood-Castle gas lamps—all for $100 extra. The regular price of these extras is $175.

We will furnish our "30" with a Lenox mohair top for $75 extra. The regular price is $125.

We shall give you all the advantage of our quantity buying. So this 1910 model, fully equipped, costs you $135 less than did our 1909 model, equally equipped.

A longer, higher hood, roomier tonneau, longer wheel base, larger wheels and daintier lines. Yet the cost equipped is considerably less than the model of 1909.

No Records Like These

One of the Chalmers-Detroit "30's" has been run 32,000 miles, and has just completed a path-finding trip from Denver to Mexico City. Never has any car, at any price, made an equal endurance record.

Owners have paid us for repairs on their 1909 cars exactly $2.44 per car. That is a world's record.

On June 18th, a "30" won the Indiana Light Car Race, the greatest contest of its kind ever held in America, doing 232.74 miles at an average speed of 51.5 miles per hour.

On an economy test, made by the New York Auto Dealers' Association, it ran 25.7 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Never has a car at any price proved so satisfactory. Never did a car show such low cost for upkeep.

That is why we make no radical mechanical changes. Experience has proved that the 1909 "30" is absolutely right mechanically.

The Larger "Forty"

Our "Forty" for 1910 has 36-inch wheels. The wheel base is 122 inches—ten inches longer than last year. The car seats seven, while last season's seated five.

Upholstered in hand-buffed leather. Fitted with Bosch magneto, gas lamps and gas tank free.

Yet the price remains $2,750.

We will equip this car with a $150 Newport mohair top for $125 extra. The two extra seats will cost you but $75.

So this larger car, with larger wheels, when fully equipped, costs considerably less than last year.

This is our "Forty's" fifth season. It is known far and wide as the best medium-priced car on the market. It has been purchased by scores of the best experts in America for their personal use.

This season, with its extra room, there is not a car at any price which can reasonably claim to excel it.

Made as touring car, roadster and pony tonneau.

See These New Cars

Every Chalmers-Detroit dealer now has photographs of these new models. Demonstrating cars will be ready this month. Deliveries to users begin August 1st.

See them before you buy.

The tide of automobile demand is turning to these medium-priced cars. Not alone because of their prices, but mainly because of their savings on upkeep. The day of extravagance is past.

Last season these cars had no real competition. The demand was a third greater than could be supplied. This season, no medium-priced car will be anywhere near in their class.

Get your order in early, for orders are filled in rotation. August delivery gives you five months' use before the cat's year begins.

Made by Chalmers-Detroit Motor Company, Detroit, Mich.

Won 2 firsts and one second prize Johnston's Drive Hill Climb Contest, and made the best time for the day.

BALLOT FRAUD OLD EVIL

New Jersey Passed a Law in 1725 to Combat Corruption.

MUCH MUCK-RAKING THEN.

The Third General Assembly of the province of New Jersey that met after the surrender of the government to the crown of England, sitting at Perth Amboy on August 12, 1725, found it necessary to pass an act to prevent frauds at elections. The act was entitled "An act for the better regulation of elections, and laying a penalty on all officers and other persons whatsoever that shall by indirect practices endeavor to obtain any election contrary to the rights, liberties and privileges of the people, and the true intent and meaning of this act."

Previous to this act, or in 1709, the General Assembly had passed an act which prohibited any persons from voting for members of the General Assembly excepting those freeholders who owned 100 acres of land in their own right or who were worth £50 "current money of this province in real and personal estate."

The election act of 1725 provided that "after publication hereof, every sheriff or other officer to whom any writ for electing a member or members to serve in the General Assembly of this province shall be directed, upon receipt thereof, to forthwith give public notice of the day and place of election by putting up advertisements at least twenty days before the time of election at three of the most public places in their county, city or town; and shall on the day and so appointed place proceed to the election by reading his writ, and shall not declare the choice upon the view, nor adjourn from that to any other place without the consent of the candidates, nor by any unnecessary adjournment delay the election; but shall, if a poll be required, fairly and indifferently proceed from day to day and time to time to take the poll until all the electors then and there present be polled. And the sheriff or other officer as aforesaid is hereby directed and commanded to appoint one clerk and one inspector for each candidate, who shall be nominated by the candidates respectively, which clerks shall be sworn by the sheriff or other officer to take the poll fairly and indifferently by setting down the names of the electors, and the place of their abode, and the person they give their votes for. And the sheriff or other officer shall give a copy of the poll to every person that shall desire the same, he paying reasonable fees for writing the same. And if any elector be questioned as to his qualification by any candidate, the sheriff or other officer shall administer the following oath, Videlicet:

Land Not Vote Bribe.

"I, A. B., do in the present of God declare and swear, that I am and have been a freeholder and resident in this county, city or town one whole year, and that the estate for which I claim to give my vote in this election is not conveyed to me in trust, or on condition that I shall give my vote in this election for any person.

"Or, if Quaker, the attestation or affirmation to the same effect. And all fradulent conveyances of land to multiply votes or to qualify voters at elections, subject to an agreement to reconvey the same, shall be taken against the grantors as free and absolute, and all collateral securities for defeating such estate shall be void, and the person making such conveyance or voting by color thereof shall forfeit ten pounds to any person who shall sue for the same in any court of record, within this province."

In its attempt to prevent bribery and corruption in elections, this early legislation provided that "No person herafter to be elected shall directly or indirectly give, present or allow to any person having voice or vote in such election any money, meat, drink, entertainment or provision, or shall make any promise or agreement, obligation or engagement to give or allow any money, meat, drink, entertainment or provision to or for any such person or persons in particular, or to any county, city, or town, or to or for the use, advantage benefit, profit or preferment of any such person or persons, place or places in order to procure or gain voices or votes in his election."

The penalty attached to the violation of the provisions of the act was that the persons convicted of such violation "shall be and hereby are declared and enacted to be disabled, and upon such election shall not act, sit or have any vote or place in the General Assembly of this province, but shall be and are hereby declared and enacted to be to all intents, constructions and purposes as if they had never been elected or returned."

Mud-Slinging Barred.

Apparently even at that early day there had been mud-slinging and muck-raking, for the same act devoted one section to protecting candidates from slander and calumny by providing "That if any person or persons whatsoever shall, by assertions or false reports of any of the candidates, either in words or messages or writing or in any other manner, endeavor to frighten or by indirect means persuade any elector to give or dissaude any elector from giving his vote for the choice of any person to be a member of the General Assembly of this Province, every person so offending as aforesaid shall for feit £10, one-half to the King, his heirs and successors, and the other half to any person that will sue for the same, to be recovered with costs of suit by action of debt, or bill, plaint or information in any court of record in this Province, in which no essoin, protection, privilege or wager of law, or more than one imparlance be allowed."

This act of 1725 was not only the first of the "ballot reform" enactments, but it seems to have served its purpose for many years, for the records do not show that it was amended or that other acts of the same character were passed until long after the Revolution when the country became more thickly populated and the necessity for more strict regulation of elections became greater.

CO. K ENJOYED ITS HIKE

Local Soldier Boys Pitched Their Tents at Smalleytown Saturday.

READY FOR SEA GIRT NOW.

Colonel Nelson Y. Dungan Thinks Tramp to Camp Will Be of Great Benefit.

Company K of this city which camped at Smalleytown yesterday, returned home at 5:45 last evening. The work of the local soldier boys was highly commendable and elicited much favorable comment from Captain Kitchell.

The local soldier boys left the armory Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and continued in heavy marching order to the camp Kitchell at Smalleytown at 5 o'clock. Here they pitched shelter tents and Quartermaster Sergeant Apgar prepared supper. In the evening several of the men tramped to Mt. Bethel where they attended a dance.

Captain H. B. Kitchell then posted guards and reliefs exactly the same as at any military camp, in the order that will be followed at Sea Girt. The new men were put on the work and executed it satisfactorily.

At midnight corporals Winter and Rotherberg and privates Bembrook and Milwater and Wiley arrived. They too pitched tents. The evening was conducive to good sleep, and the ground was dry and free from mosquitoes; so the members enjoyed a good night's rest, arising at 5 o'clock in the morning. Breakfast was enjoyed at 6:30 o'clock, after which the men fell into line and were extended in large field just as is done in preliminary practice previous to charging the enemy. Maneuvours were over by ten o'clock.

Captain Kitchell, Lieut. Peterson and a few of the men then took a jaunt to Stirling and returned at the noon hour, when dinner was served. After dinner shelter tents were pitched in exactly eight minutes. The record for tearing them down was four minutes. The men then fell into ranks and marched home, stopping for rest three times.

The long tramp across the State to the Sea Girt camp will be due partly to Colonel Dungan's love of walking and partly to President's Roosevelt's military spirit as exemplified in his forced rides of many miles and stand for real work in military tactics. Discussing the matter Colonel Dungan said:

"I am going to see that all the camp sites en route are well supplied with running brooks for proper bathing of the feet, because that is essential after a long walk. The men of my command have been requested to procure regular army shoes for the march. Following a day's march a night of sound rest is necessary in order to be in good condition the next day. These details will be looked after and I confidently expect every member of the regiment will finish the 'hike' in better physical condition than when he left home.

"Of course, we are not going to run the distance. I have been over the route from Trenton and New Brunswick to Sea Girt. The country is fine for marching, and we will go by easy stages. This march will be of more military value to the men than a whole week in camp. By going through it they will get instructions that are almost impossible to impart in a practical way in camp. They will have camp formation, camp breakfast, advance and rear guard duty, outpost duty, advance and attack, retreat and advance, and all other field manoeuvres. The men will also be given instructions in camp sanitation, which is a very important part of military life. I am sure when the men have had this experience they will want more of it. Our National Guard should be a practical military organization, and the way to make it such is to have practical work."

Pulpit Supplies.

Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, will spend the next four weeks at Medina, Ohio, has announced the following supplies for the pulpit of the chapel during his absence: August 1, Rev. T. L. Gardner, D. D., of Plainfield; August 8, Rev. F. B. Newman, of Trenton; August 15, Rev. H. K. Carroll, D. D., of North Plainfield; August 22, Rev. Lewis Bond, of Plainfield.

Peeper in Court.

Because he persisted in peeking into windows in the vicinity of Howard street from seven o'clock until ten o'clock Saturday night, Duncan Reid, who hales from Philadelphia, was arrested by Borough Marshal Pope. When arraigned before Judge Dolliver this morning he was reprimanded and released on a promise to go out of town immediately.

NOT HIT BY TRAIN? VICTIM UNCONSCIOUS

Patrick Nugent, who it was alleged, was struck by a passing train on the Central's tracks on Saturday morning, has not yet recovered consciousness and his report of the accident cannot be had. But it is now stated, with some degree of confidence, that Nugent was not struck by a train, but by a man who was subsequently seen by Robert Clarkson, watchman at the Pond Machine Tool Works.

The watchman says that he was approached by a stranger, who apprised him of the accident, but who said Nugent was too heavy for him to carry alone. This stranger has since disappeared, and as Nugent is still unable to talk, nothing can be learned of the occurrence. Clarkson says that no train was passing at the time nor had passed immediately before the man was picked up. Nugent is still at Muhlenberg hospital.

ANSWERS DEATH'S CALL WHILE ENJOYING DINNER

Mrs. Ellen Birmingham, mother of Patrolman Richard Birmingham, of West Sixth street, suffered a sudden stroke of heart disease while sitting at the dinner table yesterday. She called for help but before relief could be brought dropped to the floor dead.

In the morning Mrs. Birmingham was feeling well. At dinner she ate heartily, and while dessert was being served, she complained that she felt ill. One of her daughters went to prepare a mustard plaster and while she was so engaged a thud was heard. Mrs. Birmingham was found lying on the floor and all heart action had ceased.

She is survived by four daughters, Josephine, May, Margaret and Catherine, and a son, Richard, all of this city. Two sisters, Mrs. S. Smith, of New York, and Miss Margaret Sullivan, of this city, also survive her.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's church, where a solemn requiem will be said.

GETS SIXTY DAYS FOR RAISING DISTURBANCE

"Fighting drunk," Robert Donnolly, who has a long police court record, figured in the liveliest arrest in a fortnight on West Front street Saturday night, when he engaged with Special Officer Dalley and Patrolman McGinley after his ejectment from a place of business by the special cop. The mix-up was witnessed by a crowd of several hundred Saturday night shoppers, and several rowdies took Donnolly's part against Dalley. The arrival of Patrolman McGinley, who first saw the fight from a trolley car, clinched the arrest. At his hearing before City Judge Runyon this morning, Donnolly was sentenced to serve sixty days in the county jail.

Donnolly, who had taken many drinks, supported his ugly temper with handy use of his fists, and upon his ejectment from the theatre, where Dalley was on duty, clinched with the policeman on the sidewalk. Seeing that his prisoner was scrappy, Dalley drew his "billy" to defend himself and force submission. Somebody in the crowd which quickly surrounded the two as they clinched, snatched the weapon, and the policeman had to defend himself with his fists.

Patrolman McGinley, passing on a main line car, came to the special's assistance, and the two clinched the arrest. A call was sent in for the patrol wagon, but before its arrival, somebody offered the use of a rig, and Donnolly was taken to cell at police headquarters in a buggy with the two officers.

WANDERLUST VICTIM RETURNED TO GROSZMANN.

For the second time within a week, Morris Gottscholt, a pupil at the Groszman School, wandered from the school at Watchung Crest early yesterday morning, and came to this city, where he was located at about 10 o'clock by Waldemar Groszman.

The son of a wealthy California ranch-owner, Gottscholt, who is seventeen years old, was brought to the local institution last Monday for treatment. He has a "roving temperament," and frequently wandered away from his California home. The "wanderlust" seized him again yesterday morning, and he left Watchung Crest early. Found by Mr. Groszman, he was stubborn about going back with him in the automobile, and it was necessary to summon Patrolman Sweeney, who returned to the school with the boy.

J. A. FOULKS FIGURES IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT

J. Aubrey Foulks, his wife and three children, of 93 Mercer avenue, were the occupants of an automobile which ran over and probably fatally hurt Lillie Fegnan, a little girl nine years old, who was playing in front of her home, 257 West Seventy-third street, New York, last night. The child had started across the street in response to a call from her mother and ran directly in front of the machine.

Mrs. Foulks got out of the machine, picked up the girl and the car hurried to a drug store from where Dr. J. S. Sammis, the Foulks' family physician, was summoned. The physician found the girl suffering from a fractured leg and internal injuries. She was taken to Flower hospital where the surgeons said she would probably die. The girl's mother refused to make a complaint against Mr. Foulks.

"BAD MAN" WALLACE GOES BACK TO JAIL

Given his liberty about a month ago after serving a fourteen months' term in State's prison, "Larry" Wallace, who is well known to the police as a trouble maker, engaged in a lively mix-up with Patrolman Payne at a Park avenue hotel Saturday night. He was taken to a police court cell, having been arrested on the complaint of the proprietor for raising a disturbance. He was sentenced to serve a sixty day term in the county jail, at his hearing before City Judge Runyon this morning.

Characterizing his prisoner as "the meanest fighter I ever locked up since I've been in the business," Patrolman Payne told the story of the disturbance in connection with Wallace's hearing. He said he was summoned to the hotel to arrest the man, who had been ejected from the place for raising a rumpus. Seeing the policeman, Wallace rushed at him and grappled. Payne received several blows and sundry kicks before he could calm his prisoner. On the way to the patrol box, Wallace tried several times to trip up the patrolman. The arrest was witnessed by a crowd of several hundred, who quickly gathered at the corner, and a cheer was given for the policeman as he climbed into the wagon with his prisoner.

"GAY HUSSARS" PREMIERE HERE TOMORROW NIGHT.

The surprise of the hour is that Plainfield is to have the first official peep at Henry W. Savage's new musical production, "The Gay Hussars," with which he is to open a Broadway theatre next week. It will be presented for the first time on any stage at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night, and all the preparations for a perfect presentation of the new operetta over which the continent of Europe has gone half-mad, are complete. The entire production and an ensemble of more than one hundred people will be brought to Plainfield by special train. The equipment is a huge one, no less than four car loads of scenery being used in the production.

In addition Mr. Savage will bring here a special orchestra of thirty to properly interpret the music of "The Gay Hussars." There is also a Hungarian band in the production which is used in the big ball-room scene of the second act.

McLoughlin "Cleaned House."

Patrick McLoughlin started to "break up house keeping" when he returned to his home on Washington street Saturday night after taking many drinks, and the neighbors, dodging the fusillade of broken furniture which was being thrown out of windows and doors, notified the police. Patrolman McGinley arrested the man. He had a good previous record and City Judge Runyon suspended sentence at his hearing today.

Cop Finds a Check.

While covering his beat, Patrolman Payne found an endorsed check for $112 on Park avenue, Saturday night. The check, dated today, and drawn by W. A. Brady in favor of Thomas R. Moore against an account in the First National Bank, is at police headquarters awaiting a claimant.

Dr. Huntington Dead.

ANOTHER UNION SERVICE

Rev. Charles E. Bronson Addresses Four Local Congregations.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Rev. C. M. Anderson Delivers the Invocation and Mr. Stout the Scriptures.

The union service at the First Presbyterian church last night brought out the largest congregation of the series. The galleries and auditorium were filled to overflowing. Rev. Charles E. Bronson, of Philadelphia, preached the sermon. Royal A. Stout, of the Netherwood Reformed church, read the Scripture and offered the post-sermon prayer, and Rev. Charles M. Anderson the invocation.

The music was a feature of the services. Otto Knower, the new tenor, sang "My Soul is Athirst for God," from Gaul's Holy City, and the other anthems were beautifully rendered by the quartet choir.

Rev. Mr. Bronson took for his text Exodus 2: 1-2, and his subject, "The Mother of Moses," and said in part: "What made the old home home to you? The little brook across the road, the honeysuckle which wreathes itself over the kitchen door; the old barn; or was it the familiar surroundings in the old parlor that filled the memory of your childhood with happiness? Was it any one of these that made the old home home to you?

"I think not. I believe it was the kindly loving face, the tender ministrations, of the ever present mother. The things that I have mentioned may seem all the same, but if she is not there—that mother into whose face you first looked—it is not home. She made that home, the sweetest word in the tongue we speak. Perhaps you can remember the day you left home. You said goodby to your sisters and brothers and your father, but you reserved the last word for that mother you were loath to leave. You carried the memory of her face with you as you took that first plunge into the busy world in search for fortune.

"Moses' mother, who is mentioned in our text, was a woman of ingenuity as well as love. Her ingenuity has never been approached by the inventors of the day. No Patent Office has known the inventive genius of the mother of the great Moses. She contrived to save her son in the face of all obstacles with a simple device and womanly artifice, just as your mother, from your earliest days has saved and protected you from the contamination of the world.

"Do you see that young college graduate standing on the platform, the leader in his class? Yes, you see him, but you cannot see his mother sitting away back in the rear of the hall; she who has made this boy's success possible, through untold sacrifices and prayers which God heard every time she communed with Him. There is no love so pure, so unselfish as a mother's love, save the love of God. The influence of prayer of the mother of the child traveling through this world is one whose greatness cannot be estimated.

"The mother who gives her son the luxuries of life and neglects to give him the God too has omitted presenting him with the priceless inheritance which is his due. The man who rises to the highest pinnacle of fame lays the honor at his mother's feet, and that is the noblest thing he can do."

Examination for Force.

Examinations for position as patrolmen will beheld on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A., and able bodied men are eligible as candidates. The mental examination will be conducted by George B. Wean, and the physical examination will be made by City Physician C. B. Lufburrow and Physical Director G. L. Listman of the Y. M. C. A. Application blanks may be obtained free at police headquarters. The examination will be held in compliance with orders issued by the police board. The vacancy on the police force is caused by the resignation of Patrolman John Kelley.

D. J. Sisk Goes to Bayonne.

D. J. Sisk, of 1427 Willever avenue, who for the past two-and-a-half years has been with the Manganese Steel Safe Company, has resigned his position as engineer with that concern and has taken a similar position with the Iron and Ore Company, of Bayonne, starting with his new employers today. Mr. Sisk also worked for the Scott Press Works for some time.

Mrs. T. O. Aalholm.

Mrs. T. O. Aalholm died at her home, 824 Second place, this morning after a short illness. The funeral will be private.

At Potter's shop they all confess that Charlie knows a printing press
From top to bottom, more or less, and helps them win their great success.
And when it comes to wars with worms, and every sort of thing that squirms,
The doctors praise in highest terms the way he hypnotizes germs.

MRS. POWLISON TALKS TO LITTLE ONES AT CAMP

Mrs. J. A. Powlison, superintendent of the primry department of the First Baptist church, addressed the children at the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the Watchung mountains yesterday afternoon, when the service was largely attended. Mrs. Powlison held the close attention of the children as she told them about the many "little houses" which she saw all around her, and which she likened to the boys and girls at the camp. Every little house, Mrs. Powlison went on, has two windows—the eyes; a door—the mouth; and four servants—the hands and feet. Her talk was prepared especially for the children, but was fully enjoyed by the older people at the service.

Music was a feature of the program, and included a cornet solo, "Not Half Has Ever Been Told," by Whitney Frazee, and a flute solo, "Saved by Grace," by Elmer P. Wheeler. Miss Mary Clark presided at the piano, and the Misses Arline and Marjorie Brown assisted in the orchestra.

Arrangements have been completed for Sunday afternoon services to be held each week at the camp at 4 o'clock. A stage has been provided by a friend of the camp and this will meet the Somerset street trolley at the terminus at 3:30 o'clock, as it did yesterday. The weekly services are to be marked by special music.

LAST OF JULY SONG SERVICES AT GRACE M. E. YESTERDAY.

The last of a series of Sunday evening song services was given yesterday at the Grace M. E. church by the choir under the direction of Miss Alice Carroll, before a good sized and appreciative congregation.

Following the organ voluntary, the anthem, "Consider and Hear Me," was given. A prayer and the chanting of the Lord's prayer followed after which the duet, "The Lord is My Shepherd" was given. Those who took the part were: Mrs. E. D. Young and Mrs. F. M. Ward. Following the scripture reading, and Gloria a contralto solo was sung by Mrs. F. M. Ward. The topic of the Rev. Ora Shoop's sermon was, "Impressions: Good and Bad." E. O. Young was the tenor soloist.

At the Baby Camp.

The "Cup Bearers" Circle of King's Daughters visited the Baby Camp on the Mountain last Saturday afternoon, and for several hours entertained the children in various ways. The Circle provided ice cream and cake for every one at the camp, and these refreshments were greatly enjoyed by the mothers and children. The following members of the "Cup Bearers" Circle were present: Miss Alice Titus, president; Miss Bessie Flanders, vice-president; Miss Ethel Most, Miss Gladys Peck, Miss Marion Hall, Miss Marguerite Carpenter, Miss Helen Stevens.

Carleton Smith, of Grove street, is spending his summer vacation at Asbury Park.

ELIZABETH PASTOR TO FRESH AIR CHILDREN

Rev. A. G. Snowden, pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, was the speaker at the afternoon meeting of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home yesterday and gave an address well calculated to appeal as much to adults as to children.

He told how easy it is to become rich and still have a flat pocketbook. The wealth he intended his hearers to understand was, he said, the wealth God's grace imparts. "Get God's smile," he said, "and you know you have His grace and there is no wealth in all the world equal to that.

"A man may be worth a billion and be nothing unless God's smile is his. Look at President Taft; he's always smiling the smile that won't come off. And he is happy and makes those who meet him happy. It's a great thing to smile back on God when He smiles on us, and therein lies your salvation, and your great riches."

L. H. Bigelow and J. D. Loizeaux also spoke briefly, the latter telling of the needs of the Home at the present time. Mr. Bigelow led the singing and was assisted by Miss Jane Hoffman, violin. The singing of the children of the camp was hearty and was good to hear. The collection taken up amounted to $33, more than three times the usual Sunday afternoon offering.

Saturday afternoon Mr. Thresher gave the children a picnic at which relay races and air ship contests brought the winners prizes of pennies and peanuts and the youngsters had a regular jollification.

To Talk on Mission Heroes.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of Hope chapel extended a hearty invitation to all the congregation of the chapel and its friends to attend the missionary meeting on Wednesday evening. Miss Gertrude L. Hunter, who presented the report of the Silver Bay conference, several weeks ago, will be the leader and the subject will be "Heroes of Missions," Matt. 5: 13-16.

Pastors Visit Mother.

Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, accompanied by his brother, Rev. Albertus I. Broek, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Reformed church, of Newark, started this morning for Grand Rapids, Michigan, their mother's home, where they will spend a six weeks' vacation.

Won a Blue Ribbon.

F. S. Moore's toy poodle "Snowball" won first prize, a blue ribbon, at the annual dog show of the Keystone Kennel Club at Narberth, near Philadelphia, Saturday. The poodle has won a first wherever exhibited and practically stands alone in her class.

OPPOSES ELIOT'S VIEWS

Dr. Zelie Says Utterances of Harvard's President-Emeritus are Weak.

FOOLED BY GREAT NAMES.

Minister Says We Keep Great Men Talking and They Sometimes Have Shallow Opinions.

In a sermon yesterday morning at the Crescent Avenue church on "Semi-Religions and New Religions" Dr. Zelie said: "Religion is threatened today by religions. One begins to feel with John Watson that nothing is easier than to create a new religion; one only needs self-confidence and foolscap paper. It is worth remembering that Jesus told his disciples plainly to expect this phenomenon of substitutes and imitations or Christianity and to resist the flattery of imitation which would surely be paid to them, when men saw the manifest power of their religion and wanted to get all its benefits without paying their price for it or believing that to produce it he had to pay such a price as the Cross. We seem terribly thrown out of our reckoning by the very facts Christ told men to reckon with.

"One of the most shallow and current things said about these new faiths is that they seem to show that people are wanting something that they do not get out of Christianity. The prophets who have advanced the world and made it better never went around asking what men wanted. The note of all great religious movements is not in what I want or you want, but in what God wants of us. Is he getting it? In these semi-religions the unpleasant note of obedience is seldom sounded. There is no Cross in them. Religion is to be achieved by placidity, or by men getting together in a committee and saying what it shall be. But when men begin seriously to ask what God wants of them, they will begin to find the satisfaction of every real want they ever had. I do not think that point is borne down upon very strongly today.

"The time was when men went to the great Christian who represented years of experiencing and trusting in Christianity, to find out what Christianity was. Today if someone has been successful in any line of business or professional life, we ask him without any further question, what he thinks of Christianity and are much put about if he thinks it outgrown. Because President Eliot has been at the head of a great university for a generation, and because we all delight to honor him for his success and count him one of the first citizens of this nation, because as a college man I with the rest have always felt pride in him, I am not swept off my feet just because of the reported address of his in last Friday's papers about the new religion. I can at one and the same time honor his splendid years at Harvard, and think, that if correctly reported, his address last week was one of the weakest utterances of the past year on the subject of religion.

"We are easily imposed upon by great names. We keep our great men talking all the time, and need not be surpised at their saying many a shallow thing. When addressing the Mormons of Salt Lake City some years ago, Dr. Eliot, as reported, likened their spirit and enterprise to that of the Pilgrim Fathers. I continued to admire President Eliot as a college president, but thought him very little of an authority on the Pilgrim Fathers, or the Mormon religion. Occupying a great place in the world makes no man an authority on religion. A year hence few of us will remember just what it was that he is reported to have said, but we shall then and always remember the great words that Christ spoke, that the apostles gave us, that prophets and psalmists had uttered before them. We shall find it hard

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Mr. Fowler's Enemies.

Unfortunately for the people of the United States, it looks as if Speaker Cannon will carry out his reported threat to leave Representative Fowler off the Banking and Currency Committee. This is to be done as retaliation on the part of the man whose methods have made him in reality the Czar of the House. Mr. Fowler had the temerity to oppose the Speaker's methods, a year ago, those by which, under a committee on rules, half a dozen men, led by the Speaker, are given imperial control over procedure with reference to legislation. Mr. Fowler went so far as to join with the so-called insurgents of the House in demanding that that body be allowed, allowed, mind you, to become more representative in character. As a guarantee of sincerity, in order that opposition to Czardom might, if needed, have some one to rally about in compelling a partial abdication by the Speaker, he offered himself as a candidate for presiding officer.

This was magnificent, of course, but it was not war. For any such movement was foredoomed. Hence the man who for years has led all, both in and out of Congress, in pointing the way by which our castiron, uneconomic and disastrous currency system ought to be reformed—who has fought, in season and out, the the present iniquitous bond-secured currency of the country, the one favored by the interests as giving a bond market calculated to suit their own peculiar views—hence, this man has got to be sacrificed to the financial graft and legislative greed which has had so conspicuous a part as an outcome of our legislative body at Washington—and as a matter of revenge.

We have no intention, however, to attempt a defense of Mr. Fowler's work and place as a member of the House of Representatives, and of the Banking and Currency Committee. He needs none. It has been said of him in the public prints that the soundness of his financial views and his immoderate devotion to principle were so out of place in the chairman of the Committee of Banking and Currency, that he is to be succeeded by Mr. Vreeland. That comment is enough. But what a reflection on the House and upon Mr. Vreeland. But if they can stand it Mr. Fowler ought to be able to. One of the foremost bankers in New York once said to the writer that Representative Fowler knew more about the currency question than any other living American, and were it not that Mr. Fowler insisted in having the right thing done or nothing at all he would have been able to accomplish a great deal more than he has. This is another reflection which the New Jersey Congressman can probably well afford to stand.

If the man who doesn't know, the man who has a personal or corporation axe to grind, and the man who has a grudge to settle, do not like the man who stands for right and for principle, and if the former are in position to sandbag him for working for the real good of the public along the only lines by which it can be obtained, one knows what to expect. Apparently we are to have a representation of just what they would do.—Newark News.

Will Hinder Things.

"I see," says the man with the oblong nose, "that the postered collectors' association is to hold a convention in Chicago soon."

"Yes," growls the man with the discouraged whiskers, "but the delegates will be so busy sending the fool things they won't have time to convene."—Chicago Post.

"FASHIONABLE FACTS."

Feathers of amazing character are requisitioned to adorn the now decreed high-crown straw chapeaux. In one particular instance the ostrich plume presented exactly the same appearance as pampas grass.

Sleeves are worn long and close fitting, but are being treated to a diversity of decoration, wide tucks, divided by groups of pin tucks, presenting an extremely charming effect in any of the transparent materials.

Cream lace, the pattern picked out with pink coral, was the piece de resistance of a lovely pink and white brocade evening dress observed the other day, the folds of the fichu corsage held in subjection by coral cabochon.

Jet is to be seen upon the smartest black millinery, toques of softly swathed tulle being merely adorned at one side with a huge osprey held in place by an ornament of sparkling jet.

A Sewing Hint.

In sewing up seams in very fine material or tucking, difficulty is often experienced in having the seam perfectly smooth without any puckerings. If a strip of paper, not too stiff or brittle, be put under the material as it is placed under the foot of the machine and stitched, you will find that a perfectly smooth seam is the result. The paper is readily removed without injury to the very sheerest material that is made. This is especially good to use when working on chiffon.

TOO MUCH FOR PLAINFIELD

New Brunswick on Its Own Grounds Wins by Score of Four to One.

WEAKNESS AT THE BAT.

Plainfield Aggregation Couldn't Use the Stick—Single Run in the First Inning.

Plainfield stacked up against a weird proposition Saturday, when they faced the doughty Gerard, Manager Driscoll's new twirler. Fifteen strike-outs and one lonesome hit tells the story of the game. The offerings of Mr. Gerard were clothed in invisible mist, and scraped the corners off the rubber pan at all angles, defying the jabs of Manager Dorflinger's batsmen.

Ortleib, to be sure, kept the New Brunswick hits down, but his team mates couldn't bat. Besides, three errors helped the Brunswickers to score.

Plainfield's lone tally was made in the first inning. Boyd got a two-bagger and was helped around by sacrifices by Emery and Martin.

New Brunswick scored in the first and thereafter nothing happened in the way of tallys until the seventh session, when New Brunswick scored three.

Barnes played a fine game at first base for Plainfield, accepting twelve chances without an error, and Seery, as usual, backed Ortleib up in fine style. Stallings and Harter carried off the fielding honors for New Brunswick. Following is the score:

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Plainfield is to have the privilege of inspecting Henry W. Savage's new musical production, "The Gay Hussars," before it is taken to New York to open a long run at a Broadway play house. It will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow evening, with the same great equipment with which it will be seen later in New York. The magnitude of the undertaking will be understood when it is stated that to bring the company, orchestra, scenery and costumes here, an entire special train will be required. "The Gay Hussars," is the operetta which Alan Dale, the famous dramatic critic, saw in Berlin and pronounced superior to "The Merry Widow." Its German title is "Ein Herbstmanoever," and the critic writing to the New York American under the date of July 3 has this to say of it: "Saw it for the second time last night, and had to stand up during the entire performance as not a seat was to be had. It is the daintiest, cutest, prettiest operetta of years. Better than 'The Merry Widow.' Whatever its reception may be in America Mr. Savage is sanguine that it will meet great success. He has expended a good sized fortune in equipping it. The ensemble includes more than one hundred people, and the music will be played by a special orchestra of over thirty specially selected musicians. Besides there is a Hungarian band used in the second act of the operetta. The gowns which are extremely beautiful were imported from Vienna. They are exact duplicates of those used in the original production. While "The Gay Hussars" is semi-military its central theme is of love, and it contains another of those fascinating widows with which Mr. Savage has been so fortunate in his stage productions.

Not Desired.

Having, at enormous pains, got her length, breadth and thickness about right, the woman heaved a sigh of relief. "No fourth dimensions in mine, if your please!" she exclaimed, with unmistakable feeling.

Some aver that the feminine mind is not attracted by metaphysics, anyway.—Puck.

Impossible.

"But why don't you believe that I have a friend who is much more beautiful than I am?"

"Because it is impossible that she should be your friend if she is really more beautiful than you."—Comic Cuts.

to remember just what this new religion was to be.

"Christianity has made a rich soil and other seeds as well as the good ones will spring up in it. Religion has parasitic growths and sometimes the parasite is a very beautiful thing, very different from the brown homely trunk on which it fastens and gets its little life. These religions do not spring up where there is no Christianity and where they could have the field to themselves.

"It is a testing time such as Christ told men to be on the watch for. It may be a very good thing for us now and again to be put to the test and find out whether we can be attracted by the counterfeits of, or the easy substitute for our own best possessions."

TELLS OF HER WORK AT FRESH AIR HOME

The morning service at the South Plainfield Baptist church yesterday was led by Deacon David Hand and addresses were given by Miss Curry, of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home and L. H. Bigelow. The collection, which was for the benefit of the Home amounted to $78.30, which added to the amount of the offering at the camp in the afternoon, made a total for the day of over $110.

Miss Curry's address was an outline of the work she has been doing among the poor both here and in New York and at times the audience was moved to tears by her stories of human interests. The music was under the direction of Miss Hayes, the organist of the church, who was assisted by Percy Mygrant, cornetist.

MARTHA WASHINGTON'S STRONG CHARACTER.

Gaillard Hunt's account of "A Christmas at Mount Vernon" in The Century—the first Christmas of General Washington's final home-coming to Mount Vernon—his this interesting description of Mrs. Washington.

I am afraid the modern woman of advanced ideas cannot approve of her. She went North to join the troops when they were in a safe place for the winter and when her husband told her to come; she went South again when the campaign opened in the spring. She heard many cannon shots in the distance, but she had no ambition to share her husband's dangers, if he did not wish it.

She was a loyal patriot, and hated the British. She held, in fact, the same views as her husband, and held them because he held them. She thought he was the greatest man in the world—as, indeed, he was—and that the life of wife of a Virginia planter was the best life a woman could lead. She lost no sleep in studying the problems which were vexing philosophers and statesmen, but went cofortably to bed at night, thinking of the last invoice of clothes arrived from England, or what she would have for dinner on the following day.

Her character was high, her intelligence sound, and her temper masterful. Nobody at Mount Vernon disputed her sway, nobody laughed at her, and everybody held her judgment in respect; yet she never made a bright or witty remark and hardly ever read a book except her Bible and a few books of religious devotion.

She knew all about the management of a large household, could play upon the spinnet or harpsichord and could work in worsteds in all sorts of stitches, but of book education she had very little. How could she have much, when she was counted a woman at the age of fifteen, and had charge of a household and husband at seventeen? She was fully as well educated as other ladies of her day, and although in writing she sent her love to "all enquireing friends" and hoped "billy's recovery would be a lasting wone," she was none the less a lady and an ornament to society.

Demeaning Himself.

"Well, gentlemen," said Tompkins to a couple of friends, "you can talk as much as you please about the inferiority of women, but there are lots of them that can discount most of us for brains. Take my wife, for instance; she's got twice as much sense as I have, and I ain't ashamed to acknowledge it, either."

"But don't you think," said one of his auditors, "that you put rather a low estimate on your wife's intellectual powers?"—Tit-Bits.

IMPORTANCE OF JERSEY AS SHOWN BY DIRECTORY

Among the departmental reports of the current year, the one which leads all others in intrinsic interest and general usefulness to the State is the new revision of the Industrial Directory of New Jersey, compiled by the bureau of statistics of labor and industry, which is now in the hands of the printer. The forthcoming volume is the second revision, and the third issue of the book printed for free distribution by the State, since the appearance of the first edition in 1901.

The directory, while covering the same field, contains a much wider range of information relating to the State and its cities, towns and villages than was given in the preceding issues, and it would be difficult to indicate any great public interest of the State that has not been benefitted by this many-sided and admirable publication.

The contents of the book are divided into two parts. In the first appears an alphabetical list of all cities, towns and villages of the State, with a descriptive note relating to each place, giving its population, railroad connections, postal and express facilities, its manufacturing industries, if any, facilities for development of water power, number of schools and churches, with a statement of the natural advantages offered for industrial or residential purposes

The second part is a complete directory of corporations, firms and individuals engaged in the manufacturing industry of the State, in which the character of the goods made, and the location of factory and offices is given for them all. These features differ from those of the two previous editions only in the fact that the particulars given have been brought up to the close of the year 1908. Absolutely every community in the State having a population of 100 or more is here passed in review, with the leading facts relating to it, and the manufacturers' index will enable the investigator to locate any industrial plant doing business in New Jersey.

A new and highly interesting feature of this edition of the directory is a chapter devoted to the State at large under the title—"Statistical Abstract of New Jersey." This is an array of facts and figures which show the wonderful progress made by New Jersey since 1850. These cover a field so wide that, practically speaking, any reasonable question relating to the present status of the State in the matter of population, industry, agriculture, transportation, wealth, etc., will find a ready answer here.

Advance proofs of this part of the book were shown to a Daily Press reporter by the chief statistician of the bureau, from which the following interesting matter was gleaned:

New Jersey has an area of 8,224 miles, of which 7,514 is land and 710 water. The population in 1908, based on the State census of 1905, plus the ratio of annual increase, 2.9 per cent. was 2,330,683, of which 2,244,293 are whites, and 86,390 colored. The native born population is 1,878,799 and the foreign born, 451,884. A remarkable thing is that there are 283.4 persons in each square mile of territory. Jersey being the densest populated State in the Union, excepting Rhode Island.

Those who have watched the increase in population of the State will hardly credit the statement that since 1850 to 1905 the population increased from 489,555 to 2,144,143 and that the increase in the past five years has been 13.8 per cent.

But it is when one gets to the mass of figures showing the progress of the manufacturing industry that a glimpse of the greatness of the State is gotten, keeping in mind that Jersey once was known as a market garden only for New York and Philadelphia. In 1850 there was but $22,293,258 invested in manufacturing, and only $40,521,048 ten years later, or in 1860, while ten years later, in 1870, the invested capital had only gone to $79,606,719. Up to 1880 the money invested in manfacturing had only reached $106,226,719. But this went ahead by leaps and bounds, as instance $250,805,747, in 1890; $502,824,082 in 1900; $715,060,174, in 1905, and the great total of $919,110,394 is recorded in 1908, and this despite the fact that there has been a recent panic.

There were only 37,830 persons employed as wage earners in factories in 1850, as against 298,454 in 1908, and the wages paid were $9,364,740 in 1850, as against $152,280,633 last year, while the value of the goods produced ran from $39,851,256 in 1850 to $940,238,869 last year.

From these figures many interesting facts of statistics can be gathered, as for instance, the figures show that the average annual increase of capital invested has been 9.5 per cent., average annual increase of number of wage earners, 4 per cent; amount paid in wages, 6 per cent; value of all goods made, 7.1 per cent.

It would stump many a person to learn that 12.8 per cent. of all the population of New Jersey is employed in the manufacturing industry, that the average amount of capital invested in the manufacturing industry is $393.92 per capita, and that the average value of the annual product of manufactured goods is $403.42 per capita.

Turning aside from the purely manufacturing side of the State, at least for an instant, one is confronted with the greatness of New Jersey agriculture. The chief statistician shows that with 4,308,960 acres of land 2,40,966 Jersey acres are farm land, of which 1,977,042 is improved farm land and 868,924 capable of being thus improved. There are 34,650 farms in New Jersey, the average farm area being 82 acres. The average value per acre of farm land is $65.44.

The value of Jersey farm lands, including buildings and implements, is $266,500; stocks of all kinds, including poultry, $41,363,733; total value of farms and farm property, $397,868,738; total value of farm and dairy products, $57,743,153, the average value of farm products per acre being $20.30.

It will cause genuine surprise to learn from this authentic source that there are 2,353.63 miles of railroad in operation in New Jersey, and that the number of Jerseymen employed on them reaches 46,284; that the miles of railroad line per 100 square miles of territory reach 30.29, and that last year the railroads paid out in wages to Jerseymen resident of this State $29,502,611.

While it is true that the limited franchise law has stopped the development of trolley lines in New Jersey, there are now in practical operation 1,198 miles; 8,624 men are employed, exclusive of officers and clerks, and $3,803,853 was paid out last year in wages.

Jersey has 175.34 miles of canals, the Delaware and Raritan canal and feeder being 68.86 miles long and the Morris canal, 106.48 miles in length.

While on the subject of water, it will be of interest to know that there are 902 water wheels developing 38,011 horse-power in New Jersey, 48 of these wheels, developing 18,122 horse power, being on the Delaware river bank; 209 wheels on the Passaic river bank, developing 13,580 horse power, and 204 wheels on the Raritan river bank, developing 6,309 horse power.

The developed power used in Jersey manufactures, exclusive of water wheels, reached 569,994 last year, or more than the combined horse power of the great British navy. It is surprising to note how the electric motor has taken the place of the steam engine, there being 8,233 electric motors in Jersey factories developing 100,556 horse power last year, as against 3,961 steam engines, developing 419,210 horse power. The table shows 255 gasoline engines, with 7,571 developed horse power, and 65 compressed air motors, developing 4,638 horse power, to complete the great aggregate of power outside of water wheels.

Now the use of these things leads to wealth, and on that side of the question the chief statistician of the department says that there are 606,999 deposit accounts in Jersey banks with total bank deposits of $390,310,046, showing that the Jerseyman is thrifty.

The wealth of New Jersey is thus summed up: Real property, $2,217,618,697; manufacturing machinery, tools and implements, $253,198,469; farm implements and machinery, $10,286,358; live stock, including poultry, $41,368,738; railroads and their equipment, $394,267,376; street railways, water works, shipping, etc., $254,142,489; gold and silver coin and bullion, $48,545,540; all other forms of wealth, $625,314,461; total value of all property, $3,844,742,108.

This means that the average wealth per capita in New Jersey is $1,750.

From all of this information the chief statistician has gathered that the rank of New Jersey among the States of the Union is as follows: In territorial area, forty-eighth, or nearly the smallest; in population, sixteenth; in railroad mileage to territorial area, by far the first; in value of the annual products of manufacturing industries, the sixth; value of farm property, eighteenth; aggregate wealth in all forms, sixth; aggregate wealth per capita, eleventh; developed water power, twenty-fourth; per capita value of manufactured goods, second, only Rhode Island beating this State; proportion of population employed in manufacturing industry, third; density of population, third.

In an interesting preface to the publication containing this interesting information Winton C. Garrison, chief of the bureau, has acknowledged the help of the manufacturers of the State in getting it together.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Miss Sarah Curry and her little charges at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home had charge of the service at the Baptist church yesterday morning, no preaching service being held. The little ones gave a pleasing entertainment of recitations and songs, after which Miss Curry gave a short talk on the Home and the results obtained. A collection for the work was taken.

A number of the rooters accompanied the team to Bound Brook Saturday afternoon and saw the locals take the measure of the up-the-line team. MacLaughlin was in fine shape and received good support, especially at critical stages of the game.

The Baptist A. C. team defeated the Warren A. C. team of Plainfield, on the local diamond Saturday afternoon by the score of 7 to 2.

The weekly meeting of the B. Y. P. U. was held in the church parlors last night, no preaching service being held.

The members of the Epworth League held on interesting meeting last night in the class room of the church.

Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews occupied the pulpit at the Plainfield First Baptist church yesterday morning.

Mrs. Harry P. Robinson, of the borough, is convalescent from her recent serious illness.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The South Plainfield Sunday baseball team yesterday lost by a score of 7 to 6. Its opponent was the Netherwood A. C. The local team had all of its substitutes in, Mullin, Thomas, Moran and Sebring being out of the game.

Miss Maguire, of Pittstown, Pa., who was visiting friends here last week is now spending a few days with relatives in Plainfield.

The Baptist Sunday school will go on their annual excursion to Bellewood on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and son, Harry, are visiting Mrs. H. Mundy, of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller enjoyed a trip to Coney yesterday.

THE SUNSHINE HOME.

Expense is not the essential of making the home beautiful. What is far more important is good taste. A few cents spent in muslin curtains will often make a greater improvement in a room than will $100 paid to a professional decorator. Many people have come to prefer the thick curtain to the older window shade. Either of them should never be used without the muslin curtain, and I have found, in many instances—especially in the case of upstairs rooms—that the muslin curtains alone are sufficient. Too many people spend their money for devices to keep the sun out. This is all wrong. Let it come. Sun is the greatest germ disperser that there is. More than that, there is nothing like bright, wholesome sunlight to give a room a cheerful and homelike appearance. Sun lights up the dark corners and shows up any neglected dirt, therefore compelling you to keep your house as clean as a whistle. In this way it is a triple blessing. It is no harm, but, on the contrary, for a passerby to catch a glimpse of a cheerful, homelike interior. And for rooms which must be private, and which are so situated as to be commanded from the outside, thick curtains give the privacy as well as shades could do.

This is not meant to be taken too arbitrarily. For windows opening directly upon a sidewalk, or facing other windows, shades may be an easier solution than thick curtains. On my kitchen windows I have shades for use at night, for an entrance road runs close beside them, but even the kitchen windows have also curtains of white muslin.

When there are shades, they should never be left half way down in the daytime for the supposed sake of looks. Let the necessary softening effect come from the accompanying curtains.

Architects declare that a window darkened across its upper half or half of its upper half is not using the window to its best advantage. Its full shape and size are suited to the room, and for the sake of health there should not be the shutting out of sunlight. Cases where there is intense sun glare, or where sick people require specially darkened rooms, are exceptional.

If you are fond of house plants, you should give them plenty of sunlight. Don't draw your curtains on them. Give them the life they deserve.

Statistics Don't Cure.

The announcement that there are, in round numbers, 100,000 hay fever victims in the United States doesn't make one of them any happier when he starts sneezing. The physician who took the census probably worked along the lines that "misery loves company"—but these victims would love relief more.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

SUGGESTIONS FOR WILLS

Points That Should Be Looked After by Attorney and Testator.

MANY WILLS ARE INVALID.

In the Trust Companies Magazine, a plan of critizising wills was mentioned by Daniel S. Remsen in a recent number, and he answers a number of questions which have been put to him touching the methods employed and the results attained in the examination of the 50 wills last criticised for living persons. These answers are in the March number. He says:

A lawyer can render no more valuable service to a testator or to his family than to point out any serious defects that may actually exist in his will, that the same may be corrected before death. A lawyer can do no greater kindness to his professional brother than to give him timely warning where he has drawn or is preparing a will that otherwise after death might be open to substantial criticism. A lawyer can do no greater service to the prospective executor or trustee than to correct errors which might lead to confusion and personal liability in the administration of an estate. If experience or history is to teach anything, surely every will should be subjected to as searching an examination before the death of its maker as it is likely to receive after his death.

As to the will of Samuel J. Tilden, the true reason of its failure has only recently come to light. It seems that Governor Tilden exhibited his will to the late James C. Carter for a casual inspection one day at Greystone. As Mr. Carter had never seen the document before he glanced over it hurriedly and pointed out to the Governor that the indefiniteness in the clause disposing of the estate, which afterwards proved fatal to it, might bring it in question. The Governor replied, "Well, I will ask you to come up again by and by, and we will put it in proper form." Being "given to procrastination" the Governor's "by and by" never came. He was "surprised by death before he had executed his intention to profit by the counsel" of Mr. Carter and now the world knows the result.

As to methods usually pursued in criticising wills before death: The first thing, of course, is to examine the will itself or a copy. The critic must then, by reading and re-reading the will, seek to fully comprehend the testator's plan. He must note (1) the property given, (2) to whom given, (3) the kind of gifts that are made. In connection with the property he must consider its character, whether real or personal, as well as a possible equitable conversion, its description and whether or not it is encumbered. He should also have in mind the character of the testator's business. If the testator has real estate the payment of liens thereon, if any, and the laws of the place where the land is situated must be considered. Special attention is also necessary in the case of community property, property held in joint tenancy or tenancy in common, property subject to appointment by deed or will and trust funds or property of other persons in testator's possession or standing in his name. Ante-nuptial agreements, when they exist, and the laws of certain jurisdiction carrying property rights into the marriage contract are also important factors for consideration.

In connection with the persons benefited by a will the testamentary critic should specially note the manner in which beneficiaries are designated or described in the will. If the gift is to one person the gift may lapse, if to two or more persons their ownership may be joint or in common and a lapse of the whole or a part may ensue depending very much on the words used to describe the donees, both as to identity and whether as a class, or as individuals in conjunction with the contingencies of marriage, birth, death, survivorship and the like. The critic must have in mind the legal right of a testator to will his property away from wife or children and what proportions he may give in charity; for in these respects there are important restrictions in many jurisdictions, particularly in foreign countries and some portions of the United States. Then, too, the special character of donees, such as gifts to debtors, creditors, corporations, aliens, etc., figure as important factors.

In connection with the character of gifts to be made, special attention should be directed to the distinction between legal and equitable estates, whether the thing itself is given or the use or income or what remains after a use. In other words, is the gift absolute or defeasible? Is the use for life or for a less period, as until the happening of some contingency, more or less remote? Is the gift exclusive or does it open and let in others? Does it carry with it a power of disposal, a power to apply principal or a power to appoint by will or deed? Is the gift general, specific, demonstrative, cumulative, substitutional or residuary? If the gift is not to take effect until the happenings of a future event innumerable questions at once arise involving the Rule Against Perpetuities—that great destroyer of wills.

Many questions are also presented touching after-born children, advancements, ademption, satisfaction, simultaneous death and the powers given to executors or trustees affecting the management and settlement of the estate.

As to rsults: Out of 50 wills recently submitted for examination, 19 were not subject to any important criticism. The remaining 31 were open to one or more of the following objections: Eight contained one or more doubtful or ambiguous expressions which in more or less remote contingencies might give trouble after death. Eight contained little or no adequate provision against lapse and in six out of the eight cases the possibility of lapse affected the residuary clauses. In five there was reason to doubt the validity of charitable gifts, and in at least two, certain charitable gifts were clearly void. In three the provisions, intended to appeal in case of death of the t stator and the legatee by some accident, failed to properly provide for the destination of property in case the legatee died immediately after the testator. In two the description of certain specific legacies were clearly inadequate. In one a certain number of corporate bonds were bequeathed, but whether they were $500 or $1,000 bonds owned by the testator did not appear. Post testamentary children were frequently not mentioned or entirely unprovided for in the will.

The provision most fruitful of criticism, however, and most serious in consequences, were those relating to trusts and future estates. Nine of the wills containing trust expressions were open to one of more of the following objections: In some it was doubtful whether or not a trust was intended. In others the trust purpose was indefinite or speculative. In others the trust term was not well defined, either by an express limitation or the duration of trust purpose. In several the trust term was limited directly or indirectly or an unlawful number of lives or on the lives of persons to be born after the death of the testator. In two of the sole beneficiary under the trust was made sole trustee and given a power to sell real estate, thus opening the door to creditors and an objectionable title. In two real estate was given in trust in jurisdiction where trusts are not permitted. In consequence of these criticisms many wills thus criticised have been redrawn or improved by codicil, but in other cases the testators, following the example of Governor Tilden, are awaiting for a "more convenient season."

CHILDREN'S ACCESSORIES.

One or two black bows upon the hair of a little fair-haired child give a distinguished finish to the white frock.

Black sailor hats of coarse or fine straw with long streamers are the newest for early spring.

Except for the very little boy or girl white stockings and shoes are unbecoming for street wear. Nothing can improve upon the old-fashioned black stockings and shoes.

Children's underwear cannot be too siniple for good taste. Embroidery is always in better taste than lace for any occasion.

The new French styles of underwear are attractively made with wide hems and trimmed with insertion, and hemstitched tucks, no ruffles or frills. The material used is batiste.

Sashes have been coming and going since the time of Louis XIV. and are here to stay a while, according to the dictates of extreme fashion. Soft silk cut the desirable width and fringed with silk to match, make beautiful soft bows. Boxes containing six sashes of various styles, colors and widths, are displayed in most of the shops.

The child who has a big bow sash must not wear a large bow on her head to be well dressed.

Very little boys, up to four years of age, look better without large sailor collars, and, of course, they have no use for neckties.

Most little tots look better without belts, especially with soft linen dresses that mass and wrinkle so quickly. Galatea is more serviceable than linen for morning dresses and "rompers."

CHAPTER XI.

Parley.

It was recalled one evening not long ago at the Wickiup that the affair with Sinclair had all taken place within a period of two years, and that practically all of the actors in the event had been together and in friendly relation on a Thanksgiving day at the Dunning ranch not so very long before the trouble began. Dicksie Dunning was away at school at the time, and Lance Dunning was celebrating with a riding and shooting fest and a barbecue.

The whole country had been invited. Bucks was in the mountains on an inspection trip, and Bill Dancing drove him with a party of railroad men over from Medicine Bend. The mountain men for 150 miles around were out. Gene and Bob Johnson, from Oroville and the Peace river, had come with their friends. From Williams Cache there was not only a big delegation—more of one than was really desirable—but it was led by old John Rebstock himself. When the invitation is general, lines cannot be too closely drawn. Not only was Lance Dunning something of a sport himself, but on the Long Range it is part of a stockman's creed to be on good terms with his neighbors. At a Thanksgiving day barbecue not even a mountain sheriff would ask questions, and Ed Banks, though present, respected the holiday truce. Cowboys rode that day in the roping contest who were from Mission creek and from Two Feather river.

Among the railroad people were George McCloud, Anderson, the assistant superintendent, Farrell Kennedy, chief of the special service, and his right-hand man, Bob Scott. In especial, Sinclair's presence at the barbecue was recalled. He had some cronies with him from among his up-country following, and was introducing his new bridge foreman, Karg, afterward known as Flat Nose, and George Seagrue, the Montana cowboy. Sinclair fraternized that day with the Williams Cache men, and it was remarked even then that though a railroad man he appeared somewhat outside the railroad circle. When the shooting matches were announced a brown-eyed railroad man was asked to enter. He had been out of the mountains for some time and was a comparative stranger in the gathering, but the Williams Cache men had not forgotten him; Rebstock, especially, wanted to see him shoot. While much of the time out of the mountains on railroad business, he was known to be closely in Bucks' counsels, and as to the mountains themselves, he was reputed to know them better than Bucks or Glover himself knew them. This was Whispering Smith; but, beyond a low-voiced greeting or an expression of surprise at meeting an old acquaintance, he avoided talk. When urged to shoot he resisted all persuasion and backed up his refusal by showing a bruise on his trigger finger. He declined even to act as judge in the contest, suggesting the sheriff, Ed Banks, for that office.

McCloud did not meet the host, Lance Dunning, that day nor since the day of the barbecue had Du Sang or Sinclair seen Whispering Smith until the night Du Sang spotted him near the wheel in the Three Horses. Du Sang at once drew out of his game and left the room. Sinclair in the meantime had undertaken a quarrelsome interview with Whispering Smith.

"I supposed you knew I was here," said Smith to him, amiably. "Of course I don't travel in a private car or carry a billboard on my back, but I haven't been hiding."

"The last time we talked," returned Sinclair, measuring words carefully, "you were going to stay out of the mountains."

"I should have been glad to, Murray. Affairs are in such shape on the division now that somebody had to come, so they sent for me."

The two men were sitting at a table. Whispering Smith was cutting and leisurely mixing a pack of cards.

"Well, so far as I'm concerned, I'm out of it," Sinclair went on after a pause, "but, however that may be, if you're back here looking for trouble there's no reason, I guess, why you can't find it."

"That's not it. I'm not here looking for trouble; I'm here to fix this thing up. What do you want?"

"Not a thing."

"I'm willing to do anything fair and right," declared Whispering Smith, raising his voice a little above the hum of the rooms.

"Fair and right is an old song."

"And a good one to sing in this country just now. I'll do anything I can to adjust any grievance, Murray. What do you want?"

Sinclair for a moment was silent, and his answer made plain his unwillingness to speak at all. "There never would have been a grievance if I'd been treated like a white man." His eyes burned sullenly. "I've been treated like a dog."

"That is not it."

"That is it," declared Sinclair, savagely, "and they'll find it's it."

"Murray, I want to say only this—only this to make things clear. Bucks feels that he's been treated worse than a dog."

"Then let him put me back where I belong."

"It's a little late for that, Murray; a little late," said Smith, gently. "Shouldn't you rather take good money and get off the division? Mind you, I say good money, Murray—and peace."

Sinclair answered without the slightest hesitation: "Not while that man McCloud is here."

"There are plenty of men in the mountains that don't need any."

"But let's start fair," urged Whispering Smith, softly. He leaned forward with one finger extended in confidence. "Don't let us have any misunderstanding on the start. Let McCloud alone. If he is killed—now I'm speaking fair and open and making no threats, but I know how it will come out—there will be nothing but killing here for six months. We will make just that memorandum on McCloud. Now about the main question. Every sensible man in the world wants something."

"I know men that have been going a long time without what they wanted."

Smith flushed and nodded. "You needn't have said that, but no matter. Every sensible man wants something, Murray. This is a big country. There's a World's Fair running somewhere all the time in it. Why not travel a little? What do you want?"

"I want my job, or I want a new superintendent here."

"Just exactly the two things, and, by heavens! the only two, I can't manage. Come once more and I'll meet you."

"No!" Sinclair rose to his feet. "No—damn your money! This is my home. The high country is my country; it's where my friends are."

"It's filled with your friends; I know that. But don't put your trust in your friends. They will stay by you, I know; but once in a long while there will be a false friend, Murray, one that will sell you—remember that."

"I stay."

Whispering Smith looked up in admiration. "I know you're game. It isn't necessary for me to say that to you. But think of the fight you are going into against this company. You can worry them; you've done it. But a bronco might as well try to buck a locomotive as for one man or six or 600 to win out in the way you are playing."

"I will look out for my friends; others—" Sinclair hitched his belt and paused, but Whispering Smith, cutting and running the cards, gave no heed. His eyes were fixed on the green cloth under his fingers. "Others—" repeated Sinclair.

"Others?" echoed Whispering Smith, good-naturedly.

"May look out for themselves."

"Of course, of course! Well, if this is the end of it, I'm sorry."

"You will be sorry if you mix in a quarrel that is none of yours."

"Why, Murray, I never had a quarrel with a man in my life."

"You are pretty smooth, but you can't drive me out of this country. I know how well you'd like to do it; and, take notice, there's one trail you can't cross even if you stay here. I suppose you understand that."

Smith felt his heart leap. He sat in his chair turning the pack slowly, but with only one hand now; the other hand was free. Sinclair eyed him sidewise. Smith moistened his lips and when he replied spoke slowly: "There is no need of dragging any allusion to her into it. For that matter, I told Bucks he should have sent any man but me. If I'm in the way, Sinclair, if my presence here is all that stands in the way, I'll go back and stay back as before, and send any one else you like or Bucks likes. Are you willing to say that I stand in the way of a settlement?"

Sinclair sat down and put his hands on the table. "No; your matter and mine is another affair. All I want between you and me is fair and right."

Whispering Smith's eyes were on the cards. "You've always had it."

"Then keep away from her."

"Don't tell me what to do."

"Then don't tell me."

"I'm not telling you. You will do as you please; so will I. I left here because Marion asked me to. I am here now because I have been sent here. It is in the course of my business. I have my living to earn and my friends to protect. Don't dictate to me, because it would be of no use."

"Well, you know now how to get into trouble."

"Every one knows that; few know how to keep out."

"You can't lay your finger on me at any turn of the road."

"Not if you behave yourself."

"And you can't bully me."

"Surely not. No hard feelings, Murray. I came for a friendly talk, and if it's all the same to you I'll watch this wheel awhile and then go over to the Wickiup. I leave first—that's understood, I hope—and if your pink-eyed friend is waiting outside tell him there is nothing doing, will you, Murray? Who is the albino, by the way? You don't know him? I think I do. Fort City, if I remember. Well, good-night, Murray."

It was after 12 o'clock and the room had filled up. Roulette balls were dropping, and above the faro table the extra lights were on. The dealers, fresh from supper, were putting things in order for the long trick.

At the Wickiup Whispering Smith found McCloud in the office signing letters. "I can do nothing with him," said Smith, drawing down a window-shade before he seated himself to detail his talk with Sinclair. "He wants a fight."

SCOTCH PLAINS DEFEATS BOUND BROOK, 3 TO 2

The Scotch Plains ball team defeated Bound Brook on the latter's grounds Saturday afternoon in one of the prettiest contests of this season, the score being three to two. "Warry" MacLaughlin, who was in the box for the 'Plains, had the Indian sign on Bound Brook and outclassed Langstaff, who pitched his first game of the season for the home team.

"Warry" allowed but four hits and fanned ten men which the 'Plains got busy with the willow and put out seven hits while seven fanned the air. Scotch Plains started the ball going in its half of the second by bringing one run across the rubber. In the fifth they got busy again and tucked two more away in their basket. This proved enough to win the game as Bound Brook was only able to gather one in the fourth and another in their half of the eighth.

Following is the line score by innings and line-up of the two teams:

'Plains—Baldwin, cf; Alberts, c; Brown, 3b; Allen, 1b; Frentz, 2b; Reick, lf; Dodge, ss; Planery, rf; MacLaughlin, p.

FITZ BETTER PUGILIST THAN A BALL UMPIRE.

Though there were no criticisms of Robert Fitzsimmons umpiring in the game Saturday, it is likely that the popular Lanky Bob will get his release from this line of sport.

The McKiernan A. C. of Newark, which was to have played, did not appear in time for the game, and a picked team from this city was pressed into service, rather than disappoint the fans who gathered to see the game, and incidentally to witness Fitz' umpiring skill. The Dunellenites won by the score of 5 to 3 in a slow game. Harney and Lidgate composed the Dunellen battery and both did satisfactory work.

At Proctor's.

Proctor's theatre will present an exceptionally fine array of vaudeville talent this week, a change being made on Thursday. George B. Alexander, "The man who helps to keep the world laughing," will be on hand, while the Anderson Marionettes who present a stage within a stage, are known wherever vaudeville is known for their unique performances. The motion pictures which are all new and novel will be changed every day.

LOSES PITCHERS' BATTLE

St. Mary's Beaten by Westfield in a Fine Exhibition.

TOMMY MULLEN MAKES GOOD.

Only One Error Made in Great Game on St. Mary's Oval Saturday.

Al Squires, pitching for St. Mary's, and Brewer, pitching for Westfield, came together in a twirlers' battle Saturday afternoon on St. Mary's Oval and St. Mary's lost by the score of 3-0. Squires' support failed him twice and each time Westfield scored, while Brewer received perfect support, not an error being made by his team. Al let them down with five hits and struck out nine. Brewer gave four hits and struck out thirteen, McAfee being the only player who could find him, getting three hits out of four times at the bat.

Squires should have been credited with a shutout, but in the second inning a misjudged fly, which went for a two base hit, followed by a single, gave Westfield a run, and in the sixth with a man on second base, Kiely, playing third, made a poor throw to first, which allowed the runner on second to score and the batter to go to third from where he scored later on a hit.

St. Mary's had two chances to score, but Brewer could not be hit. In the second inning, with men on second and third and none out, and again in the sixth, with a man on third and two gone, he retired the side by fanning the next batter.

Tommy Mullen's catching and coaching behind the bat for St. Marys was the feature of the game, Tommy supporting Squires in perfect style. Squires also figured in the fielding end of the game, making five assists and knocking down some hard drives.

LOCAL Y.M.C.A. DEFEATS BEDFORD AVE. BROOKLYN

The Y. M. C. A. baseball team easily defeated the Bedford Avenue Y. M. C. A. of Brooklyn Saturday afternoon by the score of 17 to 10. The locals held the lead from the start and at no stage of the game was the play exciting. By the third inning the locals had scored ten runs, giving them a lead of eight. A feature of the game was a home run by Peacock, and four two-base hits, one by Plympton, one by Foss and two by Stover. The game took an hour and forty minutes, and was one of the slowest that the locals have played this season. The visitors were simply outclassed and there was no necessity for brilliant play. ## KNICKERBOCKER TEAM EASILY BEATS QUAKERS

The ball team representing the New York terminal of the N. J. C. R. R. took a fall out of their rivals of the Philadelphia terminal in the City of Brotherly Love on Saturday and defeated them by the score of 9 to 2. The game was played on Tabor Field before a crowd numbering several hundred fans, both teams having their quota of rooters. The rivalry between these teams has been keen all during the season and every contest has had the aspect of a big league game.

The third inning witnessed the downfall of the Philadelphia clan and incidentally the air trip of pitcher Reilly. In this session the New Yorkers, with Pender as the opening wedge, started a batting rally which swept everything before it and brought a net result of seven runs across the pan.

Philadelphia scored one in the sixth and another in the seventh and at other times when a score threatened Weber tightened up and the danger was over.

The series of games between the two teams creates annually a great deal of interest which extends to the officers of the company. On Saturday two cars were attached to the 1:11 train from Jersey City in which the team and their wives and families were transported free to the scene of the struggle. F. T. Dickinson, assistant to Vice-President William G. Besler, made all the arrangements for the trip and gave his personal attention to the comfort of the party. Mr. Dickinson was represented at the game by Edward Conover, chairman of the Baseball Committee. The employes appreciate the courtesy extended to them by the company.

The New Chalmers Cars for 1910

No Increase in Price

Note the pictures. Our "30" has a 115-inch wheel base—with 34-inch wheels. A longer, higher hood to accord with a roomier tonneau. Lines like the costliest cars on the market.

Yet not a penny of additional price. The car still sells for $1500. Let us tell you how we have done it.

1,000 More Cars

Last season's output of "30's" was 2,500 cars, yet we ran 800 cars short of our orders. We were obliged to refuse trade to the extent of $1,200,000.

This year we have built a new factory, and our 1910 output of "30's" will be 3,500 cars. Those 1,000 extra cars will be made without adding a dollar to our fixed expense.

They will also be made with last year's tools and machinery. We have almost no new expense there. For mechanically, the car is not altered at all. Experience has shown us no way to improve it.

Thus we effect immense savings. And all of these savings have gone into the car—to make it more sightly, more roomy, more like the costliest cars.

Nine Per Cent Profit

Our profit this season will be the same as last season—exactly nine per cent.

Our customers have created these savings by calling for more of our cars. And every penny we save will be spent in giving them more beautiful cars. That is our permanent policy.

Please note the result. Note what a large and showy car—note the exquisite lines. Just think that $1500 now buys this amazing car.

Lower Prices

We will fit this $1500 car with a Bosch magneto, a Prest-O-Lite gas tank, and two Atwood-Castle gas lamps—all for $100 extra. The regular price of these extras is $175.

We will furnish our "30" with a Lenox mohair top for $75 extra. The regular price is $125.

We shall give you all the advantage of our quantity buying. So this 1910 model, fully equipped, costs you $135 less than did our 1909 model, equally equipped.

A longer, higher hood, roomier tonneau, longer wheel base, larger wheels and daintier lines. Yet the cost equipped is considerably less than the model of 1909.

No Records Like These

One of the Chalmers-Detroit "30's" has been run 32,000 miles, and has just completed a path-finding trip from Denver to Mexico City. Never has any car, at any price, made an equal endurance record.

Owners have paid us for repairs on their 1909 cars exactly $2.44 per car. That is a world's record.

On June 18th, a "30" won the Indiana Light Car Race, the greatest contest of its kind ever held in America, doing 232.74 miles at an average speed of 51.5 miles per hour.

On an economy test, made by the New York Auto Dealers' Association, it ran 25.7 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Never has a car at any price proved so satisfactory. Never did a car show such low cost for upkeep.

That is why we make no radical mechanical changes. Experience has proved that the 1909 "30" is absolutely right mechanically.

The Larger "Forty"

Our "Forty" for 1910 has 36-inch wheels. The wheel base is 122 inches—ten inches longer than last year. The car seats seven, while last season's seated five.

Upholstered in hand-buffed leather. Fitted with Bosch magneto, gas lamps and gas tank free.

Yet the price remains $2,750.

We will equip this car with a $150 Newport mohair top for $125 extra. The two extra seats will cost you but $75.

So this larger car, with larger wheels, when fully equipped, costs considerably less than last year.

This is our "Forty's" fifth season. It is known far and wide as the best medium-priced car on the market. It has been purchased by scores of the best experts in America for their personal use.

This season, with its extra room, there is not a car at any price which can reasonably claim to excel it.

Made as touring car, roadster and pony tonneau.

See These New Cars

Every Chalmers-Detroit dealer now has photographs of these new models. Demonstrating cars will be ready this month. Deliveries to users begin August 1st.

See them before you buy.

The tide of automobile demand is turning to these medium-priced cars. Not alone because of their prices, but mainly because of their savings on upkeep. The day of extravagance is past.

GOSPEL TENT SERVICE WAS A HELPFUL ONE

A large audience gathered in the Salvation Army tent last evening to hear the address made by Mrs. Isabella C. Davis, of this city, a prominent member of the order of The King's Daughters. There were also present several visiting Salvation Army officers, who gave brief addresses. The speaker took her subject from the first chapter of St. John's Gospel, Christ's words to his early disciples: "Follow Me," and the testimony given by John the Baptist, found in the same chapter: "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world."

Mrs. Davis spoke of the condition of the Judeans who gathered around the Jordan to hear the words of the Master not differing greatly from ours, as they carried the same burdens, cares and sins and the same call comes to us today, "Follow Me," bring with it the power to live a victorious life because of the power of "The Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." Her talk was well interspersed with illustrations and incidents from her own life and others. The address lasted about forty-five minutes and was considered by many the strongest address given in the tent so far.

A pleasing feature of the meeting was the rendering of several high class sacred selections on the talking machine, loaned for the occasion by H. V. Lough. Special meeting was announced for Tuesday evening to be conducted by Mrs Adjutant Straubel and visiting Salvation Army officers.

The prayer meetings at Hope chapel, beginning on Thursday, are to be under the direction of the ways and means committee. The Y. P. S. C. E., will supply leaders on August 12 and 26. Allen S. Snyder and Walter J. Firstbrook being the leaders on those evenings.

MORE ELIOT CRITICISMS

"New" Religion in the World 2,000 Years, Says Rev. Ora J. Shoop.

"SHELF OF BOOKS IS WEAK."

Local Student and Theologian, in Interview, Advances Original Ideas of Vital Interest.

"The prophecy of President-Emeritus Eliot of Harvard University regarding a new religion, I think, will not be taken any more seriously than the shelf of books he has recommended," said the Rev. Ora Jerome Shoop, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, to a Daily Press reporter yesterday morning. "But his position as an educator will give great weight and significance to anything he says. Dr. Eliot is not a young man, therefore we can not he can not be thought of as courting public attention, nor popular favor. His address must be regarded as his sincere and candid utterance—the utterance of an old man in dotage.

"At the conclusion of his address to the students at the Harvard Summer School of Theology, at Boston, he dons the mantle of a prophet and describes the new religion of the near future. Now what is that new religion coming in the near future? 'One based on the two great commandments, the love of God and the service of fellow men.' Verily that is new!!! Why that religion has been tugging away at this poor wayward world for these twenty centuries past, trying to make man and his condition better, and it has been measurably successful where it has been encouraged. That it has not succeeded better is not due to any defect in the religion, but to man himself. Our Saviour, Jesus Christ, ennunciated this teaching as the direct revelation of God. He lived it himself, and commanded his disciples to emulate this example. Dr. Eliot says, 'The new religion will not afford safety primarily to the individual; it will think first of the common good.' This is certainly diffuse and impersonal enough for anybody. Any high school boy knows that you cannot approach society except through the individual. A religion that cannot be caught and held by the individual; a religion that does not seize, transform and enrich the individual, is as worthless to society as the fog that betimes obscures the sun. Religion grows out of man's personal relation to his God. There is no other kind. He continues: 'And will not teach that character can be changed quickly, it will admit neither a sudden conversion in this world, nor a sudden paradise in the next.' To state it mildly, I am surprised at Dr. Eliot's ignorance regarding the transforming power of spiritual phenomena! Character, until it reaches a finality in development, is subject to radical changes either for good or bad. This is a truth of common observation too well known to need arguing.

"Regarding a sudden paradise in the next world Dr. Eliot pits himself over against the authority of Jesus Christ, whom the brainest men of the Christian centuries have called the world's greatest teacher. Jesus Christ said to the penitent thief on the cross: 'This day shalt thou be with me in paradise.'

"Dr. Eliot continues: 'In primitive times sacrifice was the root of religion.' That is true, and it is true also that sacrifice is a basic principle in all life—and the higher you ascend in the quality of life the more acute it becomes—even God himself does not escape.

"He is not so happy in his next statement: 'Even the Hebrew God was propiciated by human sacrifices. The Christian church has substituted burning of incense for that.' This assertion regarding human sacrifices on the part of the Hebrew people is an assumption without the slightest foundation in fact. Does Dr. Eliot know how many branches of the Christian church burn incense? He says: "It will not deal chiefly with sorrow and death but with joy and life. It will believe in no malignant powers, and it will attack quickly all forms of evil." But yet it is very true that sorrow and death are facts—stern, stubborn realities that we cannot disregard and no light handling of them by Dr. Eliot will change our attitude. Life is not merely a garden of flowers in a sunny June, but has also the bluster of March and the bleak of December. A religion that does not bring comfort and solace in sorrow, and that does not address itself directly, bringing to the sorrow-stricken heart the surprising consolations of God, that does not sympathize and breath a tender message of hope into the souls of the bereaved, such a religion is but a daydream.

LA BAW IS BROUGHT BACK

Former Plainfielder Wanted for Forgery is Caught in Los Angeles.

THERE ARE SIX INDICTMENTS.

After He Fled from New York, a Shortage of $6,000 Was Found By Employers.

Preston La Baw, a former resident of this city, is being held at police headquarters in New York city after having been brought from Los Angeles, Cal., by Detective Fitzsimmons of the headquarters staff. La Baw is held on a charge of forgery in the third degree, six indictments having been found against him on June 3.

La Baw disappeared about the first of March and upon examination of the books of the Rooney Electric Lamp Company in East Twenty-third street, New York, where he was employed as bookkeeper, a shortage of $6,000, it is alleged, was found. Detective Fitzsimmons was assigned to the task of finding the man and he finally located him at a seaside resort in the California city, where he was employed as an attendant in a bathing establishment.

According to the detective, La Baw has admitted his guilt and was glad to come East and have his term of imprisonment begin. He said in explaining his crime, that he had lost the money speculating in Wall street and had striven to hide his speculations by doctoring the books of his employers, but when he realized that discovery was near he fled.

La Baw has a wife and three children whose whereabouts at the present time are unknown in Plainfield. Seven years is the maximum sentence for forgery in the third degree in New York.

NEWSBOY IS BITTEN BY A FOX TERRIER

Attacked by a small fox terrier belonging to Charles Pagliuca, of Somerset street, Fred McLean, a twelve-year-old newsboy, was bitten in the calf of the right leg at Park and North avenue yesterday afternoon. The boy, who is the son of Harry A. McLean, of East Fourth street, had his leg attended to by two physicians, after the laceration was given "first aid" treatment at a nearby drug store. Today the limb is considerably swollen, but the boy is about with a cane.

The biting dog was at large on Park avenue, and according to the story told City Judge Runyon by Pagliuca, it had followed his wife, who was in the Taylor building when McLean was attacked. The dog owner said that since the ordinance about dogs running at large has been enforced, he has been careful to comply with it, and has kept his dog in the house. It was shut up there yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Pagliuca went out, but in some way got out and followed her. Patrolman Vanderweg, who saw the boy attacked, secured the dog and told Mrs. Pagliuca to take it home and tie it up, watching it carefully for symptoms of the rabies. The dog was seen about an hour afterwards in the streets, but Pagliuca told the court today that it had again broken loose and left the house. Pagliuca has agreed to see that McLean's doctor's bills are paid, and the dog, which is again at his home, has shown no signs of rabies. City Judge Runyon did not hold the dog owner.

MRS. WILLIAMSON'S WILL IS PROBATED

Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees filed the late Mrs. Emily E. Williamson's will with the Surrogate for probate yesterday. Mrs. Williamson left all of her estate, both real and personal, to her niece, Miss Emily Elizabeth Hornblower, of Elizabeth. She names as her sole executor former Governor Franklin Murphy. The total value of Mrs. Williamson's estate is not given in her will and will not be known until an inventory of it is made.

Mrs. Williamson's affairs are said to be very much involved, and it is reported that instead of leaving a large estate, there is very little left for the heir. Those who claim to be informed as to the condition of affairs say that there may be a deficit.

TOOK FOUR WRONG TRAINS

Borough Woman Stopped Two Flyers in Trip Home from Asbury Park.

PUT OFF AT SIX PLACES.

Joseph Moon Telegraphed to Meet His Wife in Philadelphia Finds Her Asleep.

Mrs. Joseph Moon, of 44 Grandview avenue, has had the remarkable experience of getting on four wrong trains, stopping two flyers on their way and going to six different places all in the same evening in an effort to get from Asbury Park to Plainfield.

She spent Thursday at the shore on a local excursion and in the evening went to the depot with the other excursionists from this city and borough. When a train pulled in she immediately boarded it so as to be sure of a seat. The train started soon after, and appeared to her to be going in the wrong direction. Looking around she found that there were no Plainfield people on the train. The conductor was called and he informed her that the train was an express going in the opposite direction to Plainfield. Though it was not scheduled to stop he was prevailed upon to signal the engineer to stop at the nearest station which happened to be Sea Girt.

From here she meant to go back to Asbury Park to get on the excursion train, but this train did not stop until it got to Elizabethport. At Elizabethport she asked the conductor if the train standing on the track was bound for Plainfield. He either misunderstood her, or she misunderstood him, for when he called out, "All aboard," she got on. Instead of going to Plainfield, she was bound for Newark, where she had to go. Here she was so hopelessly confused that she decided to board the next train from the Newark depot, which happened to be one bound for Philadelphia. But before doing so she sent a telegram to her husband in this city to meet her in the Quaker City.

On the way to Philadelphia she told the conductor of her experience. As the train passed through this city and happened to be one of the flyers that stop to let off passengers, she stopped the train at the local depot. Once in Plainfield she went home directly, completely forgetting her husband and the telegram that she had sent.

Mr. Moon meanwhile was preparing to go to Philadelphia to meet his wife as the telegram had asked him to do. Before doing so he decided to go home to pack a dress suit case so that he might stay a few days in that city if necessary, presuming that some misfortune had befallen his wife in accounting for the fact that she had been taken there. He went upstairs. Snores issuing from his wife's room attracted his attention. Entering, he found her fast asleep.

COMPLAINT AGAINST MOTORISTS DISMISSED

William Bird, of East Front street, this city, and William Westcott, of 68 Thomas street, Newark, were before City Judge Runyon this morning on warrants sworn out by Chi f of Police Kiely. Both men figured in an accident at the corner of Richmond street and South avenue on July 13, in which Westcott sustained slight injuries and Charles Davis, who was riding a wheel and was mixed up in the accident, was somewhat bruised.

At the time of the accident Westcott was driving a new Buick car, and was allowing it to decend the hill under its own momentum. Just as he neared the bottom of the hill, Bird drove across the street in his automobile, while Davis was riding on his wheel along South avenue. Davis was crowded up to the curb and thrown. Westcott's machine was damaged, but beyond the bruises suffered by himself none of the occupants of either car was injured.

This morning after hearing both sides of the story and the evidence of Davis, who would not make a complaint, Judge Runyon decided that the accident was unavoidable and the case was dismissed.

Party at the Y. W. C. A.

There will be a frolic in the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium Thursday evening, July 29, to which all girls are cordially invited. ## EXTRADITE BLACKHANDER

Asst. Prosecutor Hetfield Gets Writ at Albany for an Italian.

WANTED IN UNION COUNTY.

Scaglione Robbed House of Fellow Countryman at Kenilworth in May.

Assistant County Prosecutor Walter L. H tfield, Jr., yesterday made a successful plea before Judge Joyce, at Albany, N. Y., for the extradition of Feliciano Scaglione, an alleged blackhander, wanted in Union county for a robbery at Kenilworth. The prisoner is now in the Tombs, in New York, and will be brought to Elizabeth on Thursday.

According to the prosectuor's office, Scaglione robbed the house of Salvatore Priff, of Kenilworth, on May 12. Priff was a witnes for the State in a murder trial in the Union county court in the preceding December. Representing himself as a contractor, Scaglione, who came from Brooklyn, engaged board at Priff's on May 11, and the following day looted the place, taking several watches, some jewelry and many articles of value. The State will make an effort to send Scaglione to prison by proving that the robbery was a blackhand deed.

Mr. Hetfield, who was accompanied by Detective Galatian, was armed only with a warrant, no indictment having yet been returned against Scaglione, but Judge Joyce nevertheless granted the request for extradition papers.

"THE GAY HUSSARS" AT THEATRE TONIGHT

Henry W. Savage will offer for the first time on any stage at the New Plainfield theatre tonight the new Austrian military opereta, "The Gay Hussars," called in the original German "Ein Herbstmanoever," which will be his first big New York production of the coming theatrical season. Its performance here will be in the nature of a tryout preparatory to a long engagement at the Knickerbocker on Broadway tomorrow night. The entire production with the scenery, costumes, electrical effects, orchestra, Hungarian band, and ensemble of more than one hundred people will be brought to Plainfield by special train for this performance and Mr. Savage himself will be present to give it a final inspection before offering it to the New York public. Everything is as complete, however, as money and brains can make it. The company has been in rehearsal for weeks and the scenery and effects were manufactured in Mr. Savage's own New York studios. "The Gay Hussars," it is confidently expected, will become in America as it is in Europe, the legitimate successor of the "Merry Widow."

It was first produced in Vienna last December in the same theatre where the "Merry Widow" had its long run and it is still attracting such large audiences there that in order to see it seats must be secured weeks in advance. All Austria seems to have gone mad over the new creation and Americans traveling abroad who have come home during the last two months have sung its praises. The cast which Mr. Savage has secured includes Anna Bussert, Bobby North, Muriel Terry, W. H. Denny, Ilon Bergere, and Alonzo Price.

HEBREWS OBSERVE SADDEST HOLIDAY

The saddest holiday in the Hebrew calendar is being observed by all the orthodox Hebrews of this city. The holiday is known as Tisha b'Ab, and began yesterday at sunset and will continue until the same time today. Services will be held in the local synagogue, and, unlike every other holiday or Sabbath, the worshippers will not don the palith in the morning services, but will wear it in the evening.

The holiday marks the anniversary of the three saddest events in the history of the Israelites. The first and second temples at Jerusalem were destroyed on this date, and upon this same day all the Hebrews were expelled from Spain.

—There is nothing better to start the day with than some delicious Georgia peaches for your breakfast. And to end the day with some vegetables for dinner. Neuman Brothers have them.

As an owner of horses he won great renown with his thoroughbred hunters and pacers;

His teams were the envy of all of the town and so were his jumpers and racers.

But soon he grew weary of taking the dust left behind by the speeders unfeeling.

So he gave up his horses in greatest disgust, and now he goes automobiling.

NOW KEEP TO THE RIGHT

And Be Sure and See That Vehicle Has Lights at Night, or

THERE WILL BE TROUBLE.

If You Don't Believe It Just Read What the Mayor Hath Decreed.

It is an assured fact that the Vehicle law, which was passed by the Legislature and signed by Governor Fort on July 4, is to be enforced in this city. Careless drivers, who neglect to keep to the right of the road or street in which they are driving, will be held responsible for accidents that may occur because of their negligence.

The committee of the Plainfield Automobile club met with Mayor Fisk at his office last night, and discussed the matter in its various phases, and will do all in their power to see that the traffic regulations are carried out in so far as they and their cars are concerned.

All vehicles must face the right hand, and at night they must show lights that will be visible both front and rear. This of course includes horse-drawn vehicles as well as motor cars of all descriptions. The law may be a hardship to the lovelorn swains who delight to ride out in the dark byways and hang the reins over the dashboard or wind them around the whip and give themselves up to osculatory amusement, but it will be safer for these young people to allow their presence to be known than to run the risk of being run down by a swift moving motor car and, besides, the spooners would be liable under the law for any damage done in such circumstances.

The matter of keeping to the right of the road has been disregarded to a large extent everywhere and it is the Mayor's desire that all drivers of automobiles, as well as others, observe the regulations which are intended for their own benefit. The owners of vehicles who persist in driving at night without lights will be held responsible for any damages resulting from collisions due to absence of lights on their wagons or machines. The law applies to bicycles and motor cycles as well as to other vehicles.

MISS VAN ARSDALE NOW MRS. W. I. HAND.

Miss Carrie Emma Van Arsdale, of 262 Somerset street, and Walter Irwin Hand, of 433 Orchard place, were quietly married at the parsonage of the Grace M. E. church by the Rev. Ora J. Shoop last evening.

Owing to a recent death in the family the wedding was very quiet and witnessed only by Charles W. Harder, a brother-in-law of the bride and Jay Van Arsdale, a brother of the bride.

THE UNSPOKEN FAREWELL

Former Mayor Smalley's Daughter, Elizabeth, Heroine in This "Tragedy."

FOR THE MOVING PICTURES.

Muhlenberg Hospital Ambulance is "Rushed" To Scene of "Terrible Accident."

Miss Elizabeth Smalley, the fourteen year old daughter of former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, with her pony, took the part of a young heroine in summoning the ambulance in the acting of a realistic tragedy for a moving picture concern, at the Smalley stone crusher between twelve and two o'clock this afternoon. A part of the drama required a gigantic blast, and this was furnished by inserting a big charge of dynamite in the side of the mountain. The blast tore down a large section of rock, silt and trees that were on the mountain side. For fully an hour after the blast the stones continued falling.

The Muhlenberg hospital ambulance was pressed into service as a part of the drama, and a party of Plainfielders and boroughites took the part of the "excited crowd." Among the latter were Chiefs Kiely and Weiss of the city and borough police, Alexander Milne, Newton and David Smalley, Morris Van Arsdale, Howard Woolston, professional actors and actresses, and newspaper men.

"The Unspoken Farewell," is the subject of the drama, of which several scenes were acted on the local mountains today. A miner has a tiff with his wife and leaves her without saying good bye. A friend who looks exactly like him takes his coat. This friend goes in the mine to ignite the fuse, and in rushing away, falls and is buried beneath a pile of rocks from the blast. This part of the drama was acted out. Mr. Smalley's Italian laborers were gathered about the mouth of the cave where the dynamite charge was put in, and the moving picture machine was started. The signal was given to run. Three attempts were necessary before they did it in realistic style; for they either laughed or did not do it in a natural way. A professional actor took the part of the character that fell. Then the machine was stopped and a dummy was substituted for him, in identically the same place and in exactly the same posture. The next scene was the blast.

The crowd was cleared back to the ridge of the hill when the fifteen minute fuse was ignited. In exactly eight minutes the heavy muffled explosion took place and tons of rock and dirt and trees tumbled down with a roaring crash. Smoke from the charge added to the beauty of the cataract of stone. The onrush of the falling rocks brushed the dummy aside and it was found to one side buried beneath a few smaller ones. Then the moving picture machine was stopped.

The crowd was then gathered together, visitors, actors and everybody present were pressed into service to help swell the crowd. On the word of signal they rushed forward with arms in the air, and acting as much like an excited crowd as possible. Two trials had to be made before this was successful. Then Miss Smalley played her part as heroine. She was summoned by her father, came riding forward on her pony and was dispatched to get an ambulance. Then the Muhlenberg hospital ambulance with James Van Sickle driving, rushed on the scene. By this time, though, a professional actor had taken the place of the dummy, and he was assisted into the ambulance.

The rest of the drama consists in the identification of the dead man as being other than the one it is supposed to be, by the miner's daughter. Several pathetic scenes showing the anguish of the wife, and the children are worked out in the studio, before the miner finally meets his wife, when both agree to begin life anew and live peacefully. This part of the drama was acted entirely by professionals and the greater part of it was done in a studio. The films, when finished, will be produced in Proctor's theatre.

Boy Drowned While Bathing.

Harry Burke, fifteen years old, was drowned yesterday at Paterson while bathing in the Passaic Falls basin. His companions were not aware of his disappearance until they started to go home and saw Harry's clothing on the rocks. The body was recovered two hours later.

New Jersey's Greatest Mail Order Organization.

We are justly proud of our mail order system. We feel that it is one of the strongest links in the chain of this great store's success. We want you to use it—test it thoroughly and allow us to demonstrate its many splendid advantages. The Bamberger mail order system is not the result of a day, but the culmination of years of painstaking effort. In fact, this branch of our business is so perfectly organized that you may shop as quickly by mail as in person. There are no delays—no errors—satisfaction is snugly packed with each parcel we send out. If you are not a patron (which is highly improbable) send in a trial order and you'll quickly realize the truth of the foregoing statements.

EXCELLENT SPORT AT WESTFIELD RACE MEET

The trotting races held under the auspices of the Westfield Driving and Riding Club over the Fair Acre racing track, Westfield, on Saturday afternoon were witnessed by a large crowd. There were four events on the program.

Lady Sidenut, owned by C. B. Smith, of Westfield, captured the honors in the 2.30 trot for the Irving Cup. She won in three straight heats, with 2.38 as her best time. Queen, owned by W. R. French, was second, and Ithyre, owned by Clarence B. Smith, third.

The Minister, Giles Lincoln's trotter, won the 2.25 trot for the Egel Cup, in three straight heats. The best time was 2.29. Fred V was second, and Handsome Bill, third.

The free-for-all trot for the Hutchings Cup was the best race on the program. Aron B, owned by A. C. Blair, of this city, won all three heats after a hard race with Powder Roy, who finished second. Jim Deck, owned by S. F. Taylor, of Rahway, was third. The best time was 2.22.

The three-minute race for roadsters, in which ribbons were awarded, furnished some interesting sport. There were but three contestants in this event, the owners holding the reins in all cases. C. W. Sorter's Prince Virginia was first; Persist, owned by A. Lawrence, of this city, was second, and Prince B, owned by Dr. H. H. Butler, was third. The best time was 3.02.

ONE MORE VICTORY FOR WHITEHOUSE BALL TEAM.

The Whitehouse Station A. A. baseball team won its third straight game at Whitehouse Park on Saturday afternoon, when it defeated the strong Clinton nine by a score of 5 to 3. The contest was one of the most exciting played this season, and was witnessed by a record crowd. The home team sewed the game up in the third inning, when it sent four runners over the pan on as many safe drives, a sacrifice and some wild throws. Heck, Miller, McMahon and Updegrove were the men to register. After that the locals were unable to break through Hampton's defense.

"Smiling Jimmie" Montross was at his best, and had he been given errorless support, he would have shut out the visitors. Montross fanned seven and gave two bases on balls. The first free ticket resulted in a run in the second inning, and in the sixth chapter with the sacks all populated and only one out, Montross made his other gift and Braselman was forced over the plate.

Otherwise, Montross was most effective and pitched masterly ball. Hampton, the mute, who twirled for Clinton, was also in fine form, and but for his ascension in the third chapter, when he was hit at will by the home team, there might have been a different tale to tell. He fanned four and passed none.

This was the second game of the series with Clinton. Both contests were won by Whitehouse. The next game between the teams will be played in Clinton on August 21. The score:

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Whitehouse | 0 | 1 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | * | —5 |
| Clinton | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —3 |

Batteries—Montross and Frech; Hampton and Linke.

CARRIED HER CASH IN A SAFE PLACE

The first recorded, well-authenticated and undoubted instance in years of a patient at the Elizabeth General Hospital paying in advance on account is being contemplated with complacent satisfaction by the hospital authorities.

Strange to say, the patient, Miss Celia McGuire, of Mulberry street, Newark, was as much surprised when she left the institution to find that any money was credited to her account as the hospital was to receive the payment.

The story is this. Miss McGuire was found in more or less distressed circumstances at the Staten Island ferry, Elizabethport, Friday night by the police, who took her under their benevolent wing. It was decided that her condition warranted medical treatment and she was taken to the hospital.

At that institution the doctor decided upon the stomach pump as the most effective and prompt mode of relief for Miss McGuire. After its application three one-dollar bills were found in it. The amount was credited to Miss McGuire's account, with thanks.

When Miss McGuire was told the inside facts about her financial status, she is said to have remarked: "I didn't know it was in me."

When Miss McGuire was taken to the Police Court the next morning she told a hard luck story about having been robbed of all her money before she got to the hospital, and Judge Mahon allowed her to go her way.

MORE ELIOT CRITICISMS

"The true (not the new) religion comprehends both joy and sorrow, both life and death. To be candid and fair, Dr. Eliot should have been more specific in defining his meaning of 'malignant powers;' his inuendo is to say the least ungenerous. The Christian church harbors no malignant powers. But if he means by malignant powers what we call evil personified—the devil, the source of all evil and wickedness, then it is safe to leave him to any man of ordinary powers of observation to deal with him.

"Such a religion as Dr. Eliot recommends is not very likely to wage a very strenuous warfare against all forms of evil, as he says it will. Such a religion as he describes and as is implied from what he says, will be but a broken lance, unserviceable, even an impedement.

"Referring to the various cults, he says: 'The mass of the people will stay by the church.' Yes, you can depend upon the people to do the right thing. As a general thing people do not follow a mirage, nor an impractical dreamer, but want solid ground for their feet and clear thinking for their mind.

"We shall not stray nor be led off by every wind of doubt if we keep close to the truth expressed by Browning: 'I say, the acknowledgment of God in Christ accepted by the reason solves for three all questions in the earth and out of it.'"

At Proctor's.

Gertrude Dudley and Company in the singing sketch, "A Rehearsal," is productive of a few good laughs and some really fine music. Miss Dudley possesses a flexible lyric soprano voice of much sweetness and power, delightful to hear. The Chameroys in their acrobatic stunts meet the demand for novelty in this line and Marshall fulfills the contract he makes to keep one laughing all the time. The moving pictures are all that could be desired.

TO VIEW EAST ORANGE PLAYGROUND TOMORROW

Mayor Charles J. Fisk, accompanied by a party of other city officials, ministers and newspapermen, will go to East Orange tomorrow afternoon to inspect the large playground. The party will include Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, who has shown considerable interest in the plan to establish playgrounds here, and others who have been identified with the playground movement. The start will be made from the Mayor's office at 3 o'clock.

The park maintained by the city of East Orange is the result of an experiment in the playground agitation. It comprises a tract of about five acres, situated almost directly opposite the Grove street station, which was formerly swamp land. When the playground agitation was started in East Orange, the land, which although it is adjacent to a fine residential section, was unimproved, and was purchased by a company formed for the purpose. The fact that it was low land made it possible for the promoters to buy it in at a moderate figure.

This particular playground today, is considered a model. It contains a baseball diamond, a football field, a cinder track, (four laps to the mile), four tennis courts, and an open-air gymnasium. There is a large, well constructed grandstand, with dressing rooms and shower baths beneath.

At one side of the park is located the caretaker's house, where there is a sun parlor for young children. The caretaker is paid by the city, and a young woman teacher has been secured this season to supervisce the girls' games.

FED LIVE RABBIT TO BULLDOG.

Paterson Man Says He Didn't Mean to Do It, but Grand Jury Has Case.

"Is it a crime to feed to a hungry bulldog a live, white, tame rabbit that cost 75 cents in the open market, when said rabbit is the property of another? This question will come before the Passaic county courts, and, as a preliminary, Justice Abe Cohen at Paterson has accepted a charge of larceny against Joseph Brownwart, a baker, of that city, but the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will be asked to take a hand in the prosecution.

The complaining witness is Theodore Brookbacher. The latter invited his friend, Brownwart, to join him in having "a drink on the rabbit" before he took it home. This, according to Brookbacher, is what happened:

"I left the rabbit in charge of Brownwart while I talked to a talked to a friend who had called me one side. I heard a racket in the rear of the saloon, and I reached there in time to see the rear part of the rabbit disappeared down the bulldog's throat."

Brownwart explained that he took the rabbit to the rear of the saloon to "give the bulldog a look," but the dog pounced on it and devoured it before he could interfere.

The case will come before the next grand jury.

WAR ON ENGLISH SPARROWS.

League Formed in Moorestown Which Aims to Destroy the Birds.

With the object of destroying the English sparrows an Anti-Sparrow Civic League has been formed at Moorestown. Although the sparrow is such a general pest in all parts of the United States, the people of Moorestown think that if they make an earnest effort toward ridding the town of the birds other places may follow suit, and ultimately some genuine progress may be made by the adoption of the idea throughout the country. Traps with which to catch the birds are to be imported from England, and the assistance of the youth of the town is being enlisted. Prizes will be given for tearing down nests, breaking eggs, and destroying the young.

BOY RUNAWAY WRITES BACK.

Assures Mother He's a Good Boy—He Gave Her the Slip at Coney.

Jacob Tamaroff, aged 11, of New Brunswick, went to Coney Island with his mother yesterday, but gave her the slip after they boarded the boat to come home and went back to the island.

Mrs. Tamaroff didn't know but he had fallen overboard, and passed an anxious night after, notifying the police. This morning she received a postal card, with a gaudy Coney Island picture on one side, which read:

"Dear mother, from your friend. I am a good boy. Jake Tamaroff."

The police are looking Jakie up. His mother promises that he will be even a better boy after she has had an interview with him.

Drops Dead at Atlantic City.

A. W. Curry, a visitor at Atlantic City, dropped dead on the beach at noon yesterday. He was seen to stagger and fall, and a number of persons hastened to his aid. A physician who was summoned pronounced him dead. His name was learned from his bathhouse tag, but his address is not yet known.

WHEN THE WATER GTES WARM.

Probably it was the Boy who first made you aware of the imminence of "warm weather." Boys seem some how to receive advance bulletins of such things, writes Ernest Russell, in Recreation.

It is as if they had wireless communication with old Dame Nature that is utterly beyond our duller faculties. At any rate, it wasn't very long ago that you came home, "late as usual," to find the family at the evening meal. After your perfunctory apologies had been duly delivered it was the Boy who suddenly observed, "Say, Dad, when you were a boy, when did your dad let you go in swimming?"

You cast a single suspicious glance at the lad's hair to assure yourself that previou mandate remained unviolated, ascended the parental platform, and delivered the time-honored fiction, "Well, son, it was 'when the water gets warm' in my day. Father used to fix the date for me—about the tenth of June, if I remember correctly. It's never really warm before that, you know."

The boys eyes were on his plate as he rejoined, "It's different this year, dad. Tomorrow's the first of June 'n' all the fellers have been in. Fatty Eaton went in—all over—more'n a week ago, over to Carroll's pond. He said 'twas warm as toast. Can't I go tomorrow, dad, with the rest of the fellers?" Of course the memories of boyhood were too much for you, the barrier of authority was lowered, and another jubilant sould had entered the gates of a boy's paradise.

Perhaps it was the boy's declaration, or it may have been that other and more potent influences awakened your subconscious self to the opportunities about you, but, in any event, it was not long there a fter that you found it incumbent upon you to go down to the lake after working hours and pull out the old canoe, patch her up a bit here and there, and overhaul her modest fittings. It means different things to different people—this season when the water gets warm—but one thing it means to all of us, it means getting into touch with nature in her most attractive mood. It means "Vacation!"

GENEALOGY OF HONEYMAN

A. VanDoren Honeyman Compiles the Comprehensive Family Records.

A HISTORY AND BIOGRAPHY.

Plainfielder Gathers His Material in This Country and Abroad and Presents an Interesting Volume.

A conspicuous example of the genealogical work, including both history and biography, is "The Honeyman Family (Honeyman, Honyman, Hunneman, etc.) in Scotland and America, 4548-1908." The author is A. Van Doren Honeyman, of this city. The book, which has a special interest for Jerseymen, is one of the most comprehensive of its kind, and represents, in its various sections, a remarkable amount of painstaking research, prosecuted in this country and abroad.

Part I. of the volume is "Historical and Biographical." The second part is devoted to genealogy, its chapters being as follows: "Line of Bishop Honeyman," "Some Miscellaneous Scotch Lines," "Line of Samuel Honeyman, of England;" "Line of John Honeyman, 'the Spy of Washington;'" "Line of Charles Honeyman, of West Virginia;" "Line of Nicholas Hunneman, of Boston," and "Line of Sarah Honeyman (Yeater), of Kentucky and Missouri." In the chapter on John Honeyman, there is given a full list of his descendants in New Jersey and elsewhere. A valuable section is Part III., "Gatherings from Scotch Records." Among the many subjects treated in the appendices, Part IV., are "John Honeyman, the 'Spy,'" and "Line of the Drs. Hedges, of Chester, N. J." The book is amply and interestingly illustrated.

Mr. Honeyman says that "We all belong to Fife" is a phrase long used by the Honeyman clan. He continues: "It appears to be true. With few exceptions, the author has not discovered anywhere a Honeyman, or Honyman, who did not trace his ancestry, by knowledge or tradition, back to that one rich, historic ground midway between Falkland Palace, the ancient stronghold of the MacDuffs and the favorite residence of King James VI., and that most venerable of Scotch institutions, St. Andrew's University." "Genetally speaking," he remarks, "the early Honeymans in Scotland, including those who came to America in the eighteenth century and also their descendants, have possessed certain family characteristics. One is tallness of stature. Another is a high forehead. A decidedly distinguishable feature, so often recognized among the Honeymans everywhere is the 'cowlick.'"

Mr. Honeyman's historical biographical review of the family is very readable. An experienced traveler and one who knows how to report his travels, he works up his present material in an engaging style. There is a chapter, especially worthy of note, relating to the career of Andrew Honeyman (circa 1619-1676), lord bishop of Orkney and Zetland. Many other distinguished persons on either side of the Atlantic figure in the narrative.

A chapter in Part I., for which the author deserves special praise, is on John Honeyman, Washington's spy. The largest family in America with the Honeyman name "belongs to the branch of which John Honeyman, known in history as 'the spy of Washington,' was the progenitor." This branch, says Mr. Honeyman, "includes all the Honeymans now resident in New Jersey and nearly all who have ever resided in this State." Some of John Honeyman's descendants are in New York State, and some are scattered throughout the West.

John Honeyman was born about 1729. The place of his birth is stated to be Armagh, Ireland, but this is not definitely determined. Inasmuch as a sketch of him, in connection with a reference to Mr. Honeyman's book, has recently appeared a brief quotation from the book will suffice. Mr. Honeyman says speaking of John Honeyman's setting in Griggstown, this State, about the time of the beginning of the Revolution: "Whether he went there for the express purpose of assisting Washington in securing and furnishing information concerning the British army, which had invaded New Jersey, cannot be told, but such is the conjecture. Being a man of great courage, he certainly carried out with Scotch tenacity the difficult role, that of a spy, and his knowledge of camp life and of military movements must have stood him in good stead." After the war, Honeyman moved to Somerset County, buying a large farm in Bedminster township, near Vliettown, on the road to Peapack. Here he lived for many years, his death taking place August 18, 1822. He passed away "without leaving behind him, so far as anything was recorded from his own lips, the secret of his most interesting and romantic career."

Incorporated in the chapter is the article, "An Unwritten Account of the Spy of Washington," by the late Judge Van Dyke, a grandson of Honeyman's, and originally published in Our Home, October, 1873. This account, with which every student of Revolutionary history should be familiar, has accompanying comment of much value.

TRANSFER THE INSANE.

Patients Moved in Vans to the Asylum at Overbrook.

One of the big party of insane patients who were transferred from the county asylum in South Orange to the new Overbrook Hospital for the Insane wept yesterday as he was leaving for the new institution. The insane man said he wept because he was leaving his old home. There was no such display of sentiment among the other 105 patients, all were men, who were taken to the new asylum yesterday. All were eager to go to Overbrook, as the attendant had told them the new asylum was a palace, where they would have every wish gratified.

The task of removing the patients was begun early. Five huge vans carried the party on the long journey from the old asylum through this town to the mammoth institution at Overbrook. The transfer was made without disorder, for the patients who were removed yesterday were all of the milder class of insane except one man, who was handcuffed to a keeper. The trip to Overbrook was made without accident, and the new arrivals are comfortably enconsed in the big asylum. The seven hundred patients remaining in the South Orange asylum will be gradually transferred.

The new asylum at Overbrook is already occupied by about five hundred insane men and women. It is one of the best appointed institutions of the kind in the United States.

Its length over all is 607 feet; beam, 58 feet; depth, 32 feet, and it contains thirsix hatches. Nordica's Favorite Song.

Which are the songs I most enjoy singing? How shall I name them? They are so numerous! Yet I suppose some must stand out more pleasantly in the memory than others. There is "Caro Mio Ben," for example, which has for me very many pleasant associations. It is a favorite also with the friends who come to hear me sing—my audience—and perhaps that is another reason why I like it. I am very fond of Italian sons—how well the Italian composers suited their compositions to the concert-room—and among them I may select "Caro Mio Ben" as occupying a very warm corner in my heart.—Lillian Nordica in the July Strand.

HEN DIGS UP $11,000 JEWELS.

Burglars' Loot Disclosed Through Her Industrious Scratching.

The return of nearly $11,000 worth of jewelry which was taken last April from his home in Lakewood is the cause of great rejoicing in the part of William M. Skinner. The whole lot was found by Charles Goldstein yesterday morning under the front porch of Skinner's residence.

The scratching of an industrious hen under the porch disclosed the jewels. In the process of scratching a piece of jewelry was turned up, and the attention of Goldstein was attracted to the spot. His investigations were well rewarded, for the entire lot taken in April soon was brought forth from the ground. Goldstein returned it to the owner.

It is thought the thief was afraid to attempt the sale of the jewelry for fear of apprehension, and hid the loot under the Skinner porch.

BOYS DROWNED COMPANION.

Confession Follows Recovery of Body from Raritan Canal.

The body of James Cryne, six years old, who had been missing from his home since July 16, was found yesterday at Trenton in the Delaware and Raritan Canal at a spot where a clairvoyant predicted it would be recovered.

Walter Henderson, twelve years old, confessed today that Cryne's companions threw him into the water and allowed him to drown without calling aid. They wanted him to swim, and he struggled until he drowned.

McLaughlin Dies of Wounds.

Charles McLaughlin died in St. Peter's Hospital Sunday night from the effects of two bullet wounds at New Brunswick inflicted on Saturday, July 10. Robert Allen was immediately arrested on a charge of murder. Mr. McLaughlin was sitting in his office on the day of the shooting, talking with John Richardson, when Allen appeared at the doorway and, it is alleged, after making inquiry about a team of horses, over which they had a dispute, pulled a revolver and shot twice at McLaughlin.

To Taper the Fingers.

Most women in trying to make their fingers more tapering will stroke them from the base to the tip. A well known manicure has said that the process should be reversed. Clasp the tip of each finger between the thumb and first finger of opposite hand, and stroke firmly but gently backward from the tip, as when working on a glove.

STEPHENSON SHOP WILL BE REOPENED

According to an announcement made yesterday by Louis A. Kling, superintendent of the John Stephenson Company's car building plant in Linden township, the factory will reopen early in August. The plant has not been running since December 1. The resumption of work has been made possible by the receipt of a large order for street cars.

Mr. Kling said that when the plant reopens next week only about one-third of the normal force will be required and that former employes will be given preference in all instances. After the plant is opened, however, it is expected that it will remain in operation indefinitely and that the force will be steadily increased until a capacity force is at work, although this may not be brought about for some time.

The resumption of work at the plant means employment for about 200 mechanics. When in full operation the plant employs about half a thousand men.

For the first time in three weeks the wheels in the Singer plant were started yesterday morning. Nearly all of the 8,000 employes resumed work. It is said that a number of mechanics obtained work elsewhere during the long shutdown. The number of employes who did not answer the whistle's call yesterday morning is said to be insignificant.

TAKES SNOOZE IN BAYONNE MORGUE.

Hugh Toy, of Broadway, near West Thirty-sixth street, Bayonne, got slightly mixed yesterday afternoon and wandered into the morgue at Guy's undertaking establishment.

One of the employes, seeing the man lying on a slab with his hands folded across his breast, and knowing there had been no call during the day for the wagon, became alarmed and notified the undertaker.

"There is no one in the morgue unless a dead man walked there," declared Mr. Guy over the telephone. "Better look again and see that you are not mistaken."

The employe, however, was afraid to continue his investigation, so Patrolman Katcher was called.

"The man is only asleep," Katcher declared, and gave Toy several welts on the soles of his shoes with a nightstick. Toy awoke. He said he had taken one glass of beer too much.

NOW MINUS FOUR RIBS.

Roselle Park Man Has it on Adam by Three.

Thompson Brown, a well known resident of Roselle Park, who was removed to the Overlook Hospital, in Summit, several weeks ago, where he underwent a serious operation, is on the road to recovery. Brown, who is twenty-six years old, is a son of Justice of the Peace Brown, of the Aldene section.

This is the third time in five years that Brown has undergone an operation for the same trouble. It is a peculiar case and of interest to the medical profession. Part of the breastbone and three ribs were removed to arrest a certain form of decay. It was a delicate operation and at first it was thought that the patient could not survive. The operation was a successful one, and Brown is on the road to recovery.

In a former operation one rib was removed, so that Brown is now without four of his original allotment of ribs.

TROLLEY WORK HELD UP.

Rahway Street Committee Says P. S. Isn't Playing Fair.

The Public Service Railway Company, which has had a gang of more than a hundred men at work on the trolley tracks through Rahway, has been stopped from doing further work on the road until it lives up to its agreement.

The street committee of the Common Council has acted, as the Public Service agreed that in lieu of not having its franchise taken from them to put down a new track on a permanent roadbed on a concrete foundation.

The company has torn up Grand and Irving streets from St. George avenue to the Pennsylvania Railroad track, leaving the streets blockaded. Instead of a concrete base it is replacing earth and stones.

ELECTION OFFICERS LISTED.

Republican City Committee Meets—Dollar Dinner Plans.

Names of about thirty of the sixty-eight election officers were listed at the regular meeting of the Elizabeth Republican City Committee last night. The rest will be prepared as soon as possible for submission to the county committee, later to be given to the Board of Elections for confirmation.

Following the meeting of the city committee there was a meeting of the dollar dinner committee. Plans for the feast to be given in September are maturing rapidly, and the Republicans expect to have a big rally. Prominent speakers will be invited to attend and address the gathering.

HOW A FAMOUS COFFEE ORIGINATED

Made First for a Celebrated New York Hotel.

You can't buy bulk coffee that has the same delicate flavor as the best package coffee. This is partly because coffee bought in bulk cannot be blended except in a very crude sort of way by the grocer when he digs it out of his bins. And, of course, the grocer has no way of trying a great many different combinations till he finds just the right proportions that will give the ideal flavor. Then the bulk coffee has lost a great deal of its flavor by the time the grocer sells it, for it has been exposed to the air from the time it was roasted.

It is the blending of many kinds of coffee that gives the famous Hotel Astor Coffee its delicious flavor. This coffee was originated for use in that well-known hotel, and it is a fact that every possible combination of every kind of coffee grown was tried in perfecting this famous blend. At the outset this coffee was intended only for use on the Hotel Astor table, but it became so extraordinarily popular it has been put on the general market and sold through the grocery trade. It comes in one and three pound air-tight tins—pulverized, ground or in the bean.

Each can contains the famous Hotel Astor recipe for making coffee. And grocers are authorized to sell it with a guarantee of satisfaction. If your grocer does not keep it, write the importers, B. Fischer & Co., 190 Franklin street, New York City, giving his name and address, and they will tell you where you can get it.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

Webster, deceased, is complainant, and you and others are defendants, you are hereby required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant on or before the Twenty-third day of August next, or in default thereof such decree will be made against you as the Chancellor shall think equitable and just.

Webster (now deceased), dated November sixth, Eighteen hundred and ninety-six, and recorded in Book 137 of mortgages for Union County on page 561, &c., to secure payment of the sum of Eleven hundred ($1,100) Dollars with interest on lands situate in the City of Plainfield, in Union County, New Jersey, and are located on the northerly side of Jackson Avenue sixty-six (66) feet northwesterly from George Street in said City and has a width on front and rear of forty-four (44) feet and a depth of one hundred and four and seventy-five one-hundredths (104.75) feet and was conveyed to said Dora Nelson by deed of Watson Whittlesey and wife, dated October 16th, 1891, and recorded in Book 234 of deeds for Union County on page 545, &c. And you and each of you are made defendants because you own said lands or have some interest therein or some part thereof.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

Jacob Pfeifer, of Fieldsboro, before Mayor Gabel at Bordentown, on a charge of assaulting Stephen Billy late Saturday night, was held in $500 bail for trial.

Mrs. Walter Stutz, of North Haledon, while driving Sunday, fell from the carriage and broke her leg. The woman was taken to the General Hospital, Paterson.

Leonard White, of 1121 Madison avenue, Paterson, fourteen years old, while playing baseball Sunday afternoon, fell and broke the bones in his left hand. He was attended at the General Hospital.

Having arranged to engage in Rescue Mission work at the national capital, Rev. Francis J. Lukens resigned as pastor of the Grace Baptist church, Camden, and preached his farewell sermon Sunday. He will leave Friday.

Falling from a swing and striking a post at a picnic at Letgus' Park, Gloucester, Saturday night, Joseph Roda, thirty years old, of 613 North American street, Philadelphia, lost about an inch of his upper lip and received a bad gash of the scalp. He was sent to Cooper Hospital, Camden.

John W. Kelly, Pitman's oldest resident, and a member of the Pitman Grove Campmeeting Association, celebrated the sixty-fifth anniversary of his conversion Sunday. Mr. Kelly is eighty-six years old and was converted July 24, 1846, in old St. George's M. E. church, Philadelphia, the oldest in America, of which he is now the oldest living member.

William H. Compton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Compton, of 136 West Hanover street, Trenton, and Walter Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Smith, of 208 Spring street, that city, had a narrow escape from drowning when Compton's canoe, in which they were riding, capsized in the water power near the raceway, Sunday morning. The youths, after much difficulty, managed to get ashore.

Two men, who said they were Alfred Thompson and Edward Gordon, but that is a fiction, were arrested shortly after midnight Sunday for fighting at Market and Paterson streets, Paterson. When brought to police headquarters they were released on putting up $10 cash bail for their appearance before the recorder. Thompson, when arraigned, claimed that Gordon had been going out with his wife. Gordon, who still showed marks of his punishment, refused to make any complaint against Thompson, so both men were let go under a suspension of sentence. Thompson declared that he would start a suit for divorce against his wife and that Gordon would be named as the co-respondent.

CLAUSS' BAKERY DAMAGED BY FIRE.

The bakery of Louis Clauss at 561 Elizabeth avenue, Elizabeth, was partly destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The cause of the blaze is unknown.

The fire started in the oven room and worked through the roof of the bakery to a one-room addition in the rear. The damage will probably exceed $1,000, although the exact amount cannot be fixed until the effect of the water on the hot ovens has been determined.

Sparks from No. 4 Engine, on the way to the fire, set fire to an awning at 563 Marshall street.

MAYOR HOLMES TO RETIRE.

Rahway's Executive Wants No More Public Office.

Mayor Charles B. Holmes, of Rahway, has announced that he will not accept another public office in Rahway, but will be content to be a private citizen when his present term of office expires, but in that manner work for the city's interests.

Mayor Holmes says that during his present term of office "more houses have been built, more streets macadamized and more sewers laid" than has been done in Rahway during any previous administration.

FIND KRONCHAL'S GUN.

The revolver with which it is said Peter Kronchal shot Joseph Demagauer at Elizabeth a week ago is now in the possession of the police, and will be used as evidence against Kronchal when he comes up for trial. Detective-Sergeant Luke Matson found the weapon near the saloon at Front and First streets, where the shooting took place.

Demagauer is still alive, though no hope is held out for his recovery.

Whispering Smith

By Frank H. Spearman

Copyright, 1906, by Chas. Scribner's Sons.

McCloud put down his pen. "If I am the disturber it would be better for me to get out."

"That would be hauling down the flag across the whole division. It is too late for that. If he didn't center the fight on you he would center it somewhere else. The whole question is, who is going to run this division, Sinclair and his gang or the company? and it is as easy to meet them on one point as another. I know of no way of making this kind of an affair pleasant. I am going to do some riding, as I told you. Kennedy is working up through the Deep Creek country, and has three men with him. I shall ride toward the Cache and meet him somewhere near South Mission pass."

"Then Keep Away from Her!"

"Gordon, would it do any good to ask a few questions?"

"Ask as many as you like, my dear boy, but don't be disappointed if I can't answer them. I can look wise, but I don't know anything. You know what we are up against. This fellow has grown a tiger among the wolves, and he has turned the pack loose on us. One thing I ask you to do. Don't expose yourself at night. Your life isn't worth a coupling-pin if you do."

McCloud raised his hand. "Take care of yourself! If you are murdered in this fight I shall know I got you in and that I am to blame."

"And suppose you were?" Smith had risen from his chair. He had few mannerisms, and recalling the man the few times I have seen him, the only impression he has left on me is that of quiet and gentleness. "Suppose you were?" He was resting one arm on top of McCloud's desk. "What of it? You have done for me up here what I couldn't do, George. You have been kind to Marion when she hadn't a friend near. You have stood between him and her when I couldn't be here to do it, and when she didn't want me to—helped her when I hadn't the privilege of doing it." McCloud put up his hand in protest, but it was unheeded. "How many times it has been in my heart to kill that man. She knows it; she prays it may never happen. That is why she stays here and has kept me out of the mountains. She says they would talk about her if I lived in the same town, and I have stayed away." He threw himself back into the chair. "It's going beyond both of us now. I've kept the promise I made to her to-day to do all in my power to settle this thing without bloodshed. It will not be settled in that way, George."

"Was he at Sugar Buttes?"

"If not, his gang was there. The quick get-away, the short turn on Van Horn; killing two men to rattle the posse—it all bears Sinclair's earmarks. He has gone too far. He has piled up plunder till he is reckless. He is crazy with greed and insane with revenge. He thinks he can gallop over this division and scare Bucks till he gets down on his knees to him. Bucks will never do it. I know him, and I tell you Bucks will never do it. He is like that man in Washington; he will fight it to the death. He would fight Sinclair if he had to come up here and meet him single-handed, but he will never have to do it. He put you here, George, to round that man up. This is the price for your advancement, and you must pay it."

"It is all right for me to pay it, but I don't want you to pay it. Will you have a care for yourself, Gordon?"

"Will you?"

"Yes."

"You need never ask me to be careful," Smith went on. "That is my business. I asked you to watch your window shades at night, and when I came in just now I found one up. It is you who are likely to forget, and in this kind of a game a man never forgets but once. I'll lie down on the Lincoln lounge, George."

"Get into the bed."

"No; I like the lounge, and I'm off early."

In the private room of the superintendent, provided as a sleeping apartment in the old headquarters building many years before hotel facilities reached Medicine Bend, stood the only curio the Wickiup possessed—the Lincoln lounge. When the car that carried the remains of Abraham Lincoln from Washington to Springfield was dismantled, the Wickiup fell heir to one piece of its elaborate furnishings, the lounge, and the lounge still remains as an early-day relic. Whispering Smith walked into the bedroom and disposed himself in an incredibly short time. "I've borrowed one of your pillows, George," he called out, presently.

"Take both."

"One's enough. I hope," he went on, rolling himself like a hen into the double blanket, "the horse Kennedy has left me will be all right; he got three from Bill Dancing. Bill Dancing," he snorted, driving his nose into the pillow as if in final memorandum for the night, "he will get himself killed if he fools around Sinclair too much now."

McCloud, under a light shaded above his desk, opened a roll of blue-prints. He was going to follow a construction gang up the Crawling Stone in the morning and wanted to look over the surveys. Whispering Smith, breathing regularly, lay not far away. It was late when McCloud put away his maps, entered the inner room and looked at his friend.

He lay like a boy asleep. On the chair beside his head he had placed his old-fashioned hunting-case watch, as big as an alarm clock, the kind a railroad man would wind up with a spike-maul. Beside the watch he had laid his huge revolver in its worn leather scabbard. Breathing peacefully, he lay quite at his companion's mercy, and McCloud, looking down on this man who never made a mistake, never forgot a danger, and never took an unnecessary chance, thought of what between men confidence may sometimes mean. He sat a moment with folded arms on the side of his bed, studying the tired face, defenseless in the slumber of fatigue. When he turned out the light and lay down, he wondered whether, somewhere in the valley of the great river to which he was to take his men in the morning, he should encounter the slight and reckless horsewoman who had blazed so in anger when he stood before her at Marion's. He had struggled against her charm too long. She had become, how or when he could not tell, not alone a pretty woman but a fascinating one—the creature of his constant thought. Already she meant more to him than all else in the world. He well knew that if called on to choose between Dicksie and all else he could only choose her. But as he drew together the curtains of thought and sleep stole in upon him, he was resolved first to have Dicksie; to have all else if he could, but, in any case, Dicksie Dunning. When he awoke day was breaking in the mountains. The huge silver watch, the low-voiced man and the formidable six-shooter had disappeared. It was time to get up, and Marion Sinclair had promised an early breakfast.

CHAPTER XII.

The Quarrel.

The beginning of the Crawling Stone line marked the first determined effort under President Bucks, while undertaking the reconstruction of the system for through traffic, to develop the rich local territory tributary to the mountain division. New policies in construction dated from the same period. Glover, with an enormous capital staked for the new undertakings, gave orders to push the building every month in the year, and for the first time in mountain railroad building winter was to be ignored. The older mountain men met the innovation as they met any departure from their traditions, with curiosity and distrust. On the other hand, the new and younger blood took hold with confidence, and when Glover called, "Yo, heave ho!" at headquarters, they bent themselves clear across the system for a hard pull together.

McCloud, resting the operating on the shoulders of his assistant Anderson, devoted himself wholly to forwarding the construction plans, and his first clash over winter road-building in the Rockies came with his own right-hand man, Mears. McCloud put in a switch below Piedmont, opened a material yard and began track laying toward the lower Crawling Stone valley, when Mears said it was time to stop work till spring. When McCloud told him he wanted track across the divide and into the lower valley by spring, Mears threw up his hands. But there was metal in the old man, and he was for orders all the time. He kept up a running fire of protests and forebodings about the danger of exposing men during the winter season, but stuck to his post.

Spring found the construction of the valley line well advanced, and the grades nearing the lands of the Dunning ranch. Right-of-way men had been working for months with Lance Dunning over the line and McCloud had been called frequently into consultation to adjust the surveys to objections raised by Dicksie's cousin to the crossing of the ranch lands. Even when the proceedings had been closed, a strong current of discontent set from the managing head of the Stone ranch. Rumors of Lance Dunning's dissatisfaction often reached the railroad people. Vague talk of an extensive irrigation scheme planned by Sinclair for the Crawling Stone valley crept into the newspapers, and it was generally understood that Lance Dunning had expressed himself favorably to the enterprise.

Dicksie gave slight heed to matters as weighty as these. She spent much of her time on horseback, with Jim under the saddle; and in Medicine Bend, where she rode with frequency, Marion's shop became her favorite abiding place. Dicksie ordered hats until Marion's conscience rose and she practically refused to supply any more. But the spirited controversy on this point, as on many others—Dicksie's haughtiness and Marion's restraint, quite unmoved by any show of displeasure—ended always in drawing the two closer to each other.

One March afternoon, coming home from Medicine Bend, she saw at some distance before her a party of men on horseback. She was riding a trail leading from the pass road that followed the hills, and the party was coming up the bridge road from the lower ranch. Dicksie had good eyes, and something unusual in the riding of the men was soon apparent to her. Losing and regaining sight of them at different turns in the trail, she made out, as she rode among the trees, that they were cowboys of her own ranch, and riding, under evident excitement, about a strange horseman. She recognized in the escort Stormy Gorman, the ferocious foreman of the ranch, and Denison and Jim Baugh, two of the most reckless of the men. These three carried rifles slung across their pommels, and in front of them rode the stranger.

Fragments of the breakfast-table talk of the morning came back to Dicksie's mind. The railroad graders were in the valley below the ranch, and she had heard her cousin say a good deal on a point she cared little about, as to where the railroad should cross the Stone ranch. Approaching the fork of the two roads toward which she and the cowboys were riding, she checked her horse in the shade of a cottonwood tree, and as the party rode up the draw she saw the horseman under surveillance. It was George McCloud.

Unluckily, as she caught a glimpse of him she was conscious that he was looking at her. She bent forward to hide a momentary confusion, spoke briskly to her horse, and rode out of sight. At Marion's she had carefully avoided him. Her precipitancy at their last meeting had seemed, on reflection, unfortunate. She felt that she must have appeared to him shockingly rude, and there was in her recalling of the scene an unconfessed impression that she had been to blame. Often when Marion spoke of him, which she did without the slightest reserve and with no reference as to whether Dicksie liked it or not, it had been in Dicksie's mind to bring up the subject of the disagreeable scene, hoping that Marion would suggest a way for making some kind of unembarrassing amends. But such opportunities had slipped away unimproved, and here was the new railroad superintendent, whom their bluff neighbor Sinclair never referred to other than as the college guy, being brought apparently as a prisoner to the Stone ranch.

Busied with her thoughts, Dicksie rode slowly along the upper trails until a long detour brought her around the corrals and in at the back of the house. Throwing her lines to the ground, she alighted and through the back porch door made her way unobserved to her room. From the office across the big hall she heard men's voices in dispute, and she slipped into the dining room, where she could hear and might see without being seen. The office was filled with cowboys. Lance Dunning, standing with a cigar in his hand and one leg thrown over a corner of the table, was facing McCloud, who stood before him with his hand on a chair. Lance was speaking as Dicksie looked into the room, and in curt tones: "My men were acting under my orders."

"You have no right to give such orders," McCloud said, distinctly, "nor to detain me, nor to obstruct our free passage along the right of way you have agreed to convey to us under our survey."

"Damn your survey! I never had a plat of any such survey. I don't recognize any such survey. And if your right-of-way men had ever said a word about crossing the creek above the flume I never would have given you a right of way at all."

"There were never but two lines run below the creek; after you raised objection I ran them both, and both were above the flume."

"Well, you can't put a grade there, and some of my neighbors are going to dam up that basin, and the irrigation laws will protect our rights."

"I certainly can't put a grade in below the flume, and you refuse to talk about our crossing above it."

"I certainly do."

"Why not let us cross where we are, and run a new level for your ditch that will put the flume higher up?"

"You will have to cross below the flume where it stands, or you won't cross the ranch at all."

McCloud was silent for a moment. "I am using a supported grade there for eight miles to get over the hill within a three-tenths limit. I can't drop back there. We might as well not build at all if we can't hold our grade, whereas it would be very simple to run a new line for your ditch, and my engineers will do it for you without a dollar of expense to you, Mr. Dunning."

Lance Dunning waved his hand as an ultimatum. "Cross where I tell you to cross, or keep off the Stone ranch. Is that English?"

"It certainly is. But in matter of fact we must cross on the survey agreed on in the contract for a right-of-way deed."

"I don't recognize any contract obtained under false representations."

"Do you accuse me of false representations?"

Lance Dunning flipped the ash from his cigar. "Who are you?"

"I am just a plain, every-day civil engineer, but you must not talk false representations in any contract drawn under my hand."

BASEBALL.

DIVIDE THE POOL.

Sporting Editor:

Will you kindly settle a dispute by your valuable paper. I was in a base-ball pool last week and the agreement was that the team that made the most number of runs would win. But St. Louis, Pittsburg and New York were tie. Shouldn't the money then go in the following week's pool or should the three divide the pool.

While on the last Western trip the Hilltoppers played eighteen games. Of this number they won eight and lost ten. In St. Louis, where they made their first stop, the Highlanders gained an even break with the Browns. One of the scheduled games to be played there had to be postponed because of rain. In Chicago, the next stopping place, the Yankees lost four and won two. The locals won two from Detroit and lost three, and in Cleveland, where they had two postponements on account of the weather, they won two and lost one. Thus it will be seen that the Yankees played a much better brand of ball out West than they did while they were at home. It was on their Western trip this time that Willie Keeler got back into the game again, and a decided change for the better was immediately noticeable. Capt. Keeler is a veteran of recognized standing and the rest of the players look up to him. When he was on the bench, spiked, the team lacked confidence for the simple reason that Chase, Elberfield and Kleinow were the only veterans with the club, and Kleinow was not taking much active part, but when Keeler got back in the game the players braced.

Rube Marquard, the Giants' pitcher, will probably be out of the game for some time owing to the fact that he was spiked yesterday afternoon in an exhibition game at Newark, which the Giants won by the score of 5 to 2. Merkle did it. This is how he did it: Marquard was attempting to cover first, while Merkle was taking a hard bounder behind first. The players met on the bag and Merkle's spike cut deeply into Marquard's instep.

Louis Padrone, a Cuban outfielder, has been signed by President Charles A. Comiskey of the Chicago American League Club. Padrone has been playing in Cuba for several years, and before that he played with the New Britain team in the Connecticut League.

100-MILE RACE

RECORD BROKEN.

The 100-mile running race which was run at Chicago Sunday, was won by Sidney Hatch, of the Illinois Athletic Club in record-breaking time. His performance broke the old amateur record held by J. Saunders, made in New York on Feb. 22, 1882, by a considerable margin. The old record was 17 hours 36 min. 14 sec. Hatch did the distance in 16 hours 7 min. 24 sec. Charles Lobert was second, his time being 17 hours 33 min. 51 sec. The third man to finish was Hugh Fachs of Germany. His time was 18 hours flat. The other four starters dropped out of the race, as the pace was too hot.

One of the features of the race was the remarkable condition of the winner at the end of the race. Hatch finished the last mile in faster time than the first one of the race. He ran the last mile in 5 min. 19 sec. During the race Hatch stopped only 18 minutes for rest.

TO INVADE PRINCETON ON THURSDAY EVENING

The first of a series of tours planned for the summer and fall by the Plainfield Automobile Club will take place on Thursday, when more than half a hundred local motorists will make the thirty mile trip to Princeton. The start will be made rfom the Park Club, at 5 o'clock in the evening.

President H. W. Marshall will act as captain for the run, and the organization has invited all local automobile owners to join them in the run to the University hamlet. The motorists plan to arrive at Princeton in time for dinner, for which special arrangements have been made through the officers of the club with Manager Taylor, of the famous Princeton Inn. J. B. R. Smith, of Trenton, head of the New Jersey Motor Vehicle Commission, Mayor Charles J. Fisk, H. A. Bonnell, secretary and treasurer of the Associated Clubs of New Jersey, and J. H. Wood, chairman of the legal committee of this organization, will be guests of the club on this occasion.

E. H. Raddin, secretary of the club desires to receive the names of those who are to make the trip, so that final arrangements for the dinner may be completed tomorrow.

The distance from this city to Princeton is thirty miles, and the roads are said to be in excellent condition. Upon arriving at Princeton, the motorists will have dinner and enjoy a concert and afterwards an opportunity will be given the party to drive through the campus of Princeton University. The return trip will be started late in the evening, and the motorists are expected to arrive in this city before midnight.

ONE OF TWO STRANGELY HURT MAY PASS AWAY

John Austin, the village blacksmith of Pluckamin, sustained a fracture of the spinal column in a mysterious manner Sunday and is now thought to be dying in the Somerset Hospital at Somerville. Austin was found in an old barn frequented by tramps on the outskirts of the borough yesterday. When discovered he was in an unconscious condition and his back was broken.

Austin went to Somerville from Pluckemin Saturday night. He was seen on the street at Somerville after midnight by Michael O'Brien, a borough marshal, who states that he was not intoxicated.

The police, in investigating the case, discovered that Joseph Parker, an engineer on the estate of James B. Duke, was confined to his house on Second street here with three broken ribs. Parker acknowledges having been in the barn with Austin, and, to the best of his recollections, which is not very clear, he and Austin went to sleep in the hay loft of the barn and awakened in the night, and in moving around fell through an opening in the loft to the floor below.

It is believed that there may have been a fight in the barn, in which Austin and tramps who frequent the place. The police are still investigating the case.

COLBY SEES SAFETY IN PUBLIC'S CHANGED VIEW.

"It isn't religion that is changing, it isn't politics that is changing; the race itself is changing its point of view, that is all," declared former Senator Everett Colby Sunday evening in addressing the open-air sunset service of the Hyde Park Reformed church, East Orange.

"So we do not need to stand aghast," he continued, "when we see former President Eliot of Harvard, talking about his 'new religion' or be horrified to see Socialist Briand ascending to the seat of the Prime Minister of France."

The speaker made the point that only comparatively a few years ago things were looked on as sacrilegious, which now are the merest commonplaces. He cited for example the case of Lancaster, O., where, in 1826, a request was made to the authorities for the use of a public school for a debate on whether railroads were practical or not. The answer was that the schools could not lend themselves to any such enterprise, as it was a sacrilege. "If the Lord were willing that man hould hurl himself through space at the awful speed of fifteen miles an hour, he would have told us through his prophets," was the declaration that settled the argument.

Although he followed the evolution of religion and politics throughout the ages, Mr. Colby carefully avoided allusion to New Jersey politics of the present or near future.

Counterfeit $2 Bill.

Montclair banks and business men are being imposed upon by a counterfeit $2 bill. It is a pretty good imitation of the real thing, being a lithographed photograph of the good bill. The same counterfeit was passed on Silver Lake storekeepers by four Italians.

ROUTINE MATTERS AT SCHOOL BOARD SESSION

Matters pertaining to the filling in of vacancies on the faculties of the borough schools and appropriations for repairs occupied the Borough Education Board at the meeting last night.

One thousand, one hundred and fifty dollars was appropriated for making repairs on the Watchung school, including blackboards, furniture and minor repairs, and on the Somerset school for repairs and new blackboards. Bills to the amount of $894.64 were paid.

It was voted to exchange three old typewriters for ones of the same make of more modern construction for use in the commercial department.

Miss Margaret Faulkenburg was engaged as a teacher in the second grade, and the resignation of Miss Cloude, the former teacher of history in the high school, who will go to Philadelphia, was accepted. Miss Eva Terry, of Riverside, L. I., was engaged to fill her place. There are still two vacancies on the teaching staff to be filled.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Joy Riders Paying Penalty.

The first step has been taken to obtain justice in the case of the Plainfield and Perth Amboy chauffeurs who were involved in the "joy riding" episode of July 4, when a car taken from a garage was wrecked and some of its occupants painfully injured. The refusal of the State Motor Vehicle Department to permit those who engaged on this wild ride to handle cars in the future with the approval of New Jersey was the least it could do. Their glaring unfitness for such business, involving both life and property, is perfectly evident. If there ever was a case of more deliberate violation of the statutes of the State it has not come to our attention.

It is alleged that the party of four Plainfield chauffeurs arranged to take the car without the consent of the proprietor of the garage for a ride to Perth Amboy. At the latter place they met other chauffeurs and altogether they started out on a wild dash through the city. The accident mentioned was the result. The Plainfield men were later charged with having violated the statute enacted by the last Legislature making "joy riding" a misdemeanor. They have been bound over to the grand jury, and, therefore, face a prison sentence.

It is certainly not enough that the licenses of these chauffeurs have been revoked, though it is serious enough for any man to lose his opportunity for employment in his chosen work. The county prosecuting authorities should bend every effort to break up "joy riding," impressive lessons from which deviltry are of too recent record in this vicinity to need recalling. Although the ink of the newly-enacted statute aiming at ending this highly dangerous and unpardonable "sport" is hardly dry, two other counties, Hudson and Monmouth, have suffered from violations of the law. Leniency anywhere in the State at this time will only make the attempt of the State to stamp out the evil worse than ridiculous.—Elizabeth Journal.

TO ASK CITY FATHERS TO REMOVE EMBANKMENT.

The executive committee of the Netherwood Reformed church met in the church last night and for the first time the edifice was illuminated with electricity. These lights are a decided improvement. The heating proposition for the coming winter was discussed, but no decision was arrived at regarding the system which is to be adopted. It was decided to petition the Common Council to remove the Midway avenue embankment on the north side of the church, as the building is now complete in every detail.

Royal A. Stout, pastor of the Netherwood Reformed church, has gone to New Brunswick for a few days, during which time he will take a final examination in Old Testament languages from Rev. John H. Raven, professor at the Theological Seminary in that city.

Planning C. E. Convention.

The general committee for the Christian Endeavor convention held a meeting last evening at the home of Clarence LaRue, the chairman. Details for the convention to be held here in October were discussed and several bills were paid. John T. Sproull, president of the State Christian Endeavor Union, was present. He gave the local union some valuable suggestions relative to the coming convention. The provisional program will be announced at the next meeting of the committee.

GAY HUSSARS TRIUMPH

Henry W. Savage's Imported Operetta Wins Its Plainfield Audience.

MUSIC IS SURPASSING FINE.

Costumes and Scenery Exceptional—A Cast of Particular Merit—"S. R. O." Sign Shown Earlly At A Great Premiere.

A crowded house greeted Henry Savage's new operetta at the Plainfield theatre last night, and the audience went away satisfied that the production is all that it was expected to be, and further, that it will meet with instant success when presented on Broadway. As a possible contender for honors with the Merry Widow it has stood the test and no doubt will meet with the approval of the Broadway people and the Metropolitan critics.

The scenery and costumes are attractive and the operetta is admirably mounted. Bobby North and Florence Reid carried the house by storm in their respective parts, singing and acting in perfect accord with the intent of the play. Muriel Terry was another of the women who came in for salvos of applause. The music is catchy and Emerich Kalman, who it is said, is practically a newcomer among foreign composers, will have the satisfaction of seeing this, the first of his works to be produced in this country, meet with popular favor.

The leadership of Gus Salzer proved beyond cavil that the music is in competent hands. He swung his baton with the unquestionable knowledeg of the score, and was the recipient of many encores. This operetta is sure to make a hit tomorrow night when it has its first presentation at the Knickerbocker Theatre in New York city. There are those who heard the music last night who say that it will not reach the popularity of the Merry Widow, but there are others who believe it will enjoy even a longer run.

The story of "The Gay Hussars" concerns the fortunes of a young Austrian captain of Hussars, von Lorenty, the scion of a noble house who, through misfortune has been evicted from the estate of his forefathers. At the head of his detachment he finds himself one night encamping before the threshold of the castle where he was born and which was once his, now occupied by his former sweetheart who has married his rich rival, and become possessed of his ancestral home. She is now a widow, beautiful and rich, and still in love with vonLorenty, but because he believes that she had trifled with his affections he refuses her advances and will not see her. She invites the officers into the castle for the night. All go there to accept her hospitality except vonLorenty, and the scene in which she comes forth in the moonlight pleading with him for forgiveness is one of the most beautiful which has ever been staged. The second act occurs in the castle where a ball is taking pllace and which is interrupted by an attack of the enemy and a call to arms.

Endeavorers' Meet.

The members of the prayer meeting committee of the Y. P. S. C. E. of Hope chapel and the leaders for the ensuing two months were entertained at the home of Miss Bertha A. Jones on Essex street last night. Plans to make the meetings of greater interest, religiously and more helpful to the society and the church, were discussed. A report of last evening's meeting will be filed tonight at the business meeting of the society after the missionary meeting. Miss Gertrude Hunter will be in charge of the meeting tonight.

Fresh Air Services.

The services at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home were in charge of the Young People's Society of the Roselle Baptist church last night, with P. F. Benedict as leader. It was an enthusiastic and well attended meeting and some fine music was rendered by the visitors. Tonight the services will be in charge of Adjutant and Mrs. Straubel, of the Salvation Army Industrial Home and some good music is promised. A cordial welcome will be extended to all who come.

Camp Plainfield.

Camp Plainfield will be established this week at the Hague, on the shore of Lake George by a party of Y. M. C. A. men. The camp will be continued for two weeks. ## TIN WATCHES ARE STOLEN

Charles Davis, of Unionville is Accused of This "Burglary" by Woman.

HE MAY PROVE AN ALIBI.

Claims It Is a Case of Mistaken Identity—It is a Hatband Recognition, So It Is Said.

Mistaking a satchel full of tin watches and tinsel jewelry used in masked balls for the real things, a young burglar who entered the home of Mrs. Lena Schott, of Unionville, and made off with the satchel has laid himself open to an imprisonment from three to twenty years. Augustus Davis, of Unionville, was on trial before Justice Snape in North Plainfield this morning as the defendant in this case.

Pending the appearance of two more witnesses for the defendant, by which he says that he can prove an alibi the case was adjourned until late this afternoon. The defendant is a twenty-two years old carpenter of Unionville, the son of respectable parents and a young man of good reputation. In court this morning his parents both appeared and swore that he was in their house with them on the night of the burglary, July 20. Further, Charles Davis, the defandant's father, swore that the lad was sleeping with him that night, and that they did not retire until the time that the robbery was alleged to have taken place.

Mrs. Schott, the plaintiff, asserted in court that she was awakened on the evening of July 20 and going down stairs found a young man engaged in gathering articles of value on the floor in the middle of the dining room. She called to her husband, and when he returned the young man had disappeared. An investigation showed that $22 had been stolen from a purse, and that the drawers and doors of the sideboards and tables downstairs had been turned inside out.

The case is said to be one of mistaken identity, as Mrs. Schott did not see the burglar but for a second and that was a side glance. Further she said that the burglar had on a dark hat, which Davis says he has not got, and that she recognized him by his hatband.

USED A MATCH TO FIND A GAS LEAK.

That a match is a sure but dangerous mode of finding out how much one's gas is leaking was the discovery made yesterday by Joseph Kabelac, proprietor of a meat market at 211 Spencer street, Elizabeth.

Kebelac went down into his cellar, which is rather dark, about 10 o'clock this morning and noticed gas. He determined to find the leak without delay, ah his gas bill is big enough, anyway, without having all the precious fluid wasted through leakage, so he struck a match.

Mr. Kabelac is much wiser today. If you ask him he will tell you not to investigate gas leaks with anything less than an incandescent electric light. The explosion did not hurt him seriously, and a policeman put out a small fire which resulted from it.

Joe Manhattan's Contract.

Joseph Manhattan, of this city, has completed a $4,000 contract for the borough of Garwood. The work included curbing, flagging and grading of streets and sidewalks. Mr. Manhattan has just signed a contract to do similar work in the Park Slope section of Westfield. This work will take until the middle of September and the consideration is $5,000. Manhattan will care for the Roselle work and keep it in repair for a year.

Trolley Car Afire.

The waste in the gearing of a Somerset street trolley car caught fire from an electric spark in front of the Somerset school last night at 9:30 o'clock. The borough fire department extinguished the blaze with one extinguisher. The flames were just starting to work up into the floor of the car, when they were detected and the department notified.

Baby Camp Benefit.

A group of children living on West Seventh street, will hold a cake, lemonade and ice cream sale tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock in aid of the Baby Camp. Besides the good things to eat there will be a pony on hand to give the children rides. The sale takes place at the residence of Mrs. J. E. Kimball, 633 Seventh street.

DISHONEST MAIL MEN FOUND IN OTHER CITIES

Postmaster Bird is congratulating himself today because the Plainfield post office is not the only one in New Jersey to be stigmatized as the abode of mail thieves. And this is the reason:

Yesterday Max Greenberg, a clerk in the Newark post office who had been under suspicion for some time was caught with the goods on. Inspectors J. B. Holtby and Charles Entman, who were assigned to the task of finding the thief, put a decoy letter containing four dollars and fifty cents, addressed to a fctitious address in Newark, in the regular mail. A watch was set and Greenberg, who was in the city delivery department, was seen to open the letter and take out the money.

He was arrested and the marked bill and coin were found on him. The letter was opened carelessly and closed again with three official resealing stamps. On the back the delivery clerk had written "received in bad order," which is characterized as a slick way of making it appear that the letter had traveled and had been handled by many persons.

Another case, but at the other side of this State was reported by Inspector Swift, of Philadelphia, who called in to pay his respects to Postmaster Bird yesterday. This is even more flagrant a case as it involved the superintendent of a division in the Philadelphia post office.

The man was the last to be suspected as it appeared to the inspectors to be a case of ordinary stealing by a clerk, but after the hunt had proceeded to the point where, by a process of elimination the others were found to be straight, suspicion naturally fell on the head man of the division, who was soon in the toils.

"There is a whole lot of satisfaction," said Mr. Bird this morning, "in knowing that you are not the only one to harbor criminals."

KUHLMANN STILL LIES UNCONSCIOUS.

Although William Kuhlmann, familiary known about the "Port" as "Dutch" Kuhlmann, has been unconscious at Elizabeth for more than forty-eight hours as the result of having been hit in the head by a batted ball, at Elizabeth, the doctors today held out hope for his ultimate recovery without an operation.

Dr. Dennis R. McElhinney, young Kuhlmann's physician, said that the blow had probably broken a blood vessel in the brain and that a clot had probably formed. He said that the young man had been asleep most of the time since the accident, and could not be aroused without some difficulty. There seems to be no symptoms to cause immediate alarm.

Kuhlmann was playing ball with a number of young men on the old Palmer grounds on Sunday. His team was batting and he was standing along the first base line, watching the play. Charles Krischman, of Second avenue, was at the bat. He struck the ball foul, which struck Kuhlmann in the left temple. It knocked him out for a few seconds, but "Dutch" passed off the incident as trivial and told the other players to go ahead with the game.

Friends of Kuhlmann noticed during the game that he repeatedly rubbed his head where the ball struck him. The game was over shortly after 12 o'clock and Kuhlmann cut across the lots to his home at 221 Palmer street. Before leaving the field he remarked that the "wheels in his head were running amuck with the gray matter."

Shortly after Kuhlmann reached his home he became unconscious. Dr. McElhinney was sent for, and yesterday, when Kuhlmann had not recovered, Dr. Victor Mravlag was called in consultation.

Baby Run Over.

Morris Steinman, the two-year-old son of Davis Steinman, of Plainfield avenue, was run down in front of his home yesterday afternoon by a delivery wagon of D. Demolli. Carrar, the driver, said that the little fellow ran across the street directly in front of the wagon, and he could not stop in time. The baby was but slightly bruised, and was treated by City Physician C. B. Lufburrow.

Preparatory Service Tonight.

The preparatory service for the celebration of the Lord's Supper at Warren chapel Sunday, will be held in connection with the missionary meeting at the chapel tonight. Rev. T. O. McKelvey will officiate at the service Sunday when the celebration will be at 11 o'clock.

Smoke, But no Flames.

A telephone alarm at 11:30 o'clock this morning summoned the firemen to the home of A. C. Pell, of 604 West Seventh street. The rooms were filled with smoke, but the firemen could find no fire. There was no damage.

Many beautiful floral offerings from a wide circle of friends and members of the Gesang and Turn Verein Society were made at the funeral of Mrs. William Beiter, Monday afternoon. The funeral service was in charge of the Rev. John Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, and interment was made in Hillside cemetery. The pall bearers were: George Richter, M. Koller, George Feller, Sr., and Andrew Stiglitz.

Mrs. Beiter is survived by her husband and four children: Caroline and Charles of this city, and William and Albert, of New York.

Y. W. C. A. Party.

The girls who have been to the conference at Silver Bay and Northfield are planning a frolic in the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium for tomorrow evening. They cordially invite all other girls to attend.

John Dixon, of Fairview avenue, is slowly improving at Muhlenberg Hospital.

Of all the schemes to help the town this man's the Patron Saint,
A thousand irons he has within the fire.
And while he booms all sorts of things, from gold mines down to paint,
Consolidation is his heart's desire.

AND "ARCHIE" DECIDED HE WOULD TAKE ALL THEY HAD

The next time five South Plainfield youngsters spend the whole morning in the hot sun picking twenty-four quarts of blackberries they will make sure that they do not try to sell them to the man from whose property they picked them.

All yesterday morning in the heat of a scorching sun the lads toiled picking the berries, and when they had cleaned up the field fairly well, went to Archibald Steengrafe, a former candidate for Assembly.

"Have some blackberries, Mr. Steengrafe?" piped up one youngster, proffering the "Assemblyman" the berries.

"Why, yes," he said. "I guess I will take all of them." While Mr. Steengrafe emptied the whole twenty-four quarts in a receptacles at his home, the lads stood by in the hopeful expectation of realizing a handsome sum for their morning's work. When the expected reward did not materalize, a young Rockefeller decided to tactfully remind the "Assemblyman" of his apparent negligence.

"It was an all fired hot time picking them, and they are mighty good berries."

"Yes," sympathized a young Carnegie in an omnious tone, falling into the spirit of the thing. "It ought to be worth quite a lot to us—berries are selling high this year."

"Why the picking of berries alone is worth the price that we are selling them for," a young Morgan in his enthusiasm of pushing good berries, "and we ain't charging for the picking at all—just for the berr—"

"Is that so?" asked Mr. Steengrafe.

"True as gospel," chorused the youngsters.

"Well, then," said the "Assemblyman," turning to them and bowing courteously, "I thank you very much. When I bought that field I wondered how I could get the berries picked and doubted whether I could get the berries picked and doubted whether I could realize a sufficient return from it for that reason; but since you young men have very kindly done it for me, I than you cordially." Then he turned and entered the house.

CLAIMS ANOTHER BOARDER STOLE HER FLOOR COVERING

Ralph Di Matthews, who until Monday was a boarder as was Mrs. Mary Becker, at 312 East Fourth street, caused the woman's arrest last night when a roll of oil cloth, belonging to him, was found in her new apartments at 226 East Fourth street. Di Matthews swore out a warrant for her arrest on Monday, and Detective-Sergeant Flynn, who searched her new home yesterday afternoon, found the missing oil cloth in the attic. The floor covering is valued at $15.

Arraigned before City Judge Runyon at court today, Mrs. Becker asked for a hearing. Di Matthews testified that the oil cloth, which belongs to his brother-in-law, was in a locked compartment of the cellar at 312 Fourth street the day Mrs. Becker moved away, but was missing the following morning. He suspected the vanishing tenant and when the detective searched the new apartments the roll was found behind a couple of screen doors stored in the attic.

Mrs. Becker told the court that she did not know how the oil cloth got in her attic. She said that she had not been in the cellar where the floor covering was kept, and added that the roll was too heavy for her to carry away, anyhow. She was assisted in the moving by two men, said to be Harry McLean and Andrew Skelly, and these will be at police headquarters this afternoon, when the case will be continued.

Sells Blue Ribbon Dog.

Meadowview Kennels, owned by A. G. Hooley, shipped one of its crack dogs, "Meadowview May," to Dr. Alan Welch Smith, Portland, Oregan, yesterday. She was exhibited at the Plainfield Kennel Club show and was the first puppy and the reserve winner to the champion, "Lady Allister," and is said to be one of the best young English setters in America. Dr. Smith is the owner of the winning dog on the coast, "Handsome Dan," and with "Meadowview May" will have a brace hard to beat.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF MRS. ELLA BERMINGHAM.

The funeral of Mrs. Ellen Bermingham, who died suddenly last Sunday while at dinner, was held this morning from St. Mary's church. The funeral was well attended by a large circle of relatives and friends and the floral gifts were so numerous that a special carriage had to be provided to carry them.

Solemn requiem mass was performed for the repose of the soul. Father Hogan was celebrant; Father Scioia deacon, and Father Dunphy, sub-deason. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery and the bearers were: John Donolly, John Simpson, James Kyle, Edward Kelly, Bryan Hanrahan and Patrick McAfee.

Incorrigible, Her Aunt Says.

Miss Sadie Matthews, seventeen years old, of East Third street, was arrested last night by Special Officer Dalley, who executed a State warrant sworn out by her aunt, a resident, of Dunellen, during the evening performance. The girl, who was formerly employed in a local confectionery store, is said to be incorrigible. The warrant was sworn out before Borough Recorder David C. Campbell, of Dunellen, and the girl was remanded by the police to Chief Marshal Sliney, of Dunellen, last night.

What Mr. Moon Says.

Joseph Moon stated today that the report about his wife taking four wrong trains while returning from a day's outing at Asbury Park is "not exactly right," inasfar as it stated that his wife took a train from Newark, bound for Philadelphia and that she had sent him a telegram to meet her.

Struck by Lightning.

While fixing up the homeplate at the Whitehouse baseball club diamond yesterday afternoon, Harry Blanchard, of the place, was struck by lightning. The funeral will take place Friday.

DOG OWNERS ARE SCARED

Canine Shot Last Friday Proved to Have Had Rabies and Other Dogs Infected.

ARREST THE EIGHT OWNERS.

A Close Watch Will Be Kept on Those Animals Bitten by A Mad Dog Recently.

The dog shot by Detective Sergeant John Flynn on East Front street last Friday morning after an eight-milel chase in Mayor Fisk's automobile, had the rabies, according to the report of State Chemist R. B. Fitz Randolph, who yesterday made an examination of the dog's head, sent to him after the animal was killed. His report that the animal was mad was reecived in the form of a telegram by Health Officer John J. O'Brien, Jr., yesterday afternoon.

A large tan mongrel belonging to Mrs. Maggie Benford, of East Third street, which is believed to have been bitten by the mad dog as it ran amuck through the city streets Friday, was shot this morning by Patrolman Anderson. The police are closely watching the other dogs which are reported to have been bitten by the rabid animal. Dogs developing signs of the rabies should be reported at police headquarters immediately.

Because his dog ran out at ten-year-old Charles Springer and bit him in the left hand on Monday, Edward Owens, of Elm place, was fined five dollars at his arraignment before City Judge Runyon at the city court today. The dog shows no signs of the rabies, but is under the careful watch of the police. The bite on Springer's hand has been given daily medical treatment, and the injury is doing well.

Eight dog owners, "under protest," were arrested yesterday by Patrolman Anderson, and the new license ordinance was strictly enforced in each case at the hearings before City Judge Runyon today. Each owner had excuses for not having a license, but all these were of no avail, and the edict, "a license before nightfall or a fine of five dollars tomorrow morning," was universal.

Alphonse Colluci, who lives on North avenue, said he didn't want to get a license until he found out whether his big Newfoundland dog which is sick, is going to get well. The dog appears to be "canis filelis" and City Judge Runyon urged Alphonse to give the animal a square deal by buying it a license and giving it something to live for. Thus appealed to, Alphonse agreed.

Mrs. Henrance, a Jackson avenue resident, harbors two dogs, but doesn't want either of them. As they have been identified as her property for some months past, the Judge pointed out to her that she would have to pay a five dollar fine if she didn't spend that amount in getting licenses, so she has decided to keep the animals. Another woman dog-harborer tried to show Judge Runyon that she was exempt from license or fine because she had given her dog away to a sea-faring man in Rahway. The court ruled that inasmuch as the sailor-man hadn't come for the dog, the title of the animal was still in the harborer's name, and she must provide a license.

"If you want my dog, Judge, you can have it," said Frank Minilf, who lives on North avenue, in a frantic effort to escape the license fee. Developments in his case showed that the dog is bad tempered and has been his property for several months. He paid a fine of $2 and will turn the animal over to Dog Catcher Martin.

Mrs. Mary Nomance, who lives on St. Mary's avenue, had a ready-made hard luck story about being behind in the rent and having no money to buy a dog license for the canine she harbors. An interpreter explained matters to the court for her as she "no speaka da English." She offered a dollar for a license, and later came up a quarter on the proposition. The Judge told her that bargains and partial payments were not in order in buying dog licenses, for which no trading stamps are given. The dog catcher was ordered to get the animal today, but after the case was thus disposed of, the interpreter came back and said he had accepted the dog as a gift for his services and would buy a license for it.

Another woman said that she had bought a dog license last year for a dog, which died after having only two months use of the rights. She figured that the dog she now had was allowed the privileges of the deceased canine for ten months free of charge. She and a young Polish girl, who is her neighbor, will buy licenses today, as will Stephen Rasko, whose dog is a canine waif which seems to prefer his home and food to foraging like a tramp.

BASEBALL AT NIGHT.

A small sized fortune has been expended in Cincinnati in the construction of a remarkable illumination scheme for lighting the National League baseball park of that city in such a manner as to make ball games possible at night. Popular Mechanics for August contains an illustrated article describing the system. It says:

"The chief problem was not in providing sufficient illumination, but to provide it in such a way that none of the centres of illumination will blind the players.

"The plant which converts night into day is composed of fourteen powerful carbon lamps, fed by a 250 horsepower dynamo installed on the ground. All the lamps encircle the field, arranged in such a way that the glare does not blind. Ten of the lights are arranged on five towers, two lamps on each, and the other four are operated from the roof of the grand stand on the top of the bleachers."

A SOFT CROWNED HAT.

Some of the very newest hats are made with big gathered crowns of silk or real lace. In either case the brim, usually of leghorn, is lined to match, and a little chou of flowers tucked away under the voluminous folds of the crown forms the only trimming. Such hats as these usually return to fashion during some period of the year, although their general shape and size will often vary.

One of the loviest of these models is of leghorn, with a huge tam-o'-shanter crown of violet taffeta with a rosy light. The same lovely fabric lines the brim, while a pretty rose of pink peeps forth from the crown on the left side of the front.

FORT STILL OPPOSED TO IRICK AND LEWIS.

Mt. Holly, July 28.—Governor Fort's opposition to the Burlington County Senatorial candidacies of Assemblyman Griffith W. Lewis and John B. Irick has brought a new aspirant for the nomination into the field in the person of Edward P. Wood, of Cinnaminson. Mr. Wood is a Philadelphia merchant, and has always taken a keen interest in Republican politics. He has announced his willingness to make the run, and has indirectly received assurances of support from the State Executive.

Although the Governor is making no formal declaration regarding his disapproval of the Lewis or Irick candidacies he has not changed his views as expressed by him after the close of the last Legislature. Then he said he would go into Burlington county, if necessary, and campaign for a week, if required, against either Lewis or Irick, his reason being that the two Assemblymen had opposed all reform legislation and should not be allowed to succeed former Senator Samuel K. Robbins. Subsequent to this announcement Lewis called on the Executive in Trenton and afterward said the Governor was for him. Mr. Fort has not denied this formally, but at last week's "Governor's Day" at Sea Girt he told several Burlington County Republicans his position remained unchanged, and that he was against any one who would not pledge himself to support a further extension of the direct primary law, a public utilities commission bill and other legislative reforms.

The Governor has all along hoped Harold B. Wells, of Bordentown, could be induced to get into the Senatorial fight and has let Wells' friends know he (Fort) would campaign for him if he did so. Wells ran for the Assembly last fall on the local option ticket and was only defeated by a small majority. This year he expressed a desire to seek the same nomination again, but the "regular" leaders laughed at his candidacy. Immediately after the Governor, however, had said he would support Wells for Senator the "regulars" told Wells they would back him for the Assembly. The result is Wells has about decided "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush" and will be satisfied with the nomination to the lower branch.

Feeling sure of this fact friends of the Governor in the county looked around for another candidate to fight Lewis and Irick and Wood appeared as their choice. Whether the Governor will keep his promise to get into the pre-primary campaign personally, however, is another matter.

SAYS PROMISED HUSBAND ROBBED HER AND FLED.

Newton, July 28.—Monday was to have been the wedding day of Miss Anna Rotzevinsky, of 52 Sparta avenue, but instead of becoming a bride, the day was spent in looking for Frank Tostino, of Newark, her fiance, who she claims entered her room Sunday morning while she was weary from a pre-nuptial celebration, and stole $90 of her savings, together with $19 belonging to her room-mate, Miss Petro Nilla.

The entire party allege that Tostino used a white powder which he put in their drinks to make them fall asleep. A number of other girls were upstairs, but their money was untouched. A member of the party, who was downstairs when the thief came down, asked him where he was going, but the man went out and disappeared.

Miss Rotzevinsky, who rooms with six or seven other girls, and Tostino became acquainted two months ago through the efforts of M. Kelpacky, a local tailor. Tostino said he was looking for a wife. At that time the absent groom had been working in Franklin Furnace.

Friday he appeared here, and the following day went to the house on Sparta avenue and secured the consent of Miss Rotzevinsky to a marriage ceremony Monday in the Polish church at Passaic.

It was pay day in the shops where the girls worked, and the man saw them with lots of money. He proposed that the coming nuptials be celebrated in proper form, and accordingly secured a keg of beer, it is said, and several bottles of wine. Young people of their nationality were invited in. It is alleged that during the early hours of Sunday, after the female members of the party had retired and most of the guests had fallen asleep, Tostino, who had rendered the locks on the bedroom doors useless with nails, went upstairs and made his raid.

To Let—Alone.

Weary Searcher (looking for seaside lodgings)—I hope, madam, you do not object to children?

Boardinghouse Keeper—Oh, not in the least. I have nine myself.

Weary Searcher (backing off)—Um—er—if I decide to take the rooms I will send you a letter. Good day!"—Sketchy Bits.

Misunderstood?

The Host—Let's have your honest opinion about this wine.

The Guest—It is worthless.

The Host—Yes, that's what Jones says about your opinions, but I want to hear it just the same.—Cleveland Leader.

SPRING LAKE BUILDER TOOK FOREMAN'S WIFE.

New York, July 28.—Although living in a handsome house and the wife of a Flatbush contractor reputed to be wealthy, Mrs. John F. Belmont, of 559 Coney Island avenue, Brooklyn, had to apply for assistance Monday afternoon to the clerk of the Flatbush court. She said that her husband had eloped on April 7 last with a Mrs. Jensen, wife of Jerken Jensen, his foreman, and that since then she and her two sons, aged seventeen and seven years, respectively, have had to get along on what little cash was left in the house, while Belmont and the Jensen woman toured California in an automobile.

Mrs. Belmont learned of her husband's whereabouts through the foreman, who recently received a letter from his mother-in-law in Copenhagen, in which was enclosed a letter from Mrs. Jensen saying that she was in California having a good time. The mother-in-law sent $300 to assist Jensen in his search for his wife, but the foreman says he will return it, as he never wants to see her again. The woman is twenty-five years old. She is said to be handsome. Belmont is forty-one.

The couple were thrown together a lot at Spring Lake, N. J., where the foreman was in charge of the building of some bungalows for Belmont. They took long automobile rides together. Mrs. Belmont said that she did not report the matter earlier, as she was constantly hoping for her husband's return, and that she is willing to forgive him even now for the sake of the children. She was referred to the Bureau of Charities, being absolutely without means. She had discharged both of her servants following the expenditure of her cash in an effort to find her husband.

DIVORCE FOR DESERTED WIFE.

Trenton, July 28.—Chancellor Pitney has signed a final decree of divorce for Mrs. Mary Levy, of Brunswick avenue, from her husband, Edward Levy, formerly of 213 Fall street, on the ground of desertion.

In the deposition preceding the granting of the divorce, Mrs. Levy, whose name was Miss Mary McGowan, said that she married Mr. Levy on June 24, 1901, Squire Yard performing the ceremony. She averred that her husband wanted her to keep the union a secret from his family, because he was a Hebrew and his parents would not at first like his marrying an Irish girl.

According to her testimony, he took her to her home after the ceremony and then went home himself. Two days later he called on her mother, saying he wanted to see her, and that he was in a hurry to go to a wedding of a friend out of the city. He stayed fifteen minutes, talking with her mother and her, and that is the last she has ever seen of him.

TWO IN AUTO CRASH MAY DIE.

Car Turned Over Twice When Tire Burst While Rounding a Turn.

Robert Froriep, a garage owner of Toms River, and Thomas Davidson, a chauffeur for Daniel A. Egan, a wealthy Philadelphian, whose summer home is in Island Heights, were probably mortally injured in an automobile accident at Bayville, four miles from Toms River, on Ocean Boulevard, yesterday.

Joe Moran, chauffeur for Thomas Shibe, Jr., of Philadelphia, leaped from the car in time to escape with a few bruises. Froriep's back is said to be broken, and Davidson was still unconscious with concussion of the brain when they were taken to the Long Branch hospital.

The car, which belonged to Dr. Joseph S. Evans, of Philadelphia, had been in Froriep's garage for repairs. The three men had started down the county pike to see how the machine worked. Davidson drove, Froriep sat beside him, and Moran was in the rumble seat.

At Mott's Corners the party took the bend at full speed, when a tire exploded and the machine rolled completely over twice.

Froriep was found doubled up under the car. Davidson's arm was broken, besides his other injuries.

DELIVERY FOR STRAY DOGS

Official Catcher of Belleville, N. J., Also Stoned While at Work.

Henry Forbell, official dog catcher of Belleville, and his three assistants began the work of gathering up stray dogs yesterday, but their efforts, so far as the Silver Lake section was concerned, did not meet with success. The four men were assailed with bricks and stones, and they were compelled to leap into their wagon and drive off in a hurry to escape a mob.

To make matters worse, some person broke the lock on the door of the pound, in Holmes street, and allowed a dozen animals that Forbell had captured to run into the street.

SAYS HE WAS ROBBED AND PERHAPS DRUGGED.

While he was dozing in a hammock on the front porch of his home in Green Village, Sunday afternoon, Isaac Egbert thinks he was chloroformed. He is sure he was robbed of $100. When Egbert awoke he felt queerly and said he saw a man on a bicycle riding down the road. That is the story he told two neighbors, Herman Cooke and James Crane. When a reporter called yesterday at Mr. Egbert's home, where he lives alone, he was not there. The house was locked up. It was said Mr. Egbert was somewhere in the fields comprising his big farm. He had complained of no ill effects from the supposed drugging and had not reported the theft to the authorities.

WOMAN'S BODY NOT IN POND.

Belief Now That She's in Hiding and That Police Are Shielding Her.

Sphinxlike silence of the Burlington county authorities and their unexplained inactivity in the "woman mystery" case are interpreted from developments last night as a screen to shield from scandal the name of the woman who is now believed to be hiding with friends in or near Mount Holly.

Theories of a possible murder were exploded yesterday when a search made of Rues Pond failed to reveal any traces of the missing woman, although the presence of the torn clothing and broken combs in the depths of the pine thicket is not yet satisfactorily accounted for.

Think Fire Followed Prophets Trail.

Long Branch, July 28.—No little excitement has resulted from the small fire in the house of Edward Redd, in Potter avenue, Monday, among colored people. Redd had as his guest a colored preacher named George Washington Jones. Jones, when here nine years ago, conducted a revival meeting in one of the colored churches. He brought many of the colored people to the altar by prophecying all sorts of pestilence, fires and disasters, and the colored people believed in some of his prophecies. Not a few of them believe that his presence here is responsible for Monday's fire, which caused a loss of $800. The "prophet," who is a brother-in-law of Rev. Asbury Smallwood, lost his gold watch in the blaze.

Derail Car to Avoid Collision.

Passengers on a trolley car bound from Montclair to Newark got a bad scare shortly after 8 o'clock yesterday morning when the car was thrown from the track at the Bloomfield avenue crossing of the Lackawanna Railroad. As the car approached the grade crossing a train bound for New York was seen heading for the same point at a fast rate of speed. The man in charge of the safety gates lowered them to warn the motorman of the trolley car, and at the same time another man, employed to operate the safety switch, pulled the lever that controls the latter. The trolley car dashed into the blind switch and was thrown from the track. No one was hurt.

PIERROT'S SONG.

If you were kind, we two might stray
Forever where the fields were gay,
Your gown I'd weave of summer skies,
With sunshine and with butterflies
And love should never say you nay.

On thistledowns we'd sail away
Across the dreams of yesterday,
On lilies watch the moon arise,
If you were kind!

Who am I? Just the tear that lay
Where now I see the dimples play
I am the wistfulness that sighs
Thro' far-off dreams of Paradise.
For old time's sake you'd bid me stay,
If you were kind.

Depends on Point of View.

An Englishman and an Irishman were overheard discussing Miss Annette Kellerman and her "Diving Venus" act at the Fifth Avenue Theatre recently. Said the former:

"She came nearer swimming the Channel than anybody ever did."

"How close did she come?" inquired the Irishman.

"Eleven miles."

"Which coast?"

"The English, I think."

"Then begorra, that was close enough."—Success Magazine.

Tomorrow the acts as well as the motion pictures will undergo a change and Grace Gardner and company wil present a farcial sketch entitled "The Millinery Shop," which is said to be excruciatingly funny. Dolly Marshall and Allen and Tribble are also on the new bill and present refined comedy acts.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The old hand engine, which has done service for Excelsior H. & L. Co., for a number of years has been sold to a Rhode Island firm. The old machine was loaded on the cars Monday night by the members, and started on its journey yesterday.

MacLaughlin and Alberts will do the battery work in the game at Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon. "Warry" is putting up a great game in the box, and the fans can rest assured that Plainfield will have to go some to win out.

A score board along the third base line would be a convenience to the fans who attend the games. Many of them in the grand stand lose track of the score and are obliged to take their neighbors' word for it.

The oil on Front street and Park avenue has put an end for a time to the dust nuisance, the residents being able now to enjoy life on their piazzas.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving W. Quenan, of New York, have been visiting Mrs. Quenan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Randolph, of Grand street.

The members of St. Mary's parish, Stony Hill, are holding a picnic this afternoon and tonight on the ground adjoining the church.

Frank Iansan, of Park avenue, has been entertaining relatives from Newark.

Miss Marion Goodwin, of Stanbury avenue, is enjoying a two weeks vacation.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Frederick Boland and his wife and Joseph Brandt and his wife were arrested by Constable Pierce yesterday on complaint of Lawrence Kirwen, for breaking the peace. There will be a hearing tonight at 7:30 before Justice Rodgers in New Market.

Nude bathing continues to be practised by small boys in New Market lake to the annoyance of a large party of pleasure seekers who go boating there every afternoon.

The matter of stray dogs running about the borough will probably be taken up at the council meeting next Monday night.

The Rev. H. N. Jordan, of New Market has experienced some heavy floods in Arkansas recently.

The work of extending Center street through the Vail property is being pushed to completion.

Owen Mohan is able to be about after his recent illness.

Defender Fire Company meets tomorrow night.

William Sanford has been visiting out of town.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A large number of friends enjoyed a birthday party last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Galligan. It was given in honor of James Galligan, Jr., and John McDonough.

Theodore Pace is suffering from an abscess of his foot.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The attraction to be presented at the New Plainfield theatre on Monday night will be the dramatic version of George Barr McCutcheon's famous novel, "Graustark," or "A Love Behind a Throne." This attraction has proven to be one of the biggest successes in recent years, and has played to record-breaking receipts in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg and Chicago. Little else is talked about wherever the subject of plays is brought up, for "Graustark" holds the centre of the stage in the minds of the theatre-goer. The cast is exceptionally strong, and is headed by Miss Gertrude Perry, in whose hands the difficult role of "Yetive" is entrusted. Miss Perry has been praised for her beauty, her personal magnetism and the exquisite charm of her acting. "Lorry" will be played by William Wagner, and it is said he truthfully portrays the American as readers of Mr. McCutcheon's book know him. An elaborate scenic production, picturesque costumes and electrical innovations are used to enhance the value of this interesting play of love and intrigue. Too much cannot be said in favor of plays of this type, for they are wholesome and furnish entertainment to one's mother, wife and sister that refreshes them and makes the home circle happier for their having witnessed such a performance. The production is under the personal stage direction of James W. Castle, who formerly acted in the same capacity for Mme. Shumann-Heink Company.

9,000 at Marine Band Concert.

By special permission of the Navy Department, the United States Marine Band of Washington gave a concert in the Auditorium at Ocean Grove last night under the management of Tali Esen Morgan, before an audience of 9,000 people. Lieut. Santelmann and his men played a brilliant program, concluding with the "Tannhauser March," the band being accompanied by Will C. MacFarlane on the big Hope Jones organ.

SURE HE WAS A SUICIDE.

Newark Police Find That Nittinger Was in Bad Way Financially.

The Newark police say their investigation into the death of Benjamin Nittinger, who was found dead with a bullet hole in his head Monday morning, convinced them that the man was a suicide. With his marriage to Miss Annie Maler scheduled to take place tonight, and an Elizabeth real estate dealer coming to see him about the payment of a $750 deposit on a house in Elizabeth which he had planned to buy for $10,000, the authorities believe that Nittinger despaired of straightening out the tangle and, fearing to tell his sweetheart that he had deceived her and was a poor man, shot himself.

Nittinger made the Maiers believe he was a mechanical engineer, but Lieutenant Tuttle has learned that he was merely a mechanic acting as a draftsman. Up to a year ago his salary was $13.50 a week at Gould & Eberhardt's, but then it was made $15, and that was his wage when he died.

BURGLAR AT DAVENPORT FARM

Only Women in the House and They Scare Intruder by Shooting.

An attempt was made to rob the home of Mrs. Homer Davenport, wife of Cartoonist Homer Davenport, in Morris Plains, early yesterday morning. Mr. Davenport is not living with his wife now, having moved most of his large stock of birds and rare animals into New York State, where he has leased a farm.

Mrs. Davenport was awakened shortly after midnight by some one trying to get into a rear window. Having some women friends with her, visiting, all got up, and one woman obtained a revolver and fired several shots from a window. Another went to the tedephone to notify the police, but the wires were found cut.

The women then screamed for help and a neighbor came down in an automobile. He looked about the premises, but could not find any one.

BURNED HER MONEY.

Mrs. Slovack Wanted to Keep Daughter-in-Law from Getting It.

Anger at her daughter-in-law is said to have led Mrs. Josephine Slovack, of 512 Federal street, Trenton, to commit suicide at her home yesterday by hanging herself to two nails she had driven into the parlor door.

Before killing herself she burned up some $400 in money which she had saved and left a note saying that she did so that the daughter-in-law should not get the money. She also tried to pry open the trunk of her son, containing some $200 in savings, but in this she was unsuccessful. Mrs. Slovack was found dead by her son, John Slovack, when he returned home for dinner. She was 60 years old and very healthy.

TASTES FISHING JOYS IN JERSEY

Bloomfield Man in Hospital From Poison Ivy and Mosquitoe Bites.

Michael McNally, of New street, Bloomfield, is suffering from ivy poisoning, the result of a fishing trip to Oakes' Pond. McNally sat on the bank watching his rod, but bites, except those inflicted by mosquitoes, were few and far between. Finally McNally go so tired slapping at the insects that he fell asleep, and he rolled over into a patch of ivy.

When he woke up he saw his rod out in the middle of the pond. It had been carried off by a carp. To make maters worse, his face and hands began to swell and his eyes were closed. McNally is now under the care of a physician.

Canoeing in the Winter.

Winter cruising as a pastime is becoming more and more in vogue on Puget Sound, according to Recreation. Each year the fleet of boats hauled up on the beach at the close of the regular season is being diminished by recruits to the new sport. "Wet bottoms 365 days out of every year is the ordinary boast of the Puget Sound boat owner. You see, smuggled as it is behind the Cascades on one side and the Olympics on the other, with the warmer waters of the Kuroshiwo current pouring into the funnel-like Straits of Juan de Fuca, there is practically no such thing as freezing. In Seattle alone the estimated number of canoes exceeds 1,500. Even on New Year's Day, when regattas are held, Madison Park compares well with Riverside, Mass., or Belle Isle, Mich., in summer.

Die Near Same Hour.

Harry P. McCabe, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel, Garfield, received word Monday night that his sister had died in Philadelphia. He was about to start for that city yesterday when he received a telegraphic message informing him of the death of his brother, John W. McCabe, in Brooklyn. His sister, Mrs. Jude Lehre, expired at 4 p. m. and his brother at 6 p. m., only two hours separating the deaths.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF PATROLMEN AT PATERSON.

The annual convention of the Patrolmen's Benevolent and Protective Association, which takes place at Paterson on September 9, will have delegations from several cities including Plainfield. This association was organized seven years ago by Police Captain John J. O'Leary. It embraced when organized only four local lodges, Newark, Paterson, Jersey City and Elizabeth. It has grown to the extent of having twenty-three locals now.

TRAINED NURSES FOR CATS.

Describing the work of the Rockefeller Institute in McClure's Magazine, Burton J. Hendrick gives interesting details of animal operations. Because of the humane precautions taken, the writer asserts that they suffer very little.

Throughout the whole proceeding, the animal has the attendance of an expert trained nurse, says the writer. Clad in the conventional nurse's white garb, she gives the little vagrant the same minute attention that she would give a millionaire. The preliminary step is a warm bath in a porcelain tub precisely like that found in every well-ordered home.

The woman who has trobule in drying her hair may envy the expeditious manner in which the cat at the Rockefeller Institute solves a similar problem. From the tub it is placed in an adjoining cage; a crank is turned, starting an electric dynamo, a wave of hot air passes through and in two or three minutes the subject, clean and glossy, steps toward the so-called sterilization room.

More inesthetic is given an animal than a man; it can usually stand more, and does not experience the disagreeable physical complications that frequently assail the human hubject. Everybody who handles it or comes near it is thoroughly sterilized; the cat itself, after etherization, is washed in a disinfectant.

No up-to-date hospital for human beings is more perfect in its equipment than the chamber in which the operation takes place. The operating table is precisely like that used for a man, except that it is smaller; there is the same assortment of clean and shining instruments and everything in the room, from the white coat of the operating surgeon to the linen bandages and the hands of all the attendants, is sterilized.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

The wife and three children of William Ballenger, of Woodbury, who were afflicted at the same time with diphtheria, have all recovered.

While bathing in Berriman's Pond Millville, Edward Brown dived from a wharf, his head striking on a rock, rendering him unconscious.

Rev. William H. Caster, pastor of the Westville Baptist church, has accepted the call to the pastorate of the First Church, Winchester, Va., recently extended to him.

Miss Maude Cassaboon, of Glassboro, was moving a gasoline stove when some of the gasoline splashed out on a range and ignited, burning Miss Cassaboon badly about the hands and face.

For the first time in the thirty-nine years' history of the Pitman campmeeting all of the first day's services Sunday were conducted by colored people, and the change brought out an unusually big crowd.

Miss Matilda T. Landis, sister of Founder Charles K. Landis, has presented a statue of the youthful Shakespeare executed for Mr. Landis by Turini in New York in 1874 to the Vineland Public Library Association.

Playing with matches Monday afternoon, Thomas Moore, five years old, of 942 Howard street, Camden, set fire to his clothes and was burned about the back, neck and arms. He was removed to the Homeopathic Hospital.

It was decided by the Finance Committee of the Camden Council to purchase ground adjoining the Third Regiment Armory, on Haddon avenue, from the Cooper estate, for $40,000. A new High School is to be erected on the site.

Miss Louisa Livermore, daughter of W. Harrison Livermore, of Woodbury, a prominent politician of Gloucester County, has returned from the West Philadelphia Hospital, where she underwent a successful operation for appendicitis.

Running nearly five miles, Special Officer George Hahner, of Delanco, reached Rancocas just a few minutes too late to catch a man who, it is alleged, had made off with a bicycle and other property from a summer residence at Edgewater Park.

Tumbling from a boat he was unloading at a wharf at a licorice plant in South Camden, John Green, colored, of Fifteenth and South streets, Philadelphia, was drowned. It is believed that his head struck the wharf as he fell, rendering him helpless.

On a wager, Arthur Heritage, of Hurffville, walked to Atlantic City in twenty hours. He left Hurffville about 12 o'clock midnight and arrived at the shore at 8 o'clock in the evening. A brother, Dr. John Heritage, started on the trip, but quit at Clayton.

Mrs. Lena, Levandusky, of Brounig avenue, Trenton, reported to the police that she was awakened by feeling some one softly stroking her face. When she opened her eyes she saw a strange man leaning over her. She screamed and the fellow fled.

While the approaching wedding of a popular Vineland couple was being celebrated at the home of H. Cohen, Sunday night, a small child was taken sick. Suit has been strated by Pauline Dvorkin, of Passaic, through her father, against the Public Service Railway Company, for the recovery of compensation for damages sustained in getting off a trolley car at Main and Ellison streets, Paterson. Supreme Court Justice Trenchard in Camden Monday heard argument on a rule to show cause why a certiorari should not be allowed to review the action of the Atlantic City Council in awarding a $140,000 paving contract to the United Paving Company. The action was brought by Thomas McGovern, a contractor, of Trenton, who alleges that "fixed" specifications prevented competition.

War on seine fisherman who have been netting tons of weakfish in the upper bays near Atlantic City has been declared by officials on the cruiser Protector, which entered the inlet harbor late Sunday night with Game Wardens Mathis and Loder aboard. Fishermen who have been catching hundreds of fine fish with hook and line reported that rapacious fishermen have been busy with nets, and arrests will follow continuance of the work.

The strike of the Millard Construction Company's thirty-three hoisting engineers, who a week ago quit work in the Erie Railroad cut through Jersey City Heights, appears to have been lost. Their places have been filled by men who, so far, have done nothing to fulfill the strikers' predictions of accident because of incompetence. The police guard was withdrawn Monday after the company had informed Chief Monahan that special protection was no longer needed.

HELPFUL WORDS.

From a Plainfield Citizen.

Is your back lame and painful?

Does it ache especially after exertion?

Is there a soreness in the kidney region?

These symptoms indicate weak kidneys;

There is danger in delay.

Weak kidneys fast get weaker.

Give your trouble prompt attention.

Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly.

They strengthen weak kidneys.

Read this Plainfield testimony.

Mrs. Oliver Voorhees, 21 Stone street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Mr. Voorhees publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills in 1905 and I am now glad to confirm all he said at that time. He suffered from attacks of backache for years and the trouble would not yield to any treatment. His whole body was often very lame and sore and he had quite a bit of trouble from the irregular action of the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills, which he procured at Randolph's Pharmacy, helped him from the first and in a short time drove all symptoms of kidney complaint from his system. Since then he has never ceased praising this remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

grove Monday. They were Mrs. David R. Kirk, Mrs. George Turner and Mrs. Lewis C. Batten. They got off very well, too. Besides the baby show there was all kinds of fun, with a band of music playing for the dancers. One of the funny stunts was a pie-eating contest, and there were races for boys and girls and other diversions.

Mrs. Mary Behnke, of 231 Franklin street, Paterson, caused the commitment of her husband, Herman, to the county jail Monday. The couple own the Franklin street property, but the husband, according to his wife, leaves home for six or eight months at a time. Mrs. Behnke earns a living for herself and son by taking in washing. Recently her husband returned, and when she refused him money, she declares, he beat her. The woman entered charges for desertion, non-support and assault and battery.

With the object of destroying the English sparrows, an Anti-Sparrow Civic League has been formed at Moorestown. Though the sparrow is such a general pest in all parts of the United States, the Moorestown folks think that if they make an earnest effort to rid the town of the birds other places may follow suit. Traps with which to catch the birds are to be imported from England, and the assistance of the youth of the town is being enlisted. Prizes will be given for tearing down nests, destroying the young and breaking the eggs.

When a heavy touring car plunged through the guard rail at the Ancora bridge over the West Jersey and Seashore Railroad tracks on the White Horse turnpike Sunday night and hung suspended over the track by its two rear wheels, several persons narrowly escaped possible death. In the car at the time were George H. Knecht, chauffeur, of 1427 Wharton street, Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Burke, of the same address, and Miss Sarah West, of 1425 Wharton street. All of the occupants of the car were pitched from it, but landed on sand and escaped serious injury.

PROGRESS OF THE DAY ALL OVER THE WORLD.

In France about 600 duels are fought yearly.

There are only 770,000 natives in all Siberia.

In Germany 85,000 tons of tobacco are consumed a year.

The city of London has increased from an area of 0.3 square miles in the year 1200 to 117 square miles in 1908.

Nerve troubles are on the increase in the great cities of the world, owing to the strenuous business and social life.

The United States is the third largest annual producer of barley in the world—153,000,000 bushels—only 7,000,000 bushels less than Germany, with Russia leading.

Following the example set by the New York Central on its Adirondack lines, the Maine Central Railroad has placed in service on its branches running through forest regions a number of oil-burning locomotives. The company thinks it will be cheaper to use oil than to put out spark-ignited forest fires and pay damages for woodlands burned over.

In the manufacture of perfume Italy consumes yearly 1,860 tons of orange blossoms, 1,000 tons of roses, as well as quantities of other flowers.

Bear cubs are popular pets in London just now. A prominent dealer says that the taste inclines now to the Syrian variety, while a short time ago the Malayan bear was all the fashion.

Swamp and overflow lands of the United States aggregate in round terms 75,000,000 acres, of which 18,500,000 are in Florida, 9,500,000 in Louisiana, 6,000,000 in Mississippi and 5,750,000 in Arkansas.

Concrete foundation for a railroad crossing has been found a failure because it is too much of a success. The innovation was made experimentally on a Western railroad and the results watched with interest by railroad men all over the country. But the results seem to indicate that the foundation was so rigid that it was very hard not only on the rolling stock, but on the track and roadbed as well.

Unnecessary Work.

Henry dislikes being bathed and argues with his mother over every square inch of his four-year-old anatomy.

One night, when his patience was especially tried by what he considered wholly unnecessary work, he exclaimed:

Whispering Smith

By Frank H. Spearman

Illustrations by Andre Boules

Copyright, 1906, by Chas. Scribner's Sons.

"I am talking facts. Whispering Smith may have rigged the joker—I don't know. Whoever rigged it, it has been rigged all right."

"Any charge against Whispering Smith is a charge against me. He is not here to defend himself, but he needs no defense. You have charged me already with misleading surveys. I was telephoned for this morning to come over to see why you had held up our work, and your men cover me with rifles while I am riding on a public road."

"Cousin Lance!"

"You have been warned, and your men have to keep off this ranch. Your man Stevens cut our wires this morning—"

"As he had a perfect right to do on our right of way."

"If you think so, stranger, go ahead again!"

"Oh, no! We won't have civil war—not right away, at least. And if you and your men have threatened and browbeaten me enough for to-day, I will go."

"Don't set foot on the Stone ranch again, and don't send any men here to trespass, mark you!"

"I mark you perfectly. I did not set foot willingly on your ranch to-day. I was dragged on it. Where the men are grading now, they will finish their work."

"No, they won't."

"What, would you drive us off land you have already deeded?"

"The first man that cuts our wires or orders them cut where they were strung yesterday will get into trouble."

"Then don't string any wires on land that belongs to us, for they will certainly come down if you do."

Lance Dunning turned in a passion. "I'll put a bullet through you if you touch a barb of Stone ranch wire!"

Stormy Gorman jumped forward with his hand covering the grip of his six-shooter. "Yes, damn you, and I'll put another!"

"Cousin Lance!" Dicksie Dunning advanced swiftly into the room. "You are under our own roof, and you are wrong to talk in that way."

Her cousin stared at her. "Dicksie, this is no place for you!"

"It is when my cousin is in danger of forgetting he is a gentleman."

"You are interfering with what you know nothing about!" exclaimed Lance, angrily.

"I know what is due to every one under this roof."

"Will you be good enough to leave this room?"

"Not if there is to be any shooting or threats of shooting that involve my cousin."

"Dicksie, leave the room!"

There was a hush. The cowboys dropped back. Dicksie stood motionless. She gave no sign in her manner that she heard the words, but she looked very steadily at her cousin.

"You forget yourself!" was all she said.

"I am master here!"

"Also my cousin," murmured Dicksie, evenly.

"You don't understand this matter at all!" declared Lance Dunning, vehemently.

"Nothing could justify your language."

"Do you think I am going to allow this railroad company to ruin this ranch while I am responsible here? You have no business interfering, say!"

"I think I have."

"These matters are not of your affair!"

"Not of my affair?" The listeners stood riveted. McCloud felt himself swallowing, and took a step forward with an effort as Dicksie advanced. Her hair, loosened by her ride, spread low upon her head. She stood in her saddle habit, with her quirt still in hand. "Any affair that may lead my cousin into shooting is my affair. I make it mine. This is my father's roof. I neither know nor care anything about what led to this quarrel, but the quarrel is mine now. I will not allow my cousin to plunge into anything that may cost him his life or ruin it." She turned suddenly, and her eyes fell on McCloud. "I am not willing to leave either myself or my cousin in a false position. I regret especially that Mr. McCloud should be brought into so unpleasant a scene, because he has already suffered rudeness at my own hands—"

McCloud flushed. He raised his hand slightly.

"And I am very sorry for it," added Dicksie, before he could speak. Then, turning, she withdrew from the room.

"I am sure," said McCloud, slowly, as he spoke again to her cousin, "there need be no serious controversy over the right-of-way matter, Mr. Dunning. I certainly shall not precipitate any. Suppose you give me a chance to ride over the ground with you again and let us see whether we can't arrive at some conclusion?"

But Lance was angry, and nursed his wrath a long time.

CHAPTER XIII.

The Shot in the Pass.

Dicksie walked hurriedly through the dining room and out upon the rear porch. Her horse was standing where she had left him. Her heart beat furiously as she caught up the reins, but she sprang into the saddle and rode rapidly away. The flood of her temper had brought a disregard of consequences; it was in the glow of her eyes, the lines of her lips, and the tremor of her nostrils as she breathed long and deeply on her flying horse.

When she checked Jim she had ridden miles, but not without a course nor without a purpose. Where the roads ahead of her parted to lead down the river and over the Elbow Pass to Medicine Bend, she halted within a clump of trees almost where she had first seen McCloud. Beyond the Mission mountains the sun was setting in a fire like that which glowed under her eyes. She could have counted her heart-beats as the crimson ball sank below the verge of the horizon and the shadows threw up the silver thread of the big river and deepened across the heavy green of the alfalfa fields. Where Dicksie sat, struggling with her bounding pulse and holding Jim tightly in, no one from the ranch or, indeed, from the upcountry could pass her unseen. She was waiting for a horseman, and the sun had set but a few minutes when she heard a sharp gallop coming down the upper road from the hills.

All her brave plans, terror-stricken at the sound of the hoof-beats, fled from her utterly. She was stunned by the suddenness of the crisis. She had meant to stop McCloud and speak to him, but before she could summon her courage a tall, slender man on horseback dashed past within a few feet of her. She could almost have touched him as he flew by, and a horse less steady than Jim would have shied under her. Dicksie caught her breath. She did not know this man—she had seen only his eyes, oddly bright in the twilight as he passed—but he was not of the ranch. He must have come from the hill road, she concluded, down which she herself had just ridden. He was somewhere from the north, for he sat his horse like a statue and rode like the wind.

But the encounter nerved her to her resolve. Some leaden moments passed, and McCloud, galloping at a far milder pace toward the fork of the roads, checked his speed as he approached. He saw a woman on horseback waiting in his path.

"Mr. McCloud!"

"Miss Dunning!"

"I could not forgive myself if I waited too long to warn you that threats have been made against your life. Not of the kind you heard to-day. My cousin is not a murderer, and never could be, I am sure, in spite of his talk; but I was frightened at the thought that if anything dreadful should happen his name would be brought into it. There are enemies of yours in this country to be feared, and it is against these that I warn you. Good-night!"

"Surely you won't ride away without giving me a chance to thank you!" exclaimed McCloud. Dicksie checked her horse. "I owe you a double debt of gratitude," he added, "and I am anxious to assure you that we desire nothing that will injure your interests in any way in crossing your lands."

"I know nothing about those matters, because my cousin manages everything. It is growing late and you have a good way to go, so good-night."

"But you will allow me to ride back to the house with you?"

"Oh, no, indeed, thank you!"

"It will soon be dark and you are alone."

DELIGHTFUL WEATHER FOR CHOOSING FURS PRICES WILL NOT BE LOWER

From our point of vantage we see every evidence of much higher prices for furs when the season rightly opens, and a possible scarcity of them—when the buyers are thickest—all the more reason why all who can make up their minds as to just what character furs they desire should make selections now, even tho they are not prepared to pay for what they buy.

We make it easy by accepting a small deposit now and storing the furs for you until Fall so that you need not be burdened either with the payment or the care of the furs. We have previously given good reasons why you should buy furs during this Midsummer Sale. We are going to repeat some of them:

Lynx Skins now cost no less than $35, yet we will sell thruout the month of July the run of this sale, beautiful Lynx Muffs in rug or flat shape, with heads and tails, or superb Lynx Scarfs for only $29.50.

36-in. Near Seal Coats were sold here last year at the low price of $55. No store beat that price. Yet in this July Sale we are offering 50-in. Near Seal Coats for only $59—beautifully made and richly lined.

You may guide by these examples as they are indicative of the pricing all along the line.

The 50-in. Pony Coats we are selling at $35, $37.50 and $39 are wonderfully cheap.

The 36-in. Pony Coats at $29.50 are as good bargains.

Squirrel Muffs are here for as little as $5.50; Mink Muffs for as much as $175.

Squirrel Scarfs may be had for as little as $3.75, and you may buy superb Mink Scarfs for as much as $250.

Anyone desiring to buy furs in this sale may take advantage of the special prices, pay a small deposit, and have the furs laid aside for them until they are needed in the Fall. It is a grand opportunity all should take advantage of.

SEERSUCKER AGAIN.

With the advent of crepe for the summer gown there has been a revival of all materials of that class. Seersucker has been called back, and standing out from among the less expensive qualities, there is the East Indian seersucker, which may be got through the importer.

It is not cheap by any means, but it is almost everlasting. A soft, yet crisp quality marks it as desirable. It is silk and linen, and is the favored material with the English who are forced to live in torrid India. Men and women alike have found constant use for this delightful material, which may be shaken free of all wrinkles.

For the dweller in mountain camps there is nothing more desirable than our own low-priced striped seersucker. The afternoon dress of creamy crinkle, with its plain and its puckered stripe, is suitable for mother and daughter and will make ideal rompers for the baby.

Brother's and even father's shirts, when made of this same handy stuff, will prove more than satisfactory on their lonely wash day by the mountain lake.

Before leaving town, do not fail to deposit your valuables in our Safe Deposit Vault where they will be protected against fire and theft.

BASEBALL.

The Plains team will line up against Manager Dorflinger's team on Saturday afternoon, and as Murray and Ortleib are in their mid-season form just now, a snappy, close game should result. Nolan will be a his place in right field and the team will be the same as when it administered defeat to the Scotch Plains aggregation two weeks ago. There ought to be a record breaking crowd on hand to see the struggle.

By defeating the Boston Red Sox yesterday the Highlanders got back a few points in the percentage column. Chicago did not play which accounts for the gain. The Hilltoppers are playing a gingery game since Keeler got back into the milling, and from now on they ought to improve their position right along. Their playing yesterday was in marked contrast with the form displayed on their recent western trip.

Mathewson got back into the game again yesterday thereby surprising the fans and incidentally the Doves, who found the peerless twirler as hard a problem as ever. Eight little bingles he allowed, and this with a left hand, which is not yet in fighting trim. But in the first game of the double header the Bostons got next to Wiltse for a total of fourteen safe ones while the Giants could do nothing with Ritchie who replaced Tuckey in the third inning.

Walnuts Won.

The Walnut A. C. defeated the Laurel A. C. 18 to 0 at the DeLacey avenue grounds today. A Bayonne man umpired. Eolyan and Allen was the victorious battery, and Moore and Camper were the Laurel battery.

SUMMIT'S PECULIAR FIND IS A JAPANESE PUZZLE.

Summit's strange animal which was unearthed under the flooring of Edward B. North's barn, Sunday afternoon in that place, and is being mounted by David B. Dickinson, a taxidermist, of West Livingston, who admits he doesn't know the creature's family history, has turned out to be a Japanese puzzle. All effort to class the peculiar looking carnivore in the category of the otter went for naught, when Frank Grady, an authority on delivering mail, in his capacity as a letter-carrier connected with the local postoffice, declared the find to be nothing more than a Japanese pig, which fetched up recently in a laundry in Morris avenue, where T. Komatsu and K. Tatsukawa hold forth, all the way from the wilds of Mexico.

The Japs, however, handed the palm to Grady, so far as naturalistic stunts go, for, while they knew the queer looking animal was a native of Mexico, they passed up any attempt at a genealogical analysis of their lost "pet." As was stated, Oscar Anderson, employed near where the animal was found, had to use the butt end of a rifle to kill it after firing four shots into its body.

The Japs said the animal had had its nest beneath the flooring of the laundry, but never came out in the day, as it could not see. Each night, so the laundrymen said, it made its appearance, and was fed bread and water. The Japs were unaware their "pet" had strayed away until the reporter called on them. Their explanation for having huch an unusual guest, meaning the animal, was that it afforded them plenty of amusement.

NEW WAY TO RAISE CAR FARE.

Girls Steal Skirt in Store and Send It Back to Get the Money on It.

A nine-year-old boy went into the skirt department of a local store at Broad and Market streets, Newark, yesterday afternoon with a woman's skirt wrapped in paper and a note purporting to be from his mother, stating she had purchased the skirt there a little while before, but it was too short for her daughter. He asked for the return of the money.

The saleswoman knew the skirt had come from her counter, but that she had not sold it. The store detective questioned the boy, and he said his sister and another girl, who were waiting for him a block away, had sent him with the skirt.

The girls were found and tearfully admitted at police headquarters that the skirt had been stolen from the counter. They did not want it, but did want money to get to Brooklyn, and had thought to obtain the refund on the skirt.

The girls said they were Therese Collins, 16 years old, of 197 Broadway, Brooklyn, and Mary Martin, 14 years, of 1,023 Broadway, Brooklyn. The boy was John Collins. They had been on a vacation visit to some friends in the suburbs, and, having spent their money, had found themselves stranded.

The management declined to prosecute, and the police passed at hat and the three obtained money enough to take them home.

GIRL MYSTERY DWINDLES.

Mt. Holly, July 28.—From his investigation Detective Parker has arrived at the conclusion that there is nothing in the case of the woman known as Miss Adelaide Wilson, of New York, who, with an alleged Brooklyn broker, registered at the Metropolitan Inn at Burlington a week ago as Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins, and then suddenly disapeared after hiring a horse at Horton's livery and abandoning the rig near here. It is declared she left here at 10:40 on Thursday night for Philadelphia. Detective Parker says that on a lane leading from the Rancocas road to the creek there was found pieces of clothing, a hair comb, a bottle of whiskey and imprints of a woman's shoe, leading to the impression that there was a struggle and foul play. This, the detective says, was the work of tramps located at that point.

Love letters sent to Miss Wilson, addressed to her in care of Mrs. Goff, New York City, were written, it is said, by Theodore J. Symes, of Brooklyn. The letters are in the safe of Prosecutor Samuel A. Atkinson, who is away on his vacation.

In Honor of St. Ann de Beaupre.

Elizabeth, July 28.—An eight days' novena in honor of St. Ann de Beaupre closed Monday night at St. Patrick's church, Elizabethport, with an immense record breaking attendance. The rush for silver medals of Very Rev. Dean Gessner's patron saint was so great that a couple of women partly fainted, while others barely escaped being trampled upon. Dean Gessner was vexed over the scramble for the coveted religious emblems and refused to distribute them last night, telling the people they would have to call for them at the church yesterday.

No Cash; Work Stops.

Atlantic City, July 28.—Lack of funds has caused a sudden halt in the work of rebuilding the city hall, started several weeks ago, and angry officials whose quraters are torn up will apply to the council to have a temporary loan made that the work may continue. Contractors refused to continue when payments for the partially completed job were not met when due.

THE LARGEST FAIR IN THE WORLD.

Long before Columbus discovered America Russia was holding her great market at Nijni Novgorod, for history tells us that the first fair was held there in 1366. Since that time each year men and women have gathered from all parts of Europe and Asia to offer their wares at this Russian market.

The fair, which covers eight square miles, is a town in itself. The church belonging to the fair is particularly beautiful and was built to mark the spot of the meeting of the two great rivers. Its domes are heavily coated with gold, and may be seen for miles. The ground occupied by the fair buildings is low and marshy, the paving vile, and the odor from mudholes nauseating.

The busines is conducted on Eastern principles. There is no fixed price—everything is worth what it will fetch. A Tartar will ask twice as much as an article is worth, and there is a sort of fascination in bargaining with him, and in the end you pay more than the article is worth. Everywhere one hears the click of the abacus—wooden beads on wires, such as we learned to count on as children.

The long, poorly lighted buildings are filled with merchandise of every description—German toys, cotton goods of every variety, umbrellas, Turkish silks, Persian carpets, tawdry jewelry and famous Orenburg wool shawls, which are so soft they may be drawn through a lady's bracelet. Whole streets are devoted to the sale of samovars, Russian boots and slippers fill many shops, and a square or two is devoted to the sale of ikons. Fruits and hardware are sold on the river front, and I saw hundreds of bags or raisins on the wharf ready for shipment.

The greatest sight of the fair is the furs, for no country produces such a wealth of furs as the Land of the Bear. Several acres are devoted to fur shops of every description. There are hundreds of bear skins, ranging in size and beauty from the huge polar and grizzlies to the soft shiny coats of the cubs of the small black bear. Leopard and tiger skins are plentiful, and there are thousands of lynx and wolf skins cartloads of tiny ermines and Russian squirrels and bale upon bale of sables. In one place I actually walked for squares through bales of these precious sable skins. Persian lamb skins, too, were plentiful.

The fair opens in July and lasts until September. After that the unsold goods are stored, tents are struck, flags are furled, hotels are barred up, the governor-general goes back to his residence in the upper town, the pontoon bridge across the river is removed and the place is left to take care of itself. In early autumn the rains set in, the river rises and the fair ground is soon under water. This freezes by the first of November, and Nijni's great market place becomes a vast steppe of ice. —Mrs. C. R. Miller in Leslie's Weekly.

Urban Biscuits.

The larger a city the smaller the biscuits. In the country biscuits are frequently met that are as big as feather beds, but in a large city they are too small to chew and are swallowed like pills.—Atchison Globe.

THE DESERTER.

Ere yet he tried the metal of his blade,
When first he heard the battle bugles sound,
He turned his back upon the canonade,
And flung his loaded weapons to the ground!
Not one of all the brave that won the fight
Can show a wound as deep as that he feels—
For cowardice has followed day and night
To brand him with a scar that never heals!

—Aloysius Coll in Appleton's Magazine.

"What are you going to put in there?" asked his wife.

"Peas, dear," replied the man with the trowel. "Say, if you're going into the house, bring out a can with you. You know—the kind we had for dinner yesterday!"—Puck.

PLAYGROUND AGITATION

Mayor Considering Appointment of Commission as Result of Inspection.

MODEL AFTER EAST ORANGE.

Plainfield Officials and Others Make a Tour and Return Home Enthusiastic.

Playgrounds for this city's children may be established this fall if the present plans of a body of prominent local citizens and city officials who made the trip by automobile yesterday to visit the East Orange playgrounds materalize. The Plainfield automobile club will be asked to transport fifty or a hundred more prominent citizens of this city to East Orange within two weeks in order to awaken their interest and enlist their support for the project, which may later include the establishing of small playgrounds in each of the five primary school yards of this city, as well as one general playground.

A State law authorizes the mayor of a city to appoint a playground commission of three to care for matters relative to the founding of, and care of, playgrounds. If the interest manifested when the next party of Plainfielders visit East Orange is as great as it was yesterday, Mayor Fisk will take steps in the matter.

Mayor Fisk said this morning that he was seriously considering the proposition of appointing such a commission and would probably announce his decision shortly.

A Daily Press reporter investigated conditions with reference to the establishment of playgrounds in this city. It was found that an experiment could be made for $50, which would include all of the essentials of a model playground. Several sites in the vicinity of West Third street and South Second street and in the east end convenient to Richmond street and Cottage place were found. Professional advice was sought as to the best means of raising funds, and the petrinent question "Does Plainfield need playgrounds—if so, why?" was asked of professional playground directors who were made familiar with conditions in Plainfield by the reporter.

The Plainfield Mothers' Association, composed of mothers of city school pupils, endorsed the project of having playgrounds, and Ira W. Travell, former principal of the City High School, came out strongly in favor of the project. Owing to the educational significance of the movement of other cities in establishing playgrounds, Harry Marshall, president of the Plainfield Board of Trade, decided to investigate conditions. He studied the matter up, and about a week ago made a trip to East Orange. He was so favorably impressed that a larger party was gathered yesterday who again visited East Orange.

East Orange Playgrounds.

The party that made the trip yesterday was composed of Mayor Chas. J. Fisk, Harry Marshall, president of the Board of Trade; ex-Mayor James F. Buckle, Councilman R. I. Tolles, Judge William Newcorn, Mrs. Steven Voorhees, Harry Van Emburg, William Townsend, Mrs. F. W. Butler, the Rev. Charles M. Anderson, the Rev. Elory Bowers and the Rev. Father Hogan, John A. Gaffney and a Daily Press reporter. At East Orange the party was met by City Clerk Lincoln E. Rowley, who is secretary of the Playground Commission; Fred A. Reimer, city engineer, and Police Commissioner Edgar Sharp. The party was first taken to the main Orange Oval playground, and later to the playgrounds attached to the five public schools: Ashland, Columbian, Eastern, Elmwood and Nassau. The details of the workings of each were explained in full.

The Orange Oval playground cost $50,000 originally, which was raised by a bond sale. The cost of maintenance is several thousand dollars a year. It includes six acres, and is visited by 800 people daily. It contains seven tennis courts, two basketball courts, a baseball field, running tracks, sand boxes, children's bamboo slides, swings, hammocks, teeter boards, and the regular gymnasium apparatus suspended from large iron frames. Four instructors are in charge of the main playground. They are a principal director, a tennis instructor, an athletic instructor and a young woman who entertains smaller girls. Ten shelter houses with parlor games are located in different parts of the playground park. At the school yard playgrounds one young woman is in charge. The apparatus here is confined to the gymnasium frames, swings, sand boxes and bamboo slides.

DOG CRUSADE CONTINUES

One Owner Killed His Pet Hoping to Escape Paying License Fee.

AND IS PUNISHED FOR IT.

Judge Runyon Indignant and Imposes a Fine on John Mellick, an Italian.

Seeking to avoid payment of the $2.50 license fee for his dog, John Mellick, an Italian, of Willover street, killed the animal last night, after he had been notified to appear in the city court this morning for harboring the unlicensed dog. Facing Judge Runyon today, the man said he had no dog. Cross questioned by the Judge, he confessed that he had killed it last night to avoid buying a license. Indignant at the means to dodge the law, City Judge Runyon imposed a fine of $2.50, so Mellick saved no money by killing the dog. In fining Mellick, City Judge Runyon took occasion to score him heavily for killing his dog. "This ordinance," he said, "is not formulated for the wholesale destruction of dogs."

The police rounded up nine more delinquent dog owners for appearance in the city court this morning, and City Judge Runyon's edict, "a license before night, or a five-dollar fine tomorrow," sent the party over to the city clerk's office when court adjourned. The usual excuses were submitted, but without avail. These are the license buyers: Gustave Carlson, of Willover street; Mrs. Kline, of West Third street; Mrs. Neuberger, of West Third street; Mrs. Polock, of Evona avenue; Jennie Schanck, of Willover street; William Wenzle, of Willover street; William Medick, of West Third street, and Angelo Cibreno, of Richmond street.

Mrs. Neuberger, who is "new" in this "berg," said that she didn't know that dogs had to be licensed. Inquiry showed that a neighbor had a licensed dog which she frequently saw, and the excuse frazzled. Another woman said that her dog was so small that she didn't consider it necessary to get a tag for it.

"I've got two dogs, Judge," said an Italian, "but I don't want 'em. I have children enough to take care of." The illusion did not make it clear as to whether the dogs were treated like children or the children treated like dogs, but the excuse was quashed, anyhow. Another man said that he thought his house was so "suburban" that the city ordinance didn't effect his dogs.

A CRUSADE AGAINST ALL UNLICENSED DOGS.

Because he did not have his dog licensed Tony Rondo, an Italian fruiter, paid a fine of three dollars when arraigned before Mayor Townsend this morning in the borough police court. This is in line with the activity of the borough police in seeing that the borough ordinance is followed.

Stray bow wows that have been unmuzzled have been coralled and thus far two have been shot this week. No leniency will be shown to offenders and ignorance of the law will not be taken as an excuse as it has been given sufficient publicity already.

Service by 'Plains Society.

A delegation of about twenty members of the B. Y. P. U., of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, will be in charge of the service at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home tonight, when Captain Saunders will be the principal speaker. Miss L. C. Congar will sing, and there will be cornet selections by Percy Mygrant, of Fanwood. The party will leave Scotch Plains on the 7:15 car.

Horse Was Frightened.

One of Neuman Brothers' horses, driven by Fred Hopewell, of Richmond street, became frightened while in front of F. W. Goddard's house on East Ninth street, yesterday morning, and ran down the street at top speed, doing no damage to anything but the harness.

Party at the Y. W. C. A.

Don't forget the frolic in the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium this evening. The committee, composed of those who have lately returned from the Silver Bay and Northfield conferences, hope lots of girls will be there to join in the fun.

To Visit Holy Land.

Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Herring, who are touring Europe and the Orient, joined Cook's tourists at London and are in and about Jerusalem now, having planned to visit this part of the Holy Land between July 27 and August 3.

Frank Dencklan, borough health inspector, left yesterday for an extended trip West.

Y. M. C. A. WORLD'S MEET

Ernest R. Ackerman and William D. Murray Among the 12,000 Delegates.

BARMEN-EBERFELD, GERMANY.

Sessions Began Yesterday—7,942 Associations, 1,939 Being In North America.

Over twelve thousand delegates, representing thirty countries in all, assembled at Bamen-Eberfeld, Germany, yesterday, at the opening of the triennial World's Conference of the Young Men's Christian Association. There are forty delegates from North America, State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman and William D. Murray, both of this city; Dr. Lucien C. Warner, chairman of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A.; C. S. Ward, campaign secretary of the international committee; James L. Houteling, of Chicago, founder of the St. Andrew's Brotherhood, John R. Mott and Robert Watchorn, formerly Commissioner of Immigration at New York, being among the most prominent.

Many of the delegates arrived from England having been in attendance at the Oxford Students' Christian Federation, which has been in session at Oxford University. Among these was Mr. Murray, of this city. Although the two organizations are distinct, they are co-relative to a large degree and some of the most important subjects discussed at Oxford will be considered at the conference here.

Mr. Ward, who has raised over a million dollars this year for Associations buildings in the United States and Canada, was given an enthusiastic greeting, at the suggestion of Mr. L. C. Warner, chairman of the International Committee.

The report of the secretary, Richard C. Morse, shows that there are 7,942 associations in the world, of which 1,939 are in North America. The total membership of the American associations is 446,032 and they own 630 buildings, valued at nearly $46,000,000. There are 519,772 volumes in the 784 libraries owned by the various associations, and the enrolled students in evening educational classes number over 44,000, while 187,110 are registered in the physical departments. Nearly three thousand secretaries and other paid officials are employed, in local, State and international associations, whose salaries during the last year aggregated $6,992,294.

At the urgent request of Turkish delegates, particular emphasis will be laid upon plans for the development of Y. M. C. A. work in the Ottoman Empire. They have convinced the international officers and members of the leading committees that something more is needed to place Turkey on a firm foundation politically than the adoption of a constitution and the deposition of Abdul Hamid. Nothing but Christian effort, it was explained by one of the delegates today, can change the character of the great solid mass of Mohammedans, many of whom have no respect whatever for the new regime at Constantinople. Race hatred cannot be obliterated by a stroke of the pen, and the Young Turks, who have made an honest and heroic effort to assist the Committee of Union and Progress are understood to be in favor of helping the Young Men's Christian Association in Turkey in every way possible.

PLAINFIELD CLERGYMEN AMONG GOVERNOR'S GUESTS.

Plainfield clergymen are among the ministers of the State who are guests of Governor Fort at his Sea Girt cottage today. The Rev. John S. Zelie, the Rev. J. Anderson and others in this city were included in the number. The Rev. John T. Diggs, pastor of the Mt. Zion church, and the Rev. T. D. Tildon, of Bethel chapel, were also among the guests.

Governor Fort started the innovation last year of having the clergymen pay him a visit at the State camp, and he was so well pleased with the experiment that he again asked them to come as his guests today, the third Governor's day of the season.

A Progressive Euchre.

Mrs. Hamilton Gutmann entertained a part of friends at a progressive euchre at her home on West Front street yesterday. An informal social time was enjoyed, after which light refreshments were served. First prize was won by Mrs. F. W. Weed and second prize was won by Mrs. Craig.

Opium Eater to Speak.

George Emery, a converted opium eater will speak at the Rescue Mission in the W. C. T. U. rooms, in the Babcock building, at 8 o'clock tonight. A welcome is extended to all.

MRS. ALLEN B. LAING HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Mrs. Allen B. Laing in a Buick car narrowly averted crashing into the display window of the shoe store of Morris Abrams on West Front street at 8 o'clock this morning. She was driving the car along the street, and to avoid running into a wagon which turned in front of her, steered her machine directly to the right. The machine skidded and plunged up on the sidewalk, and it was within two inches of the plate glass window before the brakes brought the machine to a stop. A child was in the machine with Mrs. Laing. No one was injured and the car was in no ways damaged. Pedestrians assisted in backing the machine to the street again.

MRS. BECKER, HELD FOR GRAND JURY, GIVES BAIL

Waiving examination before City Judge Runyon on a complaint by Ralph DiMatthews, of East Fourth street, who accuses her of having taken a roll of oil-cloth valued at $15 from his apartments, Mrs. Kathryn Becker, of East Fourth street, and until Monday a tenant in the house occupied by DiMathews, was held under $100 bail to await the action of the grand jury at her hearing before City Judge Runyon at the city court today. Mrs. Becker was her own bondsman. She has retained Francis J. Blatz as her attorney.

The floor-covering was taken from a locked store room in the cellar of the house where DiMatthews is a tenant. Mrs. Becker hired tow men to help her in the moving, but neither of these know anything about the oilcloth, according to their stories. The floor-covering was found in the attic of Mrs. Becker's new apartments at 226 East Fourth street by Detective Sergeant Flynn, who searched the house Tuesday. It was stowed away behind a couple of screen doors. DiMatthews secured it again this morning.

PROSPERITY RETURNING AT THE LOCAL SHOPS

Prosperous times are gradually coming around for the shops and factories in the neighborhood of this city, and it will not be very long before prosperity will be leaving its marks on every industry throughout the State. Tariff talk and inactive tariff reformers are a combination which is hard to beat, but they have one foe to contend with which must not be left out of the reckoning. The demands of trade and progress make it imperative that the products of our industries shall equal the demands made on them. Hence the gradual improvement.

In some places this demand has not been a gradual gain but rather an insistent importunity for the goods manufactured. At the Levering and Garrigues Company, in West Dunellen, orders amounting to 700,000 tons of iron have been recently received and next week a night force will be added to the already large number of men employed in order that the contracts may be filled on time.

At the Pond Machine Tool Works, there has been a gradual upward trend and while this company is not working overtime they are taking on men every day, and so increasing their force that they are keeping abreast of the demand for their product, which is far in advance of that of any time during this year.

At the Walter Scott Printing Press Works a rush is on and overtime is the rule, twelve and a half hours being the average day's work and a full day on Saturday. There is work on hand enough to keep the plant running full time for several months, and there appears to be no sign of abatement in orders.

A Surprise Party.

Miss Mary Grady, of Washington, D. C., who is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. M. Crane, of East Third street, was tendered a surprise party last evening. Friends from this city, New York, Brooklyn, and other nearby cities were present. An informal social time was enjoyed which was followed by light refreshments. Among the gifts received by Miss Grady were a manicure set from her sister and a watch from her uncle, M. Crane. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. M. Crane, of this city, Mrs. Grady, of New York, and the Misses Mary Grady, Jennie Grady, Carrie Coon, Edith Meyers, Amanda Ferry, Henrietta Giles, Julia Mercier and Frank Huff, Frank Mohart, Walter Wilson, George Ivins, Jerry Griffen, John Mollwater, John Williams and John Grady.

I would not be a turkey wild, nor yet a little duck,
Because I know by Daniel's gun I surely should be struck.
But if I were a little boy, all shaken with the chills,
You bet your life I'd send for Dan to shoot me full of pills.

LAWYERS WAIT FOR IMPORTANT DECISION

In the District court this morning five cases were disposed of and judgment rendered on proof, the other ten cases on the list went over until August 5. On that date there is a list of thirty-five cases to be disposed of. The case of Alfred Canfield against Louis Kadish which Judge Newcorn took under advisement at the last session of the court was not ready for adjudication and went over for another week.

This case is rather complicated. Alfred Canfield seeks to recover in replevin proceedings two pool tables and their accessories which were sold by Canfield to Samuel Thornton (colored), and which were subsequently sold by Moledeski, Thornton's landlord, to recover an amount of overdue rent. The tables were bought at auction by Kadish and the question now is whether Moledeski, as a landlord had chattel rights in the tables by reason of their being on his premises. The result is being awaited with keen interest by lawyers and clients alike.

SODA WATER NOT FOOD.

Plainfield Man's Hunger Excuse for Theft Fails.

Hunger as an excuse for the theft of five bottles of soda water and some preserves does not go in the Court of Quarter Sessions at Elizabeth, as Oscar Schmidt, of this city, who was sentenced yesterday to serve three months in the county jail for that offense, found out.

Schmidt was caught coming out of a cellar window in the place he robbed by Patrolman Vanderweg July 4, and was shot in the left heel while attempting to escape. He was discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital a few days ago.

Voting Machines Not Wanted.

The Plainfield Democratic club is in dead earnest about the removal of the voting machines, and are circulating petitions for signatures of from one to ten persons, which when filled out are to be mailed to H. W. Marshall, not later than July 30. There is also a large petition at the Railroad station in charge of the agent on the east bound side. Edward Nelson, of East Fifth street, also has a petition for which he is soliciting signatures.

Exit, "Great White Way."

The Public Service Corporation have men engaged in removing the electric light bulbs which were strung along Somerset and Front streets for the illumination of those streets during the Charter Day celebration.

Cake Sale Today.

The cake, lemonade and ice cream sale to be held by a group of children on West Seventh street this afternoon will be held at the home of Mrs. J. E. Kimball, 633 West Seventh street, from 3 to 6 o'clock.

DAVIES PROVES AN ALIBI, MAY SUE COMPLAINANT

Augustus Davies, of Union Village, proved an alibi before Justice of the Peace Snape in the Watchung court yesterday afternoon, showing that he was in bed and asleep when the alleged burglary at the home of Mrs. Lena Shott took place on Tuesday night, July 20. Two women, Miss Cunningham, a cousin from New York, and his sister, appeared in court to substantiate the evidence submitted by Davies' parents that he was in bed in his own home at the time that the burglary took place.

Davies feels that his good name has been injured and may commence action against Mrs. Lena Shott, who accused him of committing the burglary and had him haled to court on the charge. Davies was represented by S. S. Swackhamer.

The defense was ready to bring in some interesting evidence showing that Mrs. Shott entertained a friend by the name of Davis at her home after the burglary. This man, it was alleged in court, went to her house to seek shelter at 2 o'clock in the morning. The evidence was not necessary, and because it did not bear on the case was barred.

Hence the case still remains a mystery, and the burglar who wore a dark suit, a fancy hatband, and who risked his liberty to steal tinsel jewelry and fake watches, is still unknown.

DRUNKEN MAN WENT TO SLEEP DRIVING HOME.

A telephone message from a Woodland avenue resident yesterday afternoon informed the police that a man was sleeping off a jag in a wagon near the house. The intoxicated sleeper proved to be Charles Payne, who lives at Alton. He was fined $3 when arraigned before City Judge Runyon today.

Payne assured the judge that he had taken "nothing harder than beer," because his stomach can't stand whiskey. The 'softer" intoxicant had the same effect, however, and he fell asleep as he drove home. The horse stopped after a time, and a pedestrian, seeing the sleeping driver, tied the animal near the Woodland avenue house.

Parents Chage Incorrigibility.

Miss Sadie Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Knutter, of East Third street, has been accused of incorrigibility by her parents, who will bring the case before Borough Recorder David S. Campbell, of Dunellen, before whom the warrant for her arrest was sworn out. She has been remanded to the Dunellen police.

Mrs. Laura E. Waldron, of Brooklyn, has returned home after spending several days with her sister-in-law, Mrs. S. W. Milligan, of Orchard place.

COUNTY TICKET BOOMS

Pierce, Kirstein and Schwartz All Want to Be Returned to the Assembly.

SOME OTHER CANDIDATES TOO.

The political pot in Union county has not yet begun to boil for the fall campaign, but it is known that none of the office holders whos term expires is adverse to accepting a renomination at the hands of the Republican party. Three assemblymen, a register of deeds, a county clerk and a coroner are to be named.

So far as the Democrats are concerned no booms have been sprung, but in the Republican camp things are different. A. F. Kirstein, of Rahway; Carlton B. Pierce, of Cranford, and Augustus W. Schwartz, of Elizabeth, it is said reliably, all want to go back to the Assembly. Both Pierce and Kirstein have served two terms. The former's record is considered so exceptional, so it is said by the politicians, that there can be no opposition to his ambition for another term. As for Kirstein, it is believed he will be up against it for last year the local option forces train d their heavy artillery on him, but nevertheless he was second high man on the whole ticket. For a new man, Schwartz, it is said, made a fair showing at Trenton, and his friends will make an effort to have him renominated. Lloyd Thompson, of Westfield, and Schuyler Cady, of Summit, are also candidates it is reported.

It is a question whether the Assembly nomination customs can or will be invoked this year. These customs are that an assemblyman is entitled to two terms and to no more. They have been the object

WESTFIELD.

A gang of thirty Italians brought from Philadelphia here to work on the sewer extension, struck Tuesday afternoon because they were not to be paid $1.50 per day, which they claimed was promised them when they left Philadelphia. They did not have money enough to pay their way back to Philadelphia. Most of them spent the night in the woods for want of a better shelter.

The Clark Township new schoolhouse will be commenced next week. When the new building is ready the schoolhouse at Picton will be discontinued.

MASTER BUILDERS IN QUARTERLY CONVENTION.

Summit, July 29.—The twenty-fifth quarterly State convention of the Master Builders' Association was opened in Odd Fellows' Hall, here, Tuesday afternoon. From what could be gleaned from the delegates, the trade is running along smoothly and steadily, and the convention will be called upon to act in few labor disputes, if any.

The tenement-house committee, which was appointed for the purpose of looking into the affairs of the Tenement-house Commission, will probably recommend that the organization continue with renewed vigor its efforts to have none but practical builders act as inspectors. Some of the inspectors, it is said, were employed at trades entirely remote from the carpenter trade before they were employd as inspectors.

The special committee on industrial education is prepared to report its efforts along the line of trying to arouse interest in industrial schools on the part of the State departments. As yet, the committee will report, the progress has been slow, owing to the difficulty of getting the State bodies to act, but it will urge the continuance of the agitation.

TIME TO READ.

Time to read will never come to the housekeeper who has a microscopic eye for dirt. She should occasionally turn the blind side of her vision to the furniture, to dust on the chairs and tables, that she can keep in view what is going in in the world.

This sounds like hersy to the conscientious homemaker, who hates a horrible bound by sweeping and dusting, but sees no way out of it. What she needs is to distinguish between dirt and disorder.

There are women to whom a grain of dust on the inside round of a chair spells dirt, and a book out of place gives infinitely more concern than books unread.

No one will deny the beauty of cleanliness and the advantage of orderly, systematic housekeeping. But there is such a thing as paying too much for that ideal.

A house that is spotless at the price of a family's peace of of the housekeeper's best self is the worst sort of an investment. You, the woman, are of vastly more importance than your surroundings. If you feel yourself becoming a mere drudge, if your family is growing away from you mentally, if your nerves are weakening under a fetich of cleanliness, get time to read if you have to steal it or let the baby's face to unwashed occasionally.—Philadelphia Press.

Quite Appropriate.

"She's starring."

"And the young fellow who seemed to be so devoted to her?"

Wee Willie Keeler gets right down to business when he does play ball. Three hits out of five times at bat is going some.

That Donlin deal is hanging fire and why? Just because "public opinion" don't hanker after the change, and Murray is good enough anyhow. It is said that there is considerable friction among the board of directors of the club, owing to the stand taken by Murray. He says he has no intention of resigning and wants to know what they are going to do about it. Murray has thousands of admirers in Philadelphia and is receiving encouragement every day from the fans, who write to him teling him to stand pat.

Peter Wilson, the new Yankee pitcher, has shown quality in his last two games. In the last game against Boston, he allowed but four hits and struck out six of the Bostonians.

Chester L. Nourse, the former Brown University pitcher, did fairly well in the two innings he pitched against the Highlanders Tuesday. Manager Joe Lake, of the Boston Americans, believes the young man will make good.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

Jeffries has at last posted his $5,000 forfeit to bind a match with Johnson, and that without making any grand stand flourishes nor extraordinary conditions. The fourth article of the set of seven stipulations regarding the fight is significant; it says:

"Duration of bout to be anywhere from twenty to one hundred rounds." By the time it is over Johnson will wish it had been a limited round bout, say six at the most.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

A band of gipsies is camping below Millville, and the farmers who have been missing chickens have threatened to burn the camp unless they move.

James Riley, one of Pitman's best known citizens and church workers, died yesterday from peritonitis, following a kick from a horse a week ago.

Walter Kester, a farmer at Johntown, has had thirty sheep either killed or wounded by dogs during the past week. Two dogs caught in the flock yesterday were killed.

Slipping on a banana, Mrs. Mary Taylor, twenty-six years old, of 3010 Pleasant street, Camden, last night sustained a fracture of the left leg. She was taken to Cooper Hospital.

Ernest Capewell, of Willow and Mercer streets, Gloucester, is suffering from an injury to his right hand caused by the prong of a buckle on a driving rein, from which blood-poisoning is feared.

There was a great demand for netting in Millville yesterday, when the Board of Health instructed Inspector Bullock to arrest all fruit and produce dealers who failed to have their stands covered with netting.

John Krauder, sixty years old, Haddon and Atlantic avenue, Camden, left home Monday to go to the bank, and has not since returned. His family notified the police yesterday, and said they could not account for his absence.

The Cumberland County Grangers have arranged a two days' picnic and convention at Tumbling Dam Park, Bridgeton, August 16 and 17, the week following the big picnic at Pitman. There will be national speakers and farm exhibits.

Mrs. Rebecca Dare, wife of Rev. Alfonso Dare, pastor of the Bethany Methodist Episcopal church, is dead at her home, 1018 Cooper street, Camden, from tuberculosis. Funeral services will be held tomorrow evening at Bethany church, and interment will be made at Elmer. Mrs. Dare was thirty years old.

Giacomo Ganzola, of 209 Martin street, Paterson, obtained employment a few weeks ago in Ridgewood. He was put to driving a horse. Yesterday the animal ran away. The rig hit a tree on the Ridgewood road, and threw Ganzola to the roadway. His scalp was badly torn and his elbow broken. He was taken to his home and later to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Scores of young women owners of pet dogs are incensed over a bill submitted to the Atlantic City Council peremptorily barring dogs from the bathing beach in the midst of the day during June, July and August. Taking pets to bathe has become a fad this summer, so much so that hundreds of other regular patrons of the bathing masters with small liking for four-footed pets have entered strenuous protests. Hence the new law.

John M. Breese, known as the "chain boy," because of his wearing a chain about his ankles on account of his numerous disappearances from home, may be drowned in Cooper's Creek, Camden. He resided at 331 North Fifty-fifth street, Philadelphia, and disappeared last Friday. A bundle of boy's clothing found on the bank of the creek tallies with the description given by the lad's father. The police spent all of yesterday grappling for the body.

Agents for William M. Wright and Ellen E. Thomas, owners of 125 feet of Atlantic City beach front at New Jersey avenue, yesterday passed to the city deeds for the property seaward of the Boardwalk, title being qualified by a condition that when the Boardwalk is moved seaward the accretions shall fall to the abutting owners. The resort paid $7 a foot for the grant, which adds another important section to the domain of the public park which is some day to embrace the whole of the sea frontage.

The Hall Signal Company put on a night force yesterday to work until 10 o'clock three nights in the week.

HIS SECOND SUICIDAL ATTEMPT SUCCEEDS

Shooting himself through the same eye which he had destroyed years ago in an attempt to commit suicide, Charles Keck, of Union street, Elizabeth, killed himself in a fit of despondency late yesterday afternoon.

The body was discovered by Thos. A. Holcomb, a negro barber, whose place is a few doors from the little cobbler shop kept by Keck. He was passing along the street and looked through the window of the cobbler shop, and saw Keck's body on his bench, with his head thrown back against the wall. Suspecting that something was wrong, he summoned Patrolman Emil Schmidt, of the First Precinct.

They tried the front door, but found it locked. Entrance was effected through the rear, and the two found Keck dead, with a .38 Colt revolver clutched in his hand.

The bullet had entered the left eye-socket and penetrated the brain. Keck's eye was missing, as he shot it away in an attempt to take his own life several years ago. After a superficial examination of the body Schmidt saw that the man was beyond human aid, and summoned the wagon from Engel's morgue.

TO DISCUSS COP'S FIGHT.

Elizabeth Police Officials Will Take Up Kelly Case.

The case of Patrolman John P. Kelly, who is charged with having engaged in a fight on the police excursion last Thursday in Elizabeth, will be the subject of a conference between the police committee of the Elizabeth Council and Chief George C. Tenny Saturday night.

To a certain extent Kelly's fate will be decided at this meeting, as according to his superiors, no charges have so far been made against him and should the officials of the department decide to let the incident go unnoticed the matter will be dropped. On the other hand, should the officials decide that the incident warrants a thorough investigation, formal charges will probably result.

EXPLAINED BY THE GOVERNOR.

Meaning of the Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

COURT OF PARDONS CHANGE.

The Governor and Four Citizens to Handle Cases—Seven Judges For Court of Errors and Appeals In Place of Sixteen—Less Expense to the State and More Benefit Under the New Court Plan.

In an address delivered before the New Jersey Bar association in Atlantic City Governor John Franklin Fort discussed the pending amendments to the state constitution. He said:

There are five separate proposed amendments to the state constitution to be submitted to the people for their approval at a special election to be held on the 14th day of September next.

The First Amendment.

The first amendment simply abolishes that provision of the state constitution which now permits foreclosure of mortgages in the circuit court and common pleas. This has practically always been a dead letter. It has been the rarest of exceptions when any foreclosure has occurred in the circuit court and seldom, if ever, in the common pleas. If the court amendments be adopted—to which I shall refer hereafter—the circuit and common pleas court will both be abolished. This amendment is of little concern, but as the present provision of the constitution is of little concern also this amendment can furnish no just ground for opposition and should be adopted.

The Second Amendment.

This makes the court of pardons, for the parole and pardon of persons convicted of crime, to consist of the governor and four citizens, to be appointed to the court by the governor, to hold their office for five years.

The present court of pardons is composed of eight—namely, the governor, chancellor and the six special judges of the court of appeals. If the court amendment, to which I shall refer hereafter, be adopted, the six special judges will be legislated out and there will be no court of pardons until this second amendment prevail. This is a good amendment, whether the court amendment be adopted or not.

The four citizens can give practically their whole time to the work. The cases asking for pardon are about 500 a year, and they need most careful examination.

I can see no reason why the second amendment should fail on any ground.

The Third Amendment.

This amendment relates solely to the courts of the state. There have been no changes in the organization of the courts of our state since the constitution of 1884. We have had good courts, and while our state was small and litigation not very large they were admirably adapted for the administration of civil and criminal justice, but conditions have now changed, and the present necessity for the practically continuous sitting of our highest court is apparent to all who are familiar with existing conditions. This need for the past five years has resulted in the removal of the justices of the supreme court from sitting in the counties in the trial of causes. This, in my view, is greatly to be regretted.

The influence of the supreme court justice upon local judicial conditions was always wholesome and of the greatest value. Any system which removes or curtails the usefulness of the supreme court justice is a mistake. Our present court of errors and appeals is a cumbersome body. It is composed of sixteen judges, which is nine more judges than that constituting the court of appeals of New York. It is eleven more than almost any of the other states and thirteen more than some. It exceeds by seven the supreme court of the United States. The mere statement of these facts is enough to demonstrate the need of a change. It is not only unnecessarily large, but because of its size it is excessively expensive. And, besides this, the large number of judges lengthens the conferences of the court and thereby makes greater delays in deciding cases.

The pending amendments make the appellate division of the supreme court—which becomes the court of last resort—consist of seven judges, the same as the state of New York, and charges these judges with the appellate work and no other. Under this system we shall have more frequent terms of the appeals court and a more expeditious determination of causes. Delays in the final determination of cases often amount to almost a denial of justice to the litigant.

Under our present system a person or corporation against whom a decision or verdict has been given in the trial court at law can sue out a writ of error and harass the successful party by two appeals on review, delaying a payment of a just claim for two years and causing much annoyance and expense. The pending amendments, if adopted, will cure all this.

The supreme court is preserved as it is with all its powers except those relating to writs of error, and the justices of this court will sit constantly in the courts of the county, dispensing justice between litigants. All inferior county courts, of which we now have so many, will be consolidated into a single court, called the "county court," with all civil and criminal jurisdiction, thus simplifying the county court system and procedure.

The scheme of court reorganization as proposed by the pending amendments represents the best thought of the leaders of the bar of the state and of the judges themselves, as well as of the thoughtful business men of the state who have reflected upon them.

Commission Is Praised.

The commissioners who drafted the proposed reorganization amendments were former Justice of the Supreme Court Bennet Van Syckle, than whom no judge ever had greater experience or was recognized as a man who was more loyal to the interests of the people. With him were former Governors Griggs and Murphy and Charles L. Corbin and John R. Hardin, two distinguished lawyers. They canvassed the whole matter with great care to secure public sentiment both within and without the legal profession and tried to formulate a system that would be simple and meet with popular approval.

The present court of chancery is not changed except in name. The chancellor still remains, as do the vice chancellors, their title only changing. They are hereafter justices of the supreme court, assigned to the equity division, and I cannot see why they should not, under a rule of the court, while sitting in the equity division be styled vice chancellors to perpetuate exactly as it is our present chancery system.

Our chancery court and practice is good, and it is gratifying that it is not changed in effect or procedure in any way by the proposed amendments. I feel that if the people understood the advantages of these amendments as I do there would not be a vote against them.

I may be pardoned, after several years of membership in the county court, supreme court and court of appeals, if I express my personal adherence to these court amendments and urge them upon the favorable consideration of the people of the state.

In addition to all I have here said, the item of expense to the state by adopting the court amendments will be reduced over $75,000 in judicial salaries alone.

Deserting Sailor Held.

Herbert Mason, who says he is a deserter from the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, is under arrest at police headquarters at Elizabeth, awaiting instructions from the Brooklyn Navy Yard. Mason walked into headquarters Tuesday night and declared that he was tired of being a fugitive, and was ready to give up. He enlisted from Hartford, Conn.

NUN SUCCUMBS TO GAS POISONING.

Arrangements for the funeral of Sister Rose Genevieve, of St. Mary's Convent, at Elizabeth, have not yet been made, except that it is expected that the body will be brought to that city for interment. Sister Rose died at a hospital in Suffern, N. Y., from the effects of accidental asphyxiation at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. She was connected with the convent of St. Mary's church.

The accident that resulted in Sister Rose Genevieve's death occurred during the night of June 19 in the Elizabeth convent. When she retired she hung her heavy black hood on the gas fixture near an open window, and it is supposed that while she slept the wind blew the hood around, opening the jet. It was not until after breakfast the next morning that she was discovered, unconscious. Heroic measures were adopted to save her life, and nearly all day oxygen was administered continually. In the afternoon she recovered consciousness, but did not realize what had happened. Then she was taken to the hospital. At one time it was thought that she would recover, but she grew worse recently, having been taken to Suffern for recuperation.

Word reached Elizabeth that since Monday her demise had been expected hourly, as it was known that she could not survive the poison of the illuminating gas.

Sister Rose went to the Elizabeth convent from Newark about fifteen years ago, and was one of the senior nuns in the local institution. She was in charge of most of its affairs.

FREIGHT WRECK.

Tracks Piled Up With Pig Iron at High Bridge.

High Bridge was the scene of another wreck yesterday similar to that of Wednesday, July 7. Seven freight cars loaded with pig iron west bound jumped the track strewing their load over the ground for half a mile. Traffic was interrupted for a couple of hours in both directions and the wreck was not entirely cleared up at 3 this afternoon. Nobody was hurt.

The accident occurred at 6 o'clock. Timbo furnished 1,000 sandwiches and 50 gallons of coffee for the wrecking crew who are at work clearing up the debris.

"Graustark," George Barr McCutcheon's thrilling romance of a love behind a throne has not only made a fortune for the author, but for two different firms of publishers, and now promises to make a fortune for a firm of theatrical managers, who have securel the dramatic rights for the book and are presenting the play in the leading theatres of the principal cities this season. It is conservatively estimated that more than one million people have read the book, and as there is an edition on the market now selling for fifty cents, it will probably continue to be read for some time to come. Judging by the immense crowds who turned out to see this play when presented in New York, Chicago, and Philadelphia, the majority of those who read the book desired to see the story portrayed in dramatized form. It will be seen at the New Plainfield Theatre Monday, August 9.

ADMIT POSTOFFICE ROBBERY.

Bridgeton, July 29.—The postoffice at Fairton was broken into, the safe blown open and several hundred dollars' worth in cash and stamps taken last winter. A short time since Charles Newlin and a couple of other Millville boys were arrested in Vineland charged with robbery, and were sentenced to jail terms. Within the past few days the boys have been under suspicion as being connected with the Fairton postoffice robbery, and yesterday they confessed, the Postoffice Department having sent secret service men upon the case.

The boys told where some of the loot could be found and in an old abandoned house a lot of stuff was uncovered, including a pocketbook belonging to Postmaster H. Clay THrenchard, and some of his personal papers, all of which were taken from the safe.

of repeated attacks year in and year out, the better element of the party as a rule being strongly opposed to what they consider an illogical and unexplainable custom. Randolph Perkins was the last man to fight the "customs" and he failed, but since then there has been a healthy improvement in party government.

James C. Calvert is a candidate to succeed himself as county clerk and Frank H. Smith, the county chairman, for another term as register. So far as is known there is no opposition to either, at least none has developed.

Both Smith and Calvert are considered the best sort of officials. Each has shown his efficiency and each has been atentive to his duties. For these reasons it is believed that they will receive unanimous renominations.

FIRE APPARATUS TESTED.

Underwriters Pleased With Showing Made at Elizabeth.

The representatives of the National Board of Fire Underwriters were present at tests of Nos. 4 and 5 engines and the two fire boats yesterday at Elizabeth. The inspection was attended by Commissioners Webber, Cox and Collins. The tests were made under the direction of Chief August Gerstung and Deputy Chief W. J. Mahoney.

The boats threw excellent streams and the tests pleased the inspectors, under Chairman Barker, who have been looking into the city's fire department facilities. Engines 4 and 5 were tested at the foot of Livingston street, and both gave a very good demonstration.

At Proctor's.

Today Grace Gardner & Co. with their own special scenery will present the "Millinery Shop," a farcial sketch, which is a huge laugh from start to finish. Mack Adams with his dog, which is all but human will furnish the sensation of the week. Allen and Tribble, two very funny colored comedians will also appear for the first time here. Dolly Marshall, the petitle singer and impersonator is another attraction which will please. The motion pictures continue to be the best of their kind.

PLAYGROUND AGITATION

grounds?" was asked of William Phillips, director of the main East Orange playground, after he had been made thoroughly familiar with the size, wealth and character of Plainfield's population and provisions for its entertainment.

"If Plainfield would hold its own as an attractive suburban city, and would share in the incoming of new residents as a result of the opening of the tunnels, I should say that it did. Playgrounds are an integral part of a city now. Further, a city does not necessarily have to be menaced socially by having its children run in the streets before they are started; playgrounds are a cardinal corrollary to public school education; for they prove an underlying truth that men and women were created to enjoy life. They stimulate interest in mental work, it has been found, and if their only excuse for existence was the physical training that they give, that alone would be sufficient."

"Don't you find that the playgrounds are stopping places for the lazy? Or, if not this, don't you find that street habits or ruffinanism are transferred to the playground. Doesn't the bully element of crowding out the weaker youngsters manifest itself. Doesn't this counteract the good influence of the playground?"

"In all my seven years' playground experience, the rule has been that where we enforce discipline in a gentlemanly way, where we appeal to the better nature of children, we are not troubled by this at all. Further, this good influence of ours is a social asset."

"How could Plainfield make a trial and how cheaply?"

"Fifty dollars would start a playground, in which there could be a ten foot swing, traveling rings, canvas hammocks for children, sand boxes, jumping ropes, bean bags and one or two little minor things. Teeter boards might also be put in within the limits of that amount."

"How large should it be?"

"The English rule is 30 square feet for every child, the Prussian, 20 square feet. You could reckon size on this basis."

"What are some of the ways of starting them?"

"Bond sales, public appropriation, private subscription, tag day ideas, church appropriations. There should be no difficulty in this respect.'

"Isn't the novelty of the playground apt to wear off and it cease to attract-"

"It is, unless guarded against. We do it by appealing to some fundamental instinct. Thus, a child under ten years likes the sensation of falling. This is provided by having inclined poles, ropes, bamboo slides and similar apparatus, calling into play these instincts. Again, a boy over the age likes to show off his physical prowess. We provide for this in competitive games. We appeal to the fair spirit in the boys. The spirit of organized play and competition is good for a boy—it fits him to be a good citizen. The spirit of authority and executive ability is also sought and developed. We have our elections for playground "presidents." This fosters a spirit of healthy rivalry for popularity and adds interest to the work."

"But isn't the organized play of games that you give so much attention to a bad thing? Doesn't it take away originality from the child, displayed in healthy spontaneous sports?"

"One would think so; but my experience has been to the contrary."

"Would you suggest that we in Plainfield have our playground open all year as is done here at the main playground?"

"Ordinarily no; but that of course depends upon conditions. It should be open in summer and in the fall and spring by all means."

"As to apparatus, could it be made by local talent, such as local blacksmiths, carpenters, etc.?"

"So many things enter into the apparatus that it would be best not to have it done by local talent. Apparatus must be durable not affected by weather, must be self-working, and must appeal to some native physical instinct. Much skill is required too in building such apparatus. Teeters and such things could be built by local workmen.

Local Sites for Playgrounds.

There is space enough in each of the school yards of the Brayant, Franklin, Lincoln, Irving and new West End schools to make a grass plot for a sufficiently large playground. A good equipment could be put in each one of these yards for $100 or less. For a main site, there are several fields near Grant avenue that might be utilized. There is also available space for such a project in the vicinity of West Third street convenient to Liberty street and Plainfield avenues. This is probably the section where such an institution is most needed.

One of the best site pointed out is at the corner of Rock avenue and West Front street, where the city owns a large tract of land which could be fitted out, graded and thoroughly equipped with ball fields, tennis courts and an artificial wading brook, as well as the usual playground apparatus, by fall. At East Orange a swamp was reclaimed and the swamp land turned into a wading brook of one foot depth in one of the playgrounds. The brook feature of the site at Rock avenue strongly commends itself as a swimming pool could also be built in connection with the playground.

Outdoor Education.

Former Principal I. W. Travell, of the City High School, has been working for playgrounds in this city for some time past. Speaking to a Daily Press reporter on the subject he said: "The time is coming when the education of children under ten years of age will be all out of doors. The tendency is pointing that way now. I have given much study to the matter and am heartily in sympathy with it. Until that time playgrounds must do their share in taking up this essential art of education, affording recreation and pleasure as well as education to youngsters at a time when they most need it. I hope that Plainfield will soon see its way clear to establish playgrounds."

Harry Marshall, Mayor Fisk and others expressed similar opinions yesterday.

HE SHOT HIS BROTHER TO SAVE HIS MOTHER.

Police Captain Harrington, of the Sixth Precinct, Jersey City, succeeded yesterday in unraveling the mystery surrounding the shooting of John Foley, of 7 Ann street in that city, who is in the Jersey City hospital with a bullet in his left shoulder. William Foley, a brother of the wounded man, was arrested on suspicion of having done the shooting, and is held to await the result of John's injury.

Yesterday it was learned from the aged parents of the two men, after much persuasion on the part of Captain Harrington, that John had been shot by William after attacking his mother with his fists and while attacking her with a shovel.

John came home drunk and in an ugly mood Monday night. At the supper table he grabbed the table cloth and threw all the dishes and food on the floor, it is alleged. When his mother upbraided him he assaulted her. If he recovers he will have to stand trial on a charge of atrocious assault and battery.

NEARLY 5,000 AT PICNICS.

Phillipsburg, July 29.—Phillipsburg is nearly deserted yesterday. Six Protestant churches and the parish of Saints Philip and James, representing a membership including the Sunday-schools, of nearly five thousand persons, participated in picnics leaving town yesterday. The six congregations and Sunday-schools went to Bellewood Park in one big union picnic, and the school and members of Saints Philip and James Catholic churches went to Oakland Park, Pa.

Two special trais carried 2,000 picnickers to Bellewod, and more than one thousand left on the third special this afternoon. The Catholic parish turned out about twenty-five hundred strong and took special trolley cars for Oakland.

QUARRELS OF MARRIED PEOPLE

You may play with fire; you may look into the muzzle of your gun to see of it is loaded; you may skate on thin ice; you may fool with dynamite; you may face th dogs of the old man who is the father of the girl you are in love with, but you may not meddle with the quarrels of married people. It's a ticklish thing to do, asserts a writer in the New York Weekly.

The mutual friend has a hard time of it invariably. In nine cases out of ten, be his efforts every so disinterested, he ends by being heartily detested by both parties.

When your friend who has been a short time married comes to you and tells you how Kate has deceived him, and how dreadfully he was taken in by marrying her, don't listen to him. Change the conversation. Talk about the war in India, or the boils that Job had, or the last poem on spring, or anything else you fancy but don't talk about his wife with him.

There are some things a man must face alone. A married man, we mean. There are facts he has to meet, there are many disagreeable discoveries he must make, and all he can do is to "grin and bear it."

He has to discover that in many respects his wife is not the girl he courted; and if it shocks him, let him keep it to himself. You cannot help him to make her over into what he fancied her. It takes some time for two people to find out each other peculiarities, and it takes still longer for each one to be reconciled to those peculiarities.

There is no such thing as perfection in a woman, or a man, either. The best human being that ever lived was full of imperfections. But when a woman is in love, she fancies her John is the sum and substance of all earthly perfection, and she is heartbroken when he swears over the way his bosoms are starched; and he, in turn, is sorry he ever married when she snaps out the intelligence that he ought to have to go without a shirt, for swearing at that bosom.

And this is the time when no mutual friend ought to interfere. Let the belligerents alone. It is all in a lifetime. It is part of the discipline which comes to every human heart.

A man and his wife should live in each other—not in their friends; and when they quarrel, if they are let serenely alone by outsiders, they generally manage to settle things in due course of time. Mutual friends, or friends not mutual, are responsible for most of the divorces.

It is like fanninig a fire to advise a married woman or a married man what to do in a quarrel. Don't do it. It is none of your affair. Stand on neutral ground. Never interfere unless you see that there is going to be bloodshed. And then the probabilities are that if there is any blood spilled, it will be yours; for nine times out of ten two opposing forces will unite when a third party butts in.

So when your friends are quarreling, you had better go on a fishing tour, or take an agency for peddling shoestrings on commission. You want be out of the way.

REWARD OF THE FAITHFUL SERVANT.

The Merchant Prince had sent for the Faithful Clerk, who confronted his master tremblingly.

"Jenkins," said the Merchant Prince, "you have been in my employ for twenty-five years."

"Yes, sir," faltered the Faithful Clerk.

"Twenty-five years today, is it not?"

"Yes, sir. Thank you, sir, for remembering it."

"Tut! tut! You have been an honor to the house."

"Thank you again, sir."

"You have proved yourself worthy of my confidence."

"Oh, sir."

"You have grown gray in my service."

"Yes, sir."

"Jenkins, as a slight token of my recognition of this fact I have a present for you. Pray accept this bottle of hair dye!"—Woman's Home Companion for July.

AIRSHIP WAR STATIONS ALONG ATLANTIC COAST.

The Signal Corps of the United States Army has been issued instructions by the Secretar yof War to prepare a plan for the protection of the Atlantic coast by dirigible balloons. The scheme involves the establishment of balloon houses all along the coast from Maine to Florida. The stations, if built, will be 250 miles apart, this being considered a safe distance of flight for the airship of the present day. The intention is for these asrial craft to go scouting at sea, turning and flying back to shore to give the alarm when the fleet of an enemy is sighted, but if Congress should provide for such a fleet, it would undoubtedly be ready before long to drop explosives on the ships of an enemy as well as simply scout.—From August Popular Mechanics.

An Unreliable Dog.

"Come right in, Sambo," the farmer called out. "He won't hurt you. You know a barking dog never bites."

"Sure, boss, ah knows dat," replied the cautious colored man, "but ah don't know how soon he's goin' to stop barkin'."—Success Magazine.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 1, 1909.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Life lessons for me from the book of Acts.—Acts xxvii, 18-34. (Consecration meeting.)

The book of the Acts is the earliest history of Christianity, or, rather, of the Christian church. It begins with the ascension of Christ and the last commands of Christ to His disciples and ends with Paul at Rome, after having made his three remarkable missionary journeys, to be tried by Caesar himself. Arrested after his return from this third journey and undergoing several trials, he exercised his right as a Roman citizen to appeal to Caesar, which appeal was granted. The book closes abruptly, telling nothing of what became of Paul. This is best explained on the basis that the history of the church was not yet closed. The chapter was left open, that by other hands it might be continued as the life of the church continued and its influence grew stronger and stronger. Only some such reason can explain the abrupt ending of this most interesting and useful book.

The Acts fall naturally into three divisions. In the first chapter Jesus said, "After that the Holy Ghost is come upon you ye shall be witnesses unto Me both in Jerusalem and in Judea and in Samaria and unto the uttermost parts of the world." The book is therefore divided into three parts—(1) witness bearing in Jerusalem, chapter i, 1; vii, 60; (2) witness bearing in Judea and Samaria, chapter viii, 1; xii, 25; (3) worldwide witness bearing, especially by Paul, the apostle, to the gentiles, chapter xiii, 1; xxviii, 31. In the early part of the book Simon Peter is the central figure, but from the beginning of the thirteenth chapter at least Paul becomes the great leader of the Christian church and nobly performed the great responsibility placed upon him. He was the greatest missionary the church has ever produced, and through his celebrated Epistles the greatness of his influence has never ceased and never will while time lasts.

In the Acts the Holy Spirit is the principal divine figure. In the Old Testament God the Father was supreme, in the gospels God the Son, but in the Acts God the Holy Ghost began His dispensation, and we still live under it today. Fifty times in the Acts He is spoken of by name, or more frequently than in all the gospels. His coming was emphasized by Christ in the first chapter, and in the second chapter there is the record of His coming, and he still remains in the church, the representative of Christ and the One who applies the redemption of Christ to the hearts and lives of men.

The Acts is a great missionary book and a most interesting one. Classes in mission study go further and do much worse in not making the Acts the text book of their studies. No other book should be selected until it has been thoroughly mastered. Here is set forth every possible missionary experience. Missionary earnestness and progressiveness are emphasized. Interesting events are related. Here it is taught that missions were worldwide. The gentiles had their great apostle in Paul, and his personal zeal and successful efforts have never been surpassed. Who has met more dangers than he, and who has more boldly faced them and snatched victory out of seeming defeat? Under his leadership the new pilgrim became a mighty force and spread through the Roman empire.

Life lessons for me:

1. Fearlessness in danger (xxvii, 18-20).
2. Trust in God in the storms of life (xxvii, 21-25).
3. The power of personal influence (xxvii, 42, 43).
4. A lesson on God's power to save (xxvii, 43, 44).

BIBLE READINGS.

Acts i, 1-14; ii, 1-8, 37-47; v, 25-32; vii, 54-60; viii, 1-8, 26-40; ix, 1-9; xii, 1-17; xiii, 1-4; xvii, 1-29.

Tribute to Christian Endeavor.

I wish to make my brief message one of testimony. Seven of our Congregational leaders have recently voiced their sentiments in the following hearty words: "The history of twenty-seven years shows that, given a fair trial, with sympathetic leadership, Christian Endeavor comes nearer meeting the needs of the young people of our churches than any other movement ever has and nearer than any other present organization is likely to do."

After twelve years' pastoral experience with the Christian Endeavor society I can give this statement my most hearty indorsement.

During the past year it has been my privilege as general secretary to be engaged in the work of the Congregational Brotherhood of America. It has been my delight to discover as I have gone from the Atlantic seaboard to the Pacific coast that among the most aggressive of our thirty-two national officers I find many who had years of training in local and union Christian Endeavor work. The readiness of their response in this first year of our organization is due in large part to their training in organized Christian Endeavor.

The present day developments of church organizations are in no case a substitute for Christian Endeavor. Many of them are to be welcomed as supplements. In the evolution of organization in the modern church we may find some adjustments necessary, but I am quite sure that we shall find no excuse for lessened activity in the promotion of Christian Endeavor for Christ and the church.—Rev. Frank Dyer in Christian Endeavor World.

"No, no! I am quite safe and I have only a short ride. It is you who have far to go," and she spoke again to Jim, who started briskly.

"Miss Dunning, won't you listen a moment? Please don't run away!" McCloud was trying to come up with her. "Won't you hear me a moment? I have suffered some little humiliation to-day; I should really rather be shot up than have more put on me. I am a man and you are a woman, and it is already dark. Isn't it for me to see you safely to the house? Won't you at least pretend I can act as an escort and let me go with you? I should make a poor figure trying to catch you on horseback—"

Dicksie nodded naively. "With that horse."

"With any horse—I know that," said McCloud, keeping at her side.

"But I can't let you ride back with me," declared Dicksie, urging Jim and looking directly at McCloud for the first time. "How could I explain?"

"Let me explain. I am famous for explaining," urged McCloud, spurring, too.

"And will you tell me what I should be doing while you were explaining?" she asked.

"Perhaps getting ready a first aid for the injured."

"I feel as if I ought to run away," declared Dicksie, since she had clearly decided not to. "It will have to be a compromise, I suppose. You must not ride farther than the first gate, and let us take this trail instead of the road. Now make your horse go as fast as you can and I'll keep up."

But McCloud's horse, though not a wonder, went too fast to suit his rider, who divided his efforts between checking him and keeping up the conversation. When McCloud dismounted to open Dicksie's gate, and stood in the twilight with his hat in his hand and his bridle over his arm, he was telling a story about Marion Sinclair, and Dicksie in the saddle, tapping her knee with her bridle-rein, was looking down and past him as if the light upon his face were too bright. Before she would start away she made him remount, and he said good-by only after half a promise from her that she would show him sometime a trail to the top of Bridger's Peak, with a view of the Peace river on the east and the whole Mission range and the park country on the north. Then she rode away at an amazing run, nodding back at he sat still holding his hat above his head.

McCloud galloped toward the pass with one determination—that he would have a horse, and a good one; one that could travel with Jim, if it cost him his salary. He exulted as he rode, for the day had brought him everything he wished, and humiliation had been swallowed up in triumph. It was nearly dark when he reached the crest between the hills. At this point the southern grade of the pass winds sharply, whence its name, the Elbow; but from the head of the pass the grade may be commanded at intervals for half a mile. Trotting down this road with his head in a whirl of excitement, McCloud heard the crack of a rifle; at the same instant he felt a sharp slap at his hat. Instinct works on all brave men very much alike.

McCloud Laid His Head Low and Spurred His Horse.

McCloud dropped forward in his saddle, and, seeking no explanation, laid his head low and spurred Bill Dancing's horse for life or death. The horse, quite amazed, bolted and swerved down the grade like a snipe, with his rider crouching close for a second shot. But no second shot came, and after another mile McCloud ventured to take off his hat and put his finger through the holes in it, though he did not stop his horse to make the examination. When they reached the open country the horse had settled into a fast, long stride that not only redeemed his reputation but relieved his rider's nerves.

When McCloud entered his office it was half past nine o'clock, and the first thing he did before turning on the lights was to draw the window-shades. He examined the hat again. with sensations that were new to him—fear, resentment, and a hearty hatred of his enemies. But all the while the picture of Dicksie remained. He thought of her nodding to him as they parted in the saddle, and her picture blotted out all that had followed.

CHAPTER XIV.

At the Wickiup.

Two nights later Whispering Smith rode into Medicine Bend. "I've been up around Williams Cache," he said, answering McCloud's greeting as he entered the upstairs office. "How goes it?" He was in his riding rig, just as he had come from a late supper.

When he asked for news McCloud told him the story of the trouble with Lance Dunning over the survey, and added that he had referred the matter to Glover. He told then of his unpleasant surprise when riding home afterward.

"Yes," assented Smith, looking with feverish interest at McCloud's head; "I heard about it."

"That's odd, for I haven't said a word about the matter to anybody but Marion Sinclair, and you haven't seen her."

"I heard up the country. It is great luck that he missed you."

"Who missed me?"

"The man that was after you."

"The bullet went through my hat."

"Let me see the hat."

McCloud produced it. It was a heavy, broad-brimmed Stetson, with a bullet hole cut cleanly through the front and the back of the crown. Smith made McCloud put the hat on and describe his position when the shot was fired. McCloud stood up, and Whispering Smith eyed him and put questions.

"What do you think of it?" asked McCloud when he had done.

Smith leaned forward on the table and pushed McCloud's hat toward him as if the incident were closed. "There is no question in my mind, and there never has been, but that Stetson puts up the best hat worn on the range."

McCloud raised his eyebrows. "Why, thank you! Your conclusion clears things so. After you speak a man has nothing to do but guess."

"But, by heaven, George," exclaimed Smith, speaking with unaccustomed fervor, "Miss Dicksie Dunning is a hummer, isn't she? That child will have the whole range going in another year. To think of her standing up and lashing her cousin in that way when he was browbeating a railroad man!"

"Where did you hear about that?"

"The whole Crawling Stone country is talking about it. You never told me you had a misunderstanding with Dicksie Dunning at Marion's. Loosen up!"

"I will loosen up in the way you do. What scared me most, Gordon, was waiting for the second shot. Why didn't he fire again?"

"Doubtless he thought he had you the first time. Any man big enough to start after you is not used to shooting twice at 250 yards. He probably thought you were falling out of the saddle; and it was dark. I can account for everything but your reaching the pass so late. How did you spend all your time between the ranch and the foothills?"

McCloud saw there was no escape from telling of his meeting with Dicksie Dunning, of her warning, and of his ride to the gate with her. Every point brought a suppressed exclamation from Whispering Smith. "So she gave you your life," he mused. "Good for her! If you had got into the pass on time you could not have got away—the cards were stacked for you. He overestimated you a little, George; just a little. Good men make mistakes. The sport of circumstances that we are! The sport of circumstances!"

"Now tell me how you heard so much about it, Gordon, and where?"

"Through a friend, but forget it."

"Do you know who shot at me?"

"Yes."

"I think I do, too. I think it was the fellow that shot so well with the rifle at the barbecue—what was his name? He was working for Sinclair, and perhaps is yet."

"You mean Seagrue, the Montana cowboy? No, you are wrong. Seagrue is a man-killer, but a square one."

"How do you know?"

"I will tell you sometime—but this was not Seagrue."

"One of Dunning's men, was it? Stormy Gorman?"

"No, no, a very different sort! Stormy is a wind-bag. The man that is after you is in town at this minute, and he has come to stay until he finishes his job."

"The devil! That's what makes your eyes so bright, is it? Do you know him?"

"I have seen him. You may see him yourself if you want to."

"I'd like nothing better. When?"

"To-night—in 30 minutes." McCloud closed his desk. There was a rap at the door.

"That must be Kennedy," said Smith. "I haven't seen him, but I sent him word for him to meet me here." The door opened and Kennedy entered the room.

"Sit down, Farrell," said Whispering Smith, easily. "Ve gates?"

"How's that?"

"Wie geht es? Don't pretend you can't make out my German. He is trying to let on he is not a Dutchman," observed Whispering Smith to McCloud. "You wouldn't believe it, but I can remember when Farrell wore wooden shoes and lighted his pipe with a candle. He sleeps under a feather bed yet. Du Sang is in town, Farrell."

BASEBALL.

Harry Pulliam, president of the National League, who committed suicide yesterday, was despondent about his health. He had been ill for several months and had tried various climates in the search for health. As president of the league he was looked upon as one of the foremost baseball men in the country and will be a great loss to the national game.

An exciting contest is expected when the Plainfield and North Plainfield A. C. teams meet on the cricket field Saturday afternoon. Perry and Miller, who will oppose each other in the box, have both pitched for the Scotch Plains A. C. team, and made good. Miller is the new twirler who will replace Slocum on the Plainfield A. C. team, and he comes highly recommended, having pitched for Raritan and Berkeley Heights this season, and won the majority of his games. Perry is making a strike out record for himself this season, and very few hits have been made off his delivery. The teams will line up in the following order:

North Plainfield A. C.—Hann, ss; G. Perry, c; Trotter, 3b; Manning, 2b; Fiering, 1b; W. Perry, p; Allen, lf; Newmiller, cf; Driver, rf. Plainfield A. C.—Coyle, ss; Coon, 3b; Hanson, 2b; Sinclair, 1b; Mooney, c; Miller, p; Ayres, lf; Blazier, cf; Dufford, rf. This will be the first game the Plainfield A. C. have played in this city since Decoration Day, and a large attendance at the game would be appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Black and daughter, Miss Ella, of Fairview avenue, are expected home from a month's trip out West the first part of next week.

FIVE MILE AUTO RACE AT NEWARK SATURDAY

Automobile track racing is to be revived at Newark Saturday afternoon when a five mile race for small stock cars will be held in conjunction with the race meet of the New Jersey Motorcycle Club on the Olympic Park dirt track. The auto race was arranged at the request of Newark dealers, and fine entries have been assured with more likely. A handsome silver cup will be awarded as the prize.

The motorcycle races are such as to furnish some keen sport and with the inauguration of the auto contest keen interest is being shown in the meet. Ten events comprise the motorcycle card, and more than fifty machines will be seen competing. A fifteen mile Marathon is the feature. Then there are handicaps, open races pursuits and match events. The chief match will be between Howard O'Brien and Percy Drummond, the two fast men of the club. Kenneth Moore, of Bloomfield, and Kenneth Owen, of Montclair, will meet in another. The races will start at 2:30 o'clock.

THREE FIRST PRIZES IN THE BOAT RACES

John Dutcher, a graduate of the City High School, son of the Rev. Edward C. Dutcher, formerly of the Dunellen Methodist church, won three first prizes in the boat races at Asbury Park yesterday afternoon.

Dutcher pulled a single oared craft in which he won first prize over some fast contestants, among whom were some University oarsmen. With a companion he also won a first prize in the double oared event, and still another first prize in a canoe race. His sister, Ella, also won a first prize in a rowing race.

Dutcher has won prizes at Asbury Park in lake events for several years past and holds probably more medals than any other yonug man of his age.

The Rev. and Mrs. Dutcher moved to Newark early this spring, where he has charge of a Methodist church. John and Ray Dutcher are students at the New York University and both are members of the university Glee Club. John made the varsity crew in his freshman year and is one of the strongest oarsmen on it. He is now a sophomore. The important aquatic events of the year at Asbury Park will take place August 26. He is entered in all of the big events of this carnival.

DECIDES PENNELL WAS SUICIDE

Jersey City, July 29.—County Physician Charles B. Converse, of Hudson, yesterday morning filed at the courthouse the result of his investigation into the death of Charles Pinnell, a well known resident of North Bergen, who was found dead at his home, 121 Secaucus road, North Bergen, on the morning of July 23, and about whose death there has been attached some mystery.

It was generally rumored that Pinnell was a suicide, but the police of North Bergen had no information on the subject and Captain Charles Marcy was exceedingly wroth at the fact that no report was made to him of the case. The interest in Pinnell's death was enhanced by the fact that he had been a prominent figure in North Bergen politics and at one time was Mayor of the town. The report of the county physician clears away all doubt that Pinnell was a suicide, his report stating that the cause of death was a suicidal pistol shot wound of the head.

Pinnell was born in England, and was eighty-six years old. He was reputed to be in good circumstances and it is supposed that he ended his life in a fit of temporary insanity. The funeral was held yesterday and the interment was in the Pinnell family plot in Ridgefield Cemetery, Bergen county.

Newark Youth Accused of Larceny.

East Rutherford, July 29.—Stephen Wolff, thirty years old, of 142 Somerset street, Newark, was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Chief of Police George McClelland upon complaint of the Rutherford Rubber Company, which alleged that Wolff had been taking goods from their establishment. Two inner tubes of automobile tires were found on his person when arrested. He was held by Recorder John A. Yates for the grand jury under $200 bail. He had been in the employ of the company for three weeks.

John Quey, of Chicago, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hurley, Sr., of Belmont avenue.

WATCHUNG AVE. BRIDGE CONTRACT AWARDED

The Plainfield Cement and Stone Company was awarded the contract for making alterations to the Watchung avenue bridge over Cedar brook, and for repairing, building a new side in concrete and painting the railings of the Richmond street bridge at the meeting of the Union County Board of Freeholders yesterday.

A large number of women from this city are enjoying the outing of the Knights of the Mystic shrine at Coney Island today. The party sailed on the steamer Majestic from Elizabethport this morning and among the things disposed of was a huge clam bake which was prepared by Noble Feltman at his mammoth pavilion at Coney. The trip includes a sail around Staten Island. There will be music and some vaudeville on board the boat by way of entertainment. The party is expected home about nine o'clock tonight.

SPENDING DAY AT SHORE

Dutch Reformed Flocks Enjoying Annual Excursion to Asbury Park.

EXPECT SOME FISH STORIES.

Trinity, Netherwood and Marconier People Are Having a Huge Time.

The band wasn't playing nor was there any particular demonstration when the Trinity Reformed church excursion with sixteen carloads of enthusiastic people pulled out of Plainfield this morning bound for Asbury Park and a long day of pleasure. Reports from the resort received at noon stated that no mishaps had marred the trip and that it was an ideal day at the shore.

It was rumored this morning that a large school of whales had been sighted off the beach and if that is a fact this town will be full of fish stories tomorrow which will put to shame the legend of the Chinese dragons. Confuscius is credited with telling the facts about the "great fish" which swallowed whole mountains, and occasionally when he got into shallow water the whale or big fish took himself wings with which he usually completed his trips to the country, devouring anything human or animal which chanced across his path.

Captain Leslie of the Norweigian fruiter Demsland stated yesterday that he had seen a school numbering about a hundred and fifty whales and among them were some huge specimens. He was so much impressed that he changed his course of his ship so that his passengers could have a good view of the sea monsters. It is not without reason then that the excursionists are expected to see some of the leviathans of the deep. When Captain Leslie sighted the school they were within a few miles of Barnegat.

The Netherwood Reformed church which joined with Trinity on the excursion will have added at least one hundred to the thousand that got aboard the train in Plainfield, representing Trinity church and Marconier chapel, so that there are about eleven hundred people from hereabouts enjoying the ocean breezes at the popular resort today. The excursionists will leave the beach at 7 o'clock tonight, which will give them a long day. Both sections of the train will stop at Netherwood on the homeward journey.

READY TO OPEN FAIR.

Flanders, July 29.—For several weeks preparations have been going on for the annual harvest home, fair and festival of the M. E. church in this place, which has become so widely known in this county that from year to year it is looked forward to as one of the social events of midsummer. Yesterday all was in readiness for the crowds.

The meadow of John H. Swackhamer, near his home, and not far from the church, presents an attractive picture with its large canvas tents covering various departments. The fairs of many years ago were held on a narrow strip of lawn near the church, then for several years on the extensive lawn of the homestead, the home of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Marvin. But it outgrew even that space. Years ago a special train was run on the High Bridge branch of the Central Railroad from Dover. It was an innovation and brought hundreds of people. The train finally was abandoned.

Provisions are solicited and purchased for the roast pig and chicken supper and this year there will be three pigs, weighing from twenty-five to thirty pounds each; twenty-five or thirty chickens, besides other meats. The soft drinks' booth will be supplied with fifty cases of two dozen bottles each; five bushels of peanuts, twenty-five watermelons and eight bunches of bananas will be on sale, while at the candy booth candies equaling some forty boxes of five pounds each will be provided. The ice cream is made especially for the fair from milk and cream secured in this place and taken to a manufacturer. About 300 quarts is the supply this year. George Wack is chairman of that committee. Miss Marietta L. Reed has charge of the candy. The Ladies' Aid Society of the church has a supply of useful and fancy articles on which the members have been working for months. The Chester Cornet Band will furnish music. The treasurer of the fair is Rev. William Stout.

Y. M. H. Association.

At a regular meeting of the Young Men's Hebrew Association held last night it was decided to have six different classes of membership—active, associate, patrons, donors, honorary and life. The application fee will be three dollars instead of one in the future.

Pulliam a Suicide.

Harry C. Pulliam, president of the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs, died this morning in New York, as the result of a self-inflicted bullet wound in the right temple.

TO PRESENT K. P. ALTAR

Delegates from All Over the State Will Attend Ceremony at Unity Lodge.

THURSDAY NIGHT, AUGUST 5.

Addresses to Be Made by Men Prominent in the Fraternal Order.

The local lodges of the Knights of Pythias are looking forward to the fifth of August with anticipations of pleasure, for on the evening of that day the Pythian Charity Altar will be presented to Unity Lodge by Plato Lodge, of Orange, and then will follow a good time in which members of Unity and Perseverance lodges will be joined by delegations from lodges all over the State.

This occasion will mark the second appearance of the charity altar in the lodges of this city. It was brought to Perseverance lodge a year ago whence it was passed on to Somerville. At each meeting when the altar is presented a collection is taken up and the money so collected placed in the bank for a period of five years. At the end of that time the money will be used toward the establishing a Home for Knights of Phythias, similar in scope to the homes established by other and older organizations.

A continuous chain of meetings is established by moving the altar from lodge to lodge and the sum thus realized will, it is hoped, be enough to accomplish the desired end.

The Good and Welfare committee of Unity Lodge with several of the officers, met in the lodge rooms last night to make arrangements for the coming of the altar and for the reception of the visiting members of other lodges. The altar was presented to New Jersey Knights of Pythias in February, 1908, by Grand Chancellor Henry A. Heinrichs. Its object is to create a chain of fraternal visits from one lodge to another until every lodge in this State has been visited. A record book is being kept of all the visits, and in it are recorded the names of all those who attend the meetings as well as all that transpires in the meeting.

Several addresses will be made by prominent members of the order at the coming meeting in K. of C. hall and every member of Unity lodge is urged to attend. Perseverance lodge will be invited to attend, and with members of the order from New Brunswick, Rahway, Somerville, Elizabeth and other cities, a record breaking meeting is expected.

FAILING TO DROWN SELF, SUICIDES IN HOSPITAL.

Asbury Park, July 29.—A patient in the Ann May Memorial Hospital since Sunday, when she was found unconscious and half submerged in Sunset Lake, where it was believed she tried to end her life, Mrs. Johanna Lax, committed suicide in that institution Tuesday by swallowing a quantity of disinfectant. Death came to her soon after she had taken the fatal draft.

Grief over the death of her husband, which occurred about six months ago, is attributed as the cause for Mrs. Lax's melancholy mood, noticed by her friends for a few days previous to her being found in the lake. Although the officials at the hospital declined to say anything in connection with Mrs. Lax's death, it was learned that she had recovered sufficiently from her experience of Sunday to leave her cot yesterday.

It was while on one of her walks through the hospital wards that Mrs. Lax discovered a bottle which contained the disinfectant, the most powerful ingredient of which was carbolic acid. Mrs. Lax, as far as could be learned, retired to an anteroom to drink the poison, and had returned to her cot before her action became known. As she reached the bed she became violently ill, and physicians tried in vain to save her.

SCHOOL PROBLEM UNSOLVED.

Chatham, July 29.—No definite decision was reached at Tuesday night's session of the Board of Education, held in the municipal building, over the selection of a school site, and the problem is still in the same old rut. The board Tuesday night laid over the proposition of Charles M. Lum, which was for the land at Maple and Hillside avenues, which he would sell for $5,150. The matter will be further considered at a special meeting to be called by the chairman.

Dr. William J. Wolfe was appointed medical director of the public school for the ensuing year, without compensation.

Riggers Fall Thirty Feet to Ground.

Paterson, July 29.—Samuel and Thomas Ricker, of this city, while removing a 20,000 gallon water tank which stood thirty feet from the ground, at the Citro Chemical Works at Maywood Tuesday afternoon, fell to the ground headfirst. Both riggers are now at the Hackensack Hospital. Samuel Ricker is suffering from several fractures of the shoulders and spine. The other victim is suffering from severe injuries to his head. Their condition is serious.
